HELEN MILLER SWIFT

NEW BOOK BY LOCAL AUTHOR

"Chocolate Soda" by Helen Miller Swift is a novel for teen-age girls, recently published by Longmans, Green and Co., N. Y. It is a story about a small town Massachusetts girl whose parents run a sweet shop. A senior in Mapleton high school, Ellie is beset with problems: she has to work in the shop, she wants to go away to college, she needs a scholarship and has only average marks. She knows what she wants, but not how to get it. Yet when the story is finished her problem is solved along with new realizations about people and happiness.

This is Mrs. Swift's second book for teen-agers. The first, "Adventure in Store," was published by Longmans, Green and Co., a year ago. Mrs. Swift has also had numerous articles in such publications as This Week, Better Homes and Gardens, Woman's Home Companion, Good Housekeeping, and Christian Science Monitor, among others.

"Chocolate Soda" is on sale at the Spaulding Bookshop. Mrs. Swift will be happy to autograph copies of her book at any time for your convenience.

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

FIRE APPARATUS AT TOWN YARD

Commencing Tuesday of this week there have been two pieces of fire apparatus at the Town Yard on Lake street with a crew of four men, including an officer in charge, two drivers and a spare firefighter.

This action has been taken by Chief James E. Callahan and the Selectmen to guard against the possibility of apparatus being unable to get through a blocked center while Bacon street is closed by the construction of the underpass there.

In the event a long freight goes through the square on the grade crossing it might be as much as fifteen minutes before there would be a sufficiently normal flow of traffic in the center to admit the passage of fire apparatus from the east to the west side of town.

It has always been necessary to use alternate routes to the west side if trains happen to be on the center crossing when a fire occurs on the west side, but with Bacon street closed, it would now be necessary to go all the way through Cross street to reach any fire west of the center, if indeed the apparatus could get out at all.

Police Chief Charles J. Harrold has also recognized the problem of emergency police protection for the west side of town, and is keeping a police cruiser constantly on the west side to take care of any calls that may come in during the construction program.

VOLPE RESIGNS

John A. Volpe of Everett avenue resigned on Tuesday, the position of State Commissioner of Public Works, a post he has held since February 26, 1953. At the time of his resignation he refused to comment on rumors that he would become associated with President Eisenhower's multi-million dollar national highway program, but did say it would be "a most interesting thing to have a hand in."

During his years as Commissioner the State Public Works Department has built $260,500,000 worth of highway construction, exclusive of Chapter 90 local projects, and currently has under construction another $155,556,000 worth, exclusive of flood control projects.

Mr. Volpe originally excepted his appointment by Governor Herter for one year, but has stayed on because of the challenge of the work. His resignation was accepted by the Governor with deep regret. He said in part:

"Your contribution as Commissioner of Public Works during the past three and a half years has been one of which you yourself must be very proud and for which both the people of the Commonwealth, and I, personally, owe you a deep debt of gratitude."

In announcing his resignation Mr. Volpe stated he would return to work with his own business, the Volpe Construction Company.

Henry Fitts and E. Blair Hawley won the Men's Doubles Championship for the second year in a row, by defeating the 11th ranked team in New England of Hills and Joslin by a score of 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Henry Fitts and Ruth Murray will play the winner of Arthur and Dorothy Hills and James and Ougee Coon this week-end to determine the mixed doubles championship.

DOUGHTY — CRUM

A wedding of local interest took place Saturday September 22, at Trinity Methodist Church in Columbus, Ohio, where Miss Mary Crum became the bride of Mr. Charles Elnwood Doughty. The minister, Reverend John L. Knight, officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony. Miss Crum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Crum of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Doughty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Linwood Doughty of 32 Oneida road.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Doughty will make their home in Branford, Connecticut.

JOHN J. SHANAHAN

APPOINTED TO PARK BOARD

At a joint meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners and the Board of Selectmen Monday evening John J. Shanahan of 12 Bonad road was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Park Board occasioned by the resignation of J. W. Smith, Jr., of 40 Arlington street. Mr. Smith, a member of the Park Board since 1950, has moved to Marion, where he has entered the investment business with territory on the South Shore.

Mr. Shanahan was one of several prospects considered, and was appointed because of his engineering experience. With a large range program to improve the town's waterways, and other construction projects in the making, Park Board members with experience in engineering are most desirable if not absolutely necessary.

Mr. Shanahan was an unsuccessful candidate for election to the Park Board last March. A graduate of Michigan State University Engineering School, he has been a practicing engineer for 15 years and is a member of both the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the National Society of Professional Engineers.

CAMBRIDGE LATIN HERE TOMORROW

Winchester High hopes to make it two football games in a row at the expense of Cambridge High and Latin School when the Indians and Cantabs play their first game tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at Manchester Field.

If memory serves, this meeting will be the first between Winchester and Cambridge Latin, so called, and not too much is known of the visitors except for their 32-6 defeat at the hands of Swampscott last Saturday.

Granted Swampscott is loaded this fall, it wouldn't seem from their showing against the Sculpins that the Cantabs are too potent.

Cambridge is reported to have a big team, and may be a lot better this week than last. The Cantabs were taken on for a two-year series when it was impossible to work Watertown into Winchester's new Middlesex League schedule.

RIVER SURVEY MADE

WATERWAYS OFFICIAL ENDORSES WINCHESTER PLAN

Malcolm Graf of the Division of Inland Waterways, State Department of Public Works, visited Winchester Tuesday and, accompanied by Town Engineer James Wakefield and Park Superintendent Herbert Mullen, traversed the Aberjona River from the Woburn line to the Waterfield road bridge, going down stream between the two railroad roadbeds along Black Ball Pond and the Mill Pond, past the main street bridge past Filene's and Horace Ford's to the Post-office.

The survey was made to enable Mr. Graf to see the condition of the river and learn the town's plan for a long-range improvement program that will lead to a permanent solution of the river polution problem.

Mr. Graf praised the river clean-up that has already been made and was pleased with the improved condition of the stream as far south as the lagoon at Davidson Park in the Highlands.

The State official in general agreed with the town's plan for further improvement, and felt that some filling should be done at the Davidson Park Lagoon.

He is to prepare rough plans for the river improvement program to enable the town to get an idea of what the improvement is to cost. Half the expense will be borne by the State and half by the town.

THE DEMOCRATS STILL NEED MONEY

We had some contributions as a result of our plea in the Star last week, but not nearly enough as yet.

The newspapers report that the Rockefellers, DuPonts, Astors, and Mellons have given heavily this year to the Republicans. It will take a lot of small contributions to keep us in the fight.

So . . . .

PLEASE SEND THE MONEY!

The auction at 11 a. m. is being arranged by the ways and means committee, and we trust it will be as successful as those of the past. Each member is asked to bring one article, usable and in good condition. Up for sale also will be some old Fortnightly china ware. After luncheon at the snack bar, followed by the business meeting at 2, we can anticipate the illustrated lecture on her European travels by Mrs. Howard J. Chidley.

Members are urged to set aside the first Thursday of each month for Club Institute Forum held at the Y. W. C. A., 140 Clarendon street, Boston, 10:30 a. m.—12:30 p. m. These sessions are interesting, stimulating and rewarding.

The Preservation of Antiques committee plans an afternoon trip to the Jackson Homestead, Washington street, Newton, Friday, October 26. Anyone desiring to go will please contact Louise Bancroft, as the number permitted to visit at one time is limited to thirty.

L. W. V. NOTES

What are the arguments for a four-year term for governor? Mr. Edgar M. Mills, N. E. political correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, presented them effectively at the Massachusetts League of Women Voters' fall conference which was held in Lexington this year. Mr. Mills feels that a four-year term for the governor gives a more stable state government and he pointed out that 28 states have this longer term. In Massachusetts both parties favor the four-year term, but the Democrats prefer that the governor's election come with the presidential election, and the Republicans favor an off-year election for governor. The League is studying the questions of the four-year term, short ballot, and the pre-primary convention.

The other guest speaker at the conference was Professor Robert C. Wood, assistant professor of government at Harvard, who spoke on problems of state government, especially in reference to the governorship. Both speakers were presented in the morning. After a box luncheon the League members divided into discussion groups according to their special interests.

Attending from Winchester were Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. Neil Borden, Mrs. Robert Mulford, Mrs. Thomas Gibb, Mrs. Robert Joslin, and Mrs. Thomas Halloran.

BOSTON COLLEGE DEAN'S LIST

At the meetings of the Senior and Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church discussions will be forthcoming in guiding the programs of the year. Both groups are planning a series of studies relating to the problems young people face today.

The Junior Fellowship filled out a form listing some 200 problems of our young people today. The form is put out by the Bureau of Educational Research at Ohio State University under Dr. Ross L. Mooney.

The Senior High Group also checked a list of over 300 problems suggested by young people from all over the country—problems of health, money, social and home relations, religion, vocations, school work and the like.

A series of discussions in both groups will be directed by Rev. Charles Johnson, who will lead the young people in a discussion of the problems they checked.

The Junior Fellowship will be meeting at the church this Sunday and the Senior Fellowship at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Woods.

Counsellors for the Junior Group are Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Malley and the Senior counsellors are Mr. and Mrs. George B. Needham.

Winchester High School Tumblers and Band entertain between halves of Stoneham game.

Indians Scalp Stoneham

Thomson Scores Two In 18-0 Win

Winchester High bounced back from its first-game defeat at the hands of Concord to set back Stoneham in a Middlesex League engagement last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, 18-0.

Both teams played sloppy ball with fumbles and penalties especially plaguing Winchester. The Indians fumbled seven times, recovering only once, and losing two touchdowns through bobbles inside the Stoneham ten. Fifty yards Winchester lost to the white pants, and several of the penalties were costly, two of them nullifying touchdowns.

Winchester made 12 first downs to seven for Stoneham, rushing for 260 yards to 129 for the light blue. The Indians completed four of eight passes for 63 yards and a touchdown. Stoneham threw seven passes, completing two for nine yards and having one intercepted. The visitors fumbled twice, and lost 40 yards in penalties.

Stoneham kicked and Winchester moved the ball from its 25 to the Stoneham 31, where a fumble was recovered by Camuso of Stoneham.

A smothered pass play and a 15-yard penalty for holding forced Stoneham to kick, and Chapin recovered the fumbled kick at Winchester's 41.

The Indians immediately fumbled the ball away with Camuso again recovering at the Winchester 39. Stoneham again had to kick, and Winchester started once more from its 21.

Chapin bucked for two and Paonessa got outside to the Stoneham 40 for a first down. Chapin swept to the Stoneham 32 where he was forced out of bounds, but here first an offside penalty and then a fumble stalled the locals, Stoneham taking over at its 30 as the first quarter ended.

The visitors, after a short gain and an incomplete pass, fumbled in their turn, and Freddie Bartlett pounced on the loose ball at the Stoneham 29.

An outside play lost six, but a Longworth to Murphy pass got this back. Another pass fell incomplete, before Chapin tossed a long one into the Stoneham end zone, on which "Dougie" Thomson made a real Joe Bellino catch, going high in the air to grab the leather from three defenders.

The try for the extra point from placement failed, and Russo kicked off to Cataldo, who ran the ball back 25 yards to the Stoneham 30. Two rushes failed to gain and a pass fell incomplete before Fionda kicked to Chapin who advanced from his 40 to the Stoneham 49.

A backfield - in - motion penalty more than nullified two short gains, but Chapin hit Vin Murphy for a first down at the Stoneham 31. A Longworth pass completed at the Stoneham 10 was nullified by a fifteen-yard holding penalty, putting Winchester back on the Stoneham 45.

Longworth and Paonessa failed to gain, but on third down Stoneham was called for illegal use of hands, and the penalty put Winchester on the 29, third and eight. Fionda recovered a Winchester fumble on the next play at the Stoneham 34.

One pass fell incomplete and Stoneham again took to the air. This time Steve Fisher plucked the ball out of the ozone and galloped to the Stoneham nine-yard line, aided by a great block by Freddie Bartlett at the Stoneham 20.

Thomson got away for eight, but on the next play Winchester lost five yards for offside. From the six Chapin passed to Murphy in the end zone, but the officials ruled Winchester had an ineligible man across the line of scrimmage, and the ball went back to the 21. Two passes fell incomplete and Stoneham took over.

Malonson got away for a first down at the Stoneham 33, but here Mundo was thrown for a 10-yard loss by Captain Russo. Powers got back to the 41, two yards short of a first down; Malonson was stopped without gain; but on fourth down Malonson made the distance, being forced out of bounds at the Winchester 49.

The half ended with this play, and soon after Russo's second-half kickoff Vin Murphy recovered a Stoneham fumble at the visitors' 25.

Chapin reached the 12 and a first down on a pitch-out from Longworth, and Thomson got off tackle to the seven. Here Dike recovered a Winchester fumble at the Stoneham 7, and two plays later Malonson got out to a first down at the 21.

Stoneham had to kick and Chapin was forced back after taking the boot to his own 43. Short gains by Longworth and Thomson were followed by a seven-yard buck by Chapin and a first down on the Stoneham 45.

Thomson in two tries made first down at the 35 just before the third quarter ended.

Stoneham piled up three plays, but Bartlett circled the Stoneham right flank for a first down on the Stoneham 23, and two plays later Chapin went all the way to the Stoneham three, where he was knocked out of bounds.

Once again Winchester fumbled with Stoneham recovering on the two yard stripe. An offside penalty forced Stoneham to kick and Fionda's boot from the end zone went out of bounds on the Stoneham 19.

Longworth picked up eight and then "Doug" Thomson whizzed out around the Stoneham left end for 11 yards and the touchdown. A pass try for the extra point was no good.

A seven-yard gain by Powers after the kickoff and a five-yard penalty against Winchester for delaying the game gave Stoneham a first down at Winchester's 49, and Dike made another at the 37. A very questionable call of pass interference on Freddie Bartlett gave Stoneham its third first down on Winchester's 33.

Here Winchester braced and on fourth down Perritano dropped Malonson on a pass play back on the Winchester 39.

Time was running out as Longworth carried 12 yards to the Stoneham 49, where Paonessa zipped through a big hole in the Stoneham line, and, cutting out to the left, outlegged the Stoneham secondaries 49 yards into the end zone. The try for goal at placement failed and the game ended soon afterward. The summary:

SONS OF ITALY Bowling News

September 27. Place: Winchester Bowladrome. Time: 7:00 p. m. The third series of the present season is starting with all the bowlers present. The situation that caused a considerable uproar last week was amicably settled as two fine bowlers were found to replace Moose Bellino and Johnny Mangano.

These bowlers are Dick Fiore and Jake Jacobellis. As the night drew to a close we find the All Stars and Blue Eyes in a two way tie.

Team Standings:

All Stars	10 - 2
Blue Eyes	10 - 2
Bee Bops	8 - 4
Jitter Bugs	7 - 5
Lindy Hop	5 - 7
High and Low	4 - 8
Rock and Roll	2-10
Hot Shots	2-10
Hi Single:
Babe Tofuri	130
Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri	352
Top Seven Bowlers:
Tony Saracco	105.4
Richard Bucci	101.1
Joe Berardi	97.6
Tony Chefalo	97.2
Dick Fiore	95

As in years gone by "Mighty Mouse" Tony Saracco still keeps his name on top in many departments. This week the team captained by him, the All Stars, bowled the highest pinfalls for the evening 1410 to lead the field. Sparked by Tony's superb-bowling of 350 his team went on to win three points to put them in a two way tie for top team standings. The members of his team are Tony Bardascino, Butzi Mistretta, Tony Chefalo and Joe Ciarcia.

Those who were fortunate enough to hit 300 or better besides Tony Saracco were Richard Bucci, 312; Tony Chefalo, 309; Mingy Frongillo, 303 and Chic Vespucci, 301.

News Flash!

For all those who are interested, Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo of Winchester High fame and who are now attending Columbia Prep at Washington, D. C., in their first football game against Massanutten of Maryland; Joe Bellino scored four touchdowns and Frank Dattilo speared four passes which gave their school a tremendous lopsided win. Last week Joe scored two more touchdowns with the help of Frank Dattilo to spark their team to another victory. We are proud of these boys and we hope that each and every game will be victorious.

Wanted—Nickolus Mollay alias Peeping Nick, Whistling Nick, Nick Molea, height 5 ft. 10⅛ in., weight 173¼ lbs. Description, receding brown curly hair, deep penetrating brown eyes, rowdy complexion, 4 inch scar across seventh vertebrea, six gorgeous girls tattooed upon chest, characteristic, very shy. If seen please call your local S.O.I. or WInchester 6-1220.

It is too early in the season to say one team is stronger than the other as they are quite evenly matched. I will say that as the season opened, as many seasons in the past, we find good old Ben Gillotti along with the rest of the old timers showing the younger generation they still have a few strikes left in their arms. To name a few there is Joe DiIorio, M. D. Saracco, Dom Simonetta, Chic Vespucci, Dom Provinzano, F. Corby and last but not least the centurion Hokie Procopio. It is also good to have back with us Carl Bertolucci who because of a back injury was unable to bowl last year.

This week's award winner was M. J. Saracco. A spanking, hard working new father.

See you next week.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Hostess for the last meeting of Beta Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was Claire Ball.

At this meeting the Winchester Chapter welcomed Marjorie Locke of Winchester and Jean Williams of Arlington. Both are members who have transferred to Winchester from other chapters.

Beta Nu's rushing activities during October will include a rushing party October 15, with Hallowe'en as the theme and then a model meeting on October 25.

The members decided what clothes they would make for the doll the Winchester Chapter is dressing. Chances will be sold on this doll to raise funds for Beta Nu's service projects. The doll and her wardrobe may be seen in one of the store windows in the center about the middle of November.

Wednesday, September 26, was a gala day for the Women's Republican Club of Winchester. The Country Club was attractively decorated for the occasion where members and friends were served dessert and coffee by the Social Chairman Mrs. Alfred W. Drew and Co-Chairman Mrs. Herbert Darling and their hard working committee.

The President, Mrs. Theodore C. Browne extended her greetings. She called specific attention to the coming campaign, reminding everyone to vote. "Vote, Voters, Vote" should be a by-word from now to November 6.

Among the guests was the wife of the candidate for State Secretary, Sen. Richard I. Furbush.

Several merchants and friends, as well as flower arrangements by Mrs. William Goodhue contributed the prizes. Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, founder of the club, and Mrs. Ernest Parker received the door prizes. God's healing and redemptive power will be emphasized in Christian Science services Sunday.
The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will include the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (472:21-30): "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore, the only reality of sin, sickness, or death, is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God."
The Golden Text is from Psalms (67:1,2): "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

NEW CROSS COUNTRY MARK

OSGOOD OF SALEM SHAVES FARRELL RECORD, MEET TO WINCHESTER

Winchester Harriers continue on the victory path with 25 to 34 victory over Salem.

In one of the most exciting races run over the Winchester cross country course the Red and Black harriers defeated the all veteran Salem team by a score of 25 to 34.

Both teams entered the race with unblemished records and were eager to win this key meet in the MCCL Pilgrim Division.

Salem, led by their Captain Osgood, had a slight edge going into the race but the local runners were protecting a fine record, and had a strong will to win. There were 56 runners at the starting line and the race began with a strong dash up the long hill on South Border road.

As the runners entered the Fells Osgood and Ken Brown held a slight lead with a group of Salem and Winchester boys about 15 yards behind. At the halfway mark Osgood and Brown were still running almost stride for stride with the others now about 50 yards back. The time at the check post was 7:45 which was 25 seconds under the record.

The two top men continued to run within 5 yards of each other until they were less than ¼ mile from the finish. At this point Ken Brown stumbled and fell, allowing Osgood to build up a substantial lead which he hung on to as he crossed the finish line to post a new course record of 16:30.

The old record was made by the great Lou Farrell in 1953 with a time of 16:35.

Bill Saurman came roaring in to take third place behind Brown. Salem's Ouelette took 4th with Dan O'Connell a strong 5th.

When the visitors' Gravel crossed the line in 6th place the result appeared in doubt but then the home team's balance showed to advantage as the next five runners came in wearing the Red and Black, led by Harry Ekstrom, recently returned after being on the injured list. This group running within 7 seconds of each other insured the Winchester victory.

This win was a team victory, particularly in light of the fact that the fast pace knocked out two top Winchester runners, Quent Roberts who pulled up with a severe wind cramp and Mike Callahan who had been out a week with a heavy cold.

The Junior Varsity posted their third consecutive shut out when they raced to a 15 to 50 victory. Charlie Clifton in 11th place was the top JV man followed by Emerson, Van Ummerson, Cooper, and Lewis in the other scoring positions.

The team goes to Revere this Friday, seeking its fourth victory over Fuccilo and company.

Order of Finish:

Varsity

1. Osgood (S), 16:30 New Record; 2. Brown, 16:39; 3. Saurman, 17:19; 4. Ouelette (S), 17:23; 5. O'Connell, 17:32; 6. Gravel (S), 17:39; 7. Ekstrom, 17:43; 8. Carlson, 17:45; 9. O'Connor, 17:48; 10. Seaver, 17:50.

Junior Varsity

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The first meeting of the Guild of the Infant Saviour will be held Tuesday, October 9th, at St. Mary's Hall.

This initial event will be a Harvest Dessert Bridge Party and the chairmen on this occasion will be Mrs. Katherine E. Doyle and Mrs. James McLaughlin. They are being assisted by a large and enthusiastic committee.

A delicious dessert will be served promptly at one o'clock, followed by cards. Many beautiful prizes have been secured and a pleasant afternoon is assured all members of the Guild and their guests.

HARRIERS DEFEAT HAVERHILL

The Winchester cross country team scored their second win of the season at Haverhill last Friday, 19 to 44.

The local squad traveled to Haverhill with a somewhat crippled team as both Harry Ekstrom and Mike Callahan were unable to compete. The team rose to the occasion and filled the spots usually occupied by Harry and Mike as they ran the Brown and Gold literally off their feet.

The Red and Black had nine of the first ten places with only Haverhill's fine runner George Jahoda able to break the stream of Winchester finishers as he took second place.

Forty-seven boys stared the 2.4 mile course over Kenoza Park and the pattern of the victory quickly formed as six Winchester runners and Jahoda of the home club took the lead at the ¼ mile mark.

As the runners began to string out on the long hill Captain Ken Brown, Quent Roberts and George Jahoda drew away from the others. Just before the crest of the hill Ken moved out to a lead he never relinquished. On the downhill stretch and the run to the finish he build up a 150 yd. margin over the Haverhill boy, Jahoda who faded toward the finish. Quent Roberts was fast closing the gap as he put on a strong finish to take third.

Bill Emerson, running his best race of the season, was only 4 seconds back in 4th. Billy Saurman, sophomore flash, showing his claim to a varsity spot to be valid, closed fast in 5th and Dan O'Connell showed real improvement in filling the last scoring slot in 6th. Don Seaver and Robin Carlson were only seconds behind Danny.

The Junior Varsity showed vast improvement as they scored a shut out win, 15 to 50. Charlie O'Connor was the first JV scorer followed by Clifton, Cooper, De Renne, and Lewis.

Finishers:

Varsity

1. Brown, 12:28; 2. Jahoda (H), 12:46; 3. Roberts, Q., 13:03; 4. Emerson, 13:07; 5. Saurman, 13:12; 6. O'Connell, 13:16; 7. Seaver, 13:20; 8. Carlson, 13:22.

Miss Barbara Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen O. Eaton, 34 Rangeley road, presented a vocal solo at the annual freshman recital at Connecticut College, New London, Conn., on September 26. Miss Eaton is a 1956 graduate of Winchester High School. Miss Eaton is also newly elected song leader of the freshman class.

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

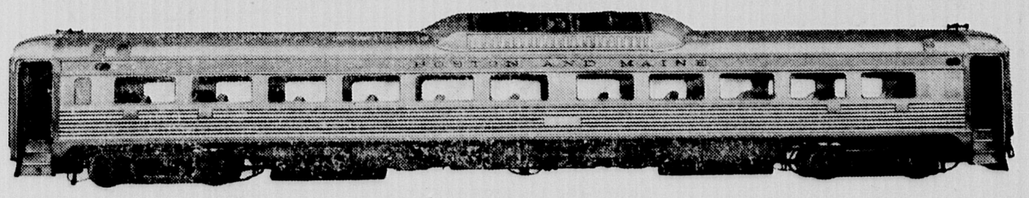
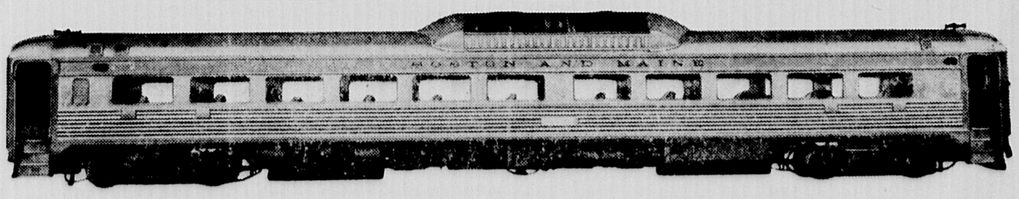
B & M commuters:



This week we add



2 more new Budds!

This makes the 80th and 81st new Budd Highliners we've put into commuter service on the Boston & Maine in the last two years, at a cost of $13,055,000 to date. And there are more of the stainless steel beauties arriving every week! Not only are these self-propelled Budds more comfortable and pleasant to ride in; they're more efficient too—because we can back them right out of North Station during the rush hour instead of having to turn them around.

CIVIL DEFENSE

C. D. RADIO DRILL

A Civil Defense radio drill was made Monday p. m. with sector headquarters from 7:30 to 9:00. Sector headquarters is compiled of 11 towns and all calls must be cleared through them. Five operators were on duty at the Winchester control center and they were in constant touch with the other towns.

At 9:00 p .m. our own local radio drill was made, using some of our personally-owned cars equipped with radios. The evening proved to be very successful.

Winchester plans to send four firemen to the Topsfield Rescue School, two men to the first session and two men to the second session. They will study various means of rescue work.

Mrs. Eisenhower recently inspected the new C. D. uniforms for women. The color is a C. D. blue with both a coverall and shirt and shirt style. The hat was designed by Sally Victor, who has also made a lot of original hats for Mrs. Eisenhower.

Women play a very active part in C. D. work, and it is hoped many more will volunteer.

1932 REUNION PLANS

Prompted by the expert needling of Bill O'Neil, now of Worcester, a committee of members of the W.H.S. Class of 1932 met one night last week to begin tracking down their far-flung classmates and to make plans for the twenty-five year wing-ding to be held some warm and enchanted evening next spring. In addition to the aforementioned Mr. O'Neil, the gathering included Mrs. Agatha Shinnick Tullly, Mrs. Barbara Franklin Coss, Stuart Barnard, Bill Sullivan, and Henry Fitts. Members in absentia, from whom expert committee help is expected, are Betty Fowle Page, Doris Maxwell Philbrook, Bill Hickey, Stan Osgood, and Joe Flaherty.

The committee members are eager to hear suggestions regarding meeting, eating, and entertainment; and they would like to invite any classmates who left high school before graduation to send in their names to be included in the mailing list. In addition, will anyone who can give the addresses of any of the following alumni please write or telephone one of the co-chairmen.

Francis Harold Brown, Howard Cranwell, Lyman Flanders, Bernard Gaffney, Frances Gaum, Barbara Grant, Charlotte Haartz, Thomas Hammond, Lily Evelyn Larson, Josephine Lydon, Frederica MacVicar, William C. Mills, Virginia Smalley, Alma Talcott, George Taylor, Kenneth Tripp and Frederick L. Yeo.

Co-chairmen for the reunion are: Mrs. Barbara F. Coss, 5 Lloyd street, WInchester 6-3276-M; and Henry K. Fitts, 29 Prince avenue, WInchester 6-3431.

BAPTISTS PLAN AUTUMN BAZAAR

Plans for First Baptist's annual church fair, the "Autumn Bazaar," are in full swing, under the chairmanship of Mr. Leonard R. Mortenson. The fair will be held all day and evening, Wednesday, October 24th, at the First Baptist Church. Winchesterites who visit the Bazaar will find an exciting array of gaily decorated booths featuring a wide variety of intriguing and unusual articles for sale.

Take the big Gifts-Dolls-Childrens booth, for instance. Mrs. Robert E. Smith and her committee have been working for months, making and collecting unique novelties and gift articles, plus a wide selection of appealing children's items—the kind you can't buy in any store.

Mr. John R. Blakely, manager of the "General Store," reports that merchants and manufacturers have been most generous in donating valuable merchandise and food items to make the "Store" the biggest and best yet. Smart visitors are sure to pick up some real "buys."

Then there's the fascinating "Parcel Post" booth where you'll find parcel post packages, still in their original wrappings, mailed from the far corners of the country. "You pay your money and you take your chance." Mrs. Leonard Mortenson booth chairman, says there are many packages to pick from, promising plenty of surprises and bargains.

You won't want to miss the gay and colorful Home and Garden display arranged by the church's flower committee under the direction of Mrs. Ellis W. Harlow. Aprons? You'll find dozens of beauties at Mrs. Paul Eaton's booth. Need gift wrappings and cards for Christmas? The committee has arranged a complete display—just take your choice. Grabs? Send the children over to Mrs. Robert Sanborn's booth. Hanker for some homemade candy? Mrs. Walter Bosselman and Mrs. H. S. Muilen are cooking up something special. Or how about some real homemade cakes, pies or cookies? Mrs. Walter L. Bailey and her committee will have many mouth-watering delicacies on display.

Mrs. William Wickwire and her assistants will serve a delicious luncheon between 12:00 and 1:30 p. m. And you don't need to buy tickets in advance. Supper, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Ward, will be served between 6:00 and 7:30 with Mr. Robert Stewart in charge of reservations.

These are just a few examples of the good times and good "buys" awaiting those who visit First Baptist's Autumn Bazaar on October 24. So mark the date on your calendar right now—and plan to "come to the fair!"

ADULT EDUCATION

The Community YMCA of Reading is offering informal adult education instruction in oil painting, better auto driving, sewing, pencil sketching, early American decorating and tinware, china painting, making home repairs, woodworking, music appreciation, and a shorthand refresher course.

Classes will commence October 18, and will be held Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. at the Reading Junior High School, 45 Temple street, under competent instructors. Any one interested can get further information at the Reading Y, afternoons between one and four o'clock.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

A cordial invitation has been extended to leaders of intermediate Girl Scout troops to attend a meeting of the Winchester Branch, Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, on Thursday, October 11, at the home of Mrs. Frederick Cardin, 8 Copley street, at 2:30 p. m.

Dr. Eric H. Hansen will be the speaker, and any leader who would like a new approach to the sixth Girl Scout Law "A Girl Scout is a Friend to Animals" is urged to attend. It is also suggested that Dr. Hansen's talk would be of help in the following proficiency badges—"Cat and Dog," and "First Aid to Animals."

The Girl Scout Office will be closed on Friday, October 12, Columbus Day.

WINCHESTER TEACHERS' CLUB FALL OUTING

More than 150 members of the Winchester School Department staff, and their wives or husbands, attended the annual picnic supper of the Winchester Teachers' Club at the Girl Scout Cabin in the Middlesex Fells last Wednesday.

Most of the guests arrived in time to enjoy a delicious picnic supper; but earlier some of the more agile members, not necessarily the younger ones, played a fast game of softball under the direction of Henry Fitts. Soon after five o'clock the first trays of hamburgs and hot dogs made their brief appearance in the dining room. For the next hour the boys at the charcoal pits were busy replenishing the supplies. When the last of the apple pie and ice cream was gone, President Dick Ulin introduced Jeanne Loudon, the able chairman of the social committee.

With a captive but willing audience, Jeanne once again demonstrated her skill at organizing impromptu choral groups. There were songs for every taste, ranging from "Side by Side" through "Swanee River" to "Done Nobis Pacem." Of all the guests present perhaps the most appreciative listener was the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker.

Assisting Jeanne Loudon in planning and executing this fine opening event of the club's social year were the following: Frances Houghton, Claire Corcoran, Lydia Whittemore, Martha Cunningham, Marjory Locke, Paul Goodwin, Lovell Parsons, William McGhee, Tom Morse, Roland Nault, Henry Fitts, and Frank Weafer.

EDITORIAL

Every once in a while you encounter a rare soul who can overlook the frailties of others, and the Star encountered such a one last week when a "for sale" ad, taken over the telephone, appeared in the paper with the wrong number.

We started getting calls early Friday morning, and later in the day we heard from the advertiser. She was nice about it all, but she did want us to know about the error, and did want to give us the correct number.

We had already secured that and had relayed it to all inquirers, several of whom were far from temperate in their approach.

Saturday morning we again heard from our advertiser. She had made her sale to the first prospect, and wanted us to know that in spite of the error in the number, everything turned out well.

She had called the woman whose number we had published, and they had enjoyed a laugh and a pleasant chat.

Bless your hearts, ladies! Our appreciation and admiration are extended to you both!

The Winchester Homefronters would appreciate it if you would allow us to publicly thank all the good people who helped to make our Tag Day September 22nd a rewarding success.

FIRST FALSE ALARM AT HIGH SCHOOL

Editor of the Star:

In your report of the false alarm of fire at the high school last week the statement was made that the alarm was "a repetition of several such incidents last spring."

This is misleading. There were several false alarms pulled in last spring, but they were not at the high school, but throughout town. We have had needless runs to the high school in response to alarms, but these alarms have been the result of faulty operation of the fire alarm system there.

Last week's alarm is so far as I can recall the first false alarm to be pulled at the high school.

THREE DOLLARS A WEEK!

Editor of the Star:

For the benefit of "old-timers" I would like to add a few words to that interesting article on the Telephone Co.

I was in that office in "Whites Block" as it was then called.

I knew the operator, Miss Mabel McKim. A young man took over at night.

There must be some who remember Miss McKim as she was very popular.

I seem to remember her salary was three dollars a week.

Telephone operators please take notice!

SCOUTS HUNT MAN

The Boy Scouts of Troop 7 are searching for a man. They've hunted and hunted, but they haven't found him. Thirty boys came to the Troop's first meeting last Monday at the First Baptist Church—but the man wasn't there. Seven Scouts expect to win Scouting's highest award, the Eagle, this year—if they can find the man. The boys are looking forward to celebrating Troop 7's 25th birthday this season, if they find the man. Yet, on October 30th when the Troop's charter must be renewed by the Boy Scouts of America, the Troop must disband, unless the Scouts' search is successful.

The boys are hunting for a Scoutmaster.

The man, if they find him, will take over a going, healthy organization. He won't have to handle the whole "show," or do all the work, or worry about all the details. He'll have a capable Troop Committee Chairman and an active 12-man committee, plus ten junior leaders to do those jobs. His sole responsibility is to lead the boys, direct the Troop meeting each Monday evening, go on two or three hikes and camping trips, and spend one or two hours a week on "odds and ends." He doesn't need any experience. The former Scoutmaster will work closely with him. He doesn't need to know anything about Scouting. The committee and junior leaders will carry out the program, he simply directs it.

The Scouts are sure that, somewhere in Winchester, is the man they're hunting for. They're hoping he'll read this and get in touch with their Troop Committee Chairman, Mr. Ralph "Bud" Thompson. His phone number is WInchester 6-3087.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Schools for aboriginal children have multiplied to nearly 800 in the last eight years in India's State of Madhya Pradesh. India's community development campaign is resettling villagers, building new schools, new health centers, new roads, and more efficient farms. The program, supported in part by United States funds, operates in some 100,000 villages, says the National Geographic Society reports.

Ketchikan, Alaska, lies 500 miles closer to the Orient than any part of the continental United States, the National Geographic Society says.

Sir Thomas Urquhart, Scotland's famed translator of Rabelais who lived in the village of Cromarty on Black Isle, became so overjoyed at news of the restoration of Charles II that he died in a fit of laughter.

Brazil's Senate building in Rio de Janeiro once was one of the show places of St. Louis, Mo. MARK TWAIN STORIES STILL LIVE IN HANNIBAL BY THE MISSISSIPPI

Beside the Mississippi River, in northeast Missouri, is a Main street home town that attracted more American visitors last year than Hawaii, and a fourth as many as saw Europe.

The town is Hannibal, Mark Twain's boyhood home and scene of the adventures of Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, and other youngsters of fiction who are better known to millions today than many real-life persons in their daily newspapers.

Jerry Allen—author of a recent biography on the writer-humorist who is seldom remembered by his actual name, Samuel Clemens—tells in the July issue of the National Geographic Magazine how Hannibal lives its literary legend.

Name is Everywhere

Many of the buildings Mark Twain knew are still in use, Miss Allen points out. The city shows its pride in its famous citizen of a century ago by restorations, monuments, and landmarks. His name is everywhere, in shop signs for Mark Twain printers, jewelers, cleaning company, confectionery; at hotel, taxi office, movie house and rest home.

Hannibal's best known address is 208 Hill street. Out of his upstairs bedroom window, young Sam Clemens climbed to join his friend, Tom Blankenship (Huck Finn) for the moonlight deeds he later immortalized in the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Against the Clemen's modest clapboard house leans a high, white board fence, copy of the one Tom graciously permitted his pals to whitewash for him.

Next door to the old homestead is the Mark Twain Museum. Opened in 1937, it exhibits the author's early typewriter, the scarred cherry desk at which he wrote, and a huge pilot's wheel from a Mississippi steamboat.

Behind such a wheel Mark Twain learned to steer his craft so as to "shave steamships as close as you'd peel an apple." His pen name came from the river term "Mark twain," for a safe depth of two fathoms (12 feet).

Carefree Youth

Hannibal treasures the law office of Mark Twain's father, and the home of his first girl, Laura Hawkins, immortalized as Tom Sawyer's Becky Thatcher.

At the foot of Cardiff Hill the city has set up a bronze monument showing young Tom and Huck marching along barefoot and carefree. In a riverside park stands a giant statue of Mark Twain in late years, looking out on his beloved Mississippi. Farther along is the white Mark Twain Memorial Lighthouse, and nearby the Mark Twain Memorial Bridge.

So closely is Hannibal linked with the author, says Miss Allen, that its history is usually ignored before 1839, when a four-year-old red-headed boy came there to live and stayed until he was 17. Actually the town, older than the Oregon Trail, was settled in 1819. When the Clemenses lived there, it was an important steamboat center of some 1,000 people.

Today, Hannibal has more than 21,000 residents. Watching the Mississippi traffic flow by, it looks for livelihood to factories, business, and trade with a prosperous farming countryside.

Yet the river is still a living force in the community and a molder of young. Fishing is an industry as well as pastime for every man and boy. On hot summer days Jackson's Island (where Huck and Jim set out on their famous raft) is a happy haunt for kids to camp, fish and swim.

With a mile-wide river as back yard, growing up is still as much fun in Hannibal as in the days of its famous pair of boys.

OCEAN EXPEDITION TO LOWER NEW CAMERA TO GREAT DEPTHS

An ocean research expedition off the west coast of Africa will try this month for the deepest photographs ever made in the sea.

The attempt will be made with a special electronic-flash camera built for the National Geographic Society. Late in July the French oceanographic vessel Calypso will lower the instrument by nylon cable into an 18,500-foot deep, 350 miles from the Liberian coast.

If all goes well, the National Geographic Society-Calypso Expedition under Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau will then sail 500 miles westward along the Equator to repeat the experiment in the 25,000-foot Romanche Trech, one of the deepest holes in the Atlantic.

Undersea Frontier

For four years the Society has cosponsored the work of Captain Cousteau and the Calypso, a diving-research ship that already has made scientific history. The project reflects the Society's pioneer interest in the seas as the earth's last frontier of major geographical secrets, president John Oliver LaGorce stated.

As far back as 1927, the National Geographic Magazine published the world's first undersea photographs in color.

Inventor of the new camera for use at great depths is Dr. Harold E. Edgerton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In tests his instrument has withstood pressures greater than that at the deepest known point in the oceans.

The camera will be lowered by the longest nylon line ever woven in one length—28,000 feet, five and a half miles long, yet only a quarter of an inch in diameter. Another cable the same length but half an inch thick will be used to anchor the Calypso over the great deeps.

Completed in June at the Samson Cordage Work in Shirley, Massachusetts, the braided nylon cables are virtually weightless when submerged—weightless because they have almost the same specific gravity as sea water. Thus the line itself adds little if any strain as the 100-pound Edgerton camera is lowered into the far depths.

New Record Deep

In addition to electronic lights, the camera carries a position indicator that operates by bouncing sound waves from the sea floor beneath. At depth, it makes exposures timed to the split-second flash of high-voltage lights. Large numbers of photographs can be made in one lowering.

The deepest undersea photo yet made was taken by David Owen of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in 1950 at 18,000 feet. Thus if the Edgerton camera catches a glimpse of the bottom at 18,500 feet, in the unnamed depth at 10 degrees west longitude, it will have set a new record. The Romanche Trench, if plumbed, will exceed that by nearly a mile and a half.

Both Captain Cousteau and Dr. Edgerton will be aboard the Calypso on the voyage of exploration. The vessel, carrying scientists of the French National Museum of Natural History in Paris, plus National Geographic staff photographer Bates Littlehales, has been at work in waters of the Gulf of Guinea around the islands of Fernando Poo, Principe, Sao Tome, and Annobon. It will clear from Abidjan on the Ivory Coast about July 23, for the photographic expedition.

Travel Tip: When you're driving at night be sure you can stop within the beam of your headlights. This means that forty-miles an hour is your maximum safe speed after dark. And by the way, be sure your car is equipped with the new-type headlamps if you're planning any night driving on your trip. The new-type lights give you a longer low beam—and much safer operation says the AAA.

HIGH AMONG YOUR MEMORIES,

PAST MONARCH OF THE MOUNTAINS, GRIZZLY BEAR NEARS EXTINCTION

Once the terror of both man and beast, the mightly grizzly bear today needs protection itself.

Scarcely heard of until 1807 when Lewis and Clark returned from their expedition to the Pacific, King Grizzly reigned throughout the West for many years. Indians, armed only with bows and arrows, rarely challenged his supremacy. Such was the Indians's awe of the beasts that any early frontiersman who felled a grizzly wore its claws around his neck as a badge of unexcelled courage.

As guns improved and as the price of pelts increased, however, killing bears became commonplace. Today, says the National Geographic Society, they are nearly extinct in this country.

Alaska Last Refuge

Outside Alaska, the animal's last stronghold, only about 700 remain in the United States—mainly in Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks. The bears are still legal game in Montana and Wyoming beyond the parks. But in Colorado, Idaho and Washington, the only other states reporting grizzlies, they are protected.

Though the big bears have maimed and killed people, authorities agree that their reputation for ferocity is unfair. Lewis and Clark slew many but never were attacked More than one hunter, following the adage—"Leave him alone and he'll leave you alone"—has told of waking up to find a grizzly stepping gently over him. One woodsman tamed a grizzly so successfully that the two hunted, slept and ate together.

Seldom as large as imagined, the males of the species average about 500 pounds, the females, 400. The reported half-ton monsters, it has been said, "are not found inhabiting the same range of country as Fairbanks' scales."

Grizzlies nevertheless are considerably larger than the more common black bears that roam mainland parks and woods. A black bear begs handouts. It also climbs trees. The grizzly does neither. It is further recognizable by its grizzled, silver-tipped coat, by the maned hump on its back, its dished-in face, and long, almost straight pitchfork front claws.

A grizzly can outrun a man, and it takes a good horse to catch one. As strong as any animal, it has been known to drag a steer or buffalo a half mile or more. Theodore Roosevelt once saw a bear making off with a huge carcass. Somehow, the bear lost its grip and somersaulted over. It made him so angry, he hauled off and whacked the carcass.

Strong Mother instinct

Almost as demonstrative as apes, grizzlies howl and bawl when hurt. They will roar with rage, yet coast down snowbanks with innocent, childish glee. A mother's affection for her cubs is unbounded. She sits, like a human mother, and feeds her little one with her paws. In serving salmon, she reserves the choicest bits for junior.

Mother bruin, however, spanks freely. Any youngster that strays from the path gets a swift cuff—or worse, gets captured. One cub snared by hunters was carried off seven miles, inside a bag on horseback. At camp, he was placed inside a steel cage and chained. That very night his mother found him. She beat off a pack of dogs, tore through the cage, ripped the chain, and marched the young grizzly back home.

Kenny Foundation Broadens Work In Treatment, Research Fields

Minneapolis, Minn.—Scientists, professors and department heads of leading medical schools across the country are cooperating in the expanding medical program of the Elizabeth Kenny foundation, according to Marvin L. Kline, national executive director.

KLINE

The program, he explained, includes medical research, and the sponsoring of fellows and medical seminars and scholarship grants. The medical research program which the Kenny foundation is sponsoring at its own treatment centers and a number of universities across the country is not limited to the field of polio, but includes other neuromuscular disorders of various kinds, he asserted.

"Included on the medical advisory committee and planning committee set up by the Kenny foundation to help provide greater service," Kline said, "are doctors who are affiliated with the various departments of the following schools:

"University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif.; University of California, Los Angeles, Calif.; New York university, New York City, N.Y.; Columbia university, New York City, N.Y.; Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio; Baylor university (hospital), Dallas, Texas; Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn.; College of Medical Evangelists, Los Angeles, Calif.; McGill university, Montreal, Canada; Washington university, St. Louis, Mo.; University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.; University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.; University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.; Herman hospital, Houston, Texas, and Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis.

"The Kenny foundation's expanding rehabilitation program offers help to persons of all ages who have nerve, muscle or joint disabilities which our medical staff believes may be lessened by such treatment."

The program of the Kenny foundation is made possible through funds contributed by the public.

FRESHMAN DAY AT SMITH COLLEGE

On Saturday, September 29, an enthusiastic group of girls from the Senior Class at Winchester High School were driven up to Northampton by Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., of the Winchester Smith College Club, to attend the annual Freshman Day at Smith. The girls were conducted on a tour around the campus, attended classes, and were luncheon guests at the various houses. In the afternoon an exhibition of sports was held on the athletic field and the college girls paraded under the banners of their various houses.

It was a most enjoyable day for everyone and an excellent opportunity for pre-college girls to intimately visit Smith College.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The first meeting of the Winchester Art Association, held in the Library Gallery Tuesday evening, October 2, opened the new season with an enthusiastic start. The popular coffee hour preceding the meeting was arranged by Mrs. T. E. Burleigh, Jr., assisted by Mrs. William O'Malley, Mrs. Fuiton Brown and Miss Alice Main.

The President of the Art Association, Dr. Samuel B. Kirkwood, warmly welcomed the large group of members and told of the plans for the year. The new teacher for the morning art class, Mrs. C. B. Hoag (Alexandra Bradshaw) was present and she outlined the course of study for the morning classes.

The Manager of the Boston Art Festival, Mr. Peter Temple, as the speaker of the evening quickly won his audience's interest with his humorous approach to the subject "Art for Everyone." During his analysis of the word art he asked many questions concerning artists, art, and everyone's interest in art. He gave astonishing figures of the number of persons who annually visit art museums and buy prints of pictures by famous artists. Mr. Temple brought out the fact that the concept of aesthetics varies from age to age and varies with the individual's approach, yet art always reflects the thinking of the times. His talk was stimulating, masterly in comprehension and extremely rewarding. His ultimate observation was that, "art may not be everyone's dish but everyone reacts to an artistic experience."

The date of the November meeting has been changed to Wednesday, November 7, in order not to conflict with Election Day. The well-liked Mr. Harold F. Lindergreen will discuss "How to Draw a Line."

RETARDED CHILDREN'S GROUP MET

The East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children got the first season off to a lively start with its interest—packed first meeting held last evening at the Wakefield Y.M.C.A. Eighteen new parents attended the initial opening meeting of the current year and were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Thomas Burke and the members older in point of membership.

John G. Fettinger, president of the MARC (Mass. Association for Retarded Children), was the guest speaker and proved a stimulating one. Mr. Fettinger urged that parents work for every retarded child, pointing out that work done today can benefit the child born tomorrow.

Mr. Fettinger underlined the importance of parents of retarded children sharing the knowledge gained through that parenthood and association with other parents and with the public.

It was announced that the Adolescent Study and Recreation Group, meeting Saturday mornings in the First Baptist Church, Wakefield, was resumed Saturday, September 29. New projects for the year include the establishment of a nursery group, a speaker's bureau and plans for religious education opportunities.

The Crawford brothers, Ned, of Williamsville, Vt., and Jack of Chicago, arrived in town this week for one of their frequent visits to the old home town. They are staying with their niece, Mrs. George Young of Washington street, and are keeping busy looking up old friends.

UNITARIAN ALLIANCE MEETS

The Winchester Branch of the Unitarian Alliance will hold the first luncheon of the season on Tuesday, October 9, at 1:00 p.m. Mrs. James Breton and Mrs. Richard Hakanson are chairmen of the luncheon committee.

The meeting which will follow at 2:00 o'clock will include Mrs. William C. Cusack as speaker, a film, "Assignment Children," with Danny Kaye, and reports by some of our young people who attended Star Island Conferences in July.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Cusack of Winchester has served as Alternate United States Representative on the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) Executive Board since August 12, 1955. The Children's Fund was established by the General Assembly in December 1946. The Executive Board consists of representatives of 26 countries. The assets of the fund are derived from voluntary contributions of governments, and private organizations and individuals. For the first four years priority was given to children in countries which were victims of aggression. Now its resources are mainly used to meet the needs of children, particularly in under-developed countries with a view to strengthening their permanent child health and welfare programs.

As president of the Women's Alliance Mrs. William E. Spaulding invites everyone interested in United Nations activities to come and hear "Betty," who has served the community in many capacities, including the Winchester Women's Council, League of Women Voters, District Nursing Association, Winchester Hospital, District Director of the U.S.O., Founder and Chairman of Winchester Homefronters and President of the Mass. Women's Republican Club. She lives with her husband, a former selectman, and their two boys at 2 Lakeview road.

ANIMAL RESCUE LEAGUE TO MOVE

Animal Rescue League President, Carlton E. Buttrick, has announced that the League will move to its new location and quarters at the corner of Arlington and Tremont streets in Boston, on October 7, and 8. As its first move on October 7th, the League will move all animals from its 366 Albany street shelter location. On October 8th, the 51 Carver street Administrative offices and Animal Outpatient Clinic will vacate its present quarters.

"In cooperation with the Massachusetts Department of Public Works," Mr. Buttrick added, "we will delay the official dedication and opening of our new home until late fall. The League's present Albany street location was purchased by the State of Massachusetts in 1955 for present highway expansion, and the State has cooperated with us by waiting until our new quarters were complete before issuing a final order to vacate."

JUNIOR HIGH FELLOWSHIP

Junior High of the First Congregational Church take notice!

The first meeting will be held this Sunday afternoon in Chidley Hall from 4:30 - 6:00, and every Junior High is welcome. Plans are underway for a wonderful year of worship, fellowship and fun. Much planning awaits your suggestions—officers must be chosen, trips planned, meetings organized. Come and make this year's Junior High Fellowship better than ever.

This Sunday's program: The young people who went to Summer conferences this summer will tell us of the experience they had; slides will be shown of some of last year's activities, and of the Deering conference; a nominating committee will be elected to prepare a slate of officers for the year; recreation will be led by Miss Judith Skipton, a new member of First Church; and refreshments will be served.

CUB SCOUT PACK 3

The first meeting of Cub Scout Pack 3 will be held on Tuesday evening, October 9, at 7:00 o'clock in Chidley Hall of the First Congregational Church.

The new bobcats who registered last June are expected to be present without uniform.

VOTERS' TIPS

The League of Women Voters asks, "Did you know—

two years—the Governor's salary is $20,000—the Lt.-Governor receives $11,000 and is a member of the Governor's Council with a vote—there are 8 members of the Governor's Council whose salaries are $3,000. They act as an advisory board to the governor—the Senate and House of Representatives make up the General Court, the law-making body of the Commonwealth. Their salary is $4,500 and mileage."

"In Middlesex County—three county commissioners are elected for a four year term—salary $6,000. Two will be elected this year. They provide for the erecting and repairing of county court houses, jails, and other county buildings. They have quasi-judicial functions with respect to land takings for county and town highways, certain tax appeals, etc. They appoint minor county officials — the Sheriff is elected for a six year term at a salary of $8,400 and full maintenance for self and family. He preserves the peace, serves processes, keeps the jail, and preserves order in the courts. He appoints his own deputy sheriff—Middlesex pays the highest salaries of all counties in the state."

"Families of servicemen, don't forget—you may register and apply for an absentee ballot for your out-of-town serviceman today until 10:00 p. m."

HIGH SCHOOL BAND ATTENDED NAVY BAND CONCERT

Sixty-five members of the Winchester High School band attended the brilliant concert of the United States Navy Band at Symphony Hall on Monday evening. Accompanied by their director, Wendell Withington, the youngsters were the guests of a friend who prefers to keep his identity unknown. Anonymous he may be; but, if he could have been along on the buses which transported the young people, he would have known that his generosity was much appreciated.

The concert, which was sponsored by the Museum of Science for the benefit of its building fund, opened with a grand fanfare played by four-foot-long Herald trumpets. Selections by Tchaikovsky, Offenbach, Innes, Liszt, Wagner, and Strauss, as well as more popular numbers, were enthusiastically received by the audience.

During an interlude in the program the Winchester bandsmen were startled and pleased to be introduced to the audience by the director, Com. Charles Blender.

In commenting on the concert, Band Director Withington expressed his pleasure in having his musicians share in a notable musical experience. "Winchester," he said, "is indeed fortunate to have such interested persons who do so much for our young musicians."

EXAMINATION FOR AIR FORCE CADETS NOVEMBER 20

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of the 5th Congressional District, which includes Winchester, has been notified by the United States Air Force that she is entitled to designate from her district ten candidates for Air Force Cadets in the new United States Air Force Academy.

The third class of Air Force Cadets will be admitted to the Air Force Academy at the Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado, in July, 1957, and upon graduation all members of the class will receive a BS degree, be commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the Regular Air Force, and will be rated Aircraft Observers.

Examinations to determine those to be designated to the Air Force Academy by Congresswoman Rogers will be held at the new Postoffice in Lowell on Tuesday, November 20, at 9:00 a. m.

Basic eligibility requirements are: Individual must have attained the age of 17 years and must not have reached 22 as of July 1 of the year admitted to the Air Force Academy. He must be a citizen of the United States, of good moral character, must never have been married, and must be medically qualified for flying training.

Men to be designated by Congresswoman Rogers will be selected as a result of the competitive examination to be held in Lowell on November 20. This examination which is unofficial, will be prepared by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, which will grade the papers and certify to Congresswoman Rogers the ranks and relative standings of the competitors.

The examination will consist of three parts: 1, Vocabulary and Reading; 2, Ability to Recognize 3-Dimentional Figures from Flat Drawing; 3, Algebra. There will be no expense involved in the examination except transportation. Congresswoman Rogers has announced she will not designate any man whose brother has attended U. S. Military, Naval or Air Force Academy.

Those desiring to take the examination on November 20, should communicate with Congresswoman Rogers; furnishing names, addresses, schools attended and length of time they have resided in the Fifth District, as soon as possible, but not later than October 26, so that eligibility cards may be forwarded to them. Address Congresswoman Rogers at 15 Kearney Square, Lowell, Mass.

Safety Tip: Toward the end of Summer you're likely to find slow-moving farm vehicles on the highway—Especially at Sunday, advises the AAA. These vehicles, returning from the fields, cannot maneuver easily; yet they have as much right to the highway as you do. Be on the alert for farm implements, wagons, trucks and horse-drawn vehicles and Share The Highway with them.

SHADE TREE TROUBLES

By Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

There has been a large amount of damage to trees due to weather conditions for more than a year. Starting with the hurricane flood rains of a year ago, followed by a more changing and severe winter than usual, a hard May freeze and a midsummer drought, conditions have been favorable for root and other injury.

Another situation that often culminates in injury is abrupt thinning out of such trees as white pine. This sudden exposure of the remaining trees to the elements may result in bark injury.

Home owners are more likely to think in terms of "blights," disease and insects when symptoms of injury show in a tree. We suggest that it is most important to check the root system and the trunk at and above ground level as the first step in diagnosing tree troubles. If the tree roots are badly damaged or if the tree is girdled, naturally the leaves will show a combination of deficiency symptoms, even though there may be sufficient plant food in the soil. Pests such as mites may cause similar discoloration, but a bit of careful observation will determine the difference. Boers and mice will often produce the same effect from girdling, but their presence will be detected by root and trunk examination.

As trees go into the winter there are a few things that can be done to prevent damage. A good mulch is a great help because it tends to equalize the soil temperature. Most damage is due to sudden changes in temperature. Mulch also will hold the soil moisture. It is of great importance to be sure that trees go into the first hard freezes with an ample study of soil moisture. Mulches should not be placed directly against the trunk as they can be a hiding place for rodents.

A great many experts recommend fall feeding to enhance the vigor of the trees as winter approaches. This should not be done until the first of October and probably much later this year. It is essential that it be done after all top-growth has ceased. Our preference for fertilizing would be early spring. It would be in order, however, to feed trees this fall that are obviously weak. The roots of a tree actually function all winter.

OCTOBER MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King today announced that the second periodic motor vehicle inspection for 1956 will take place during the month of October. The law requires every motor vehicle which is registered in the Commonwealth prior to November one and which is operated on Massachusetts highways at any time during the month of October, to pass inspection and have displayed on the windshield on November 1, 1956, the official October inspection sticker.

This sticker, which bears red lettering on a white background, is to be placed on the lower right-hand corner of the windshield and in no other position and all other stickers —except the financial transaction sticker—and gadgets, decals, tourist stamps and other attachments to the inside of the windshield, must also be removed. On wrap-around windshields, the sticker should be placed at the lower edge of the windshield as far to the right as possible and still be visible to the front.

The Registrar points out that there are now more motor vehicles registered in Massachusetts than ever before and that inspection stations and personnel will be overworked during the latter part of the inspection period. It is suggested that early inspections be made and that full and complete cooperation of the driving public will prevent disappointment at the end of the month.

Following the April, 1956 inspection, 1064 were penalized because there was no sticker on their windshield on May first.

Motorists and owners should patronize neighborhood inspection stations as soon as possible after October 1, 1956.

COLLEGE CLUB STUDY GROUPS

The daytime study groups of the Winchester College Club opened the 1956-57 season with several repeat and several new programs for members and for those Winchester women who would like to join the groups. Booklets have been sent to members, and cards of enrollment must be returned promptly before the study groups close their lists.

The history group will meet on October 8, 1:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Isiah Bullard, 5 Pine street, with Mrs. Richard Wyman, chairman. Spain and Portugal will be the countries studied this year by this active group.

Conversational French for beginners and those who have studied French in College will be offered to women this year, with Mrs. Francis L. Judge, WI 6-0628-W, in charge. Mme. Andre Maitre will again be the instructor of this morning study course.

Contract bridge for beginners and advanced players will be offered to College Club members and those interested on possible Tuesdays and Thursdays. The number enrolled and the days selected will be determined after women have made their reservations for the course. Each bridge group is limited to 20, and cost per person will be under one dollar.

"Second Balcony Group," a small theatre group, will be formed this year to attend matinees of the good plays in Boston, and meet to read or discuss them. Mrs. George E. Connor heads this group.

NO-ACCIDENT CAMPAIGN

Manager Maurice L. Hatch announced that the Mystic Valley Gas Company has joined with all other companies and groups of the New England Electric System in the month-long 25th Annual October No-Accident Campaign—the Silver Anniversary of a concerted effort designed to help the System's accident prevention program. The System has long been noted as being a pioneer in safety achievement in the nation and the annual October campaigns are unique as a long-time contributor to the System's safety successes.

Six months of planning went into this October campaign. Specially prepared materials and novelties will serve as daily reminders of the "job that must be done." Material mailed to the employees' homes will add their weight to the task of eliminating accidents at work, at home and on the highways.

Mr. Hatch paid tribute to the efforts of the local Safety Committee of the Mystic Valley Gas Company, who have worked hard to make this year's accident prevention program a success. Members of this Committee are: Chairman, Henry Sbraccia, Messrs. William I. Paine, Thomas F. Canty, Jr., Harold A. Leland, Albert J. Carino, William F. Spencer and Walter M. Driscoll.

RESERVE COMPANY FORMED

1. The Bay State Reserve Company, first of its kind in Massachusetts, will depart from the Army Base, Boston, on October 7, Major General Ralph A. Palladino announced yesterday.

2. Composed of volunteers from the 94th Reserve Division and other units throughout the state, the Bay State Company will train enmasse at Fort Dix, N. J., as part of the new reserve force currently mustered under the RFA of 1955.

3. Regulations of this law provide youths 17 to 18½ with the chance to fulfill their military obligation with only a brief six months of active duty, returning home after that time draft free, ready to return to school or jobs with only half a year interruption. Thereafter, members of the reserves continue to play their part in national defense by attending meetings with the reserve unit in their home town.

4. Enlistees may join with companions and all are guaranteed to serve their basic training period together at Fort Dix, nearest training installation to Massachusetts in the East. From Dix all will be able to return to their homes within six hours travel by train or car, which means that the period of enlistment will seem even shorter. Periodic leaves are interspersed through the training as well.

MR. BATTEN RETURNS

This Sunday, October 7, the Rev. Charles E. Batten will return to the Church of the Epiphany to be our preacher at the 9:30 and 11:15 services. He will be the celebrant at the 9:30 service of Holy Communion.

Mr. Batten, formerly Director of Christian Education at the Church of the Epiphany, is presently Assistant Professor of Christian Education at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge.

From October 4 to October 23, the Rev. John W. Ellison will be at Estes Park, Colorado. The National Council of the Department of Christian Education has requested that he be on the staff of a Laboratory on Group Life and the Church.

BOSTON INFANT SAVIOUR TO CELEBRATE 50th ANNIVERSARY

Busy getting out gold lettered invitations for the 50th Anniversary party on October 28th, are members of the Guild of the Infant Saviour, Mrs. James P. O'Hare, President.

Orchids will be flown from Hawaii for the notable occasion, which will be marked by a champagne fete at the Sheraton Plaza, from 5 to 8 o'clock. Proceeds will benefit the infant and maternity department of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, Monsignor Philip J. Kearney, Director.

The loyal cooperation and constant efforts of its members have enabled the Guild to contribute over one million dollars and hundreds of thousands of layettes during its fifty years of existence. Thousands of unmarried mothers and their babies have benefitted from the unselfish fund raising of three generations of women. Many of the Guild's charter members are grandmothers, who delight in seeing their daughters and granddaughters carrying on the work of this outstanding charity. It is hoped to make this, its Golden Jubilee Year, one of increased help for the future, together with thankfulness for the past. In the words of Our Divine Saviour, "Whatsoever ye do unto the least of these, My little ones, ye do unto Me."

Many from the Winchester Chapter are planning to attend the Anniversary Party on Sunday, October 28th, together with their husbands and friends.

Serving on different committees for this event are the following Executive Board members from Winchester:

Mrs. Peter A. Murphy, Mrs. J. Edward Downes, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Mrs. Frank J. Burns, Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, Mrs. Andrew Guthrie and Mrs. Albert T. McDougall, Publicity.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The first Fall meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, September 27th, at the attractive home of the past president, Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini.

After a delicious desert the new president, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, graciously opened the meeting, welcoming the members.

The program chairman, Mrs. Roland V. Patrick introduced Mr. Byron Peirce, of Peirce Bros., Rose Growers, in Waltham. This concern was founded by his grandfather in 1860. He explained that they were commercial growers with no less than 75,000 rose bushes growing under glass the year round.

He brought with him many perfect specimens of gorgeous roses including the new lavender or Sterling Silver, rose, the Yule-Time, Capri, White Butterfly, Aristocrat, Carol Amling, Golden Strike, Golden Rapture, Happiness, Better Times and many others, especially arranged in interesting containers.

He was a most fascinating speaker and was most generous in his explanation of how to care for roses in the home.

The Club felt privileged to view so many beautiful roses and to hear Mr. Peirce.

LITTLE LEAGUE AUXILIARY

The Women's Auxiliary of Little League held the last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Arthur Cunningham. After annual reports on activities, the election of officers was held. The following new officers were introduced by the outgoing President, Mrs. Erwin Hutchings:

President, Mrs. Walter Wingate
Vice President, Mrs. Sam Scherban
Secretary, Mrs. Bob Winn
Treasurer, Mrs. Harold Lewis
Stand, Mrs. Frank Frongillo
Ways and Means, Mrs. Kent Parrot
Team Mothers, Mrs. Charles Barnes

A pleasant social hour followed, with refreshments served by Mrs. Cunningham.

The Business and Professional Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church are now taking orders for Hallowe'en candy: lollipops, Hershey and Nestle bars, and Hallowe'en mix. Anyone wishing to place an order, please call Mrs. Will B. Skerry, WInchester 6-2996-W or Miss Helen Monroe, WInchester 6-1752-R before October 10.

ATLAS POST TO WEAVER

James B. Weaver, a former Winchester boy, has been appointed assistant director of Atlas Powder Company's economic evaluations department.

Mr. Weaver joined the company's planning staff in 1954, and has been a member of the economic evaluations department since its formation earlier this year.

Before joining Atlas, Mr. Weaver was techno-economist and staff section chief for Olin Industries, Inc., Alton, Ill. Earlier he had been assistant to the director of research and development for Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., and a teaching assistant at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from MIT in 1945 and a master degree from the same school in 1947. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Sigma Xi Honorary Society, Alpha Chi Sigma professional chemical fraternity, and is a fellow of the American Institute of Chemists.

Born in Jamaica Plain, Mr. Weaver attended Winchester high school. He is married to the former Miss Judith Gardner of Tulsa, Okla., and they make their home at 1003 S. Hilton road, Oak Lane Manor, Wilmington.

McLAUGHLIN ENLISTS

Daniel J. McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin of 17 Glenwood avenue, has enlisted in the United States Army under the "Guaranteed Schooling" program.

Prior to enlistment, he had taken the necessary qualifying tests and made application for the school of his choice. Two weeks later, he was presented with a written guarantee from the office of the Adjutant General to the effect that he will attend the Field Radio Repair course, upon completion of the required period of basic training.

McLaughlin, a graduate of Winchester High School, was employed by the Container Corporation of America in Medford, prior to enlistment.

JUNIOR HIGH ASSOCIATES

Meeting at the Junior High School recently, the Board of the Junior High Associates was most pleasantly surprised by a coffee prepared by Mrs. McNeil's class in Household Arts. Serving were Carol Gaynor, Joan Denton, and Carol Radocchia.

During the meeting Mr. Dickman expressed particular thanks to Mrs. Gilman Wallace and Mrs. Leslie Doten for the floral arrangements placed in each room on the opening day of school. It was announced that the annual Junior High Open House will be held the evening of October 29th. Further news of this event will appear shortly in the Star.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Guest Speaker at the weekly meeting of the Winchester Lions Club was Chief James E. Callahan of the Winchester Fire Department. As next week is Fire Prevention Week, his talk was both interesting and timely.

Chief Callahan spoke of the Fire Department and its service to the community and of his program of building up the department in the future, so that the town as a whole will be assured of a maximum coverage in any emergency. This will be done in a manner that will not burden the tax-payers too heavily.

Of interest to the head of a home was the following:

If your children's bedroom is on the second floor, try to have one of the bedroom windows open onto a porch roof, so that in case of a first floor fire, the children and the family will be able to go on the porch roof until the firemen or help arrives.

If you have to employ the services of a baby-sitter, familiarize them with the telephone number of the Fire Department, the location of the telephone and the location of the oil burner switch, and any other safety precautions in case of a fire.

Our Traveling Lions Contests is now in progress. On Thursday, September 27, Lions Arthur Hewis, Peter Giannotti and Peter Marchesi attended the weekly meeting of the Swampscott Lions Club. The Traveling Lions report never fails to be both interesting and eagerly anticipated. This week the Lions planned to go to Gloucester.

October is Sight Conservation Month for the Lions of Massachusetts. It is the hope of the Winchester Lions that the public will co-operate to support this drive for such a worthy cause.

ROBERT F. LYBECK

HEADS LOCAL COMMITTEE FOR CLINIC

Robert F. Lybeck of Everell road, retired Esso-Standard Oil Company executive, has again accepted the chairmanship of a town-wide committee to promote the work of the 30-year-old Boston Evening Clinic.

Prominent in Tufts College alumni activities and civic circles, Mr. Lybeck has been associated with the non-profit Clinic for many years. He is at present a Vice-President of the Board of Trustees. A graduate of Tufts, class of 1915, he was affiliated with the Esso Company for more than 30 years, and in Winchester has served as a member and chairman of the School Committee. The Clinic is unique in its medical service to working people and their families in that care is provided during evening hours at convenient cost.

"The Clinic must assume the deficit of $3.13 on each patient because fees from patients are not sufficient to meet operating costs," said Lybeck. "The patients pay what they can on the basis of their earnings and many pay nothing. The result is that the larger the number of cases, the greater the deficit."

In addition to distributing "Ike Day" scrolls for signatures throughout the State, the Massachusetts "Ike Day" Committee offers an opportunity for those not contacted to have their names enrolled on the "Ike Day" scrolls. By mailing birthday cards to:

TO ATTEND COUNSELING CONFERENCE

Mrs. Verna Carlisle Gilson of Elmwood avenue, consultant in Parent Education and Child Development to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (the Easter Seal Society) leaves Sunday, September 30, for Minneapolis, Minn., to participate in the "Institute on Counseling with Exceptional Children and their Parents," being conducted on campus by the University of Minnesota in cooperation with the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The Institute is planned for school teachers, administrators, counselors, psychologists, nurses, physicians and social workers who have occasion to work with exceptional children and their parents.

The faculty of the Institute includes such eminent authorities as Dr. John E. Anderson, director of the Institute of Child Welfare at the University of Minnesota; Dr. Leo Kanner, director of Children's Psychiatric Service, John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md.; and Dr. Ruth Strang, professor of Psychological Services, Teachers College, Columbia, N. Y.

During the three day Institute Mrs. Gilson will make a major presentation on "Counseling with the Exceptional Child and his Parents." She is the wife of Dr. Harry E. Gilson, superintendent of the Winchester Public Schools.

REGISTER YOUR DATES

Have you recently discovered to your sorrow that the date your organization chose for its sale, concert, lecture, dance, dinner or what have you is also the date for another event that is going to draw heavily on your counted-on attendance.

You can avoid this disappointment, do yourself a favor and help every one running things in Winchester by listing your date in the book kept at the Public Library for that purpose. Many are already availing themselves of this means of avoiding duplication of dates, but many more haven't bothered.

All who are planning events for Winchester are urged to consult the book at the Library before fixing their date, and to list their date once it is decided. You have to go to the library to do this, you can not telephone; and the name of the person listing the event must be made known. There is no charge for the service.

RED FEATHER CAMPAIGN BENEFITS WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

(Third in a series of articles on Community Chest benefits to Winchester)

The Winchester Hospital is one of six local institutions and agencies which share in the sizeable portion of Red Feather funds which flow back to Winchester from the Greater Boston campaign. While the hospital benefits locally from private and organizational philanthropy, it also needs, and will need increasingly, a broad base of community support in order to continue giving the same high quality service to the Winchester-Reading-Wilmington area without raising patient fees. The United Community Services campaign begins Sunday, October 21.

The Community Fund, which for many years has contributed to the hospital, may be asked for more help this coming year, it was revealed here recently by Harlan L. Paine, Jr., administrator. As the hospital now comes to the end of its fiscal year, Mr. Paine explained, it is faced with a considerable deficit, due to the squeeze between patient fees, which have remained the same, and operating costs, which have soared, largely because of payroll increases. None of this can be made up from Ford Foundation funds, as these are earmarked, under the terms of the gift, for improvements to physical plant and equipment.

The Winchester Hospital has always made it a policy to give the same high quality professional care, with a friendly personal touch, to the ward patients as it gives to patients in private rooms, and yet keep the ward fees below actual costs. It relies on the community to make up the difference for ward and charity patients because it believes that the people of Winchester and neighboring towns want the best for all. Ward care totaled about 11,000 patient-days this year.

Winchester is fortunate in having a hospital within its limits which is larger and better equipped than a town this size could afford to support alone. Besides its convenience, there is the advantage that it attracts doctors of high calibre to set up their practices here. The hospital has 110 beds, 36 bassinets and all the most modern equipment for scientific treatment, and is fully approved by all accrediting organizations. Incidentally, 1200 babies were born there this year. It deserves the support of everyone in the greater-than-Winchester community it serves, through the Red Feather campaign.

MT. HOLYOKE OPEN HOUSE TOUR

On Thursday, October 18, from 1:15 - 5 p. m., six homes will be opened for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund of the Club. An antique-lover's dream is the home of Mrs. Donald Belcher of 64 Old Mystic street, Arlington. It is a saltbox about 180 years old, as the framed original deed hanging in the hall testifies, with six fireplaces. Those who attended the old Mystic School, now the home of Mrs. Franklin Flanders of Bacon street, will be intrigued to see what a spacious home it is. The doors and paneling in the living room and dining room came from the old Ginn Estate house. The original fire escape leads from the den to the back yard. The gracious and beautifully decorated home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Jenks, Jr., of Myopia Hill Road was designed by Patterson Smith and built in 1926. The large living room, with its oversized fireplace and beamed ceiling, has a picture window overlooking the terrace and Mystic Lakes. One wall of the dining room is an indoor flower garden. Mrs. Jenks's bedroom is furnished with stenciled furniture in a charming combination of pale pink and cerise. The Garrison Colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sulmonetti on Swan road won honorable mention in a recent copy of House Beautiful as a most faithful copy of a Salem Garrison. Don't overlook the huge eagle over the doorway. The brick floor in the hall shows the result of much painstaking care.

PATENT TO GRANT

Nicholas J. Grant of 10 Leslie road was the recipient on September 18, 1956, of U. S. patent No. 2,763,043, entitled "Consumable Glass Fiber Ingot Mold Liner."

In the pouring of steel or other metal into molds to produce cast ingots, there occurs a splashing and surging of the molten metal. This results in surface defects upon the ingot which are removed by subsequent processing operations.

Various methods and expedients have been employed to overcome this limitation. For example, the metal has been poured through special steel funnels and into tar-coated or soot-coated molds. In addition, curtains of a metal similar to that being poured have been used as splash preventing liners. However, according to Mr. Grant, no successful arrangement has heretofore been devised for avoiding the formation of splash and surging defects during the top pouring of molten metal into the ingot molds.

It is the object of Mr. Grant's invention to present a solution to this problem and for this purpose he makes use of a liner that is made preferably of woven fiber glass and is suspended within the ingot mold. This liner may abut or be spaced apart somewhat from the interior wall of the mold; and during the pouring operation it prevents the splashing metal from striking the mold wall and thus forming scabs and other imperfections on the surface of the ingot. In the event of surging of the molten metal, the woven fiber glass is forced back against the wall of the mold and thereby minimizes the defects caused by this action.

It should be noted that the fiber glass liner of this invention is relatively inexpensive, readily available and easy to install in the mold. It melts as it contacts the surface of the rising molten metal in the mold and becomes a floating liquid slag which is not trapped in the ingot. It does not react with the metal to form other products, and its use does not result in the generation of gas which causes blow holes on or just below the surface of the ingot.

Mr. Grant has assigned this patent to Lukens Steel Company, Coatesville, Pa.

LETTER WRITING WEEK

National Letter Writing Week will again be celebrated during the week, October 7 to 13, Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun announced today.

Commenting on the significance of National Letter Writing Week, Mr. Gilgun pointed out that each year since 1938 this event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter.

"We all know the human importance of letter writing," Mr. Gilgun stated, "the way in which it holds scattered families together, of giving comfort and love and news to all the people of the land.

"We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I urge all citizens of Winchester to join me in this national celebration. Let's make National Letter Writing Week for 1956 the greatest ever."

VOLPE PRAISES BOND ISSUE

"Enactment of the highway bond issue was a long-awaited event climaxing months of arduous labor by individuals and organizations too numerous to mention," State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe said.

"All of us are happy at the outcome," he added. "Governor Herter, we in the Department of Public Works, and the entire long list of accelerated highway program advocates have assurance now that the vital need will be met for roads adequate to handle traffic growth in the next 20 years.

"All are aware that the program has suffered because funds were lacking to maintain the record-breaking pace of last year. Now we can begin to take up the slack, and place on the construction market the projects for elimination of major bottlenecks.

"Meriting immediate attention are additional Central Artery contracts, completion of Route 128 at both ends, tying the Fall River Expressway into Route 128, and connecting the Southeast Expressway with Route 128 at one end and with the Central Artery at the other.

"Other major projects are completion of the Mid-Cap Highway, closing the gaps in new Route 2, taking Route 3 to the New Hampshire line, starting the outer circumferential highway into the Haverhill - Lawrence - Lowell, area, and getting new Route 28 underway.

"Still others are the Worcester Expressway, improvement of Springfield's Columbus avenue, the Longmeadow Route 5 project, and relocating Route 6 in New Bedford and Fall River. In fact, overdue for attention are many of the steps incidental to creation of the proposed expressway network serving the entire state."

MARYCLIFF GUILD

The monthly meeting of the Marycliff Guild will be held at the Academy on Tuesday, October 9th at 8:00 p. m. Mrs. Guido Luti of Burlington is chairman of the evening with Mrs. Arthur Anthony of Lexington as hospitality hostess. An informal Hat and Fur Show will be presented by a Boston Specialty Shop, with a coffee hour following.

On October 7th, the Guild will have its first Hallowe'en Party. Mrs. Edward Guarino of West Medford and Mrs. Alfonse Martignette of Somerville head the committee in charge of the dance.

ANIMAL WORLD FILLS NATURE WITH MANY STRANGE SOUNDS

Man speaks in many tongues and accents, but his sound-making has nothing on the babel of the animal kingdom.

Beasts, birds, fish and insects fill nature with an amazing medley of noises, the National Geographic Society points out. Some are so familiar as to go almost unheard. Others are outlandish and rare.

A rooster's crowing is a far cry from the melancholy bray of the jackass penguin. A whale surfacing on a still night exhales with an eerie whoosh, whereas a lady moose sometimes mistakes a diesel locomotive's air horn for the love bellow of her swain.

Listening to Nature

Naturalists equipped with modern recording apparatus have turned increasing attention in recent years to the sounds made by earth's creatures.

Capturing the songs and calls of wild birds was begun by Cornell University in 1930. Since then, led by Dr. Arthur A. Allen and Dr. Paul Kellogg, Cornell expeditions have roamed most of the United States and across Latin America to record voices of as many species of birds as possible. Amphibians, insects, and mammals have been added more recently to the unique "Cornell Library of Natural Sounds."

Other scientists have joined the work, discovering among other things the complexity of a songbird's song. A wood thrust, for example, can emit four notes at once, and a blue jay almost a major chord.

From the frontier between land and water, frogs produce a chorus that often approaches the fantastic — peeping, chirping, trilling, barking, braying, booming. Frogs can grunt like pigs, quack like ducks or sound like small boys beating on tin pans.

Bats, which are flying mammals, not only emit sounds extending far beyond the range of human hearing, but also navigate by them, as if by radar.

Underwater Din

Fish, seemingly the most silent of creatures, actually fill their waters with submarine sound. Some fish cackle, others yowl, moan, whistle, bleat or buzz. Still others sound to research microphones like coal sliding down a tin chute or heavy chains being dragged over a wooden floor.

Taken as a whole, insects outdo all other forms of life in volume of sounds produced. The katydid, the cricket, the mosquito, and the bumblebee are loud enough individually, but consider the uproar of all their voices together.

By recording mosquitoes and amplifying the buzzing half a million times, two Cornell Medical College scientists drew mosquitoes from miles around to electrified traps. They found that different species of mosquitoes have different calls, and a given type can emit several kinds of noises.

For all their vocalization, insects have no real voices. They produce sound by rubbing rasplike legs together, scratching one wing against another, or clicking parts of their hard body armor. Nevertheless, a cricket—in relation to its size—is a noisy creature indeed.

CIVIL WAR STUDY GROUP

The first meeting of the Civil War Study Group will be held Thursday, October 11th, in the Rich Room of the Winchester Public Library at 7:45 p. m.

Men who are interested in any phase of the Civil War and Abraham Lincoln are invited to attend.

PARKHURST SCHOOL TEA

A tea was held Tuesday, October 2nd, for Mrs. Donovan, Mr. Albert Sutula and the fourth grade mothers of the Lewis Parkhurst School at the home of Mrs. Bruce Young.

This large, interested group enjoyed a brief talk given by Mrs. Donovan on the curriculum to be covered during this school year, and Mr. Sutula's comments.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Young and her able committee, Mrs. Withington and Mrs. Benham poured.

MIRED WHILE CROSSING POND

George H. Williams, 79, of Homestead, Pa., while visiting on Brookside road and taking a walk Tuesday afternoon, was saved from possible serious trouble by police and firemen when he got stuck in the mud while trying to make a short cut across what looked like a dried-up channel at Horn Pond.

Mr. Williams had gotten out onto the marshy land when he commenced to sink in the mud. His efforts to extricate himself proved fruitless, and he was fast becoming exhausted when his plight was noticed by Arthur Rondina of 21 Highland avenue, an M.D.C. employee who chanced to be passing.

Mr. Rondina called the Woburn police, Officers George Ciampo and Robert Gray responding. They were unable to reach Mr. Williams and a call for assistance was sent in to the Woburn Fire Department.

Woburn's Engine 2 and lifeboat responded and Firefighters Robert McGann and Charles Gilbertson, under the direction of Captain Edward Callahan, extricated Mr. Williams with aluminum ladders laid across the mire.

Meanwhile Officer Thomas Parsons had arrived at the pond, and he took Mr. Williams home, apparently none the worse for his experience.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN FROSH IN TIE GAME

Winchester and Woburn High School freshmen battled to a 7-7 tie game at Woburn Monday afternoon. Tom Cox took a handoff in the opening minutes of the second period to race 58 yards for Winchester's touchdown with Frank Leverone hitting off tackle for the extra point.

Burnham slashed four yards through the Winchester line for Woburn's touchdown, following a series of first downs. Willett bucked for the extra point.

Woburn reached the Winchester 20 just before the half, and Winchester was definitely threatening at the end of the game after a Cox to Keane pass put the ball on the Tanner 10.

Winchester's quarterback, Frank Leverone, broke his wrist in the second period, and his loss was greatly felt by the Indian papooses, as the other regular signal caller was out of the game with a hand injury.

SURVIVOR OF COMANCHE CHIEF RECALLS FRONTIER-TAMING ERA

Americans are closer to their Wild West past than is often remembered in these days of transcontinental airliners and atomic energy.

Just 81 years have passed since Comanche Chief Quanah Parker led the last of his people to the surrender that marked the end of Indian wars in the southern plains. Quanah's aged widow still survives. A recent flower-scattering ceremony at the grave of her warrior-husband (he died in 1911) recalls the turbulent, frontier-taming era that saw the passing of a wild, free way of life.

Famous for their fierce independence and courage, the Comanches were called "Lords of the South Plains," and "Spartans of the Prairies," says the National Geographic Society. They were a terror to enemy tribes, and for decades delayed America's westward expansion.

Related to Shoshones

The Comanches were originally linked with Shoshonean tribes of the Rocky Montains' arid Central Basin. Separating from the others, they drifted in the early 1700's into the southern plains, where they eventually ranged from Kansas and Oklahoma to New Mexico and Texas.

Among the first Indians to acquire horses from the Spaniards, the Comanches took naturally to the nomadic life of open rolling country. Tribal traits are hinted in such band names as "Those Who Move Often," "Meat Eaters," "Antelopes," and "Raiders." There's a note of community disapproval in the "Wanderers Who Make Bad Camps."

The Comanches' prime interests were war, hunting and horsemanship, in all of which they excelled. They accumulated wealth in large collections of horses that they prized highly and tended carefully.

The average brave was short and stocky, and on the ground gave the impression of awkwardness. But once astride his mount, the Comanche was a model of grace. The headlong rush of war-painted tribesmen, their long black hair streaming in the wind as they charged across the plains on high-spirited horses, was a sight that lingered in many a pioneer's memory.

Life Was Good

Comanche camps, quickly pitched and dismantled, held well-built tepees that were snug in winter and cool in summer. The scattered bands sheltered in thickets along stream beds, in canyons and arroyos. When rains came, even the desert bloomed. Wild fruits, berries, nuts, and root plants were plentiful. The horses grazed on succulent prairie grasses.

The Comanches hunted elk, deer and antelope, as well as smaller game. But their main source of food, shelter and clothing was the buffalo, a challenge alike to bravery and love of sport. Racing their highly trained horses beside the pounding, dust-enveloped herds, they skillfully picked off their quarry with arrows and lances. Afterward, the women did the drudgery of butchering.

Massacre of the buffalo herds and ever-increasing pioneer pressures brought want and wars that spelled the end of plains life as the Comanches knew it. In June, 1875, Quanah Parker, half-white son of a Comanche chief, and his hungry hold-out band of Antelopes gave themselves up to the military authorities at Fort Sill in southwest Oklahoma.

Although formidable, the Comanche tribe was never numerous. By conservative estimate there were probably 20,000 in 1800. A few years after their surrender to reservation limitations there were less than 1,400. Today the Comanches, who live mostly in Oklahoma, number about 2,700.

RAMIE J. DOUCETTE

Ramie J. Doucette, 93, father of Charles T. Doucette of 44 Middlesex street, died Friday morning, October 5, at his son's home after an illness of only a few hours. He had been up and around as usual on the day previous.

Mr. Doucette was the son of John Arnold, and Margaret (Landry) Doucette. He was born April 13, 1863, in Tusket, N. S., but spent the greater part of his life in this country, and for half a century made his home in Woburn while in the employ of the Metropolitan Ice Company for 47 years. He had been retired for 20 years, following an accident that befell him while at work. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Church and an honorary member of the Loyal Order of Moose in Woburn.

Besides his son in Winchester, Mr. Doucette leaves three sons, John, of Rockland; William and George Doucette of Woburn; two daughters, Mrs. George Thibeau of North Reading and Mrs. Jack Lovell of St. Petersburg, Fla.; 24 grandchildren and 41 great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Norman Doucette of Reading and Mrs. John Hubbard of Essex.

The funeral was held Monday morning, from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Rev. Fr. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, pastor, was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Stephen Burke was deacon, and Rev. John McInnis, subdeacon. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery

SECTOR PLAN PROGRESSES AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Sector Plan is an eight-step, every-member canvass being conducted simultaneously by Baptist Churches across the country, in an effort to point out to each individual how he, personally, can share in this program to extend the Kingdom of God in our homes, in our community, and throughout the world.

Monday evening, October 15, at six-thirty o'clock, some one hundred representatives of Baptist Churches in this section of Massachusetts will gather at First Baptist Church, Winchester. After a catered supper, the meeting will continue with the fifth and sixth steps of this interesting Every Member Canvass.

JOHN F. MORGAN, JR.

PASSES BAR EXAMINATION

Announcement was made last week that John F. Morgan, Jr., of this town was successful in his first attempt to pass the State Bar examinations as conducted by the Massachusetts Board of Bar Examiners. He will take his lawyer's oath before the full bench of the Massachusetts Superior Judicial Court on Tuesday, October 23.

Following his graduation from Harvard College with the Class of 1953, he received his Bachelor of Law degree from the Boston University School of Law earlier this year. In addition to his study of law, he has spent much time as a student of our federal and state tax structures, particularly from an accounting standpoint.

"Jack", as he is popularly known to his friends here, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Morgan of 10 Francis circuit. He is married to the former Marilyn Howell of Medford and they reside with their two children, Valerie and Deborah, at 54 Woodside road.

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON

Winchester High's football team, with a two-and-one record, journeys to Lexington tomorrow to play a Middlesex League game with Lexington High at 2 o'clock at the Lexington Athletic Field. Turn left at the first traffic lights in Lexington Center to reach the field.

Lexington lost its opener to Belmont 2-0, beat hapless Melrose, 12-0, and played a 13-13 tie with Stoneham last Saturday. There is nothing in this record to brand the Minuteboys as a powerhouse, but they are reported to be a big team, and may click against Winchester's greenhorns tomorrow.

The Indians looked better against Cambridge Latin than in previous games, but three of their five touchdowns were made by big John Chapin, and he definitely will not play tomorrow.

Chapin was hurt in the third quarter of the Cambridge game, and was removed to the Winchester Hospital with a knee injury that kept him in the hospital for several days. Joel Peckham, a reserve quarterback, was injured in practice this week and he too isn't likely to play tomorrow.

FIRE DRILLS

Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department conducted fire drills in all public and parochial schools in Winchester this week, in observance of National Fire Prevention Week.

He reported that all the drills were highly satisfactory.

JOE'S 79th

Sunday will be Joe Donahue's 79th Birthday, and every one who knows the popular proprietor of the Central Hardware Co., on Mt. Vernon street will wish him many happy returns of this important occasion.

"Joe" is a Winchester institution. He opened his first hardware store in Winchester, if memory serves, in the old building that stood beside the river on the westerly side of Main street around 1905 or '06, and he has been selling Winchester householders and builders hardware ever since; later on in a store on Mt. Vernon street near Converse place, and for a long time now in his present store beside the Fire Station. If "Joe" doesn't have it, it's hard, or impossible, to find, though many have wondered how he, himself, finds the many obscure items in the enormous and varied stock he carries as a matter of course.

"Joe" will be observing his birthday in good company, for Sunday, October 14, is also the natal day of President Dwight Eisenhower. A lot of people in Winchester will be wishing both well!

"Joe's" wife of many years, the former Mary O'Hara, is deceased. He has three children living, Sister Charles (Miriam Donahue) of Matignon High School, Dr. Charles P. Donahue, Winchester optometrist, and Francis O'Hara, of Rockland, Me.

MISS MARIE NIXON

Miss Marie Nixon of 346 Main street passed away at her residence on Sunday, October 7, after a long illness. Miss Nixon, daughter of Joseph O. and Anna (Peterson) Nixon, was born July 14, 1884, in Ryd, Sweden.

In 1903 she came to this country and in June of 1907 became a member of the household of the late Forrest C. Rivinius of Cambridge. In 1917 she came to Winchester with the family of the late George A. Rivinius and had remained there ever since. She was a loyal and faithful friend to this family.

She leaves many devoted friends whom she had made in her 39 years in Winchester.

Services were conducted by the Reverend Robert A. Storer of the Unitarian Church on Wednesday, October 10, at 2 p.m. at her home. Interment was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.

TRAFFIC METER FIGURES

Figures made public by Town Treasurer E. Abbot Bradlee show that Winchester has taken in $17,761.90 in traffic meter fees during the year, September 20, 1955, to September 24, 1956.

The town started with the meters owing the meter company, $13,651.16 on the original contract, plus two additional orders. From the $17,761.90 collected by the meters has been taken $9,069.08 and applied against the $13,651.16 owed the company, leaving a balance owed the company of $4,582.08.

In addition to the sum paid the meter company, the town at the past March meeting appropriated $907.65 for meter maintenance and other expenses. The figure together with the $9,069.08 paid the meter company amounts to $9,976.73, and this total taken from the $17,761.90 collected by the meters, leaves a balance of $7,785.17 in the meter account.

BEGGS AND COBB FIRE

Engines from both the fire station and the Town Yard answered an alarm from Box No. 42 at Beggs and Cobb tannery at 4:31 Monday afternoon.

COMMON STREET OPENING

The best advice the Star can get on the opening of the Common Street-Waterfield Road junction under the railroad tracks to vehicular traffic is the latter part of December.

It is expected that trains will be running on the overhead main line by the end of this month, but the work on the Woburn Loop will have to be completed before traffic will be routed over Common street under the tracks at the station to Waterfield road.

This season the Dodgers once again won both halves of the Little League season, the third consecutive season they have done so. In fact, the Dodgers have won eight out of ten halves in the five years the league has functioned, an almost unbelieveable monopoly. By winning three times in a row the Dodgers now retire the Nate Thumim trophy. The Dodgers are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Their manager is Arthur Jones who is assisted by Gordon Peckham.

The Farm champs are the Lions who won both halves in their league. McCormack's Drugs sponsors the Lions, Jack Page is their manager and Norton Kidder his assistant.

This is more than a mere routine Little League annual banquet. As part and parcel of the celebration the nation's third best team will be present and honored. That is your Winchester Little League 1956 Tournament Team, Mr. and Mrs. Winchester!

Its magnificent performance which included wins over Wilmington, Assabet Valley, Melrose, Wakefield, Malden, Lynn, Belmont, Gardiner, Maine, Stratford, Connecticut, Auburn, Alabama, and Colton, California was almost incredible.

It lost once to Roswell, New Mexico, the champions of the Little Leage World Series. The 1955 All Stars were fourth nationwide.

So, twice in a row, your team has won the championship of Region One,—New England and Eastern Canada and gone to the Little League World Series. This is an achievement those connected with Winchester Little League may well be proud of, in particular Manager Arthur Johns and Coach Gordon Peckham.

The outgoing officers for this season are President, Arthur Johns; Vice President, Daniel Chane; Treasurer, George Neville; and Secretary, James Haley. Newly elected officers for the coming year are President, Warren Hichborn; Vice President, William Urmson; Treasurer, M. G. Moffett; Secretary, James Haley.

Winchester SAVINGS BANK

Since 1871

DEPOSITORY for SCHOOL SAVINGS in WINCHESTER

In 1924 this bank set up a School Savings System in the Winchester Public Schools to promote thrift and to make it easy for the students to make regular weekly deposits.

This system has been carried on thru the years and at the present time deposits have reached $200,000 in 3221 school accounts.

Our 32nd year will start with the "First Bank Day" on Tuesday, October 30th, and continue each Tuesday through the school year. Banking is done in the classrooms, and through this system substantial balances are being provided for the future use of the students.

This is one of the many services provided by this MUTUAL SAVINGS BANK.

BANKING HOURS — MONDAY thru FRIDAY — 8 A. M. to 2 P. M.

U. N. ACTIVITIES

Mrs. William C. Cusack, alternate representative of the United States to the U.N.I.C.E.F. Committee of the United Nations, has had a busy week. October is the month in which people become particularly United Nations conscious, and clubs and organizations look for speakers who can better inform them of the functions and accomplishments of this great world organization.

As a result Mrs. Cusack is much in demand as a speaker. In addition to a number of outstanding out-of-town speaking engagements, she has been active as an advisor to the Winchester United Nations Day committee, and on Tuesday she spoke to the Unitarian Women's Alliance following their opening luncheon. The Danny Kaye movie "Assignment Children," which graphically shows the work of UNICEF around the world, was shown following her talk on UNICEF and her work in it. Wednesday at 8 a. m. the film was shown at the Junior High Assembly under the auspices of the Junior High Associates.

Mrs. Cusack spoke on UNICEF from the child's viewpoint. At 10 on Wednesday morning the film was shown at the meeting of the Inter-Church Youth Council advisors, who are undertaking the UNICEF trick or treat program through the churches.

On Thursday Mrs. Cusack opened her lovely home on Lakeview Road for a tea in honor of the visiting foreign educators who are this week guests of the Winchester schools. At the suggestion of Dr. Gilson, superintendent of schools, the U. N. Day Committee members acted as hostesses and contacted members of representative Winchester organizations to share their hostess duties and to meet the guests. Further invitations were extended by the school department.

Mrs. Cusack leaves next week for Washington for briefing sessions preparatory to the opening of the UNICEF Committee deliberations in Conference Room No. 2 at the U. N. Building in New York. She will be there while Winchester observes U. N. Week in the churches, the schools, the library, with store windows in various parts of town featuring international displays and with the service clubs and veterans organizations planning special U. N. centered activities.

The committee is grateful to the American Legion Auxiliary for its cake sale and to the League of Women Voters, who are sponsoring an essay contest.

Marcia E. Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cunningham, 22 Jefferson road, has been pledged to Gamma Rho Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority on the Allegheny College campus. Miss Cunningham is a sophomore at Allegheny and is a member of the college symphony orchestra.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS STUDIED IN EUROPE

Many Winchester High School pupils are benefitting from the fact that three members of the faculty spent a good portion of the past summer in Europe an study and travel. From a first-hand observer they may be capturing a sense of the glory that was Rome; they may catch a glimpse of the Scotland that knew Rob Roy; they will certainly hear about the incredible beauty of Finland, country of 60,000 lakes. The experiences of Miss Constance Trickett, Miss Agnes Walsh, and Mr. Michael Power will be paying the high school dividends for years to come.

At the close of school in June, Miss Agnes Walsh, Latin instructor at the high school, began a ten week tour of travel and study. As the winner of a scholarship offered by the New England Classical Association, Miss Walsh studied at the American Academy in Rome. Along with 40 other teachers and college professors she was enrolled in a study of Roman Civilization under the direction of Dr. Paul MacKendrick of the University of Wisconsin. Field trips each morning to study existing monuments in and about Rome were followed by lectures and discussion groups in the afternoon.

In addition to her travels in Italy, Miss Walsh enjoyed stop-overs in London, Paris, and Geneva enroute to Rome, and in Madrid and Lisbon on her return. Asked what was the highlight of her trip, she replied, "It really made Rome live! From now on, every picture of a Roman ruin will come alive."

For English teacher Constance Trickett, the summer of 1956 will be remembered as the season she came to know the people of Finland. As a member of a group called The Experiment in International Living, she traveled extensively on the continent, more particularly in Scandinavia.

Since the purpose of the Experiment is to give Americans a better understanding of the people of Europe and to promote international understanding, its members spend a substantial part of their travel period actually living among the people of one country. Miss Trickett's group spent six weeks in Finland, most of it in Kangsala, said to be the most beautiful village in all that country.

Though the Americans spoke no Finnish, they were received graciously everywhere they went. In commenting on her stay in Finland, Miss Trickett expressed tremendous enthusiasm for the land and the people. The simplicity and courage with which the Finns have faced their problems should be an example to all the world.

To Michael Power, a summer in Europe was a familiar experience, but the manner in which he spent the time this year was novel. A plane trip to Scotland and a piano recital in Edinburgh opened a memorable period of study for Mr. Power at Dame Myra Hess' famed school of music. Situated on the estate of Lord Ira Churchill, the school provided unsurpassed musical facilities for a selected group of musicians from all over the world.

Asked to report on his reaction to the English people's traditional reserve and lack of warmth, Mr. Power noted that throughout his stay he was impressed by the warmth and cordiality of his reception. Already he is making plans to return to England next summer. He expects to repeat his concert, probably in London, and to perform one of the Bach concertos at the Musical Festival at Glyndebourne.

This year for the first time the high school group will contribute to a table at the Fair. Plans will be further discussed on this subject along with our skit for the night of the fair, entitled "Show of Shows."

Refreshments will be served.

HARRIERS WIN AGAIN

Last Friday the Red and Black runners posted their fourth straight victory of the season as they took a rather weak Revere team by a score of 17 to 46.

The race was run over roads on Revere's hilly course. The home team had only one top runner in Carl Fuccillo so the race was geared against Carl.

The Winchester team broke from the starting line on top and six Red and Black runners moved to the front with Fucillo in the group. The pattern of the race continued much the same way for the first mile.

As the long downhill run began Capt. Brown, Ekstrom, and Saurman took over a commanding lead and continued to the finish in that order. Fucillo finished 4th, only a step in front of Mike Callahan.

Dan O'Connell was a strong 6th and Charlie Clifton running his best race of the year, took 7th about 10 yards in front of dependable Don Seaver.

The Junior Varsity proved much too strong for the Revere runners as they once more won by the perfect score of 15 to 50. Robin Carlson was the first JV scorer with Quent Roberts, Charlie O'Connor, Bob Cooper and Bob de Rivera following closely behind to complete the shutout.

The Red and Black will complete their Pilgrim Division meets on Wednesday, October 10th, when Reading runs on the home course at 3:15 p. m.

Finishers:

Varsity

1. Brown, 12:52; 2. Ekstrom, 13:11; 3. Saurman, 13:16; 4. Fuccillo (R), 13:27; 5. Callahan, 13:29; 6. O'Connell, 13:31; 7. Clifton, 13:37; 8. Seaver, 13:42; 9. Penta (R), 13:43; 10. Hooper (R), 13:44.

Junior Varsity

1. Carlson, 13:45; 2. Roberts, Q., 13:58; 3. O'Connor 14:04; 4. Cooper, 14:10; 5. de Rivera, 14:15; 6. DeRenne, 14:39; 7. Van Ummersen, 14:40; 8. Lewis, 14:41; 9. Nichols, P., 14:43; 10. Dreyer, 14:44.

Special Note: A letter received from Mr. James Sheehan, Wakefield Cross Country coach informs us that Capt. Ken Brown of the Winchester harriers broke the Wakefield course record in the first meet of the year. The new record is 12:52 which breaks the mark held by Schwartz set 4 years ago. Schwartz was one of Wakefield's best runners and incidently the only runner to ever defeat Winchester's Lou Farrell in a duel meet.

Three of last year's top cross country runners at Winchester High are running on their respective college freshman teams this fall. "Ozzie" Osborne is running in the first three of the Brown freshman team, Bob Becker is running number one with the Dartmouth papooses and Paul Franson is one of the top men on the Northeastern freshman team. "Tommy" Morse has turned in some good hill and dale men at the high school in recent years.

NEW SCOREBOARD IN PLACE

The new electric scoreboard for the high school, purchased this spring with funds raised by popular subscription as a testimonial to last year's great high school basketball team, has been placed in the new high school gymnasium. Tests conducted by Henry Knowlton, director of athletics, indicate that the clock is working perfectly and will be a great help to spectators at the coming basketball games this winter.

Park Commissioner Jim Coon, who headed the movement to purchase the clock, has already stated that the clock will be dedicated at one of the first of this year's home games.

Meanwhile the old clock has been removed, and it is hoped to install it in the junior high school gym. At present, however, there are no funds to pay for the wiring necessary to its installation so whether it will be available for games this winter is problematical.

SONS OF ITALY Bowling News

The weeks roll by like the falling leaves of autumn. Week No. 4 has come and gone in the S. O. I. bowling records.

There seems to be an exceptional lot of enthusiasm this season and I really think that the new bowlers have a lot to do with it.

Team Standings:

All Stars	12 - 4
Jitterbugs	11 - 5
Blue Eyes	10 - 6
Bee Bops	10 - 6
Lindy Hops	8 - 8
High and Low	5-11
Rock and Roll	4-12
Hot Shots	4-12

Hi Single:
Babe Tofuri 130

Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri 352

Top Six Bowlers:

Tony Saracco	103.6
Babe Tofuri	101.6
Richard Bucci	101.5
Dick Fiore	99.5
Joe Berardi	99.3
Bob Fiore	98

The battle for high average will be a thing of interest, for the pressure will keep the averages high. I predict that the winner will have to average over 100 to cop the Oscar this year in this department.

There seems to be no runaway this year in the first half as the first five teams are pretty closely bunched.

The Lindy Hop boys captained by Jeff Gaudioso, a former great, led the pack in pinfalls this week. His team members are Suppa, the adolescent kid, Larry Penta, the pillar of our community, "Sir Winston" Carmen Frongillo, Corregidor Fiore, the sleeping boy at the gate of B.C. College; and last, Phil Adagno, the Jenny Kid.

A very fine bowler who someday will show real class, as he is still young, led the boys in the 300 circle this week. Joe Berardi, 314; Dick Fiore, 312; Richard Bucci, 308 and Mingy Frongillo, 304.

I wish to publicly make a retraction on the "Man Wanted" last week. Said party has been located suffering a severe case of amnesia. Some say from overwork but my opinion is "Cherchez la femme." Party was found by the fleetfooted blood hound Mitzie. Case Closed!

We had the pleasure of having in our midst this evening good old Creeper Gene Rotundi. After receiving an ovation from all the bowlers he and his good old friend, Hokie, were having a real tete a tete.

I was eavesdropping and I heard Creeper tell Hokie he could get in alone. Hokie answered, "I have filed my application for admittance also, but tell me, Creeper, what do you mean alone?"

Creeper replied, "I can't take my cow with me and you know how attached I've become to her." Hokie answered, "I can understand for they think we are eccentric."

To clarify their conversation, this all pertains to their admission to the "Don Orione Rest Home for Aged Italians."

"Unless Suppa can contract the focus of his eyeballs he will break the record of scoring 4 boxes this season. He just can't bowl when there are women around.

The "Kangaroo Kid," Jeff Gaudioso, is back but got off to a bad start this season. Conditions existing at B.C. have been very trying and upsetting so he has been hopping instead of jumping which has knocked his average way off.

For the last twenty years Rocky DeTeso has been shaking his head trying to figure out why the ball never goes where he directs it. Why? At least he's a proud grandfather.

Things are hard to believe but records don't lie. "Choppers" Gangi bowled 248 to be low man on his team this week. Al DiMinico a 74 string, Pete Fiore 74, the amnesia kid 79; Eddie Forgione 68; the plumber 77; the lumber king 68; the Codaine kid 74; Joe Riga 75; Fred LaTorella 76. I'm not trying to ridicule them as they are all good bowlers but I get the same arguments every year why don't they put sideboards on like Skee Ball so the ball won't roll off the playing area.

This important matter will be brought up at the nex bowling conference and we will be ably represented by the champion who holds this record Ben Gillotti.

So we close again with our award going to a quiet sort of a guy, Al DiMinico.

See you next week.

Indians Win Again

Cambridge Latin Downed, 32-13

Winchester won its second game in a row at Manchester Field last Saturday, beating a big, and at times good-looking Cambridge High and Latin team, 32-13, in a non-league engagement.

Cambridge replaced Watertown on the Winchester schedule, and attracted nowhere near the number of fans through the turnstiles that the Scarlet used to bring. For three quarters the score was always close enough to provide interest, but the visitors faded rather badly toward the end and Winchester punched out two quick touchdowns in the final quarter to salt away the game.

Winchester nearly scored the first time it had the ball. Cambridge received, and two penalties in a row forced them to kick, Courtney's short boot being downed on the Cambridge 34.

On the first play Chapin took a pitchout from Longworth and getting outside to the right went all the way to pay dirt, only to have the play called back because he had edged the line at the Cambridge 19.

On second down a bad pitchout was recovered by Martin of Cambridge at his own 31. From then until the end of the quarter neither team could put together an offense.

In the opening minutes of the second period Courtney kicked to Chapin, who fumbled the ball on his 20, with Freddie Bartlett recovering on the 19.

Chapin took a pitchout to reach the Concord 44, and on the next play "Doug" Thomson just missed going all the way on a bust through the middle, being tripped at the Cambridge 26 by the gripping hand of a prone tackler.

Winchester was called for holding on the play, and the ball went back to the Winchester 45. Paonessa broke through for 15, Chapin bucked for three and then big John hit Thomson for a first down at the Cambridge nine, a nice pass and a pretty completion.

Paonessa broke through to the one, and Chapin skirted his own right end for the first touchdown of the game. Russo failed to kick the extra point.

Cambridge came right back. Courtney ran the kickoff back from his 11 to the 33, and the visitors quickly racked up two first downs to reach the Winchester 44.

Courtney then hit Cooper with a pass at the 20, and the Cambridge receiver fooled two Winchester defenders to pull away and score the equalizer. The try for point after by placement was no good.

Winchester scored immediately. Cooper's kickoff reached the Winchester 10, but a pretty handoff from Thomson to Chapin got big John away to the Cambridge 48.

Thomson got outside for a scamper to the Cambridge 27, but Longworth on a quarterback carry was spilled back on the 37. "Art" Stavaridis was hurt on this play and replaced by Jim Wakefield.

Chapin passed to Dave Bergquist at the Cambridge 10 and Bergquist was hauled down a yard short of the goal line. Longworth got nowhere through a jammed Cambridge line, but Chapin on a fullback sweep left went over, and passed to Russo for the extra point, sending Winchester off the field at the half leading 13-6.

Winchester scored after Chapin had run the second half kickoff back from his 20 to the Cambridge 48, faking a handoff to Thomson.

Paonessa shot through a hole in the Cambridge line to the 29 but Winchester was called for a fast start on the play and the ball went back to the Winchester 47. Thomson and O'Brien got tangled up on the next play and both were thrown out of the game, though from the press box it looked as if the Winchester boy had every right to resent the special attention he got from his Cantab rival.

The two fifteen yard roughing penalties cancelled each other and starting from its 47 Winchester drove to first downs at the Cambridge 39 and 27. Paonessa picked up eight, but Flaherty, who had replaced Thomson, failed to gain.

Chapin swept to a first down at the 13, but Flaherty was spilled for a six yard loss. Chapin got back eight, and Longworth passed to Vin Murphy who was dropped on the Cambridge one. Chapin bucked over at tackle, but again Russo's try for the extra point from placement was no good.

This made the score 19-6, but not for long. Courtney ran the kickoff back 20 yards to his 25. Courtney and Carmody picked up six, and a 15 yard penalty against Winchester for a personal foul put the ball at the Cambridge 49 for a first down.

Courtney passed to Carmody who grabbed the ball at the Winchester 35 and was downed by Bartlett on the 27.

Courtney picked up three and a Carmody to Courtney pass added only two. Courtney was piled up for no gain and on fourth down a Courtney to Carmody pass fell incomplete, only to have a Winchester penalty give the visitors a first down at the seven. From there Courtney easily eluded the Winchester left defenders and went over standing up. Cooper rushed for the extra point.

This made the score 19-13, and with Chapin hurt and carried from the field on the ensuing kickoff the Winchester stands were far from relaxed, especially with Thomson also out of action.

Winchester had to kick to start the final quarter, but got a break on the play as Courtney fumbled and Vin Murphy recovered for the Indians at the Cambridge 34.

Winchester lost 15 yards for holding on Freddie Bartlett's tidy end run, and with the ball at the Cambridge 49 a pass fell incomplete.

Paonessa, however, broke through the line and cut out to reach the Cambridge 25 and Longworth made 1st down at the 22. Paonessa and Russo picked up 6 and then Paonessa went to within inches of a first down.

Russo carried half the Cambridge team on his back as he bulled his way to the Cambridge one, but Bartlett was piled up for no gain, and Winchester lost five for offside, putting the ball back on the six, where it was first and goal.

Russo bucked for three, then was stopped without gain, but on third down Paonessa broke off tackle and Russo added the extra point.

This eased things a bit, and Winchester soon added another. After the kickoff Cambridge was hurt by a penalty and a fourth down pass fell incomplete to give Winchester the ball at the Cambridge 21.

Longworth was knocked out of bounds at the 10, on a right sweep, and on the next play Freddie Bartlett legged it out to the left past all defenders for the touchdown. Russo's kick was no good.

Cambridge put on an offensive in the dying moments, but a last ditch tackle by Peckham at the 21 saved a score and a moment later Winchester took over at its 13 after Peckham had knocked down a pass in the end zone.

Winchester made 15 first downs to 10 for Cambridge, rushing for 284 yards to 108 for the visitors. The Indians completed two of five passes for 28 yard and had one intercepted. Cambridge threw ten passes, completing seven for 123 yards, received 45 yards in penalties and fumbled three times, recovering once. Winchester lost 90 yards in penalties and fumbled once. 5th STRAIGHT FOR HARRIER JV's

The undefeated JV harrier team won its fifth straight meet last Monday as they defeated the Bedford High School varsity by a shutout score of 15 to 50.

Bedford High is a new high school, entering sports competition for only the second year. They brought along a small squad that lacked meet experience and proved to be easy prey for the best-looking JV team in several years at Winchester.

In the first half mile after the start of the race the Red and Black moved a solid block of runners to the front headed by Charlie Clifton. This group held the lead during the entire race and were never seriously threatened by any Bedford boy. Clifton took the top spot by about 10 yards over Charlie O'Connor in the good time of 17:57.

Bob Cooper, rapidly improving sophomore, was in the third position, with Lewis and Van Ummersen fourth and fifth to complete the scoring.

Finishers:

1. Clifton	17:57

SPECIAL RESERVISTS OCS TOURS

Members of the 94th "Bay State" Army Reserve Division will shortly receive a chance to achieve an officer's commission in their local units through a new program established by the Department of Army.

Under the new ruling applicants may attend a brief, 11 week course at the branch of their choosing, then return to their parent unit. The normal OCS schooling tour is 20 weeks, with classes beginning periodically throughout the year. For the reserves all OCS classes will be conducted during the summer months.

The RFA of 1956 permits the enlistment of youths 17 to 18½ for a brief six months of active duty, then discharges them draft free to continue their schooling or employment, at the same time fulfilling military obligations by attending the weekly meetings of outfit in their home towns.

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

COMMUNITY CHEST BENEFITS HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

(Fourth in a series of articles on Red Feather benefits to Winchester

One of the six local agencies and institutions which receive aid from the United Community Services is the Home for Aged People in Winchester, located at 110 Mt. Vernon street. The Red Feather Campaign begins Sunday, October 21.

The Home, which housed only four people when it was founded 62 years ago, has been enlarged and modernized until it now has twenty members in its family, one of whom, incidentally, is 100 years old. It is a truly homelike place, not at all like an institution, with attractive furnishings and plenty of green, growing things about.

Financially, the Home is completely responsible for its people, not only while they live there, but also while in nursing homes or hospitals if they become bedridden. Its services are limited to people who have lived in Winchester for ten years before entering, or for 20 consecutive years sometime in their lives. There is almost always a long waiting list.

Named as a member of the Cheerleaders at the University of Massachusetts, is Frank F. Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cullen of 82 Bacon street. Majoring in general business at the university and a member of the class of 1959, Mr. Cullen is also a member of the Newman Club.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

A perfect autumn day ushered in the first fall meeting of the Fortnightly, Monday, October eighth. At 11:00 a. m. an auction began, sponsored by the Ways and Means Committee, which netted about $50. A delectable luncheon was then enjoyed, followed by the business meeting at 2, with the new president, Mrs. Paul W. Atwood, in the chair.

Mrs. William F. Priest, who attended the Convention of the Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs at Swampscott, October 7 - 9, gave a most interesting report on the speakers and all that occurred there, urging us to try to go next year. She reminded members of the Eighth District Conference to be held in Stoneham Town Hall, October 23 at 12, with a luncheon at 1:30 p. m. There is no charge for registration. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Earl Widener.

The Chairman of the International Relations and Foreign Service Committee, Mrs. Charles E. Potts, announced a tea at her home on October 30, with an eminent speaker. More will appear about this later.

If you would like to visit the Jackson Homestead at Newton corner, Friday, October 26, please let Miss Louise Bancroft know.

With Mrs. Howard J. Chidley as narrator, we were taken on a delightful cruise to the North Cape, the program of the afternoon. She presented colorful pictures of the deep fiords along the rugged coast of Norway, majestic mountain peaks never without snow, many waterfalls, and small towns of historic interest. Cliffs silhouetted against the midnight sun at the North Cape make a breath-taking picture. Then by auto we toured a part of England, from busy London, battered by the war, to Surrey and Kent, cathedral towns, Windsor, Stratford, and Warwick, the neat gardens of luxuriant flowers always adding a special beauty to the vistas. With sincere appreciation we thank Mrs. Chidley most heartily.

TAKE CARE OF THE BIRDS

Now is none too early to set out those bird feeders to attract feathered friends all winter long.

Richard Kleber of the Education Department at Boston's Museum of Science points out that outdoor feeders are as easy to make for the woman-of-the-house as for the man-of-the-house.

"Just a shelf with wild bird seed, a piece of suet hung from a tree and a peanut butter stick will start a very good feeding station," says Kleber. The peanut butter stick is nothing more than a stick with holes drilled in it and then filled with peanut butter.

Birds like the Chickadee, Red Breasted and White Breasted Nuthatches and Woodpeckers will eat both the suet and peanut butter while a variety of Sparrows, Goldfinch and Grosbeaks will be attracted by the seeds.

For those who want to know more about birds, the Museum offers a course in General Ornithology which started Wednesday, October 10th, at 7:30 p. m. with Kleber as instructor.

Discussion will include anatomy and migration, as well as identification.

A special lecture on "Flight in Nature and Aircraft," also by Kleber will be among highlights of the "Spotlight on Science" series, new afternoon course for adults starting at the Museum on Wednesday, October 17, at 2:15 p. m.

Further information on either the Ornithology course or the Spotlight on Science course may be had by calling the Education Department, at RIchmond 2-1410.

Army 1st Lt. Allen M. Carlisle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Carlisle, Jr., 10 Reservoir street, recently was assigned to the 9771st Technical Service Unit at Dugway Proving Ground, Dugway, Utah. Lieutenant Carlisle entered the Army in 1951 and is a pilot with the unit.

REV. ELLISON IN COLORADO

The Rev. Mr. John W. Ellison, rector of the Epiphany Church, is in Colorado until the 23rd of this month. He is to be on the Staff of a Laboratory in Group Life Dynamics, in a program being conducted by the Vocational Council of the Episcopal Church. There is a staff of twenty, with seventy-five in the laboratory. The group is meeting at Estes Park.

Usually such a staff is recruited locally, but because of Mr. Ellison's previous success in this work he was especially selected by the National Council. In 1955 he was sent to Berkeley, California and in June 1956, to Hartford, Connecticut. Such guidance as Mr. Ellison will give in Colorado, requires a special background of study and experience which he, of course, can offer.

On the trip West, Mr. Ellison lectured at the University of Michigan, on his well known work with the computor at Harvard—a study of New Testament manuscripts and a new concordance.

CONGREGATIONAL ADULT CLASSES

The second meeting of the Adult Class on "Science and Religion," led by Dr. Albert G. H. Dietz, will be held next Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Palmer Room. It is evident by the large group who attended that the leader is excellent and the subject of vital interest. The first session was indeed interesting and informative, and those who were there last Sunday look forward to the next stimulating meeting.

The Wednesday evening Adult Class on "Getting Acquainted with the Old Testament" will meet this week at 7:45. Mr. Hadidian, through background and experience, is well qualified to lead these discussions and all who are interested are most welcome.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON

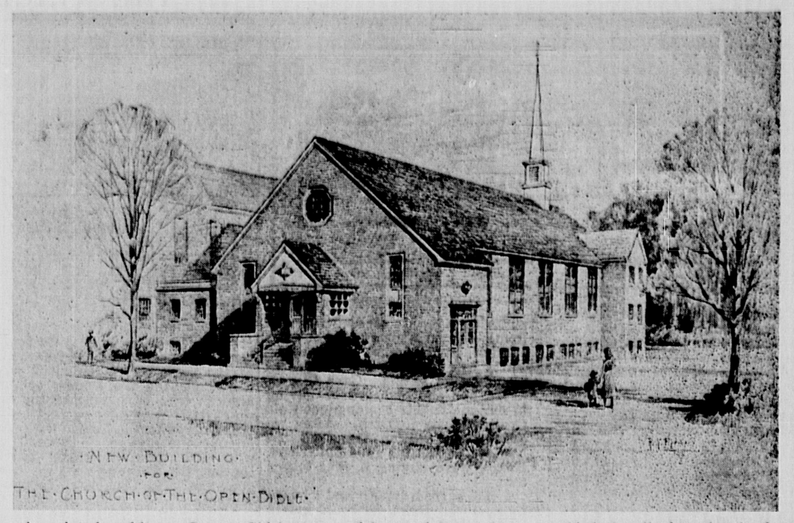
The first fall meeting of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion will be held on Friday, October 19, at the home of Mrs. Leonard Barbo, 9 Lakeview road.

Mrs. Vera I. McKenzie, the president will open the meeting at 2:30 p. m.

The speaker will be Mrs. John B. Mosely of the Needham Garden Club, her timely subject "Dried Arrangements for Thanksgiving and Christmas." Hostesses seeking unique table decorations for the holidays will find many valuable suggestions in the completed arrangements which Mrs. Mosely will display to demonstrate her lecture.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Crosby B. Kelley and her committee.

Mr. Ralph S. Boynton of 27 Canterbury road, has been appointed local chairman for Winchester, for the fall meeting of the Middlesex Chapter, Bentley Alumni Association, Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, October 22, at the Hotel Continental, Cambridge. Mr. Boynton was graduated from the Bentley School in 1930 and is now Fiscal Manager for the Calidyne Company in Winchester.



Associated architects George Sidebottom and Leonard Fuyat have provided the display sketch shown above, which envisages the new building of The Church of the Open Bible, Woburn. Their detailed drawings and final specifications are nearing completion and construction of the new edifice parallel to the present structure on Montvale Avenue will begin at an early date. The church, which is non-denominational, has experienced a marked growth in all departments. Rev. Carlton Helgerson is the pastor.

SENIOR FORUM

Members of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church are looking forward to welcoming as their speaker this Sunday, Rev. John Snook, Jr., from the neighboring Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Mr. Snook has chosen as his topic, "Time To Have Our Faith Lifted." The chaplain will be Bob Kugler, and the deacons will be Doug Gowdy and Larry Longworth.

Plans are under way for Forum's annual benevolence project, the Work Day for Christ, which this year will be carried out on Friday and Saturday, October 26 and 27. Chairmen for this are Carol Swett and David Usher.

Forum will again have the privilege of sponsoring the Thursday night performance of the Parish Players production on November 1. The play will be "Solid Gold Cadillac" which is guaranteed to be extremely entertaining. Doug Gowdy is Forum ticket chairman.

LIBRARIANS ATTEND CONFERENCE

The fall meeting of the New England Library Association was held October 4, 5 and 6 at the New Ocean House in Swampscott. This organization brings together the six New England state associations and the New England School Librarians Association .

Eight members of the staff of the Winchester Public Library were able to attend those meetings of special interest to them.

Using as its theme "Libraries Look Forward" the N.E.L.A. presented an interesting and varied program, featuring many well-known personalities. At the first evening's general session, Will Durant, author and philosopher, spoke on the topic, "What Are the Lessons of History?" At the second evening's session, Virgilia Peterson, author and book critic, discussed "Does Literature Reflect the World We Live In?"

The total registration of the conference exceeded 1,000 librarians from the six-state area. The feeling of the meeting was one of confidence in the future work of libraries in New England.

CHILDREN IN THEATRE CONFERENCE AT TUFTS COLLEGE

A group of Winchester children who were in "Peter Pan" and the Children's Theatre School were in a demonstration on the program of Children's Theatre Division of the New England Theatre Conference at Tufts College last Saturday. The theme of that part of the program was "How To Bring The Play To Life" and our children did four impromptu scenes using their own words in the ten minutes alloted to them.

Carol Witham, James von Rosenvinge, and Johnnie Worcester did a rollicking scene of two travelers and a lion in a forest with Susan Bryant, Ann Shiedler, and Chuckie Worcester as trees. Tommy Porter, age 8, as stage manager carried out his task of announcing the scenes and setting props on the stage to the obvious delight of the audience. All the children participated in three other scenes of contrasting moods.

PARKHURST PARENTS' ASSOCIATION

The first fall meeting of the Parkhurst Parent's Association took place on Thursday, October 4, in the Parkhurst Auditorium. Before the meeting, dessert and coffee were served by Mrs. Audrey Doane, social chairman, and her committee.

Mrs. A. R. Brink, president of the association, opened the meeting with a greeting to new and "old" members. This was followed by reports of the secretary, Mrs. Eugene Woods, the treasurer, Mrs. Thornton Stearns, the Ways and Means Chairman, Mrs. David Burnham, and an announcement about the proposed program for subsequent meetings from the vice president, Mrs. Melvin Sidebotham. Room Mothers were introduced to the group.

Two vacancies on the executive board were announced. New members were proposed by Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, nominating chairman, and accepted unanimously by the Parents' Association. Mrs. Arlene Gouzoule is the new corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry, the extra-curricular activties chairman

Mrs. Emily Marks gave a brief inspiring talk on the Winchester Scholarship Foundation including a short history, the qualifications for application, and the means by which funds are raised for this worthy service.

Girl Scout and Brownie plans were then discussed by Mrs. Fred Schiffmacher. Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald has charge of the sixth grade overnight trip. Leaders for this year include:

Third Grade, Mrs. Warren Wells, leader; Mrs. Casey Angell, assistant leader; Mrs. Thomas Gouzoule, Troop Committee Chairman.

Fourth Grade, Mrs. Lawrence England, leader.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Howard Leary, leader; Mrs. Fred Schiffmacher, assistant leader; Mrs. Ray Howland, Troop Committee Chairman.

There is still a need for leadership in the sixth grade troop.

Mr. Francis MacFeeley, Field Executive, Fellsland Council of Boy Scouts, spoke of the need for selecting a new leader and committee men in this section for this year. An organized meeting for this purpose will be held in the near future.

The final speaker was Albert F. Sutula, principal of the Lewis Parkhurst School. Mr. Sutula's resume of his philosophy of education in our school today is certain to evoke confidence in the school's administration during the forth coming year. His main theme was "the education of the child of his fullest capacity." In developing a child as a competent whole physically, mentally, socially and emotionally, the school and home must work together. Situations must be suitable to the exact needs of each child, with reward and success following, and every possible association with materials and experiences made available. In conclusion, Mr. Sutula said "For us in the school, it is an ever continuous and searching study of the growth and development of each individual child."

Following a brief questioning period, the meeting was adjourned. The Parkhurst School staff was introduced by Mr. Sutula. A pleasant social hour ensued over refreshments.

EDITORIALS

Coming events cast their shadows before! It was 28 degrees on the outskirts of town yesterday morning.

That is surely a provocative letter which Mr. Hichborn has written the Star this week, yet the point he seeks to make is difficult to contest. Playgrounds, Scout activities, Little League, recreation programs, Sunday school and other youth activities cannot take the place of parental interest in, and control of, the nation's youth. If the parents do not care, or cannot be bothered, it is hard to expect that others will.

Everyone learned with regret that Winchester's John Volpe has retired as State Commissioner of Public Works. None, however, can find fault with Mr. Volpe's desire to return to his own business after effectively serving the State for longer than he planned when he accepted Governor Herter's original appointment. The public's appreciation of Mr. Volpe's stewardship shows that honest, efficient administration of public affairs is appreciated.

Last Saturday the new drinking fountain installed at Manchester Field near the gymnasium entrance was smashed, adding to other damage that has been done at the field. Groups of youngsters have repeatedly smeared the scoreboard with mud, stoned it, and until practically a rebuilding job was done, continually broke into the press box and photographer's booth.

It was only after considerable deliberation that the flagpole was replaced at the field because youthful hoodlums have made a practice of cutting the halyards on the pole and replacing the ropes has been quite expensive. Even the National Colors apparently do not mean anything to some misguided youngsters, and when you see some of the things they do you just have to wonder how much our young people really appreciate what is done for them.

Winchester has a fine student band, and as they played in front of the home stands between the halves of last Saturday's football game the young musicians sounded great. The band has also added some sound effects for certain phases of the games that are amusing, but we do hope there will be no more playing of "Taps" at football games. The soldier's requiem has no place at athletic contests, except under very special conditions that did not apply last week end. We realize the thing was done inadvertently, but let us have no more of it!

A CRYING SHAME!

Editor of the Star:

May I refer you to page 6 of the October 5 issue of the Star under the heading of "Scouts Hunt Man." If you have read this well-written item, just read it again. If you missed it, please look it up now.

This is apparently typical of our town in many other ventures for the benefit and betterment of our children.

Can it be that our parents are overlooking the God-given pleasures, love, and responsibilities of children, yet spend hours concerning our dirty river, parking problems, appearance of an overpass, etc. Shouldn't part of our hearts and energy remain in our homes with our families?

This article could have been written by the Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cubs, Little League, Babe Ruth League, Park program, Church groups, etc., because it applies to each and all.

These organizations are not intended to provide free "sitters" for our children nor are they to provide a dumping ground for the youngsters so that parents can get rid of the kids for a few hours. They are intended to be community projects offering many benefits and advantages for the growth and betterment of our children in the physical, mental, and moral development of the individual and group. Isn't that also the aim and responsibility of a parent?

It is a crying shame to note that many of these organizations are staffed by non-parents. That many are understaffed and even further, that many have had to curtail or discontinue because they lack the parents' interest and assistance to carry on their programs.

"Scouts Hunt Man" states that thirty boys who have, by their present ratings, evidenced their interest and hard work in Scouting need One man. A man who need have no special training, ability, or qualifications and, in short, just be a good dad.

Perhaps these thirty dads whose boys stand to gain so much should look in a mirror and ask themselves if there is any real reason why they should not offer their services to their own boy and his pals. Ask themselves if they should advertise for some outsider to do their job for them? To assume the obligations of father to their boy?

Think, and think well, parents. God has seen fit to bless us with children. They are children all too short a time and are then gone. The time to help them most is right now. Tomorrow your heart will be full and your blessings many because you helped today before it was too late. Because you did the job of being a parent in more than name. It's a crying shame, but your own child needs you!

U. S. ARMY EXHIBIT OCT. 20

Editor of the Star:

On Saturday, October 20, from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on Winchester Common there will be a most interesting display of Army weapons and equipment put on by Winchester's Reserve Unit C Co., 319th Eng. Group of the 94th Inf. Division.

To name only a few of the exhibits—machine guns, rocket launcher, antitank mines, mine detector, Nike display, bridges, assault boat, hand grenades, field equipment, etc. etc. Needless to say, there will be no live ammunition.

I suggest that not only will young men be interested in this exhibit, but parents will have the opportunity to see the things their sons learn to handle during basic training. Army personnel will be at the Common to answer all questions.

Remember a man's total military obligation is 6 years, when he finishes his active duty he joins a Reserve Unit for the remainder of his obligation. The Winchester Unit is under the command of Captain Guido Santoliquido who is not only a fine soldier but a charming gentleman. I would like Winchester parents to meet him.

High School Seniors, provided they are 17 years of age, may join the Reserves under the 8 year program under which they serve only 6 months on active duty then continue through college, or in industry while fulfilling their military obligation. This program is only open to men 17-18½ years of age.

I am sure you will find this exhibit most interesting and instructive. Do take it in before the football game.

Cordially yours,
G. Toye, Chairman
Military Manpower Committee

TO KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

Editor of the Star:

Talking with Nick Fitzgerald the other day I learned that I had been under an erroneous impression which I now want to make haste to correct.

Ever since I was elected to the Winchester Board of Selectmen in 1950 I have understood, from what had been told me at the time, that I was the youngest man ever to have been elected to that Board.

Through Nick I have now learned (and confirmed at the Town Clerk's office) that Nick's big brother, Jim, had been slightly younger when he was elected to the Board.

To be precise, Jim Fitzgerald was elected a Selectman at the age of 28 years, 10 months and I at the age of 29 years, 4 months.

I congratulate Jim Fitzgerald and am delighted to straighten out the record.

Sincerely yours,
Harrison F. Lyman, Jr.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN

Now it should be told! The gala Dessert and Coffee Party at the Country Club on September 26, was a huge success. The best ever! Mrs. Paul Lamarche, Ways and Means Chairman and Mrs. J. Howard Macauley Co-Chairman should be congratulated in the success of the event.

Cakes, pies, prizes were solicited and furnished by all the gals on the committee. They were Meg Thomson, Mary Louise Hunt, Polly Kepler, Jean Brosius, Christine Thompson, Eleanor Urmson, Dorothy Comfort, Jerry Overacher, Ann Caniff, Jane Sweetser, Ann Coakley, Marion Gowdy, Muriel Davis, Verna Morison and Marjorie Ford.

On October 17, at 2:30 p. m. Republican Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Ernest J. Wright, 8 Stratford road for the regular monthly meeting. Please note the time and format of the meeting has been changed.

Two State Candidates are to be present. For District Attorney, Ephraim Martin of Belmont will speak. He is a member of the American Bar Association and instructor-lecturer at Boston University. His topic will be: "District Attorney's Office."

The other speaker will be Winchester's Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., who is the candidate for State Senator, 6th Middlesex District. Married and father of 4 children, a lawyer, a veteran, student of Government and a proven town official, Mr. Lyman is well qualified for this office.

All members are urged to be present and to meet these candidates. Tea will be served.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester Smith College Club will hold its first meeting of the year on Wednesday, October 17, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harrison Lyman, 15 Lawson road.

Coffee will be served by Mrs. Frederick Walsh and her committee and Miss Sehmann, the new Director of Admissions at Smith College will speak to the club.

Miss Sehmann certainly plays a very vital and fascinating role in the administration of the college and her talk will be of greatest interest to all Smith alumnae.

The Smith College Club of Winchester is especially happy to welcome six new members this fall. A most sincere welcome is extended to Mrs. William H. Howard, Mrs. Roger B. Gorham, Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox, Jr., Miss Miriam Berry, Mrs. Shelby W. Putnam, and Mrs. Samuel T. Powell.

TWO HUNDRED APRONS!

That's right. 200 beautiful aprons will be at Mrs. Paul Eaton's big Apron Booth at the Autumn Bazaar, October 24, at the First Baptist Church. At last year's fair, hundreds of visitors bought these lovely, one-of-a-kind aprons as distinctive, personal Christmas presents.

And speaking of Christmas gifts, you'll also want to visit the Gifts-Dolls-Children's display, the Gift Wrappings and Cards booth, and the fascinating "General Store."

A highlight of the Autumn Bazaar will be a delicious turkey noodle casserole luncheon served from 12 to 1:30 p. m. And, to top off the day, you won't want to miss the big baked ham supper from 6 to 7:30 p. m.

Everyone — well, practically everyone — is planning to "come to the fair." How about you?

ACCIDENT AT WYMAN SCHOOL

Daniel Kaplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kaplan of 18 Rangeley Ridge, was struck by an automobile as he was leaving the Wyman School shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

According to the police, Daniel, in crossing Church street from the northerly side in front of the home of Dr. Warren Haley, ran into the path of the car, being driven west on Church street by Mrs. John Finger of 14 Mystic avenue.

He was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Officers Callahan and Pronski and treated for injuries to his right hip and head. His injuries were not thought to be serious.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The Bedouin of the deserts give water to each other and to travelers, not as a gift but as a sacred duty, the National Geographic Society says.

Grand Canyon National Park encloses the home of the Havasupais, possibly the smallest and certainly the most isolated Indian reservation in the United States, says the National Geographic Society. A few square miles in a side canyon support the tribe of some 300 members.

The hippopotamus of the upper Nile River, often thought of as a harmless, amiable creature, can attack without apparent provocation, says the National Geographic Society.

THE COWBOY: IRISHMAN, VIRGINIAN, AND VAQUERO

He was born an Easterner, rode a Moorish horse, took his ways from Mexico, and became a legend. His business title: American cowboy.

Today, often enough, the cowboy, is a college man. He inspects electric fences in a Piper Club. His range reaches to the Florida 'Glades, ranches near Philadelphia, the prairies of Long Island. He's a capitalist.

Whence came the first cowboy, however? From Ireland, from Spain, from backwoods Massachusetts, from tidewater Virginia, the National Geographic Society says. He rode a long trail to become a hero of the Old West.

By Webster and other weighty dictionaries, a "cowboy" is (1) A boy who tends cows, (2) A Tory marauder and cattle-raider north of New York City in the Revolutionary War, and (3) A mounted western cattle herder.

Both word and job are older than 1776 in this country, yet at the same time considerably younger. Red and black kine grazed on the Commons of Jamestown and in Puritan Massachusetts by 1635. About 1655—full 300 years ago—cattle were driven east to Boston from the then farwest outpost of Springfield on the Connecticut River.

Though English and Scotsmen used "cowherd" or "drover," the word "cowboy" was known in the colonies by 1670. Irish fieldhands may have brought it, for the term occurs in Irish balladry of 1,000 years ago.

Cattle were known in the New World 150 years before 1670. Small sharp-horned Andalusian cattle and fine-bred Barbary horses came to Mexico with Spanish conquistadors within 30 years after Columbus sighted Hispaniola. Coronado took cattle north of the Rio Grande in 1540. It was prophetic, perhaps, that the first white man to cross Texas was Cabeza de Vaca, whose name meant "Head of a Cow."

Huge Spanish haciendas spread cattle slowly north on the grassy Mexican tablelands. Herds ran wild and multiplied. Half-wild vaqueros — "cowboys" — rounded them up to burn or cut the hidalgo's brand on the calves.

From these Mexican vaqueros, Scottish and English frontiersmen drifting into what is now Texas learned their trade and forged a cattle kingdom. Their animals, their tools, even their words were Mexican: mustang, sombrero, poncho, corral, bronco, adobe, vigilante, vamoose, stampede.

But no market existed for Texas cattle. All possible selling points were too far away. Herds grew larger still. Then came the California gold rush and the crossing of the continent. The railroads followed.

At the Civil War's end the "Iron Trail" reached west into Kansas, and Texas herds began moving north to meet it. Over the Red River, amid clouds of dust and the whoops of hard-driving saddle-bred cowhands, long-horns streamed by the millions—gaunt, bawling, wild-eyed beef on the hoof.

They surged into Abilene, Ellsworth, Newton, Wichita, and Dodge City. Other herds moved on north, following the Long Trail to Wyoming's lush grass, Montana, and Alberta. They went west to New Mexico, Arizona, and even Nevada. They took a new Texas-style life with them.

The cowboy rode into national hero-worship on the Chisholm Trail only 90 years ago. Yet he is four centuries old on this continent. His longhorn now is almost an extinct breed. White-faced Herefords, glossy black Angus, Shorthorns—tamer, meat-solid breeds—have taken over the range. The cowboy is

MINK TRAVELS FAR TO PLEASE MILADY

The modern mink—even before it passes on to the Park Avenue promenade—is a well-traveled little animal.

A few years ago 250 of them flew the Atlantic from the United States to Norway to help stock farms there. Recently 340 entrained at Dauphin, Manitoba, bound for Newfoundland to build up the island's mink industry and thereby capitalize on a plentiful supply of whalemeat.

America's 5,000 mink farmers sold a record 2,700,000 skins last year. Wisconsin produced more than a third of the Nation's farm-raised pelts, says the National Geographic Society. Other leaders were Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan and New York.

In addition, trappers marketed 1,000,000 skins, boosting the value of mink pelts to 60 percent of all raw furs produced in the United States.

Still they didn't satisfy demand. America, the world's leading mink producer-consumer, also imported 1,800,000 skins in 1954, a new high. Of these, skins from Canada represented a little less than half the number, though three-fifths of the value, indicating their fine quality. Japanese mink, second in quantity among the imports, is much less prized because it is yellow and has to be dyed.

Before the war, fur traders imported Chinese mink and kolinsky, the Siberian mink. But both of these, like all furs from Communist countries, have been barred by Congress since 1951.

The only other foreign source today is Scandinavia. It was the Swedes who first exported the word "maenk" which became mink. The Choctaw Indians also had a word for the elegant skin a woman loves to touch; they called it "toni." To the Germans, it is simply the "Nerz."

In North America the wild mink takes to forest and water. Sweetwater areas show a tendency to produce thicker, darker colored furs than salt water sections. From North Carolina southward pelts get thinner and redder, except near Lake Maurepas in Louisiana. There, in the presence of sweet water, the mink grows a dark coat like its northern brother's.

In the wild the omnivorous, polygamous mink is a lone roamer. Even the female, a fiercely protective mother, likes to go it alone as soon as she releases her kits. Once a year, late in April or early in May, she produces an average littler of four. By August her brood is ready to fend for itself. Her daughters issue grandchildren the following spring—unless they are trapped.

The mink's winter fur—it changes coats at the enviable rate of two a year—reaches its prime in November.

The chief interest of experimenters is in colors of pelts. Steeped in the laws of heredity, breeders in the past two decades have worked up more exquisite color tones than Mendel himself could have imagined. The first mutation produced in quantity was the blue-gray platinum, trade-marked as silverblu.

Then came pastel, followed by palomino, blufrost, white, amber gold, and sapphire, the guard hair of which is a sparkling sky-blue and the underfur, a softer blue. To add to the confusion, each breeder usually dreams up his own name for the mutants so that the public has been pelted with names like breath of spring, green eye pastel, and half-blood (redressed as starlight).

A single sapphire pelt has brought as high as $380 at auction. Figure 65 to 100 skins to a single coat—and there goes one man's annual bond clippings.

The average price of a farm-raised pelt today runs about $25. A finished, full-length coat may cost from $4,000 to $40,000 or more. It is easy to see why, when one considers the letting-out process by which the coat is created. Each pelt is cut into tiny, ¼-inch diagonal ribbons which are sewed into strips that run the length of the coat. Into one coat go nearly seven miles of thread and more than 700 hours of highly skilled labor.

How much longer a mink pelt will travel once it reaches the back of its ultimate bearer depends on the wear and care she gives it. Fur experts advise hanging a mink coat on a heavy, shoulder-shaped hanger in a cool, roomy closet. Should it become wet, don't brush or comb. Simply shake and allow to dry away from any heat.

Sending a mink coat off for an annual cleaning and for storage in an air-conditioned vault protects the natural oils of the pelts and restores their suppleness. It also guards against the fur's most vicious enemy, the moth.

"You can always tell a furrier," one of them has said, "by his agitation in the presence of a moth. If you see a man chase a moth, in the subway for instance, you may know he is interested in the fur business. If he gets it on the first try, he is a competent furrier. If he runs wildly up and down the car aisle, beating the air in vain, he is only someone who has loaned money to a furrier."

PARKHURST SCHOOL GRADE 5 TEA

The fifth grade mothers of the Lewis Parkhurst School met for tea October 8th at the home of Mrs. Harold S. Lewis, 43 Emerson road. Miss Paula Caffrey, the fifth grade teacher, and Mr. Albert Sutula were guests of honor.

Miss Caffrey gave an interesting and informative talk to the mothers on the subjects to be covered this year, her theories on discipline, and an explanation of the marking system to be used. Not only is reading stressed but the need to be a good listener. The class is putting into practice the study of representative government by the campaigning and election of class officers in the same way as any government representative.

Following Miss Caffrey's talk delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Lewis and her able committee. Mrs. A. R. Brink and Mrs. Stephen E. Root were the pourers.

AN OPPORTUNITY

The famous Dr. Frank Laubach, teacher of literacy throughout the world by means of his simplified charts and his slogan, "Each One Teach One," is in this locality and will speak at the Baptist church in Arlington on Tuesday evening, at 8:00 p. m. also in Belmont, at the Payson Park Church on Thursday evening.

Dr. Laubach has just returned from a world tour on which he was warmly welcomed in many countries and urged to establish literacy centres. He wrote from Jerusalem, "The World is as ripe as a plum for literacy." In India he was received by the head of UNESCO, and elsewhere the representatives of United Nations have given him their enthusiastic support. This is an exceptional opportunity to hear of an unusual and worthwhile project.

CIVIL DEFENSE

CIVIL DEFENSE AND THE NEWS

Last week a civilian evacuation was made at Westover Air Base. This was the first test of its kind. Dependents of Air Force Personnel had been instructed to use their own cars and bring their own water, food, survival kits and etc.

Sirens blew at 7:45 and within twenty minutes the service families were at their assigned places in the convoy. They were escorted by state and air police. Orange Air Port the reception center was thirty-eight miles north from Westover. The convoy was lead by top Civil Defense personnel and Westover Field officials.

This test proved beyond any doubt that a large number of people can be moved quickly if they are properly briefed and prepared. This could not have been done without the trained Civil Defense workers.

All of us who are following the progress of the freighter Etrusco that went aground in the March blizzard will be interested to know that when all other communication methods failed the Scituate Civil Defense unit put its new $1200 radio communication rig to genuine disaster use.

What made them especially proud was that they were able to maintain communications between two key points when other portable units were bogged down in the heavy snow. Winchester also has a very efficient communication system with several trained operators that would hold up under any emergency that might come our way.

COUNTRY STORE

Plans are going forward for the Country Store, which will be held on the evening of Thursday, October 25, at St. Mary's Hall. Harvest time will be the theme of the decorations, to be carried out in autumn colors of gold, russet and brown.

The drawing for the different articles on display at the Store will start about 9:15 p. m. The committee therefore hopes that everyone will come early and select the articles that are of interest well before this time. Fathers particularly will find this a golden opportunity to find interesting and novel Christmas gifts, well in advance of the December rush. Come and enjoy St. Mary's first Country Store.

The first meeting of the season of the Committee of Safety Chapter will be held on Monday, October 15, at the home of Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, 16 Everett avenue, with the new regent, Mrs. Hiram Moody, presiding. Dessert will be served at 1:30 p. m. followed by a business meeting at 2.

Mr. F. Henry Caffin will give an illustrated lecture on "The Art of Gold Beating."

Winchester police returned three young boys to the Walter E. Fernald School Friday afternoon after they had come to a Winchester resident's house and asked to be taken back to the school.

COMEDY ROLE FOR CONNOR

George Connor, 403 Main street, plays a comedy role in the Tufts Community Players' production of "An Italian Straw Hat," gay French farce of the mid-19th century, which opens at the Tufts Arena Theater, Medford, this Friday evening, October 12, at 8:30 o'clock.

Authored by Eugene Labiche and Marc Michel, the play featured vocal solos and choral singing pertinent to the plot, with old French folk songs providing the musical accompaniment.

Performances will be repeated October 13, 18, 19, and 20. The production is directed by John R. Woodruff, 8 Sheffield road, of the Tufts University drama department.

JUNIOR HIGH FELLOWSHIP

Fifty-two Junior Highs met at the First Congregational Church last Sunday afternoon. Fred Asheden and Brian Walsh led the opening worship service. Brian told of the very inspirational closing worship service at the Deering Conference which he attended last summer.

Mrs. Hadidian welcomed the group and discussed some of the plans for the year. Enthusiastic reports of the Summer Conferences were given by the following: Virginia Blake, John Mallery, David Bates, Sherwood Kelley, Sue Stockwell, George Thompson, Emily Fish, Ralph Thompson, and Roberta Watson. All of us who heard these young people certainly realized how valuable and worthwhile the Church Conference experience is.

The following in the Junior High group were elected to the nominating committee: Linda Chase, Joe Emerson, Leslie Sanger, and David Wallace.

Recreation was led by Miss Judith Skipton and from the organized mix-up it was evident all were participating and enjoying this part of the program. Hoodsies and cookies were served by Mrs. Crede and Mrs. Walsh and the meeting closed with a Friendship Circle.

The Square Dance, led by Mr. Muerling, will be Friday evening, October 19. Tickets can be purchased from Carol Kingston, John Mallery, Diane Watson or John Curtis. This is our first social event and we hope to see all the Junior Hgh people there.

Pvt. Frederick M. Ives, III, son of Park Commissioner and Mrs. Fred M. Ives of 4 Bushcliff road, recently was graduated from the basic Army administration course at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He entered the Army last May and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., is a graduate of Winchester High School and Colby College, and a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

ST. MARY'S MR. & MRS. CLUB

In an autumnal setting of pumpkins, crisp apples and fall leaves, the first meeting of the season of the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club got off to an auspicious start. The more than 100 couples in attendance spent an evening interesting and enjoyable and had a foretaste of what all feel will be a most successful year.

A greeting from the new Club Officers, a prayer and a few words from Reverend Father Manion and the presentation of the personal blessing of His Holiness, Pope Pious XII to the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club, a blessing delivered personally to the Club's new Catholic Action Chairmen, Dr. James and Marie McDonough while in Rome this past summer, highlighted the opening of the meeting.

In keeping with the fall decor that greeted all members, the meeting chairmen thoughtfully provided a few interesting awards for those lucky, and hardy winners of the door prizes, and "musical chairs" contest.

Delicious apple pies were the happy lot of those lucky door prize recipients, Alice Gibbons and Joe Collins. And, those rugged "musical chairs" champions, Mary Reid and Gil McEwan richly deserved their awards of jugs of cider for skillfully and fearlessly leading all other contestants in the surprise contest of the evening.

To the refreshment committee and all who so willingly assisted go the thanks and admiration of every member. Nothing this side of the Waldorf (and not the one of the big red apple, either) could match the quantity and variety of those heavily laden trays.

A social evening followed the business meeting and the very interesting and informative narrative about Lourdes, accompanied by still and motion pictures, as presented by Dr. James and Marie McDonough.

Next month's meeting promises to be one long to remember. A Gala Birthday Party for all. No member wants to miss this. See you all November 7th.

METHODIST BUILDING FUND TO BENEFIT BY DINNER

Final plans for the new Methodist Sunday School Building are close to completion. The Wesleyan Group will sponsor a delicious home-coming roast beef dinner on October 26, for the benefit of this fund.

All interested in this project may now make reservations by calling WInchester 6-2546-J.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB HARVEST DINNER-DANCE ENJOYED BY CAPACITY THRONG

It was worth the modest price of admission, just to see Dawson Blamire, Bart Sullivan and Tom Legere daintily decked out in aprons as they served heaping plates of spaghetti and meat balls at last Saturday's Harvest Dinner-Dance.

But there was more, much more. First, there was one of the largest, laughingest, eatingest and dancingest groups of Boat Club members and their guests we've seen at the Club in many a day. Second, there was one of the finest spaghetti and meat ball dinners we've ever eaten topped off by a tempting array of Italian pastry.

Third, there was a nifty band that kept everyone dancing all through the evening. And if anyone has the idea that musical chairs is a sissy game, they've never seen our Boat Club belles trying to pounce on laps.

Bart Sullivan's committee, which included his wife Mae, Dan and Ann Blamire, Tom and Rita Legere, Anne and Carl Freyer, Helen and Charlie McLaughlin, Hazel Vernaglia and Rita Debitetto, deserve a lot of credit for a fine affair; and to Salvatore Cantella goes the committee's deepest thanks for getting the 40 pounds of Prince spaghetti needed to feed the gang. But the real star of the evening was Mr. Michael Debitetto, who was the chef and was the guiding genius behind the truly marvelous meal.

Don't forget the annual business meeting Friday evening. If you can't come in time for the chowder, come help elect the new officers, anyhow.

THE LESLIE COLLEGE HARVEST SUPPER

The Lesley College Alumnae Association invites its members and friends to enjoy a Harvest Supper to be held in the college dining hall on Sunday, October 21, at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Theodore Hadge '29 has as one of her committee members Mrs. Francis Mead of the Noonan School.

Reservations may be made by contacting the college, 29 Everett street, Cambridge.

CHURCH CANVASS KICKOFF DINNER

Last week your United Church Canvass Committee met to report progress on plans initiated at this year's first fall meeting. Most important were plans for a "kick-off" dinner for the canvassers of the seven participating churches. Through the efforts of Mr. Maxwell McCreery and the Reverend John Snook, an interesting and forceful speaker has been engaged for this dinner. More information on this matter will follow later.

John J. Steinloski of 8 Chapin street reported to police that someone had scratched the surface of his car with a sharp metal object Friday night.

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Gerald J. Murphy, District Manager Cambridge Social Security Office

Some important changes have been made in the old-age and survivors insurance program as a result of the Social Security Amendments of 1956.

Working persons—employed and self-employed—need to know about these changes; their families need to know about them. It is the intention of this newspaper, with the cooperation of the Social Security Administration, District Office, 2 Trowbridge street, Cambridge, to explain these changes in the law, through a series of articles.

In the articles to follow we shall describe the changes in detail. Today we will summarize the three most important changes designed to strengthen this Federal insurance system, which provides partial protection against loss of earned income upon the retirement or death of the worker, and now—under certain conditions—upon the total disability of the worker.

Effective with November of this year, benefits will become payable to women when they reach age 62. Survivors' benefits for widows and, in certain cases, mothers of deceased workers will start with a payment for November which will be received in December. The amount of the monthly payment to survivors will be the same as they would have received at age 65 under the old law. Beginning with November 1956, retired insured women workers and wives of retired insured workers can start getting benefit payments at age 62. In these cases, the amount of the payment will be somewhat less than the amount that would have been payable at age 65 under the old law.

A change has been made in the total disability provision in the law. While the "disability freeze" provision which protects the social security insurance right of workers is continued, monthly cash benefit payments beginning with July 1957 will be made to totally disabled workers when they reach age 50.

Beginning with January 1957 monthly benefits will be payable to a disabled, unmarried child, even after the child has reached age 18, if the child was disabled since before he reached 18 and is the dependent child of a retired or deceased parent, step-parent, or adopting parent who is eligible for old-age insurance benefits under social security, or was insured for the purpose of survivors benefits at the time of his or her death.

Newly-covered groups are lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists. Other recent legislation provides for the extension of social security on a permanent contributory basis after 1956 to members of the armed services on active duty.

In the next article we shall discuss the newly-covered professional groups and explain the steps they must take to have their earnings correctly reported for social security credit under the amended law.

RED FEATHER CAPTAINS PLAN PARTY

A gala party is being planned for Red Feather captains on Monday, October 15, at 6:30 p. m. at the Masonic Hall. This get-together will climax the committee's activities in anticipation of the residential solicitation to begin the following day.

Although the final program is not complete, the sequence of events already scheduled is as follows. Buffet supper will be served starting at 6:45. Music will be provided by high school students. The talented and well-known girls octet will sing and a newly-organized six-man combo made up of stellar musicians, several experienced in last year's high school vaudeville show, will beat out three selections. Speeches will be short and snappy from Bert Dube, community chairman, and Leonard Tims, North Metropolitan chairman, after which the kits for residential solicitation will be distributed by Tom Raphael and Fred Rozelle. Mastering all the ceremonies will be Leonard Mead, public relations chairman for the Winchester campaign.

C'mon, Captains, it looks like a great night! Yo may even win a door prize! Sign up and join the fun next Monday.

L. W. V. NOTES

An enthusiastic group of over 50 women listened to Professor Milton Saks, of the department of politics at Brandeis University, as he spoke to the League of Women Voters October 3, on the federal loyalty-security programs. Mrs. James Baker graciously opened her lovely home at 6 Grove street for the afternoon meeting. After a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Neil Borden, the League president, the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Robert Joslin, Civil Liberties chairman.

Professor Saks gave a brief history of federal loyalty-security programs which actually date from George Washington's informal screening of Tory sympathizers in the early years of the republic. This problem has always been with us because Americans have two basic beliefs which must live side by side but which frequently, especially in times of war or war's aftermath, seem to come into conflict. One is our belief in individual rights and the other is our belief in the rights of the group—specifically the need for loyalty to our form of government. It is very difficult to maintain a just balance between these two concepts, consequently an entirely satisfactory federal loyalty-security program has not been devised. Professor Saks stressed the fact that it is a very difficult problem with many cogent arguments on both sides and we must not expect to find an easy answer. However we must not underestimate the Communist menace and a loyalty-security program is essential.

He also feels that both parties must share the blame and/or praise for the loyalty system which has developed since the rise of recent totalitarianism. He believes that current recommendations by the American Bar Association and others would improve the present loyalty-security program, and that with some pressure from public opinion these recommendations have a good chance of being accepted.

As the meeting ended the League members and guests were served delicious cider and doughnuts by Mrs. K. W. Donnell and her hospitality committee.

The League will take up another timely topic at the first unit meetings of the year which will be held next week. Were you one of the 37 millon who watched the National Conventions? Did you identify yourself with either party or feel like starting a new one? Then you will be eager to discuss "The Special Role of Political Parties in the U. S." at one of the four unit meetings. Units are small friendly groups organized for informal discussion. They are held at different times and places so everyone can find a convenient one to attend, and the same subject is discussed at each unit. Nationally, units are becoming more and more important in the League and all members should try to attend. New members and guests are always welcome. Just phone the hostess. Hostesses and leaders are as follows: Unit No. 1, October 17, 7:45 p. m. hostess, Mrs. Robert Joslin, 6 Crescent road; leader, Mrs. William Spaulding. Unit No 2, October 18, 9:30 a. m. hostess, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, 228 Highland avenue; leader, Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley. Unit No. 3, October 18, 7:45 p. m. hostess, Mrs. William Baird, 28 Oneida road; leader, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich. Unit No 4, October 19, 9:30 a. m. hostess, Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, 8 Ravenscroft road; leader, Mrs. Howard Aiken.

MATIGNON GUILD

A reception and tea for members opened the Matignon Guild season on Thursday, October 11.

Mrs. James W. McGinn of Arlington, president of the organization welcomed members, old and new and presented the officers and board of directors.

Also greeting the gathering were the Reverend Henry Ouellette, spiritual director of the school, and Sister Superior M. Edwardette.

Co-chairmen of the day, Mrs. Patrick J. Herlihey, first vice-president and Mrs. Frank Corcoran, second vice president, were assisted by a large committee. Serving on this committee were Mrs. Daniel Fortiere, 113 Mount Vernon street, and Mrs. Henry Valcour of 56 Yale street, Winchester.

Proceeds will go to the Exchange Club's Child Welfare Fund.

WINCHESTER TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

Miss Evelyn Forsythe and Miss Hilda Hope participated in the dessert meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club held at the Old Mill in Arlington on Tuesday, October ninth. Miss Forsythe directed the impromptu speeches as well as providing the topics for them and Miss Hope evaluated all speeches. The presentation of prepared speeches by Mrs. Mae Buck and Mrs. Ina Ferguson of Medford and Miss Edna Brownell of Belmont was followed by parliamentary drill conducted by Mrs. Beatrice Elliot of Medford. Mrs. Fred Pompeo of Medford made general evaluations and Toastmistress was Mrs. Beulah Thompson.

At the Winchester Star you can buy, dictionaries, slide rules, pocket adding machines, brief cases, zipper notebooks. 3 Church street.

MT. HOLYOKE OPEN HOUSE TOUR

Among the homes to be open for the Mt. Holyoke 1956 Tour of Homes, on October 18, for the benefit of its Scholarship Fund, is that of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Moody on Arlington street. Mrs. Moody worked closely with Jerome Bailey Foster in planning this delightful and convenient rambling Cape Cod.

The step-down living room has one mirrored wall. The kitchen is but a step from the dining room, porch, and the den with its picture window overlooking trees and rolling lawn. Although it seems like a small home, there are four bedrooms, one on the first floor. The recreation room in the basement is charming, with its raised fireplace, sleigh seats, and comfortable cushions around the posts.

Mr. Gunnar Brink of Samoset road planned for two years before building (mostly by himself) his home that certainly requires the minimum housekeeping. There are no stairs, no molding to collect dust, no rugs, no unused space. The children's playroom features built-in desk space, cabinets, one blackboard (or rather, greenboard) wall.

The living room has one complete wall of glass, slanted to avoid reflection, which means that the changing seasons provide the interior decoration. From the kitchen, Mrs. Brink can see who is at the front or back door, to the children's room and outdoors. The bedrooms have built-in furniture. Electrical appliances are near the "mud lavatory" to be used as counter space for the children and tradesmen.

Even outdoors, the children are considered, for an extra lot next to the house is for their tree houses, swings, sand pit, etc. Mr. Brink says he had trouble convincing the carpenters he did hire to make things the way he had planned them, instead of the "way they had always been done."

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Winchesterites, wherever they may be, have a warm place in their hearts for the old home town. Many have told us verbally, and in letters to the editor, of the thrill they have felt in meeting some one from Winchester when they have been far afield, and the latest to enjoy this heart-warming experience were two former Winchester girls whom the Star brought together in Vermont.

Not too long ago, Ora Wingate, for many years a resident of Stratford road, moved to Pittsford, Vt. The Star reported her leaving town and her new address in Vermont, with the result that soon after her arrival in Pittsford, Ora recieved a welcoming letter from an old-time friend and former classmate at high school, Lillian Knapp Fowler, who lived during her school girl days on Chestnut street.

Lillian is now Librarian in Rutland, Vt., and makes her home only seven miles from her old schoolmate. The two lost little time in getting together for a visit and most enjoyable chat over old times in Winchester.

It has been said that the world is a small place after all, and every once in a while we hear of a happenstance that would seem to bear out this contention. 'Rah for '13, Ora and "Billie"!

LECTURING IN PHILADELPHIA

Dr. William L. Wilson of 8 Oneida road is in Philadelphia giving a series of lectures on Orthodontics at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Wilson is a visiting lecturer at Tufts University Dental School and at Forsyth Postgraduate Dept. Before coming to Winchester he was associated with the Isham Infirmary at Phillips Andover Academy and for several years instructor of Orthodontics at Harvard University Dental School.

WORLD FEDERALISTS TO DISCUSS SUEZ

The Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists will welcome all who may like to be present at a report and discussion of the Suez Canal situation. This will be at the home of Mrs. George H. Reed, 8 Ridgefield road, Winchester at 7:30 p. m., Monday, October 15. Refreshments at the beginning of the evening.

One of the two most critical canals in the world, the seizure of Suez by the Egyptian Government is of very direct concern to all of us. What should be done? Can the United Nations act effectively to solve this problem that is so close to a crisis?

If the UN is powerless to insure a solution, what specific limited authority does it need to cope with something of this kind?

The problem with its dangers is on us. We can't always let George do it.

A report by a panel, composed of members and a guest, Mr. Dikran Hadidian, who have made a study of the risks, implications and possible solutions involved will serve as a background for the discussion. It is hoped that from this kind of thinking together can be worked out what type of action an individual can best take, such as informing his representatives in Washington of his ideas, and joining with others to develop thinking by more persons of what kind of a UN we need, as a preliminary to working toward it.

UN Day on October 24 merits real recognition and a Winchester UN Committee is already in action. But unless we assume the UN cannot be improved, it is important to think of what changes are necessary and worth thinking about.

NINETY AND NINE GAVE BLOOD

Ninety and nine people were lucky to have their blood in the needed perfect order last Monday to give that many pints at the Red Cross Bloodmobile in town then. Quite a number of other worthy citizens tried to swell this total with their pints of blood, but the doctors in charge advised them to abstain this time for numerous temporary reasons. Though disappointed at the moment, all expressed themselves as eager to try again when the Bloodmobile returns a few months hence.

Four local doctors volunteered to staff the Bloodmobile. Starting the day was Dr. William D. Barone, who was followed by Dr. Dominic Runci. He was relieved by Dr. Milton J. Quinn and the day was closed by Dr. Nelson Fontneau.

Attention at recent blood days has been drawn to first one company, then another, as employees of these organizations appear in numbers to give their blood. This time it was nine men from the New England Telephone Company, all from out of town, who made a surprise visit to the Bloodmobile.

Those who came to the Bloodmobile to give blood were:

WINCHESTER MORNINGS

Accompanying themselves on their guitars, Mary Craig McLane and Mr. Theodore Wood struck a light and homey note in their program of American and European folk songs at the Music Hall last Thursday. This was the second of the Wellesley Club's series of Winchester Mornings.

Mr. Wood opened the program with a mellow and clearly-sung Whaling Song, a condensed, musical "Moby Dick." There followed a robust "play party" song from the southern Appalachians. As Mr. Wood explained, these songs took the place of forbidden dancing. They dealt with subjects of love or drink, had a certain course quality which is their appeal.

In an equally pleasing but lighter voice, Miss McLane offered a more plaintive French folk tale of a father's loneliness for a son; then, a gay satire on the doubtful efficiency of the French government, a la Maurice Chevalier, called "Madame la Marquise." In contrast, was her beautifully sung religious chant, mediaeval in origin and character.

With a complete change of mood, Mr. Wood rollicked through the tragi-comic ballad, "Rocking the Cradle from Someone's Baby that Isn't Your Own;" the great Negro folk song, "John Henry;" and a hate-song, "When I Lay Down and Die, Do Die."

The loneliness in the songs of the American West was caught so well by Miss McLane in a cowboy's melancholy plaint to his cattle, and in a second ballad which ended on the soft, haunting note of a distant train whistle.

Miss McLane and Mr. Wood tried in vain to end their program with a very melodic and moving duet about a gambler's love for his lady. An appreciative audience demanded encores. It was rewarded with the original of "Autumn Leaves," sung in the characteristically melancholy style of the French by Miss McLane; and another catchy duet, "Any Time." Not until they had disposed of the popular "Bluetail Fly" were these artists able to tear themselves away.

Pouring at the Mornings coffee preceding the program were Mrs. Frederic Abbe and Mrs. Richard Jordan.

Police Chief and Mrs. Charles J. Harrold are leaving Saturday after the wedding of their daughter, Joan, to enjoy a vacation in St. Petersburg and Clearwater, Florida.

Winchester Boys Ordained Together

Don Armstrong, Jack Filler Enter Ministry At Congregational Church

At a service unique hereabouts, at least in recent years, two Winchester boys, neighbors and friends since childhood and both former presidents of the Forum, the young people's society of the First Congregational Church, will be ordained as Congregational Ministers at a double ordination in their boyhood church on Sunday afternoon, October 21, at 5 o'clock.

Don Armstrong and Jack Filler are the young men entering the ministry, and they lived as boys on Chestnut street. Today Jack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Filler live on Madison avenue West, and Don's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Armstrong, make their home on Mt. Pleasant street.

DONALD C. ARMSTRONG

Don and Jack went to Winchester High School, the former graduating in 1946, and the latter, a year later. Both played on the football team and both were active in the Forum at the First Congregational Church, each serving as president of this popular young people's society in his final year in school. Both credit the Forum with playing a prominent part in their selection of the ministry as their life work.

After high school Don entered Wesleyan, where he played freshman and varsity football and was president of the college Christian Association. From college he entered the army and during his three years with the Armed Forces saw service in Korea as a radio operator with the Army Security Service.

Following his discharge from the Army Don entered Yale Divinity School, from which he was graduated in June with the Bachelor of Divinity Degree. He went from Divinity School to the position of assistant at the Euclid Avenue Congregational Church in Cleveland, Ohio.

Meanwhile Jack Filler decided on Colgate University as his alma mater and he was graduated from the Hamilton, N. Y., institution in 1951. While an undergraduate he was president of the Colgate University Church, president of his class, president of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, editor of the college newspaper and a member of the football and baseball teams.

From 1951 to 1953 Jack was in the Army, serving as an infantry sergeant in Korea during that time.

From the service Jack entered Colgate Rochester Divinity School in Rochester, N. Y., but transferred to, and was graduated from, Union Theological Seminary in New York City in 1956. Following graduation he has been serving as interim pastor of the Congregational Church of the Nativity in Kenmore, N. Y.

Sunday will see the culmination of these young men's efforts to enter the ministry, and the beginning of their new life as ordained churchmen.

At the service of ordination Dr. Dwight L. Cart, minister of the First Congregational Church, will give the charge to the candidates, and the pastor emeritus, Dr. Howard J. Chidley, will make the statement of commendation.

Prof. Browne Barr, associate professor of Preaching in Parish Ministry at Yale Divinity School, will preach the sermon; and the ordination prayer will be offered by Dr. Kenneth R. Henley, minister of the Second Congregational Church in Greenfield.

Dr. John L. Lobingier, formerly secretary of Religious Education for the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, will make the invocation, and the scripture will be read by Rev. James N. McCutcheon, associate minister of the First Baptist Church of Wakefield.

Of especial interest is the fact that the right hand of fellowship will be extended the newly ordained ministers by a former Winchester boy, Rev. Stephen C. Greene, minister of the Second Congregational Church of Bennington, Vt., who, like the young clergymen, played football at Winchester High School and was active in the Forum.

Joining with the other clergy, Rev. Evelyn M. Scott, former director of Christian Education at the First Congregational Church, now a member of the Endicott Junior College faculty; and Rev. Wesley A. Mallery, associate minister of the First Congregational Church, will participate in the act of ordination. The vested choir of the church, under the direction of Organist and Choirmaster J. Albert Wilson, will sing.

The newly ordained ministers will close the service, Rev. Donald C. Armstrong offering the closing prayer and Rev. John E. Filler pronouncing the benediction.

Following the service an informal reception will be held in the Palmer and Tucker Rooms of the Church Parish House.

CIVIL DEFENSE IN ACTION AROUND MASSACHUSETTS

In August an 83 year old man was missing from his home in Sturbridge, Mass. Some members of the C. D. helped search the wooded section and after nearly eight hours with the use of battery powered loud speakers and two way radios found him.

A resident of Webster, Mass., called their local C. D. office to inform them that an object resembling a bomb had dropped from an Air Force plane near his home. The C. D. Director got in touch with Air Force Reserve Center personnel who together with him went to examine the bomb which after close investigation it was found to be a practice "tow bomb." And was returned to the proper authorities.

The University of Maine in conjuction with the Mass. C. D. have had one week courses in Strategic Briefing in C. D. that covered warning and communications, evacuation and shelter, special weapons defense, and the evacuation of mythical towns. Two men from Massachusetts attended.

On Wednesday, October 17, the first fall meeting of C. D. school evacuation committee met with C. D. staff to discuss their plans. The meeting was well attended and C. D. hopes for a successful year ahead.

MELROSE HERE SATURDAY

Melrose, conqueror of Concord, the team that beat Winchester in the season's opener, comes to Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon for a Middlesex League game with the Indians, commencing at 1:30.

Melrose tied Stoneham, 13-13, in its first game, lost to Belmont and Lexington by scores of 13-0, and beat Concord 20-19. Only the last performance is impressive.

Winchester will again be without big John Chapin, still nursing the knee injured in the Cambridge Latin game. Whether Chapin will play again is problematical, and his loss will definitely weaken the Indians, offensively and on defense.

THREE PERCENT DIVIDEND

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL DADS' CLUB

The George Washington School Dads' Club recently held its annual meeting and election of officers. Elected for the one year term were:

President: Ed Oles
Vice-President: Dick Cunningham
Secretary: Bill Sullivan
Treasurer: Dana Peterson
Directors: Ed Barker
Fred Latorrela
Andy Sinclair
Jack Shanahan
Leo Boodakian
Guy Santo
Howard Nichols
Bob Tesar
Dave Choate
Doc Capobianco

The main purpose of the Dads' Club is to assist in the extra-curricular activities for the pupils in the George Washington School. The following program of affairs, many now annual and awaited for by the children, was formulated.

Hallowe'en decorations for the classrooms and "Trick or Treat" bags for all the children will be given out by Guy Santo, Dick Cunningham, and Doc Capobianco.

A Square Dance party for the pupils of the 5th and 6th grades supervised by Mr. Muerling of the Junior High faculty and assisted by Howard Nichols, Ed Parker, and Ed Oles will be presented Friday night, October 26, from 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. A popular affair in town, it is a new addition to the activities sponsored by the Dads' Club. It is also unique in that the students themselves petitioned for the sponsorship without supervision. This gratifying appeal brought out with pride the aim of the organization and its acceptance by the pupils.

The annual Christmas Party will be conducted by Leo Boodakian, Bill Sullivan, Fred Latorella, and Jack Shanahan.

The popular "Father and Son Chowder Party" will be under the supervision of Jack Shanahan, Bob Tesar, Dick Cunningham, and Bill Sullivan. The field day, sponsored jointly with the Lincoln School and known as the "Jamboree" will be prepared jointly with the Lincoln School by Fred Latorella, Andy Sinclair, Guy Santo, and Dana Peterson.

The annual "Graduation Dinner and Dance" will be supervised by Ed Barker, Dick Cunningham, Howard Nichols, and Andy Sinclair.

One other activity, especially for the younger pupils, is under consideration by Dave Choate, Guy Santo, Leo Boodakian, and Doc Capobianco.

Besides these special functions the Dads' Club also sponsors Troop 9 Boy Scouts of America and a Cub Scouts Pack, and works closely with the Girl Scouts and Brownies.

The cost of these activities are borne out of dues of the members and special affairs for the parents, which provide the necessary income. The annual Hallowe'en Dance will be held Saturday night, October 27, from 8:30 - 12:00 p. m. at the school. Ned Marshall and the Orchestra will provide the music and costumes are optional. The traditional cider and doughnuts will be served. The tickets may be procured from any director of the club or from the committee for the dance: Dave Choate, Bob Tesar, Doc Capobianco, or Dana Peterson. All members of the Dads' Club are urged to attend this gala affair and to help support the ambitious program planned by the club for the children.

H. Stanley Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Mullen of 8 Park road, a third year student in the College of Engineering at Northeastern University, is a member of the cast of "You Can't Take It With You," the George Kaufman-Moss Hart Comedy being presented November 2 and 3, by the University's dramatic organization, the "Silver Masque."

PARKHURST SCHOOL TEA GRADE 4

A tea in honor of Mrs. Helen Mallion, fourth grade teacher at Parkhurst School, was held Thursday, October 11, in the home of Mrs. Paul D. Comins, 9 Roberts road. A large number of mothers of fourth grade children were able to attend, as was Mr. Albert Sutuia, principal of the Lewis Parkhurst School, and his assistant, Mrs. Withington.

Mrs. Mallion expressed her aims and philosophy in teaching in an informal talk. She is stressing certain fundamentals in instructing her pupils: good listening habits, independent thinking, knowledge of where to find information, and good work and study habits. Mrs. Mallion hopes to have each child do more than is actually required of him, and is desirous that school be a happy experience.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Comins and her capable committee. Mrs. John Sulmonetti and Mrs. Guy Petralia poured.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

At the annual business meeting last Friday evening, Everett D. Littlefield was elected Commodore of the Winchester Boat Club for the 1957 season. Mr. Littlefield is well qualified for the job, having served as Vice-commodore, Secretary and member of the Board of Directors for many years. Arthur Schmidt was chosen as Vice Commodore, James Newman, Secretary and Stanley Gardiner was re-elected Treasurer.

Directors for the coming year are: Robert W. Armstrong, Jr., T. Dawson Blamire, Sidney A. Burr, William C. Cusack, Raymond A. Dillon, George B. Field, Carl K. Freyer, Thomas Legere, Sr., Leonard C. Mead, Walter A. Redding, Bart V. Sullivan, Ralph M. Swanson, Joshua J. Vernaglia, John H. Ivers, H. Gordon Randall.

The business meeting followed an excellent chowder supper, after which James L. Jenks, gave an interesting and informative talk on the expeditions of Dr. Paul Dudley White to take the heart beats of whales. The lecture was profusely illustrated by breath taking slides.

Mr. Jenks, who accompanied Dr. White on these expeditions played a tremendously important role. As president of the Sanborn Company, manufacturers of electrocardiagraphs which measure heart beats, his was the task of recording the actual tests. In case any of you don't know Jim, he's a member of the Club and is the fellow who has so much fun sailing the Candy Stick, the big catamaran sail boat (twin hull) with the red-striped sail.

Retiring Commodore Robert Armstrong was presented a pen and pencil desk set from the Directors in recognition of a job well done, and several special awards were made.

Kenneth "Weenie" Pratt received the William Hall Trophy which is presented annually to "old-timers" who have contributed much to the club.

Peter Freyer was presented the Commodore's Cup as the most cooperative junior member of the club and Herby Alderson received the Shu-Shu-Gah trophy for "excellence in watermanship."

Miss Heidi Snow became the first champion of the newly formed Turnabout Sailing Fleet and was presented a beautiful trophy as were Bob Smith and Ted Shidler who finished second and third.

Disa and Dat'a

This Saturday morning is "bring in the docks" day. Please note—particularly motor boat skippers. The sailors put them in this spring and the power boys are scheduled to retrieve them. Anyone is welcome, tho!

At the annual Snipe Fleet Dinner, Tommy Legere was elected Captain of the fleet for 1957 with Jack Ivers appointed First Mate. This team should do a bang up job next year . . This winds things up until next year. See you in the spring.

McKINLEY IN FAR EAST

They shipped out of New York about September 1st, and went through the Panama Canal and loaded cargo at Los Angeles and San Francisco, California, before sailing for Yokohama, Japan, where they were due October 1st. Last reports are from Hong Kong, and other ports of call will be Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, through the Suez Canal to Port Said and Alexandria, and finally several ports in Italy before crossing the Atlantic along the sunny southern route to New York, arriving early in December.

C/M McKinley will have two more such assignments this year at the academy. Cadet-Midshipmen are thus assigned to merchant ships for practical experience in the operation of ships and the development of the technical skills required of an officer.

HARRIERS WIN PILGRIM DIVISIONAL TITLE

The Winchester cross country team completed their regular Pilgrim Division season last Wednesday with a solid win over Reading on the local course. This 16 to 47 win gave the Red and Black their third Divisional title in a row.

The largest field of runners to compete in a meet this season started the long trek through the Fells as 63 boys left the mark. The local runners, sensing the title for 1956, set a torrid pace on the first half of the race with Capt. Ken Brown leading at the check point by 100 yards. His teammates bunched behind him to indicate another victory was in the making.

With ideal running weather, Ken decided to give it that extra effort and pacing himself beautifully in the last half, he closed with a rush to set a new course record established only two weeks ago by Herb Osgood of Salem as he crossed the finish line in 16:20.

Bill Emerson, running the best race of his career, took second, only one second in front of Harry Ekstrom and Bill Saurman. Demenkov of Reading took fifth and Quent Roberts filled the last scoring position for Winchester in sixth.

The JV's continued their winning ways and kept their shutout streak intact as they swept the first 10 places to win 15 to 50. Charlie Clifton in ninth spot was the first JV scorer with Mike Callahan, Charlie O'Connor, Don Seaver and Bob Cooper completing the scoring.

Winchester Beats Stubborn Lexington, 14-7

Winchester High beat big stubborn Lexington, 14-7, in a Middlesex League football game last Saturday afternoon at Parker Field, Lexington. One of the largest crowds to see a Lexington home game in several years (they were still trying to get in the single entrance at the kickoff) saw Winchester cash in on two scoring opportunities and several times halt the Minuteboys when it looked like they surely would tally.

The game was close and hard-fought, with the issue in doubt up to the last few minutes of play. Lexington fielded one of the best teams Winchester has seen at this school in years, the Blue and Gold playing with plenty of fire and showing a good ground game.

Lexington received and with Schumacher, Dever, Skinner and Hogan alternating in carrying, rushed the ball from its 27 to the Winchester 19 where Kelleher recovered a fumble for the Indians.

Neither team could mount an offensive and had to kick, the Winchester line partially blocking Clements' boot, which went short and outside at midfield.

"Doug" Thomson reeled off 12 yards to the Lexington 38, and after two rushes had failed to gain, took a pass from Longworth to reach the 33. It was Winchester's ball, fourth and five, as the quarter ended.

Aided by some effective blocking, Captain Russo got off around end to drive along the sidelines, 24 yards to the Lexington nine. Once again Longworth called on Russo and this time "Big Moe" drove off his own right end for the touchdown. Russo also kicked the goal from placement with Longworth holding, and Winchester led, 7-0, with most of the second quarter to play.

Hogan ran the kickoff to his 36 and once again the Minuteboys started to grind out yardage outside and up the middle until another fumble, recovered by Winchester, stopped their drive at the Indians' 34.

Paonessa was dropped for a three-yard loss, but once again Russo on a fullback sweep got around the Lexington left flank, aided by a great block by Paonessa, and made a first down at the Winchester 48.

Thomson was tripped up for no gain, but a Longworth to Vin Murphy pass made first down at the Lexington 34 and Russo bulled his way through the line for seven.

With the ball on the 27, Cosimo Paonessa shot through a quick-opening hole in the Lexington line and was by the secondary in a flash to scoot all the way to pay dirt without a hand laid upon him. Russo and Longworth again collaborated for the point after.

Lexington had to punt after the ensuing kickoff and Winchester had to kick in turn. The ball went outside at the Lexington 45, and from that point in four plays the Minuteboys reached the Winchester three where Dever was hauled down from behind by Freddie Bartlett on a jaunt from the Winchester 35.

A costly fumble was recovered by Dever at the 10 and Hogan got back only four up the middle. With time running out Dever tried to sweep Winchester's left end, and Flaherty came up from the secondary to bring him down at the three just as the half ended.

The third quarter was not too far along when Lexington blocked a Russo kick and took over at the Winchester 48. Hogan and Skinner made it first down at Winchester's 35 before Lexington lost five for offside.

Hogan got the five back up the middle, and Dever picked up five more to the 30. Hogan was piled up for a loss but Winchester was offside on the play and the penalty gave the Minuteboys a key first down at Winchester's 25.

Schumacher and Dever reached the 15 and then Schumacher galloped around end to the Winchester two. Once the Winchester line stopped Hogan up the middle, but on second down the Lexington fullback slanted over for the touchdown and Wilkie kicked in the extra point.

Just before the third quarter ended Lexington blocked a Russo punt and took the ball at the Winchester 20. Skinner picked up five just before the teams changed goals for the final period.

With the Lexington scoring drive still fresh in mind the Winchester supporters were far from relaxed, but the Indians really put on a stout defense to stop the Minuteboys and take over the ball on downs at their seven.

Winchester moved the ball to the 20, and here Russo made amends for his two blocked kicks by getting off a tremendous spiral 60 yards in the air to the Lexington 20-yard line.

Dever picked up five, but a good gain by Schumacher was nullified by a 15-yard penalty for illegal use of hands, and Clements kicked to Flaherty at Lexington's 46.

Thomson rushed for six and Paonessa made first down at the 32. Thomson added eight and Russo drove and bulled to the Lexington 10.

Thomson was tripped up for a yard loss and on the next play Winchester fumbled with Lexington recovering at their 10.

A pass to an ineligible receiver halted the Minuteboys, who kicked to Longworth at the Winchester 30. Aided by an offside against Lexington Winchester drove to the Lexington 45 for a first down as the game ended.

Lexington made 14 first downs to 11 for Winchester with the Indians having the edge in yardage, 247 to 242. Winchester completed both its passes for 22 yards while Lexington completed three of six passes for 18 yards. Winchester lost five yards in penalties to 45 for Lexington, and fumbled twice, recovering once. Lexington recovered two of its four fumbles. The summary:

PROVINZANO HOLY NAME SPEAKER

The opening meeting of St. Mary's Holy Name Society for the 1956-1957 season took place Sunday, October 14. The society received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:45 mass, celebrated by the pastor, Father John M. Manion, who spoke on the sacrament of Holy Orders.

After mass the society gathered in the school hall where coffee and doughnuts were served, prepared by Frank Antonuccio and his committee. Excellent music was furnished by "Newt" Purrington on the accordion.

President Al Thorne, Jr., greeted the assembly and vice president John Fitzgerald, Jr., led the group in the recitation of the Holy Name pledge. President Thorne spoke on the sports night to be held soon honoring the society's softball team which won the town championship this past summer.

He also announced November 19, as the date of the annual Turkey Whist with proceeds to be denoted to the church. A bowling league within the society is planned and teams will be formed shortly. The officers were introduced and Kenneth Donaghey was placed in charge of the important youth committee.

Program Chairman, Herb Cleary, introduced the guest speaker, Frank Provinzano, one of Winchester's all time great athletes, ranking with Abe Winer, Henry Knowlton, Tommy Hannon, Bill West and Joe Bellino.

Frank, who is a teacher at Junior High School and a coach at Winchester High, and active in the towns sport program gave a very enlightening talk on the youth movement.

He pointed out the vast facilities available to the boys and girls in Winchester and showed that this supervised recreation has a great deal to do with the absence of juvenile delinquency in the town. A great talk by a fine gentleman! The meeting was closed by a prayer.

U. N. ESSAY CONTEST AT HIGH SCHOOL

In recognition of U. N. Week and with a desire to promote greater understanding of the U. N., the Winchester League of Women Voters is sponsoring a U. N. essay contest for juniors and seniors at Winchester High School.

Information about the contest will be given to the students next week, which is U. N. Week. Participation will be completely voluntary and the work will be done on the students' own time. The contest is open to all juniors and seniors.

The students will be asked to describe in 500-1000 words the work of one of the following agencies: UNESCO (United Nations Eductional, Scientific, and Cultural Organization), FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization), or WHO (World Health Organization). The deadline for turning in essays will be November 30. They will be judged on evidence of study and careful thought, originality and sincerity, and organization of material and clarity of presentation. The writers of the two best essays will each win a free one-day trip to U. N. headquarters in New York, under the sponsorship of the World Affairs Council in Boston. It is hoped that from this experience many students will come to have a greater appreciation of the constructive work of the specialized agencies of the U.N.

CAN WE MEET THE CHALLENGE!

The United Church Canvass Committee feels that this sixth year of its operation offers a real challenge. Winchester's recent growth in population and prospects for future growth present problems of overcrowded Sunday School rooms, shortage of teachers, and inadequate facilities for adult activities. This is a common problem of all our churches. Your church can't grow and meet these needs without your help—the help of every member from the youngest to the oldest. How can you share? Stewardship Sunday, or maybe you call it Loyalty or Every Member Sunday, falls this year on November 18. Won't you start making plans for it now? As you share, so will you benefit.

AIR FORCE ANNOUNCES NEW RE-ENLISTMENT REGULATIONS

Master Sgt. Al Raftopoulos, the local Air Force Recruiter, for the Medford-Winchester area announced to this paper today that the United States Air Force has adopted a new Re-enlistment regulation whereby former Air Force servicemen are offered choice of assignment and grade adjustments up to two years from date of discharge. The new assignment regulation does away with the date of return from an overseas area, and instead, the assignment is done by allowing the prior servicemen to select from a list of valid vacancies nation wide his choice of an Air Force Base.

This new assignment procedure should be of interest to any prior serviceman who desires to be assigned to a specific Air Force Base anywhere in the United States of America, and also allowances have been made for those prior servicemen who desire to re-enlist for a specific overseas assignment.

Sgt. Raftopoulos explained that the prior servicemen are in the drivers seat as concerns a choice of assignments, for example, if an individual wishes to be assigned overseas he may select one of four areas, which include, Europe, Far Eastern Air Forces, Alaska, or N.E.A.C., he is assigned directly to the command of his choice, there are no strings attached he is positively assigned to the area he desires.

Sgt. Raftopoulos requests any former servicemen who think that they may qualify under this new regulation to immediately call him at his office, MYstic 6-5109 or at his home, WInchester 6-1764.

"I don't think this would have happened on concrete!"

"It happened so fast, officer! I was taking it easy because I know this type of pavement is slippery when wet. I stepped on the brakes to slow down for the curve and my car suddenly went completely out of control. I skidded into the other lane of traffic and right into that other car. I don't think this would have happened if I had been on a concrete road."

You're right, Mr. Motorist. There's less chance of such an accident on concrete. Concrete pavement has greater skid resistance than other pavements. Your tires get a tight grip on its gritty surface. This means better vehicle control and quicker stops without skidding, even though it may be raining.

Remember, the type of pavement can often mean the difference between life and death. You're much safer when you drive on a skid-resistant concrete pavement.

Modern, properly constructed concrete highways in Massachusetts will save money as well as lives. More than 70 per cent of the 597 miles of concrete pavement built on Massachusetts state highways is over 20 years old. All but a few miles were constructed under old engineering standards. Taxpayers in many other states, including Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New York, and Pennsylvania, are enjoying the advantages of new, modern, safe, smooth, economical concrete pavement which can last for 50 years.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The regular weekly meeting of the Winchester Lions' Club was held on Monday, October 15, in Randall's. President Dick Rogers reported on the Signt Conservation Drive which is now being held throughout the state during the month of October.

The guest speaker for the evening was Chief Boatswain Mate U.S.N.R., Samuel Fernia of Belmont. After the supper Chief Fernia spoke about the Naval Reserve Training program and its advantages to the youth of today, who is of draft age.

After the meeting was concluded all the Lions went in a group to the Fargo Building in Boston, which is the U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center for this district, where Chief Fernia conducted us on a tour of the Fargo Building. After the interesting tour, all the Lions enthusiastically volunteered to enlighten any youth of draft age to the advantages of a Naval and Marine Reserve enlistment.

The third annual Tri-Service Clubs supper meeting, which is directed by the Winchester Lions' Club this year, will be held on Wednesday, October 24, at 6:30 p. m. in the Masonic Hall. As October 24, is U. N. Day, the Tri Club meeting will feature the observance of United Nations Day.

The Lions program committee has invited Mr. John Gebson, Executive Director of the World Affairs Council to be the guest speaker.

Mr. Gebson is well qualified to discuss U. N. activities, having served in the U. N. Secretariat and also taught at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. His impressive educational background includes: a B.A. degree from Oberlin College; an M.A. at Western Reserve; and an Ph.D. on International Affairs from Columbia.

Presently Mr. Gebson is on the faculty at Tufts and B. U. in addition to his work at the U. N. Council. This will be his second speaking engagement in Winchester, having been a guest at the spring meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters.

President Charlie Koch of the Rotary; President Jim Violante of the Kiwanis; President Dick Rogers of the Lions; Chairman of the Winchester U. N. Day Committee, Mr. Albert Fisher and Rev. Putney of the Church of the Epiphany will also be at the head table.

A varied program is on tap for the evening, which will include, Ted Boecker of the Lions, Aram Mouradian of the Rotary and Joe Papalardo of the Kiwanis as the song leaders.

LOCAL MERCHANT BOOSTS RED FEATHER DRIVE

As the 1957 Red Feather Drive begins its door-to-door solicitation, one of Winchester's well-known local merchants, Nick Andon of the Converse Market, announced that he will turn over to the Red Feather the entire profits made at his store on Thursday, October 18.

Such outstanding support of the local campaign has set the morale of the committee at its peak and renewed the confidence that Winchester will meet its quota. Mr. Andon has also offered attractive display space in his parking area to be used by one of the six agencies in town benefitting from Red Feather funds. Mr. Andon's generosity is in the true spirit of giving. The campaign committee offers public thanks to such a good citizen.

ENTHUSIASM MARKS PRECINCT PARTY

The Winchester 1957 Red Feather Campaign achieved a new climax of enthusiasm by holding a precinct captains' party at the Masonic Hall on Monday, October 15. This is the first time in recent memory that such a get-together has been held and it was the unanimous feling of the participants that this party provided real returns in welding the teamwork that will be required as solicitation begins.

The group of approximately 75 people began an enjoyable buffet dinner after grace was said by the Rev. Wesley Mallory of the First Congregational Church. Entertainment was provided during dessert by the Winchester High School Octette under the direction of Wendell Withington. In their first appearance of the season, this new group of girls upheld the traditionally fine reputation of the octette. Those performing were Dorothy Smith, Lorraine Amico, Cynthia Dunn, Barbara Browne, Helen Bolster, Catherine Tonon, Elizabeth Hottel, Carolyn Parks and Joyce Connell at the piano. Next to appear, also in a premiere performance, was a six-man combo under the direction of Chip Mead. The two numbers played by these high school musicians were so well received that a third was called for and the band seemed off to a good start in making a name for themselves this year. Playing with Chip on the sax were Phil Dreyer and his trombone, Tom Hooper and trumpet, Chip Swett and drums, Dan Dennett and piano and Al Ducharme with bass fiddle. These boys and the girls in the octette are to be congratulated and thanked for their willingness to participate for the benefit of the 1957 Red Feather Campaign.

The master of ceremonies, Leonard Mead, next introduced the members at the head table, who were Bert Dube, chairman of the Winchester drive; Harris S. Richardson, Jr., vice chairman; and Robert E. Williams, vice chairman for worker information. The division chairmen present were Frederick C. Rozelle, Jr., administration; Jean Mead, public relations; Ralph H. Bonnell, Jr., industry and finance; James J. Costello, public employees; and Tom Raphael, residential division chairman. The four members of the campaign committee were also in attendance, namely, Austin Broadhurst, Robert Lowry, Kim Archibald and Bob Millican. Interesting and informative talks were then presented. Bert Dube revealed that the Winchester quota for '57 is $57,800; he expressed heartfelt thanks for the assistance which the assembled people had already given him and stressed that the final success of all ecorts hinged upon the door bell-ringing solicitors. Leonard Tims, North Metropolitan chairman, brought greetings and stated his belief that Winchester would live up to its reputation of meeting these community obligations. Austin Broadhurst referred to the assistance that Red Feather money gives to the six local agencies. The main speaker, Murray Sholkin, a veteran U. C. S. worker, drove home the fundamental spirit behind all community giving with reminders of the personal rewards of working together and of the simple truth that giving shows caring.

The evening culminated in the presentation of Red Feather kits by Fred Rozelle and Tom Raphael. The captains had the opportunity to examine the contents of the envelopes and ask questions pertinent to the instructions of the workers in the door-to-door campaign. As was pointed out in a recent letter to the editor of the Star, these solicitors are truly public spirited citizens giving their time as well as their money for a cause they all believe in. The committee is confident that the people of Winchester will receive these citizens as they have in the past and send the current campaign over the top.

Well this is it! On Sunday the first train will run through Winchester on the overhead tracks, culminating more than fifty years of argument over the elimination of the old grade crossing and some three years of actually raising the rails through town. The construction is not yet completed and it will probably be the end of December before trains are running on both the main line and Woburn loop.

Reaction to the opening of the overhead is bound to be mixed. Those who favored raising the tracks and worked hard toward that end will naturally rejoice, while those who opposed the overhead, fighting it tooth and nail, will be less enthusiastic.

The Star's position is to give the new system a chance to prove itself. It may be recalled that the Star opposed the raising of the tracks, but the town voted for it, and Vox Populi, Vox Deii!

There can be no doubt that many who opposed the overhead have been won over to acceptance of it by the way in which the Maney Company has done the actual construction. No better salesmen for the scheme could have been employed, and it really doesn't look so badly, now does it!

Let us give the new order a chance. It may not prove 100 percent satisfactory, but then, what is?

DON'T LAMENT! COMPLIMENT!

Editor of the Star:

Instead of lamenting about the few uncooperative parents who refuse to help in youth activities, we should use the newspaper space complimenting the volunteers who are working with our young people today. I think we should at least give them a feeling that we sincerely appreciate what they are doing.

Some of the finest women I have ever met are those working with the Winchester Girl Scouts. Most of them are busy housewives who give precious hours every week to work with girls of all ages. Regardless of many handicaps they are and have been doing a splendid job. Year after year they come back to these jobs seemingly with little appreciation.

It is high time we give to these people and all other people working with the youth of Winchester the credit that is due them. Let's use some of that newspaper space to get to know these people and to help them and other willing parents to train themselves for the jobs they would be willing to do. Let's give the volunteer leadership job the prestige it merits.

SENIOR FORUM

"Where Do Your Morals Come From?" will be discussed by Rev. Theodore L. Clapp when he meets with the Senior Forum this Sunday, October 21, at 9:30 a. m. in Ripley Chapel.

Mr. Clapp, who is guidance director of the Newton High School, has found his special interest in working with young people. He served as Chaplain in the army, and was at one time minister to students at Old South Church in Boston.

Chaplain for this Sunday service will be Bill Emerson, assisted by Myron Kazanjian. The deacons will be Bruce Gunther and Steve Hood, and the ushers will be David Bentley and Phil Nichols.

Friday and Saturday of next week will find Forumites participating in the nation-wide Pilgrim Fellowship Work Day for Christ project. On either of these days they will be doing a variety of jobs such as yard work, car washing, baby sitting, house cleaning, and donate their earnings to Our Christian World Mission which serves many areas of human need at home and abroad. Chairmen of this project are Carol Swett and David Usher.

Once again Forum has the privilege of sponsoring the Thursday night performance of the Parish Players production, which will be one of the outstanding plays of the year, "The Solid Gold Cadillac." The proceeds from tickets sold for Thursday night, November 1, will go to Forum's Spring Conference Fund.

FIRE PREVENTION ASSEMBLY AT PARKHURST SCHOOL

National Fire Prevention Week was appropriately observed at the Parkhurst School last week when the pupils in Mrs. Margaret Donovan's Grade IV presented an assembly on the subject, "Fire Prevention in the Home and the Causes of Fire."

Sketches written by the children emphasized fire by spontaneous combustion, candles, outmoded electrical units and numerous other causes. The announcer was Pamela Pheeney; and the members of the cast were as follows: Kathleen McCusker, John Burrows, Wendy Newman, Diane Dube, Julia Anderson, Eileen Quinn, Barbara Benham, Barbara Morton, Vivien England, Pamela Pheeney, Elaine Irwin, Catherine Milkie, Warren Wilson, Donald Colwell, Bruce Erikson, Philip Young, Colin Gray, and Robert Wilson.

The timely and significant subject of Fire Prevention was well presented by the children, and their efforts were much appreciated by the large audience of parents and students of the other grades. In addition to the teaching of valuable lessons in fire prevention, the preparation of the assembly provided the pupils with valuable experience in the language arts, creative writing, and art. Several attractive fire prevention posters formed a background which illustrated the sketches written by the children.

Start off the morning with coffee as served by Mrs. Robert MacArthur and her committee. Then you can begin to wander. If you need help Mrs. Richard Bolster and Mrs. Charles Main, Jr., will be in the Church Office. First you better check in at the Clothes Exchange for good looking and inexpensive men's, women's, and children's clothing. Mrs. Herbert Black, Mrs. Henry Dellicker and Mrs. Darrell Root are in charge of this annual event.

Next you will want to rush to Mrs. Walter Keyes Food Table. Home baked food, plain and fancy, is always snapped up almost as soon as it is brought in. Then go along to the Candy Counter. Mrs. George Blair, Jr., and Mrs. Leonard Mead have been promised home made cream fudge, candied apples and so on "ad sweet toothum."

Now you come to the Flower Shop, always one of the prettiest and original displays around. Here you will find healthy plants and supplies for your own house and collection, plus the most appealing arrangements. For Christmas gifts and decor we proudly present the team of Olive Anderson, Elsa Osgood, Ann Darling, Marjorie Bradford, Lee Puffer, and Marjorie Hayden.

Your luncheon will be served now from 12 to 1 o'clock. The Misses Spalding are co-chairmen. An advanced notice sounds delectable. After lunch you could wander over to the Book Stall where Mrs. Kenneth Hall and Mrs. Gilbert Tapley will let you browse before you buy.

In her talk to the mothers, Mrs. Stanley stressed her interest in the total development of each child at his own level. She described the various skills taught in this grade. An interesting, general discussion followed.

Tea was served by Mrs. Birchall and her able committee. Mrs. Scott Parrott and Mrs. Richard Swanson poured.

M. S. P. C. A.

Winchester Branch Auxiliary held a well-attended and very interesting meeting Thursday, October 11, at the home of Mrs. Frederick Cardin of 8 Copley street. Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Mass. Societies, was our speaker.

He told us how the cages for sick animals that we have given are used and appreciated and of the ever-increasing cost of the continued work and maintenance of the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital and of the Rowley Memorial Hospital in Springfield. More money for the Endowment Fund is constantly needed to offset rising costs.

The humane slaughter bills will come before the next congress; and the untold horror that food animals undergo should be changed.

People interested can learn more about the new methods by writing to Mrs. MacFarlane, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston.

Mr. J. Robert Smith told us a little about the Humane Convention in Seattle in August.

Mrs. Cardin served a delicious tea after the meeting and we all enjoyed her hospitality.

Thanks are extended to all who have given cloth this fall for the Animal Hospital. It may be left anytime at the home of Mrs. Noyes, 3 Dix terrace, corner Dix street, or telephone WInchester 6-2226-M and it will be called for.

UNITED NATIONS WEEK

While October 24, is officially designated as United Nations Day, the actual observance usually spreads over at least a week, so the coming week may well be known as United Nations week. Winchester citizens will be made aware of this fact as they attend church on Sunday, and as they pass the store windows where U. N. Day posters are displayed. Filene's window will feature the United Nations flag collection of Whitney Smith, a Senior in the High School and an authority on the United Nations. The base for the flags has been the project of the High School Industrial Arts Department under the direction of Mr. William Branley. "The Dolls Around The World" display by the children of the Parkhurst School—written up in a recent Star article has been loaned for the window display where it will have a wider audience. A large U. N. flag also loaned by Whitney Smith, will be displayed along with the American flag as an appropriate symbol of the weeks observance. Renton's market will be gay with flags and streamers and will featured international foods of great variety. The House of Fashion will have fashions and accessories that feature the foreign influence. Mary Spaulding Book Shop has at all times books about foreign lands and peoples—books for all ages and interests that help in world knowledge and understanding. The Library will have an exhibit of U. N. materials, and has always available research material, phamplets, maps, books, magazines, for those who would learn more about their neighbors around the world.

The schools have been most cooperative. Since many Social Studies projects have a world wide application, Dr. Gilson appointed Mr. Meredith Cooper, head of the Social Studies Department at the High School to represent the schools on the U. N. Day committee. Mr. Cooper has been responsible for getting information to all the schools and has encouraged the grammar schools to use their own iniative in planning assembly programs such as the one the sixth grade at the Mystic school is planning for the top three grades there. The Junior High has had an Assembly program on UNICEF with the Danny Kaye movie and a talk by Mrs. Cusack, and a similar assembly is being planned for the Senior High in the near future. The League of Women Voters' has been represented on the Committee by Mrs. Edward Randall, and she has had the cooperation of the schools in sponsoring an Essay Contest, on the United Nations, with the two prize winners from the High School to receive an all paid expense trip to the United Nations building.

Mr. Arthur Hewis, Jr. Program chairman of the Lions' Club, and a member of the U. N. Day Committee has been responsible for arranging a special United Nations Day program for the tri-club meeting of the 3 Winchester Service Clubs—the Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions on the evening of United Nations Day, Wednesday, October 24.

The United World Federalists whose representative on the U. N. Day committee has been Mr. Robert Williams, have undertaken the sale of United Nations Cookbooks, greeting cards, and note paper. This group has consistently studied and discussed various phases of this great world government organization.

The American Legion, Post 97, has been represented by Mr. Clifford Lindberg, whose cooperation and that of the Legion has been evidenced in their willingness to purchase a United Nations flag to be presented to the town, and to be flown on the Common-along with the American flag—this coming week, and to be available for future United Nations observances.

The American Legion Auxiliary, represented by Mrs. John F. McCormack, made a very practical contribution on the financial side by sponsoring a cake sale at Rutherford's, the proceeds of which made it possible to purchase materials to be given to the schools to aid them in increasing their knowledge of the United Nations and its many subsidary organizations.

Several Winchester organizations sent representatives to the tea given at the home of Mrs. William C. Cusack, jointly sponsored by the Winchester School Department, and the U. N. Day Committee—at which the foreign educators visiting the Winchester schools were honored. Mrs. Cusack was assisted by Mrs. Albert L. Fisher, chairman of the U. N. Day committee, and by: Mrs. George Redding, representing the Selectmen of Winchester, Mrs. Harold Given of the Women's Council, Mrs. Edward Rendall of the Committee, and representing the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Robert G. Ingraham, Jr., President of the Central Mothers' Board, Mrs. F. William Schumaker, representing the High School parents association, Mrs. Robert Williams, President of the Junior High Associates, Mrs. Norman Noonan representing the Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. W. Langdon Powers, representing the Red Cross, and a member of the U. N. Day Committee, Mrs. Thomas Hill and Mrs. Herbert Ross of the Girl Scouts, and the following Presidents or representatives of Mothers' Associations: Mystic, Mrs. Davis; Parkhurst, Mrs. Brink; George Washington, Mrs. Hanson; Noonan, Mrs. Crowley; and Lincoln, Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Charles E. Potts of the International Relations Committee of the Fortnightly had hoped to have an International relations tea on U. N. day itself, but due to the schedule of the speaker has postponed it until the following Tuesday, October 30th. The speaker is to be Mr. David Post of the State Department who is now studying at Harvard and the Fletcher School in advance economic work, and who has been and is a United States Counsel who has filled posts in Haiti, Mexico, Paris and Naples, and is now assigned to the United States. He has been active in the Refugee Relief Program, and his experience in foreign service has lead to experiences which should make him a most interesting speaker.

If the interest generated by these many group activities leads to a year round interest in the United Nations the purposes of the committee will have been attained and its work justified.

LADIES IN RETIREMENT

The cast for "Ladies in Retirement," the fall production of the Unitarian Players, has started rehearsals, and present developments under the direction of Mr. Robert Haseltine, promise a rewarding evening for those attending the performance. The play, a melodrama with a weird twist, as well as delightful comic touches, brings back to the stage at Metcalf Hall old friends and new, as members of the cast.

Miss Adele Jonah, who delighted us as "Peg O' My Heart," and as the daughter in "My Three Angels," will play the young maid, while Mrs. Jane Renz will lend grace and charm to the role of Leonora Fiske, a retired lady with a colorful past. Mrs. Paulette Taggart, who so ably interpreted the part of Mary in the spring play, "Family Portrait," is cast as the guilt-ridden companion-housekeeper whose concern for her two mixed-up sisters leads her into a precarious situation. The sisters will be played by Miss Suzanne Reed, who played the long-suffering wife in "My Three Angels" so well, and Mrs. Elizabeth Shepard.

Paulette's difficulties are further complicated by the presence of a shady, scrounging nephew, played by David Holsworth. Sharp contrast is provided with these worldly (and out-of-this world) people, in the person of Sister Theresa, played by Mrs. Marion Black, who gave such a fine performance as Hepzibah in "Family Portrait."

Production chairman is Mrs. Olive F. Anderson, and she has gathered about her a team of fine enthusiastic assistants. Under her capable guidance, matters connected with the production are now rolling along smoothly.

Tickets for the November 16 and 17 performances are available from Mrs. Charlotte Hill, whose phone number is WInchester 6-1585-M. Early reservations will insure good seats and prevent disappointment.

MISS GRANT, MR. LAVERTY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Grant of Arlington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia A. Grant, to Robert Ernest Laverty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laverty of Orient street.

Miss Grant is a graduate of Burdett College. Mr. Laverty also graduated from Burdett and served with the Navy for four years.

SIRCOM PROMOTED

Winchester patrons will learn with mixed feelings that John Sircom of Wilson street, for the past four years manager of Filene's Winchester store, has been promoted to manager of Filene's in Wellesley. Mr. Sircom's many friends will regret his leaving the Winchester store while being glad of his fine promotion.

Mr. Sircom was given a surprise farewell party Tuesday evening at Hayes Billerica by 85 friends and co-workers. Miss Rachael Armstrong, a Winchester girl and the new local manager, was among the guests.

Joseph Derby acted as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Marcia Bond, on behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Sircom with a gold watch. Corsages were presented Mrs. Sircom and Miss Armstrong. Mr. Derby and Madeline Hickey entertained.

WYMAN TEACHERS' LUNCHEON

The Wyman School teachers, Miss Lowry and Dr. and Mrs. Gilson were guests of the school board at a very delicious luncheon Tuesday noon at the home of Mrs. Leslie Herzog. That was one day the teachers were almost late for school.

Wyman School Fall Meeting

On Tuesday evening, October 23, at 7:30 p. m. parents of the Wyman school are urged to come and watch Miss Marian Phipps give a "Reading Demonstration, Showing Group Techniques." Children in the sixth grade will participate.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of the First Congregational Church will open the fall season with a catered dinner in Chidley Hall on Tuesday evening, October 23. According to Dinner Reservation chairman Joseph Hall, this looks like one of the best attended meetings for some time past. The new president, Mr. Bradford M. Bentley will welcome old and new members and will preside at the short business meeting which will follow the dinner. Mr. Frederick C. Rozelle, Jr., will outline the program for the club during the coming year.

D. N. A. PART OF UNITED COMMUNITY SERVICES

(Fifth in a series of articles on Red Feather benefits to Winchester)

Among the six local agencies and institutions to benefit from the Red Feather Campaign, which begins this Sunday, will be the Winchester District Nursing Association.

The Association maintains a staff of four full time nurses, a part-time nurse, and a part-time secretary. It provides bedside care in homes, instruction in caring for new babies and the sick, as well as a great variety of services for preventing illness, both physical and emotional.

The nurses are available to any family in Winchester, regardless of economic status, but care is given only under the orders of a physician. Visiting fees are kept at cost, but about half the patients treated are on a part-pay basis. Approximately one-quarter of the Association's budget is met by the United Community Services.

Local charitable groups help to furnish equipment and a citizens' board contributes many volunteer hours, providing transportation and preparing sterile supplies. However, without the Red Feather campaign the district nurses could not continue so efficiently to furnish home care and instruction where it is most needed.

"SOLID GOLD CADILLAC" NOVEMBER 1, 2 AND 3

When the "Solid Gold Cadillac" glides into Winchester Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 1, 2 and 3, it will stop at Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church—with the Parish Players as passengers! This fantastic visit simply means that on those evenings at 8:30, the Players will be providing their audiences with the most hilarious laugh riot-comedy of the season. (At the same time, after you have seen this show, you'll be more careful in how you buy stocks, and how you vote by proxy!)

The Thursday tickets will benefit the Forum for their Spring Conference, and there are excellent seats still available (reservations only) for the three performances. Mrs. George H. Gowdy, WInchester 6-2728 is in charge of ticket reservations for the three nights.

Harlan F. Grant of the Drama Department, Boston Conservatory, is the driver of the "Cadillac," with Janet Dalrymple as his star lady passenger, and with these able "back seat drivers," Bill Early, Bob Erickson, Henry Fitts, Alfred Pywell, Charles Kakasatkis, Doris Carlson, Mary Whitsell, and others. More about the cast next week!

Miss Margaret Hodgson is chairman of production, with the following crew: stage, Robert Millican; setting, Dorothy Osborne and Frances Peirce; properties, Joanne Eklund and Marjory McGaw; costumes, Marie Millican; prompter, Carolyn Gilpatrick; lights, Edwin Eccles; publicity, Harriett Connor; make up, Florence Grant.

TO VISIT CATHEDRAL IN THE PINES

Both the Intermediate and Senior Fellowship groups of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will leave this Sunday at 2:00 p. m. for the Cathedral in the Pines, where they will have their worship service together. The committee in charge of arrangements include Rev. Charles Johnson, the Assistant Minister, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Malley and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Needham, counsellors.

The Senior Fellowship is in the process of setting up a series of meetings on studies of the problem of alcoholism which will run for three weeks in November.

These meetings will be open to the public including adults as well as young people. Guest speakers will include Rev. Willis P. Miller, representing the Bay State Committee on Alcoholism and Chaplain Robert Burt, who is at present chaplain at Walpole Reformatory.

Movies presenting the scientific approach to the problem of alcoholism plus other films with pertinent information will be shown.

Since our doctors and psychiatrists consider the alcoholism problem in our country today superceded only by cancer, the series ought to be of great interest both to the young and old alike.

Details of the program will be announced shortly.

WITH MY BEST WISHES

Col. Nathan Thumim presents retired championship trophy to "Art" Johns, Little League president, at annual Little League banquet. Also in picture, Red Sox star, Jim Piersall, and Rev. Edmund Parker of St. Mary's Church.

Little League Banquet Held

Piersall Speaker At Town Hall

The Winchester Little League held its fifth annual banquet last Saturday evening with a large gathering of players, their parents, league officials and invited guests turning out for this colorful event.

Seated at the head table with Toastmaster Phil O'Rourke and his brother, Teddie, who headed the banquet committee as chairman, were three representatives of big league baseball, Jim Piersall, star centerfielder of the Boston Red Sox, who was the principal speaker; Len Merullo, former big league shortstop, now a scout for the Chicago Cubs; and Jack Onslow, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, now a scout for the Red Sox.

Also at the head table were Rev. Edmund Parker of St. Mary's Church, who made the invocation; Bob Quine, exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks; Ken Cullen, representing the Kiwanis; "Art" Johns, retiring president of Little League and manager of Winchester's Little League All Stars at the Williamsport World Series; and George Redding, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Other head table guests were Mrs. A. E. Hutchins, president of the Little League Women's Auxiliary; Col. Nathan Thumim, donor of the Little League championship trophy; John Eaton, commissioner of the Farm League; "Fran" Rosa of the Boston Globe; "Bob" Vary of the Woburn Times, official scorer for the Little League World Series; "Jim" Penaligan of the Winchester Star; and Team Sponsors, Fred McCormack of McCormack's Apothecary and Bob Sheehan of Hevey's Pharmacy.

The head table and other tables were decorated with flowers, donated by Forester's Flower Shop, from which also came the attractive orchid worn by Mrs. Hutchins. Norman Stafford of Ridgefield road, proprietor of Stafford Caterers, of Somerville, put on the toothsome turkey dinner.

With that deft O'Rourke touch, the toastmaster called first on Jack Onslow, who spiced his remarks with humor and told several baseball stories that were most amusing. He paid tribute to the people of Winchester whose generosity and interest are making it possible for Little Leaguers to participate in a program that will prove beneficial throughout their lifetimes.

Of especial interest was Mr. Onslow's account of his signing of Winchester's Southpaw Artie Johnson for the old Braves and his appraisal of Johnson as one of the best young pitchers he had seen before an arm injury ended his big league career.

John Eaton told something of the Farm League's activity this past season, and introduced the league champions, the Lions. In bringing the town's greeting to the Little Leaguers Mr. Redding said that the town had been proud of Winchester's record at Williamsport, but even prouder of the way the boys had conducted themselves there.

At this point two new sponsors for teams for next year were introduced, Al Korn of Winchester Appliance and Jim Fitzgerald of the J. J. Fitzgerald Contracting Company.

Next introduced was Mrs. Hutchins, who expressed the thanks and appreciation of the Little League ladies to all those who had aided them in their work during the season. She got a laugh when she closed with especial thanks to the Little League for making it possible for her to "shake hands with Jimmy Piersall."

Jackets to Graduates

Next came the introduction of the four Little League teams, the Red Sox, Yankees, Braves and champion Dodgers, winners of both halves of the league competition. Jackets were presented Little Leaguers reaching the age of 12 and no longer eligible for participation in the system.

Included were Rodney Gay, Thomas Mooney, Paul Mulloy, William Ring and Thomas Treacy (Braves); Richard Bond, John Brenner, John Casalinuovo, John Lane and John Peckham (Dodgers); James Callahan, Richard Franson, Robert Hanley, James Moran and George Neville (Red Sox); and Mike Bellino, Thomas Callahan, Robert Colclough, James Flaherty, John O'Callaghan and William D'Ercole (Yankees).

Mr. Merullo established an especial contact with his audience when he stated that his son, "Butch," had played for East Boston against Winchester in a regional Little League game two years ago.

Mr. Merullo told of the physical assets a scout looks for in a big league candidate and also told of the importance attached to the character and disposition of major league prospects. He said that Little League was primarily to build character not big leaguers and there is no finer way in which to build character than in athletic programs like Little League.

Wilbur Connors then introduced the Little League umpires, all of whom are ex-leaguers. They included Dave Harkins, Bobby Gray, Doug Martel, Peter Branch, Jackie Gibbons, Steve Fisher, Jim McElholm, Billy Smith, Joel Peckham, Richie O'Brien, Dan Serieka, Larry Bairstow, Art Stavaridis and Mike Gray. Each was presented with a tie set.

President Art Johns was warmly applauded when he rose to speak, and his announcement that next year there would be two major Little Leagues in Winchester was also loudly cheered. The original league will be the National League next season with the new circuit being the American League. The new Little League officers, headed by Warren Hichborn as president, were called upon to stand and take bows.

Also of interest was the announcement that Little League is to have an additional field next season to be located on the West Side playground. Mr. Johns told his listeners that Winchester will always have good Little League teams here because of the type of boy involved, the coaches and the unusual interest of the parents of Little Leaguers.

Col. Thumim was introduced as the donor of the Little League Championship Trophy and got a laugh when he said he did not believe when he gave the trophy that any team would win the thing three times in a row, at least for a long time. However, he was wrong and as the Dodgers are retiring his original trophy this year he had been obliged to buy a new one for further competition.

The old trophy was presented permanently to the Dodgers and given for custody to Ken Cullen of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club. Col. Thumim then presented the handsome new trophy to Art Johns to put up for competition next season.

Piersall Gets Ovation

Piersall got a real ovation when he finally rose to speak, and he quickly established himself in popular favor by asking everyone to rise for a "seventh inning stretch."

First contrasting the baseball equipment he had as a boy with what the present youngsters have, he told the listening Little Leaguers they were fortunate to live and play in a town like Winchester where such adult interest is taken in their well being.

He told his eager listeners that "you have to love baseball to succeed in it" and his advice to prospective big leaguers was to "practice, practice, practice, and listen, listen, listen," to their coaches and to anyone who wants to help them improve their game.

Piersall stressed the fact that everyone cannot be a big leaguer, but everyone can improve his game, and with practice play the best game of which he is capable. He also told of the importance of good grades as an aid to going to college and getting a chance for an athletic career as well as an education to fit the young athlete for life.

"Do your best in sports, school and life," said Jimmy, "go as far as you want to go. If you make a mistake, profit by it, and bear down all the harder. Finally," he said, "don't ever be ashamed to thank God for your good fortune!"

After the Piersall address the Little League All Stars in their World Series uniforms were paraded on the stage with their coach and manager, Gordon Peckham and Art Johns, and their agent, Ken Hall.

While on stage Richie Casalinuovo presented a traveling bag to Ken Hall from the Little Leaguers, with Rod Gay presenting another bag to Coach Gordon Peckham, and George Neville presenting Art Johns with a set of matched irons.

League Vice President Dan Chane presented the leauge gifts to Art Johns and Gordon Peckham, but what the neatly-wrapped packages contained was not divulged.

The benediction was pronounced by Father Parker after brief remarks that were most apropos.

If you don't already have your tickets call your favorite steering committee member and he will be right up with all you need. Come with your friends and share in the dancing, prizes and refreshments. This is also an excellent time to meet and welcome the new members of our group. So come early and have a good time. We'll be looking forward to seeing you all, Saturday evening, October 27, at the school auditorium.

WYMAN SIXTH GRADERS VISITED SCIENCE MUSEUM

The pupils in Mrs. Dorothy Hammond's sixth grade enjoyed a visit to the Boston Museum of Science on the morning of October 5. A special program of unusual interest had been planned for the youngsters by members of the Museum staff.

Among the exhibits studied by the pupils were the following: a life-size diorama of beavers at work in Southern Vermont, with a peephole exhibit showing the interior of the beaver house; a panel of thirty clear dinosaur tracks; and a weather exhibit. Also attracting much attention was the exhibit of the Transparent Lady. Scales that give one's weight on the moon also proved interesting to the future space-cadets in the class.

Following a demonstration of "Spooky the Owl," one of the Museum's most popular pets, a question period was held. Then came an interesting demonstration of sound, its many properties and uses. A guide explained how sound travels from one television station or tower to another and how sound waves may be stopped.

At the conclusion of the program, the class returned to Winchester by bus.

WALTER H. STEWART

Walter H. Stewart of 29 Grove street, retired East Boston business man, died Monday afternoon, October 22, at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford. He had been in the hospital for two weeks but had not been well following a heart attack last March.

Mr. Stewart was the son of Henry and Zara (Taylor) Stewart. He was born May 20, 1884, in South Boston, but went as a boy to Chelsea and attended school there. Later he lived for a short time in Somerville before coming to West Medford where he made his home for 36 years, being active in the West Medford Congregational Church as a deacon and church officer.

For 53 years until his retirement in January Mr. Stewart was associated with the Boston & Lockport Block Company of East Boston, being sales manager of the firm when he retired. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of Sagamore Lodge, A.F. & A.M., of Medford, and of Aleppo Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine.

On April 9, 1913, Mr. Stewart married Gladys Weissbach of Somerville, who survives, with a daughter, Muriel G. Stewart of Winchester; a son, Richard W. Stewart of Westwood; two granddaughters, Merilyn and Gail Stewart; a sister, Mrs. Guy E. Taylor of Fort Fairfield, Me.; and a brother, Sidney M. Stewart of Medford.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the West Medford Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Gordon Washburn, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

WALTZ EVENING WINNERS

One of the most successful Waltz Evenings ever held took place last Friday evening in the Town Hall which was transformed into a delightful bevy of rose gardens and trellises. According to Mr. Russell Curry, the Annual Judge of this popular event, waltzing in Winchester improves each year and the enthusiasm of the many couples participating in the contest proves the reputation it has established. Assisting Mr. Curry in the judging was Mrs. Curry and Mrs. Erwin W. Renz who also joined him in giving a skillful dance exhibition which was a delight to see. Herbie Sulkin's orchestra, which played for the dance, proved to be one of the most popular bands ever to play in Winchester and the comments on the music have been excellent and profuse.

Mr. Gilbert Hood, President of the Board of the Winchester Hospital, drew the lucky number for the door prize which was won by Mr. James B. Lane. First prize in the Waltz Contest went to Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Mingolelli; second prize winners were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Knox while Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tatarian took third prize honors. Flower and cigarette girls this year were the Misses Rebecca Cotton, Ann Luitwieler, Gretchen Mueller, Helen Bolster, Betsy Bolster, Carol Fisher, Linda Harris and Charlotte Clark. The Sterling Silver Rose corsages they had for sale proved to be most popular and effective, being one of the sweetest roses ever raised and the closest thing to the coveted blue rose so long sought after by hybridizers.

As usual, many Winchester merchants came forth once again with very wonderful donations to help make this Ways and Means project of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital such a success. The heartfelt thanks of the committee go to Forrester's Flower Shop, Mary Spaulding's Bookshop, McCormack's Apothecary and Converse Market.

Due to a regrettable circumstance, although at no one's fault, last week's article about the Silver Rose Ball, while submitted to the paper, failed to be printed. The Committee would like to take this opportunity to mention the names of the hosts and hostesses that would have appeared in last week's issue of the Star. Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ober Pride, Dr. and Mrs. Donald W. Horley, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Raffi, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hertig, Miss Laura Rogers, and Dr. and Mrs. James McDonough.

Next year's chairman for the Annual Waltz Evening will be Mrs. Richard T. Preston and the date has already been set at October 18, 1957, so we may be assured of again having a most enjoyable evening.

All persons who wish to share in this tribute are cordially invited to the high school library at this time.

FIRST PASSENGER TRAIN ON OVERHEAD

B. & M. Diesel breaks ribbon at Winchester Station last Sunday.

Trains Over Winchester

Exercises Mark Passing Of First Train On Overhead

The first trains to go through town on the new overhead tracks, a morning freight and an early afternoon combination passenger and milk train, pulled slowly up the grade to Winchester Station last Sunday with many turning out to watch both as they passed. Many had seen work train units moving on the overhead between the center and Winchester Station, but the first actual trains to use the elevated tracks were those of last Sunday.

By far the larger turnout was that watching the early afternoon train, which had been advertised as the first to use the overhead. Selectmen and past Selectmen, Planning Board members, State and railroad officials and representatives of the contracting firms involved in the construction boarded the passenger train at West Medford to ride over the new overhead to Winchester, arriving at 1:12. Many made the trip to West Medford in a bus which left the rear of the town hall in time to meet the train at West Medford.

A special car had been promised the official party, but this did not materialize. The last car on the train, however, was only sparsely filled, and although all of the guests were unable to get seats, the whole group was accommodated. Many of those in the official party crowded the platforms or stood in the aisle of the car, the better to follow the progress of the train toward town.

A number of persons were gathered at the spot below Wedgemere south of the old Bacon Felt Mill where the tracks start their upward swing. At Grove place others were gathered and at Wedgemere on both sides of the tracks larger groups were waving to the train as it moved up the grade toward Winchester.

At the little bridge across the river half way between Wedgemere and Winchester residents of the Mystic avenue and Cutting street neighborhood had gathered, and from there along the river to the station people were standing, or walking toward the station.

Waterfield road and the adjacent parking lot were filled with onlookers, waving to the party of local officials and guests as they left the train. As the big Diesel, No. 4224, moved into the station it broke a blue ribbon stretched across the tracks as a symbol of opening the overhead to passenger traffic.

As the train moved off toward the Highlands the local party was escorted by regular and auxiliary police across the tracks so that their trip down to the Common could be along the ramp on the Common street side. Many at that time got their first glimpse of the crowd awaiting them on the Common, and were surprised at the size of the gathering.

In the group of former Selectmen moving down the ramp were Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., chairman of the Board of Selectmen when the State Department of Public Works gave positive priority to the elimination of the grade crossing in town, and Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., chairman of the Board when the town voted 151 to 1 to appropriate money for the elimination, a vote later confirmed by referendum.

MRS. IDA WHITE GRAY

Mrs. Ida (White) Gray, a domestic living on Burt road in Wilmington, died suddenly Monday morning October 22, in Winchester, not long after she arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hennessey, 37 Cabot street, where she was to work during the day.

She complained of feeling ill upon arrival at the Hennessey home and Dr. Harry L. Benson was summoned. Mrs. Gray was unconscious when the physician arrived and all efforts to revive her failed. Her death was attributed to a heart condition, for which she had been under medical treatment.

Mrs. Gray was 75 years old and a native of Nova Scotia, the daughter of James, and Idella (Cook) White. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. E. M. Towse of Woburn and Mrs. Evelyn Jordan of New Haven, Conn., also seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Graham Funeral Home in Woburn on Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. H. John Murchie, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Woburn, officiating. Burial was in Whitneyville Cemetery, Hamden, Conn.

Mr. Kempton was the son of Frank W., and Hattie (Packard) Kempton. He was born May 22, 1882, in Sharon, and came to Winchester at the age of 19, going to work for the late George W. Pratt, plumber, and attending evening trade school in Boston. In 1908 he entered the employ of the late George T. Davidson, plumber, with whom he continued until his retirement in 1949.

Mr. Kempton was one of the first call firemen of the Winchester Fire Department, being attached to the company of the old Swanton Street Hose Number 3. He retired in 1945 after 36 years service.

Kempton; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Litchfield of Franklin; Mrs. Fred Arkwell of Hopedale; and Mrs. George Nugent of Mendon; also a brother, William F. Kempton of Amherst.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Bennett Chapel with the Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Westboro.

WINCHESTER PATIENTS SAFE

Two from Winchester, Mrs. Theresa Porter Irving of 110 Mt. Vernon street, and Mrs. Marie E. Meurling of 48 Winthrop street, were among the 24 patients safely removed from the Sunshine Nursing Home at 12 Benton street, Stoneham, when fire was discovered in the building about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The fire broke out in the basement of the home, and was quickly extinguished by the Stoneham Fire Department, reinforced by apparatus from Winchester and other surrounding cities and towns. Though the fire amounted to very little it produced heavy smoke, necessitating the removal from the building of the patients, all of whom are elderly.

The work of removal was done by Stoneham and visiting firefighters and police, Sgt. John Dolan and Officer James E. Farrell reporting to assist with the police ambulance. Chief James E. Callahan led the fire detail, which included the department's rescue truck. Doctors from Stoneham and other communities answered calls for assistance as did C. D. workers.

Both Mrs. Irving and Mrs. Meurling were taken to the New England Sanatorium. Oxygen had to be administered to some patients, but no serious results were expected.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY

Peter Luongo, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Luongo of 62 Richardson street, celebrated his sixth birthday on Sunday, October 21, with a birthday party for a group of his young friends at his home.

Filling the place of honor on the gaily decorated refreshment table, was a beautifully iced birthday-cake made by Peter's father. Horns and noise-makers added to the pleasure of the young guests, who included Joey, William and Gail Bond, Girard Costello, Clark Kenton and Ellen Gaudet.

DR. HARLAN NEWTON

Dr. Harlan Fay Newton of 556 Dedham street, Newton Center, senior associate in surgery at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, who died at that hospital, Wednesday, October 24, was born in Winchester, and lived his boyhood here in the days prior to 1909, while his father, the late Rev. D. Augustine Newton, was pastor of the First Congregational Church. His boyhood was spent in the then parsonage on Main street which stood on land now occupied by the high school.

Dr. Newton was born February 8, 1895, son of Darius Augustine, and Marion Chandler (Stone) Newton. He attended the Winchester schools, was graduated from Yale in 1916 and from Harvard Medical School in 1920.

Dr. Newton was senior associate in surgery at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital; clinical associate in surgery at Harvard Medical School; chief surgeon at the Middlesex County Sanitarium, Waltham, and consultant surgeon at the tuberculosis unit at Burbank Hospital in Fitchburg.

He was a member of the founders' groups of the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Thoracic Surgery, and belonged to the American Association for Thoracic Surgery, the American College of Surgeons, the New England Surgical Society, the Boston Surgical Society, Inc., the Massachusetts Medical Society and the American Medical Society.

Dr. Newton's brother, Dr. Francis Chandler Newton, is also a surgeon at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

He also leaves his wife, the former Barbara Wolcott Hedges, and three children, Seth W. of New York City, Mrs. Robert S. Jones of Cambridge and Mrs. William L. Harvey of Falmouth.

The funeral will be this Friday at 2 in the Harvard Congregational Church, Brookline, with burial in Pine Grove Cemetery, Westboro.

CHURCH CANVASS NOVEMBER 18

Your United Church Canvass Committee and your own church canvassers have, for some time now, been meeting and working toward making this year's Stewardship Sunday, November 18, the most successful of all Every Member Canvass Sundays.

Though you probably don't think of your church as a business organization, it cannot survive and do its work efficiently if it is not established on a sound business basis. This depends upon your subscription.

When the canvassers call November 18, will you be ready for them? Only you can decide what your pledge should be. Help in determining your share can best be obtained by attending church and finding out in these intervening weeks what your church program and needs are.

SET BACK THE CLOCKS

Don't forget to set back the clocks when you go to bed Saturday night. Daylight saving ends at midnight that night and you get back that hour you lost last spring. There are quite a few train changes affecting Winchester and new timetables are available, or will be soon at the National and Cooperative Banks, E. H. Butterworth, watchmaker; and W. Allan Wilde & Son, insurance broker.

WINCHESTER AT READING

Winchester journeys to Reading Saturday afternoon to meet Reading High in a Middlesex League football game at the Junior High field commencing at 1:30.

Reading won its first game last Saturday, beating weak Methuen, 18-0. Previously the Rockets had lost to Wakefield, 8-7; tied Belmont, 6-6; lost to Concord, 20-13; and lost to Woburn, 12-6.

While there is nothing especially impressive in this record, aside from that 8-7 edging by vaunted Wakefield, it is never safe for a Winchester team to take anything for granted against Reading. The Rockets will play their best game of the season against the Indians! They always do!

JUNIOR HIGH OPEN HOUSE MONDAY NIGHT

The staff of the Winchester Junior High School will welcome parents of junior high pupils to the school's annual Open House on Monday evening. It is hoped that all of the pupils-for-the-night will be in their seats at 7:30 p. m. when the homeroom period begins. Parents will follow their child's regular schedule, though the time for each class will be necessarily abbreviated.

Representatives of the Junior High Associates will be present to receive voluntary dues. At the conclusion of the class schedule the Associates invite parents and teachers to enjoy refreshments in the school's attractive cafeteria.

PEE WEES WIN THIRD STRAIGHT

Sunday the Winchester Pee Wee football team defeated Melrose at West Side Field 41-12. Winchester scored early and led by two or more touchdowns until the final whistle. Hard-running Bob Benincasa scored four times for the winners on long runs to the outside. The third score came when Parrot, who quarterbacked Winchester smoothly all afternoon, faked to Benincasa, then kept and bootlegged around the weak side. The entire Melrose team was following the high-scoring Benincasa when Parrot raced forty yards all alone for the touchdown.

Joe Ruma scored the last touchdown on a hand-off that was right up the middle. Ruma sped off to score from 25 yards out.

The blocking of Barry Johnson shook Benincasa loose on many long runs that kept Melrose on the run. Doane, Masi, Burroughs and Brink played brilliantly up front, blocking and tackling well all afternoon.

Melrose scoring was done by B Verville and B. Cory. Verville caught a long pass over his shoulder and legged it 40 yards to score.

For Winchester: QB, K. Parrot, P. Young; Halfbacks, B. Johnson, W. Schneider, B. Kelliher, G. Delong; Fullbacks, B. Benincasa, D. Blanchard, W. Gay; ends, B. Doane, D. Brink, R. Wild, D. Swanson, C. Lewis; centers, E. Masi, B. Howes, D. Winn.

Winchester Wins Over Melrose In Final Quarter, 27-6

A 66-yard touchdown jaunt by Captain "Moe" Russo in the third quarter broke up what had been a tight football game to that point, and started Winchester on the way to a 27-6 Middlesex League victory over Melrose on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon.

The visitors' win over Concord the preceding Saturday had aroused great interest in the game among followers of both schools, and the biggest crowd since the season's opener with Concord turned out for the game.

For three quarters they saw a tense, if not an especially well-played, game, with Russo's point conversion after Winchester's first touchdown the difference between the two teams as play moved into the final period.

Winchester had been held deep in its own territory as the quarter ended and Russo punted to his own 43-yard line.

At this point Melrose was playing with a lot of spirit, following its third-period touchdown, and not a few in the Winchester stands were far from happy as Aveni drove to the Winchester 40 and Verville hit off tackle to the 36.

Aveni carried again to the 34, and Melrose needed a yard for a first down at the 33.

The Scarlet went for it, but the ball was fumbled and the play piled up on the 34, still a yard short, and Winchester took over.

Here Longworth sent Russo on a fullback sweep right, and a spectacular block by Paonessa got big "Moe" into the clear along the near sidelines. Gathering speed as he plowed ahead, Russo used a nice combination of fake and straight-arm to get by the only Melrose boy with a chance to stop him around the Melrose 30, and galloped all the way into the end zone for the touchdown that really decided the ball game.

"Moe" added the point after from placement and facing a 6-14 deficit Melrose seemed to let down a bit. A 15-yard clipping penalty on the kickoff forced the Scarlet back to its 19, and four plays later, disdaining to kick, Melrose was held for downs at the 28.

Longworth on a sweep right was knocked out of bounds at the Melrose 15, and Paonessa drove through to the 6. Russo swept over around his own right end, but Winchester was offside on the play and the ball went back to the eleven.

"Dougie" Thomson advanced to the five, and once again Russo got away around his right flank for the touchdown. The Indians drew another five-yard penalty for offside, putting the ball back to the 10, but this time Cosimo Paonessa shot off his own left tackle to go all the way. Russo again kicked the goal and Winchester led 21-6.

Russo kicked and Aveni slipped and fell at the 6 as he tried to scoop up the ball. Dutton picked up eight and Aveni got a yard before Freddie Bartlett picked a Melrose pass out of the air at the Melrose 25 and zig-zagged into the end zone for the final score of the game. Russo missed the try for point after, his first miss in six tries.

Coach Knowlton cleared the bench at this point, and Melrose started to roll. A pair of good tackles by Danny Serieka stopped Whitehouse at the 35, and Verville at the 50 as both looked to be on their way. Moments later Lindvall recovered a Melrose fumble at the Winchester 47 to end the threat.

Winchester's first score rode in on a fumbled pass from center on a fourth-down kick with the ball going to the Indians at the Melrose 37.

A sweep lost three, but on second down Longworth hit Vin Murphy with a pass that carried to the Melrose four, and in two tries Russo bucked over. Russo kicked in the extra point at placement, and there was no further scoring before the half, though twice Melrose pass receivers got well behind the local defenders, only to have the heaves fall short or be batted down. At least two of these aerials could have been intercepted by the Winchester defenders for long gains or possible touchdowns.

Opening the new half Winchester stopped Melrose at its 36. Two tries by Thomson were piled up without gain, and on third down a Longworth pass was grabbed by Whitehouse of Melrose, who was downed on the Winchester 38 by Paonessa.

Verville hit off tackle for nine, and Ilsley picked up eight to the Winchester 20. Verville sprinted around Winchester's right end to the eight where he was brought down by Bartlett.

Aveni broke through for four, but Verville on an attempted sweep lost a yard. Aveni swung around Winchester's left flank to the very goal line where he was dropped by Flaherty, and on the next play Whitehouse bucked over.

Jackson failed to kick in the extra point twice, a penalty for offside against Winchester giving him an extra try.

Melrose had nine first downs to eight for Winchester with the Indians having a slight edge in rushing, 216 yards to 204. Winchester completed two of three passes for 37 yards, having the other intercepted. Melrose completed two of 10 passes for 16 yards and had two intercepted. Winchester lost 35 yards in penalties and fumbled six times, recovering once.

Melrose lost 50 yards in penalties and fumbled three times.

Both Winchester and Melrose had big student bands at the game, and Winchester's musicians were accompanied for the first time by color bearers and color guards, who stood in the middle of the gridiron for the playing of the Star Spangled Banner. The summary:

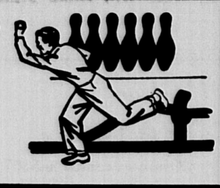
SONS OF ITALY Bowling News



S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

I neglected to state in last week's bowling news that there would be no bowling on October 11, the reason being that the local S. O. I. and two out-of-town organizations held a Columbus eve banquet in Medford with tremendous success.

Last Thursday, October 18, bowling once again came into its own and the battle for all departments sprang up again with new vitality and vigor. Team standings:

Team	W	L	Pinfalls
Jitterbugs	14	6	1678
All Stars	13	7	7042
Bee Bops	13	7	6988
Blue Eyes	12	8	7028
Lindy Hops	10	10	6948
Rock & Roll	7	13	6889
High & Low	6	14	6914
Hot Shots	5	15	6833

Hi Triple—Babe Tofuri 352
Hi Single—Babe Tofuri 130

Top Six Bowlers

Tony Saraco	102.8
Richard Bucci	100.7
Babe Tofuri	100.0
Joe Berardi	98.9
Bob Fiore	98.3
Dick Fiore	97.9

You will notice this particular week that I have inserted above the total pinfall of each team to date. You will also be amazed as you look these figures over that the team having the highest pinfall does not sit on top of the wood pile.

Also, you will notice that the difference of only 45 in pinfalls separates the top team from the bottom team. Everyone who bowls for us realizes the way we pick the teams by their averages. When individual team averages are totaled they vary only a fraction of a point overall.

The first thing that comes to one's mind is, who is my captain? Little do they surmise that they make up five-sixths of the team and that they are the backbone of the team.

These players don't get into the limelight too much for they are what is called the average bowler. It is for them that this has been written. For year in and year out though they may never be captains it is through their efforts that championship teams are made. This group consists of Larry Penta, Mel Fiore, M. J. Saraco, Al De Minico, Correction Fiore, Dan Gatientiere, Joe Ciarcia, Carl Bertolucci, Ray Penta, Danny Mistretta, Joe Riga, Arca Amico, Joe Dilorio, Dick Tofuri, Dom Provenzano, Pete Fiore, Jake Ciarcia, Phil Adagno, Fred La Torrella, Rocky DiTesso and many thers.

There just isn't much to write about the 300 circle this week because for the first time no one individual bowled 300. This sets a new record is this department for to my knowledge it has never happened before.

For a couple of newcomers, Bob Fiore and his brother, Dick Fiore, have made quite an impression on your writer as all-around athletes and sportsmen. Bob has filled very admirably a big pair of shoes which were left vacant by "Moose" Bellino. They both bowl with great ease, tending to make them very good bowlers, which in turn will make a real battle in the average department.

Down we go again for another week and the award winner this week was one of those average bowlers mentioned earlier, Danny Mistretta.

See you next week.

STONES' HORSES WINNING

Those attending the horse racing at Suffolk Downs recently have observed Jane and Ed Stone in the winners' circle on several occasions. Ed trains a modest string of thoroughbred race horses owned by Jane.

On Columbus Day, their Banjoist surprised the crowd of 30,000 by winning the San Salvador Purse. Banjoist had been beaten 15 lengths in his previous encounter on an off track. The following Monday their Sligo Rock won the feature turf race. Jane and Ed were particularly pleased with this victory as Sligo Rock is sired by the rather unreliable stallion Rhodes Scholar.

However, the star of the Stone stable is the sharp allowance sprinter, Turbines Kid. Turbnes Kid won the feature race, the Peabody, at Suffolk Downs on October 5. In this race Turbines Kid quickly opened up a 5 length lead and just coasted in. He had previously won the feature race, the North Conway, at Rockingham Park on September 17.

Jane and Ed have recently sold their home on 100 Cambridge street and moved to Rockport, Mass. The Star is informed that they both miss their many associations in Winchester and are both looking forward to returning to town in a few years.

Two former widely known residents of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Badger (Margaret Mills), who have been living since Mr. Badger's retirement in Nantucket, were in town recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Abbot Bradlee of Grove street. The Badgers have sold their Nantucket home and are to locate permanently in New York State.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE

Parents of junior high students are invited to the first open house in the new school on Monday evening. This is the awaited opportunity for each parent to become familiar with his child's daily routine and schedule of classes, to talk with teachers, and to meet fellow parents.

A desk will be assigned to each parent, and a condensed program of class instruction will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. No notes will be required for tardiness, but 7:30 p. m. is the hour!

During a tour of the cafeteria later in the evening, refreshments will be served by Mrs. William Crowley and her committee.

All parents are members of the Junior High Associates automatically. Dues are entirely voluntary and will be gladly received at this time by Mrs. Rolf Eliassen or by a home-room mother. Mrs. Gilman Wallace is chairman of 7th grade room mothers, including Mrs. William Beale, Mrs. Charles Crede, Mrs. George Heath, Mrs. Victor Lawson, Mrs. Clifton MacNeill, Mrs. W. Langdon Powers, Mrs. Samuel Reid, and Mrs. Lester Whittaker.

The 8th grade room mothers are Mrs. Curtis Ware, Mrs. Stevenson Corey, Mrs. L. R. Mortensen, Mrs. George Dyson, Mrs. Darrell Root, Mrs. Robert Low, Mrs. Fredrick Baily, Mrs. John Hogan. Mrs. Leslie Doten is chairman.

At the Winchester Star you can buy, dictionaries, slide rules, pocket adding machines, brief cases, zipper notebooks. 3 Church street.

TEACHERS STUDIED AMERICAN SECURITIES BUSINESS

The American securities business was the theme of the sixth annual conference of the Industrial Council held at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute on October 11, 12, and 13. Delegates from 650 schools throughout the United States met with 175 leaders in the investment business to discuss the role of finance in the development of America, past, present, and future. Winchester schools were represented by F. Meredith Cooper, head of the social studies department at the Winchester High School. Representing the securities business was another Winchester resident, Mr. Lionel Pollacchi.

During the period of the conference the teachers attended a series of lectures and seminars devoted to significant phases of the securities business. Topics discussed included: "The American Securities Business in Perspective," "Underwriting—The Role of the Investment Banker," "The Role of Stock Exchanges in Our Economy," "Funds for Schools and Other Government Projects." One of the outstanding lectures was that on "Investment Companies" presented by Boston's Charles F. Eaton, Jr.

The Industrial Council is a non-profit educational organization sponsored jointly by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and American Industry. Its aim is to provide the social study teacher of our secondary schools an opportunity to meet informally—in friendly surroundings—with the leaders of our basic industries so that both of these important segments of our society—through and exchange of ideas—can more readily understand and appreciate each other's problems and goals. In this way, teachers are able to inform their students of the role of American industry in their society, its value to our economy and its contribution to our way of life.

Founded in 1952, the Council sessions have been sponsored in turn by the oil industry, the chemical industry, the electrical manufacturing industry, the automotive industry, and the pharmaceutical industry. Nearly 7000 educators and industrialists have attended these sessions.

A fitting climax to this year's conference on the American securities business was provided by the address of Mr. Harold E. Wood, of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Selecting as his topic, "Education and Finance Face the Future," Mr. Wood first reveiwed the story of America's tremendous economic development from pioneer days to the present. Then he forecast that the next twenty years will see a further expansion in our economy and a notable increase in the standard of living enjoyed by the average man.

Mr. Wood believes that American education will play a vital role in this development, especially as it helps the pupils of our schools to understand and appreciate the free enterprise system. From this understanding and appreciation he hopes will come the desire of the average citizen to participate more fully in the economic system through the ownership of a share in American industry or business. In his opinion, "broader share ownership is so integral a part of democratic processes, that we must accomplish it, however painstakingly, if we are going to keep our essential character as a nation."

Two residents of Winchester, Mrs. Charles Morang of 2 Bruce road, and Miss Emily C. Hood of 6 Everett avenue, attended the annual Fall Alumnae Council Program held at Wheaton College in Norton, October 18-20. Seventy-five alumnae attended the three-day sessions. Mrs. Morang serves as president of the class of 1948, while Miss Hood, a 1953 graduate of Wheaton, is her class fund raising agent.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON

At the fall meeting of the Winchester Senior Circle, Mrs. Vera I. McKenzie, president, welcomed the members at the lovely home of Mrs. Leonard Barbo on Lakeview road. Mrs. MacKenzie stated her pride in being selected to lead the forty-year-old Circle, one of the oldest in the League, and paid great tribute to the past presidents, saying that she was confident her board members would help her to follow in their footsteps.

Mrs. Lester P. Leathers, Mrs. William M. Hopkins and Mrs. Philip Boone were thanked and complimented for their work on the year book.

Mrs. Charles A. Weimer, bazaar chairman, told of her exciting plans for the Florence Crittenton Bazaar in Boston. Unusual jewelry will be the project of the Winchester Senior Circle. Mrs. Forrest L. Pitman will open her home for a pre-sale, time to be announced later.

At the end of the business meeting, Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick introduced the speaker, Mrs. John Mosely of the Needham Gardens Club, who with the aid of a fabulous display of dried arrangements, entranced her audience with her charm and ability to create beauty using dried material. She spoke of dried material as being a great challenge to the imagination and suggested that working with this type of material was a splendid outlet for self expression. Mrs. Mosely told of the various methods of drying material and from the enthusiastic question period at the close of her lecture, it was quite evident that many circle members and their guests had discovered a new hobby.

Mrs. Crosby B. Kelley and her very able committee served a delicious tea in the lovely dining room overlooking the lake. Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. Charles Weimer poured.

JUNIOR HIGH ASSOCIATES WELCOME NEW MOTHERS

The mothers of about ten out of thirty-one new junior high students were guests of the Junior High Associates Board last Monday morning in the attractive lounge of the school. Mrs. Robert Williams, president, introduced the new members, who were greeted in turn by Mr. Dickman.

There was a lovely table setting, and colorful refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Ungerman. Mrs. Leslie Doten and Mrs. W. G. Laird created a friendly atmosphere in which mothers and board members really become acquainted. From now on surely none of these new members will feel themselves strangers in the school.

"GOLD CADILLAC"

Did you hear the one about the elderly Cinderella who went to Wall street, not in a golden coach, but by subway?

Well, it seems—but this good story is told in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which comes to Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church, November 1, 2 and 3 at 8:30 o'clock, when the Parish Players present their fall production.

Alfred C. Pywell of Wildwood street plays the part of McKeever, with Mrs. Donald Dalrymple as Mrs. Patridge. Her secretary is expertly played by a newcomer to the Players, Mrs. Elmer A. Carlson, whose husband is also in the play as one of the big-shot directors of a huge company. Miss Logan, the secretary who doesn't say a word in the whole show, is played by Mrs. Mary Whitesell, also a welcome newcomer to the Players' stage.

William W. Early, Robert C. Ericson, Charles Kakatsakis, Henry K. Fitts, Helen O'Donnell of Woburn, Donald E. Dalrymple, Robert P. Blake, Dorothy M. Wills, George S. Hebb, Jr., Carolyn S. Eccles, and George E. Connor complete the cast of this fast-moving modern parody of life in the big business world.

Miss Margaret Hodgson is in charge of production, with Dr. Robert Millican chairman of the stage crew. Since this play has some fourteen scene changes, the stage crew faces a busy "behind the scenes" show of its own!

The Thursday evening performance has been turned over to the Forum for their spring conference fund, with Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gowdy in charge of that evening. Forum pourers will include Mesdames Wesley Mallery, F. William Schumacher, James N. Mason, Otto E. Schaefer.

Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard is in charge of Friday evening coffee arrangements, and her pourers will be Mrs. James S. Allen, Mrs. Paul Atwood, Mrs. Stewart Cushman, Miss Helen Hall. On Saturday, Mrs. George E. Connor has charge of the coffee hour, with wives of the "Cadillac's" leading men as pourers: Mrs. Robert Ericson, Mrs. Henry K. Fitts, Mrs. Alfred C. Pywell, Mrs. William Early.

L. W. V. NOTES

League unit meetings next week will take up state "continuing responsibilities." In addition to the items on the current agenda—the subjects on which Leagues all over the state will concentrate for the present two years—there are some topics which have already been studied but in which we do not want to give up our interest. In many cases we are supporting or opposing legislation concerning these items. Therefore, to refresh the minds of Winchester members, a unit is being devoted to a group of these "continuing responsibilities." Included in the items are support of measures to improve state teachers colleges and support of the certification of teachers program. The League has also worked for maintenance of independence for local school boards and for the electric roll call. These questions will be discussed, along with the state lien law, which deals with old age assistance.

As these topics are discussed, unit members will be asked to consider whether we wish to support legislation concerning them as the new General Court convenes in January, and whether we wish to keep each item as a state continuing responsibility.

Unit hostesses and leaders are as follows: Unit No. 1, Tuesday, Oct. 30, 7:45 p. m.; hostess, Mrs. Robert Joslin, 6 Crescent road, leader, Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley; Unit No. 2, Thursday, November 1, 9:30 a.m.; hostess, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, 225 Highland avenue, leader, Mrs. Richard Alt; Unit No. 3, Thursday, November 1, 7:45 p. m.; hostess, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich, 158 Highland avenue, leader, Mrs. Dieterich; Unit No. 4, Friday, November 2, 9:30 a. m.; hostess, Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, 9 Ravenscroft road, leader, Mrs. Howard Aiken.

METHODIST YOUTH "TRICK OR TREAT"

Significant with the celebrating of the tenth anniversary of the United Nations, the Methodist Youth, Intermediate and Senior Groups, will follow a unique Hallowe'en procedure set up in recent years.

Instead of the usual "Trick or Treat" they will solicit small contributions (no more than a dime) to help the work of the UNICEF, which is a United Nations organization assisting in the health and welfare problems of children all over the world. A portion of the "Trick or Treat" will also be used for other missionary work.

Sunday is also Reformation Day in the life of the Protestant Church and the theme of the morning worship will center around the life of Martin Luther.

Friends of the community who have no particular church ties are cordially invited to attend the morning service at 10:45.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held Monday, October 22 at 2 p. m. in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church, the President, Mrs. Paul H. Atwood, presiding.

Mrs. Given reminded members of the tea to be given by Mrs. Potts at her home, 8 Standish lane, Tuesday, October 30, at 3 p. m. Mr. David Post, recently returned from Italy where he has been consul, will speak on "The Refugee Relief Program."

Mrs. Fiske displayed the bags which her committee have made for Christmas distribution to veterans in hospitals, also afghans made by Mrs. Emery. A collection of $34.00 was taken toward purchasing articles for the bags.

At the Jackson Homestead, Newton, to which Louise Bancroft is leading a pilgrimage this Friday, there will be many interesting antiques and an exhibit of silver, besides a talk and refreshments.

An explanation of the steps to be taken in the use of an absentee ballot, correct procedure, was given by Mrs. Whitman.

Speaker of the afternoon was Mr. F. Henry Caffin on "The Art of Gold Beating." The last of his family to pursue this unusual business which began in 1812 but which dates back to the Bible times in ancient countries, he gave a detailed account of the delicate process. He showed tools used and other incidentals, the thin gold leaf at different stages, and examples of its extensive use on book covers, edges of pages, frames, domes, and church decoration. With amazement the audience saw the thinness to which gold could be hammered. how it is applied to surfaces and realized its enduring quality. There are very few today to carry on this unique art.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, October 10, Mrs. Henry K. Fitts opened her home for a tea in honor of Mrs. Clifton S. Hall who is soon to leave for California. About forty old friends were present, including members of boards who had served when she was president of the Fortnightly during the years 1941-44. An added surprise came when after remarks by Mrs. Barnard noting the many positions "Elizabeth" has filled in club and community affairs, Mrs. Priest presented her with a handsome silver pin as a token of esteem and affection. The Fortnightly extends its best wishes to her for the future.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD

The 47th annual meeting of the Winchester Branch of the Needlework Guild was held at the Unitarian Church on Monday, October 22.

There were about 50 members present and the president, Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, presided. She thanked the members sincerely for giving such lovely garments. 236 members gave 777 garments.

The speaker of the afternoon was the Reverend Robert A. Storer of the Unitarian Church. He gave an inspiring talk on the place women have made for themselves in the world. Through their own courage and ingenuity, they have proved their ability to be leaders. He spoke of several specifically who were "heroines" to him and to the world, and the world has been made a better place in which to live, due to their acts of kindness and leadership.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the meeting by the tea committee, of which Mrs. Everett Kidder was chairman.

EDITORIALS

Next Wednesday evening will be Hallowe'en, a time not so long ago to be looked forward to with apprehension and in some instances with real dread. Fortunately hoodlumism has been progressively missing from recent Hallowe'en observances, especially in Winchester where church, civic and school leaders, as well as the police, have stressed fun instead of destruction for Hallowe'en celebrations. Winchester's youngsters have behaved in exemplary fashion on recent Hallowe'ens, and there is no particular reason to expect any different conduct this year. Hallowe'en is one occasion on which our young people can definitely show they have the good sense some people seem to think they lack.

It is too bad more persons, and especially parents, both of boys in service and prospective service boys, didn't take the trouble to visit the display of engineer equipment put up on the Common last Saturday by Winchester's reserve unit, the 319th Engineer Battalion.

Boys completing service are going to be required to join a reserve unit, and the 319th offers Winchester boys an opportunity to serve their reserve hitch with its "C" company in Winchester. Some of what the Winchester Reserve unit had to offer was on display last Saturday, the reservists having been on the job at 5 o'clock in the morning to have the exhibition ready.

Captain Guido Santo Liquido commands the unit and had on display a Nike guided missile, guns of various calibers, mine detectors, hand grenades and model bridges. Winchester people might well have been more interested, especially in view of the present reserve requirements.

The Star's editorial praise of the job done on the overhead by the Maney Company, principal contractors, has not been intended to mean that others working on the overhead have not been equally praiseworthy.

The B. & M. construction crews under "Jim" Healey, construction engineer, have done a fine job, and both Mr. Healey and his immediate superior, Frank Flynn, division engineer, have been most cooperative.

The same goes for "Eddie" McElhinney, the resident engineer of the Commonwealth, a Winchester resident, who has been helpful and interested, far beyond the call of duty.

All these, whom Winchester has come to know as friends, have aided greatly in making the transition to the overhead as easy as was humanly possible. They deserve our sincere thanks, and we mustn't forget our own Police Department either. Our boys in blue have also done a splendid job.

LYMAN FORCES PLAN RALLY HERE

Harrison Lyman's vigorous campaign for the State Senatorship is gaining rapid headway here in Winchester.

The many bumper stickers in the famous "lime for Lyman" green now seen about town indicate the wide support which the youthful former Chairman of Winchester's Board of Selectmen is receiving.

In addition to the many coffee parties and receptions which have been given for the candidate here in Town and elsewhere in the District, plans have just been announced for two major rallies to be held in Lyman's behalf.

Governor Herter will be the featured speaker in a monster rally to be held in Medford at the Women's Club House on Governors avenue next Thursday, November 1, at 8 o'clock, with other candidates planning to be present also.

Of even greater local interest is the rally and reception for Harrison Lyman being sponsored jointly by an Italo-American Voters for Lyman group here in Town and the Winchester Young Republican Club. Headed by a committee under Emidio DiLoreto and including Messrs. Salvatore D. DeTeso, Sebastiano Penna, Dr. William D. Barone, of Winchester, and Joseph Morashio, of Woburn, this colorful affair will take place in Christopher Columbus Hall, Winchester, Sunday evening, November 4—just two days before the election.

Again, Mr. Lyman's candidacy has attracted the support of top Massachusetts political figures, and in this instance Lt. Gov. Sumner G. Whittier, candidate for Governor of the Commonwealth, will be the featured speaker. The Committee hopes that Winchester's own John Volpe will serve as Master of Ceremonies.

UNICEF

TRICK OR TREAT PROGRAM

Except for Girl Scout troops in the Wyman School area there will be no trick or treat collections for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. This situation exists due to the fact that there was no sponsoring agency, and to the late start of the program.

Mrs. William Woolsey, who was appointed as UNICEF chairman last spring, and who would normally have gotten together a committee and had them working for the past several months, moved to Florida with her family, and so was unable to do anything with the program.

It is hoped that plans may start next year early enough that Winchester may take its place with comparable communities who each year raise hundreds of dollars for this most worth-while organization, and give the children a feeling of satisfaction that their Hallowe'en activities have been helpful to others as well as fun for themselves.

WINCHESTER COUNTRY CLUB

Sunday, October 14, saw another finish to the ever popular Maurice Brown Tournament. Unfortunately Mrs. Brown was unable to attend the delicious buffet at the end of the day's golf, when the prizes were presented; therefore, the President of the Club and the Chairman of the Ladies' Golf Committee performed this honor for her.

The winners were Mrs. Robert Smith and Mr. Lloyd Williams. The runners up were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peabody. The winners of the Championship Consolation were Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Way and the runners up were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burke.

The Second Flight winners were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hood, Jr., and the runners up were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton. The Second Flight Consolation winners were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roundey and the runners up were Mr. and Mrs. William Selberg.

EXERCISES MARKED PASSING OF FIRST TRAIN ON OVERHEAD

Several hundred persons of all ages gathered on the Common for the brief exercises held there, despite the fact that the hour was one during which most families are at dinner on a Sunday.

A bunting-draped speaker's platform had been erected and a public address system installed by the B. & M. Rep. Harrison Chadwick acted as master of ceremonies.

Stating that the grade crossing had been a problem in Winchester since the Boston and Lowell first started to run trains through town in 1831, Rep. Chadwick told his hearers that Selectmen from the incorporation of the town in 1850 had been concerned with the necessity for its elimination. He told of the progress of the elimination movement and congratulated all those who in any way had a hand in the final solution of the problem.

In conclusion he called upon the representatives of the State Department of Public Works, Boston & Maine Railroad and the contracting firms involved, the Maney Company and the Berk-Moore Company, to take bows.

George Redding, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, represented the town, and prefaced his remarks with the statement that the day's events were not a dedication, but rather a "launching," since the overhead project is not yet completed.

Continuing, Mr. Redding said the grade crossing had been considered dangerous as early as 1835, when certain of the officers of that time ordered its abolition.

As early as 1900 the Star printed the statement that the crossing gates were down so much and so long that it was time to agitate for the crossing's abolition. Since that time most people have felt, Mr. Redding stated, that the crossing should be abolished, the difference of opinion being what plan of abolition to accept.

Mr. Redding expressed his own and his Board's pleasure that the crossing has at last been abolished, and ventured the opinion that the abolition is worth the price.

In closing he expressed the appreciation of the town to the State, the railroad and the contractors for their fine cooperation and interest which has made the transition from grade to overhead tracks so easy for us all. He described the breaking of the blue ribbon across the tracks by the engine as the symbol of a job well done.

Next introduced, Mr. P. J. Mullaney, vice president of the Boston & Maine Railroad, said that he was pleased to participate in the day's ceremonies as a resident of "this fine town." His home is on Oxford street.

He brought to the gathering the greeting of Patrick McGinnis, president of the Boston & Maine, and told his audience that the railroad would like to be able to abolish all grade crossings in its system, believing the price to be not too high when set against the possibility of saving life. In closing he expressed the belief that the Woburn loop would be ready for use in a "month or so."

Rep. Chadwick then read a letter from Governor Herter, congratulating the town upon the abolition of its grade crossing and expressing his personal regret at being unable to join in the celebration.

Representing Governor Herter at the exercises was former Public Works Commissioner John Volpe, who was in office during the actual construction of the overhead. He, too, expressed his pleasure at participating in the celebration as a resident of Winchester. His home is on Everett avenue.

He said that as far back as 1634 there was a traffic problem in Winchester with north and south bound travel crossing that bound from east to west. With the advent of the railroad in 1835 the traffic problem became intensified until in 1930 the State Department of Public Works placed Winchester at the head of a list of crossings slated for abolition.

In 1950, said Mr. Volpe, the then Public Works Commissioner Callahan, the President of the State Senate, Winchester's Harris Richardson, and the Selectmen "got together on the plan" to eliminate the overpass by raising the tracks, and constant review of the plan had convinced him. Mr. Volpe said, that the plan with his own addition of the Skillings by-pass, was the only one feasible.

Mr. Volpe placed the cost of the overhead at $7,000,000 and praised the fine construction job done by the Maney Company and the other contractors. He also expressed regret that the tracks could not be raised without hurting certain residents of the town.

In conclusion Mr. Volpe took the opportunity of bidding a temporary farewell to his fellow townspeople on the eve of his departure for Washington to head the National Highway Construction program, expressing the hope that he would be back in his home town next year.

DOUBLE ORDINATION

WINCHESTER BOYS MADE CLERGYMEN AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Two Winchester boys, residents of the same street in boyhood, schoolmates at Winchester High and teammates on the Winchester High School football team, were ordained last Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in a rarely held double ordination service in their boyhood church, the First Congregational Church, where both had served as president of the Forum, the church young people's society.

Donald C. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Armstrong of Mt. Pleasant street, and John E. Filler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Filler of Madison avenue west, are the former Winchester boys. Rev. Donald C. Armstrong and Rev. John E. Filler are the new Congregational clergymen. More than 300 relatives and friends of the young ministers attended the ordination, for which the order of service was as follows.

October 21, 1956—at Five O'Clock
Organ Prelude — Mr. J. Albert Wilson
Processional Hymn — "Holy, Holy, Holy" No. 1
Invocation and Lord's Prayer — Dr. John L. Lobingier, Formerly Secretary of Religious Education, Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference
Statement of Moderator of Woburn Association
Statement of Commendation — Dr. Howard J. Chidley, Pastor Emeritus of First Church
Scripture — Rev. James N. McCutcheon, Associate Minister of First Baptist Church, Wakefield
Anthem — Senior Choir
Sermon — Rev. Browne Barr, Associate Professor of Preaching in Parish Ministry, Yale Divinity School
Hymn "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" No. 224
Charge to the Candidates — Dr. Dwight L. Cart, Minister of First Church
Prayer of Ordination (followed by Choral Response) — Dr. Kenneth R. Henley, Minister of the Second Congregational Church, Greenfield, Mass.
Right Hand of Fellowship — Rev. Stephen C. Greene, Minister of Second Congregational Church, Bennington, Vermont
*Recessional Hymn "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" No. 259
Closing Prayer (Congregation seated) — Rev. Donald C. Armstrong
Benediction — Rev. John E. Filler
Postlude

In his ordination sermon, Rev. Barr emphasized the fact that this is a challenging time for Christian ministers. Consecrated leaders are needed, he said, in this day of the H-bomb, uncertain peace and pagan materialism. Men are needed to challenge the morals, habits and thinking of a degenerate age.

A minister, said Rev. Barr, must never be aloof from people; on the other hand, he must never be just a good fellow, indistinguishable from them. His task is not limited to a forty hour week or an eight hour day. It demands supreme sacrifice, unlimited service and dedication. "Watch and pray," quoted Rev. Barr, "that ye enter not into temptation."

After the ordination an informal reception for the young clergymen was held in the Palmer and Tucker Rooms of the Parish House. Delicious refreshments were served on flower-decorated tables by a committee of church women under the direction of Mrs. Charles E. Greene, whose son, Rev. Stephen C. Greene, a former Winchester boy, extended the right hand of fellowship to the newly ordained ministers.

Following the reception both the Fillers and Armstrongs entertained groups of out-of-town guests at their homes.

LINCOLN SCHOOL DADS' CLUB

Well here it is again! The time for the annual Hallowe'en Costume Dance at the Lincoln School 1956 version. When: Saturday evening, October 27 at 8:30 p. m. at the school auditorium. Costumes preferred but optional. There is still plenty of time to complete all your supermarket shopping, arrange for baby sitters, rig up your costumes and still get down and have yourselves an enjoyable time.

Come down and bring all your friends along with you, we've had fun in the past, let's make this evening even better. Decorations, music, refreshments, prizes, are all available for pleasure and entertainment. Everyone on the various committees has been working hard to make this first event of many planned a success, so come along and don't let them down. We'll be waiting to see you all. So let's go Lincoln School parents and all our other friends—we'll be seeing you Saturday evening.

INFANT SAVIOUR GUILD

The fur and hat fashion show held Tuesday afternoon, October 23, was truly an interesting and beneficial program for the large gathering of members and their guests who attended.

President Mrs. Peter A. Murphy introduced Mrs. Henry Valcour, General chairman of the day. Mrs. Valcour presented Mr. Bishop of Chandler and Company of Boston, who directed the unique fashion display.

Hospitality chairmen Mrs. Arthur Center and Mrs. Henry Center presided at the attractively decorated coffee table. They were aided on this occasion by the following hostesses: Mmes. James C. Marchant, William Perkins, Daniel J. Doherty, John Madden, E. D'Errico, Percy Cliff, M. G. Moffett, Edward MacDonald, E. B. O'Keefe, Albert McDougall, Edward Gallagher, Chester Powers, and Robert Sharkey.

WATCH THAT THERMOMETER IN THE COMMON!

Winchester's goal in the Red Feather Campaign is $57,800. Last Sunday at the Music Hall solicitors brought in returns for the first week of door-to-door collection—the amount, nearly $19,000 or about one-third of the total needed. That's a terrific start by a terrific team of campaigners.

Let's go, now, all you solicitors about to start out—and Let's Go, all you Winchesterites about to make that pledge or open up a wallet.

Let's Go to the top of the thermometer in the Common!

TOWN RECEIVES TAX MONEY

Winchester's share of the $15,000,000 going to municipalities from the $30,000,000 Highway Bond Issue through Legislative action under Chapter 718 of the Acts of 1956, is $70,997.64, according to an announcement made yesterday by State Public Works Commissioner Carl A. Sheridan.

This money has to be set up in a special account and can be used by the town for any purpose for which highway money can be borrowed. Estimates of plans for spending the $70,997.64 must be submitted to the State authorities immediately.

Each year municipalities get back from the State a percentage of what they have paid in corporation and state income taxes. The amount each receives is established by a Legislative formula based on valuation, this same yardstick having been used in the distribution of the Highway Bond issue money.

Winchester will receive this year from the State from income and corporation tax money $249,000. To date $203,000 of this amount has been received, leaving a balance of $46,000 due.

Last Friday the Governor's office announced a windfall of money from the state income and corporation taxes. Winchester's share in the windfall amounts to $51,000, which will be added to the $46,000 now due, making the total to be received before the first of the year, $97,000.

UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS

With 22 members and guests present, the United World Federalists of Winchester met on October 15 at the home of Mrs. George Reed. This meeting, the first of the 1956-57 program, proved both instructive and interesting. Mr. Robert Williams, chapter chairman, opened the meeting by discussing pertinent chapter business, among which was the United World Federalists participation in observance and promotion of United Nations Week activities.

The evening's discussion concerned itself with the Suez crisis. Mrs. George Snelling first gave the members information about the background of the Suez Canal. Mrs. Wallis Moulding then reviewed the developments in the Middle East since Colonel Nasser seized the canal on July 26. The role of the United Nations in relation to the Suez Crisis was freely discussed.

The chapter was most fortunate to have Mr. Dikran Hadidian as its guest. Mr. Hadidian has spent most of his life in the Middle East, coming to the United States only 10 years ago to teach and to continue his work as a student of the New Testament. His discussion of the current crisis was most instructive and gave the members new perspective and insight, and helped them recognize the immensity of the problem. His opinions were greatly respected because of his keen and original knowledge of the Middle East.

ST. MARY'S MOTHERS' CLUB

St. Mary's Mother's Club held its second meeting on Wednesday, October 17, in St. Mary's Hall. A short business meeting was conducted by the president of the club, Mrs. Podgoro Iannacci, after which Father Manion introduced Monsignor Hargedon from Marblehead, who gave a brief talk on his recent trip to Switzerland, Italy, France, and England. This was the beginning of a fascinating evening on travel abroad.

The major part of the program was an illustrated lecture by Mrs. James E. Devlin of Brighton, who gave an interesting account of her experiences in Italy, particularly in Rome. She described her visit to the hospital and church where lives the famous Father Pio, who is marked with the stigma of the wounds of Christ.

REWARDING MEETING

The members of the Home and Garden Club who attended its first meeting of the season were well rewarded with worthwhile information obtained from the interesting talk given by Mr. John Lyon on "Planting Bulbs and Fall Gardening."

Mr. Lyon is the well known authority of New England lawns and gardens who broadcasts daily over station W.B.Z. as well as being proprietor of the outstanding store that bears his name on Alwife Brook Parkway, Cambridge; and deals in fine seeds, bulbs, fertilizers, insect killers, and all the latest equipment to make gardening more fun.

Mrs. James Newman had on display samples of the various homemade bird houses and birch log chickadee feeders that the club is trying to sell from now on through its annual Greens Fair in December.

Anyone who was not present and is interested in obtaining one of these or the suet pudding, which should be out now, may get in touch with Mrs. Newman at WInchester 6-4057.

Afterwards a social hour was enjoyed while Mrs. Donald Greer and her committee served tea.

Frank Valleley of Arlington, retired Winchester letter carrier and former widely known resident of the town, was among those from out-of-town who came to Winchester last Sunday to see the first train go over the overhead. Frank, though in his 90th year, is still able to get around and hasn't lost his interest in the old home town.

OLD SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY BAZAAR

On Tuesday evening, November 6, and all day Wednesday, November 7, the Parish House of the Church of the Epiphany will be transformed to take on the atmosphere of the old South as the Annual Bazaar opens. The chairman of this large undertaking is Mrs. William Towner, assisted by Mrs. Edward Little, with Mrs. Richard Carr in charge of decorations.

On the evening before the fair, dessert and coffee will be served. There will be a TV set for the early election returns so that you won't miss any of them while making your purchases. Mrs. Walter Hutchinson is in charge of this coffee hour.

Beautiful hand knit articles will be on sale, under the capable direction of Mrs. Harry Benson, the attractive handkerchief table will be presided over by Mrs. Walter Parkin, while the gift table will be a gold mine under the inspiration of Mrs. E. Phillips Walker. Don't fail to visit the Christmas decoration and Christmas sewing tables, ably staffed by Mrs. Robert Berg, Mrs. William Hopkins, and Mrs. Granville Flagg. Mrs. William Urmson has collected an unusually beautiful selection of Christmas wrappings. Don't miss the exciting doll table. Mrs. Edwin Hall and her committee will sell you a beautifully dressed doll or the complete wardrobe for one. And Christmas gift aprons will be at Mrs. Joseph Gibson's apron table.

Mrs. Leonard Prisley and Mrs. Joseph Beck will have really unusual white elephants to intrigue you, and you will want to browse among the books in Mrs. John Page's book stall. A new idea this year is the men's hobby table, under the direction of Mrs. Willis Kimball and Mrs. Marshall Brown. The men of the parish are donating the results of the hobbies to be sold.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without lots of toys, so be sure to make your selection at the toy table, run by Mrs. Donald Withers, and, of course, you will take home flowers or bulbs or a plant from Mrs. Charles Nichols's plant table. There will be an exhibtion of paintings also under the direction of Mrs. George Marks. And while you are looking at them and doing your shopping be sure to wear a corsage created by Mrs. Henry Fitts and her group of florists.

And now the food! If you sample all of it, you will certainly put on pounds, for Mrs. Donald Puffer will have a large assortment of candy for sale, while Mrs. Stephen Nichols's food table will positively groan with delicacies. You may have morning coffee in Mrs. John Colony's coffee shop and a delicious luncheon from 12 to 1:30 under the direction of Mrs. V. Hamilton Dickey. Afternoon tea will be served by Mrs. Philip Salter, and then everybody will sit down to a truly Southern fried chicken dinner. In charge are Miss Florence Forsyth and Mrs. R. E. Berwald. Reservations must be made at once for this with either Mrs. Norman Brooks, WI 6-4058, or Mrs. Clifton McNeill, WI 6-1865. All this time Mrs. Donald McLean and her corps of workers will keep things running smoothly in the kitchen.

There will be many things to keep the children happy and thrilled all day, a marionette show, interesting movies run by Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, wonderful grabs collected by Mrs. William Everett, and three make-up artists will transform the younger children into fabulous characters from other lands.

The grand finale of this festive day will be a slave auction at eight. It will be hilarious, so be sure to be there and see what you win!

PARKHURST SCHOOL TEA GRADE 2

Mrs. Ryder, second grade teacher at the Lewis Parkhurst School, was guest of honor at a tea held Monday, October 22, in the home of Mrs. David W. Shean. Mr. Albert F. Sutula was also present.

In her brief talk to the mothers, Mrs. Ryder spoke of the curriculum to be covered and of what she hopes to accomplish this year. A general discussion followed.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. David D. Conners and Mrs. Thomas Downes heading the tea table.

SECOND GRADE VISITS P. O. AND FIRE STATION

Second graders at the Parkhurst School are learning about their community these days in their social studies lessons. They have been reading about the work of the many people who help the people of Winchester to live better and more safely. Recently the youngsters in the classes of Mrs. Marion Ryder and Mrs. Ann Stanley went on an expedition to see two of these community helpers in action.

At the Winchester Fire Station the children admired the clean and beautifully polished fire trucks. They were fascinated to see a real fireman come down the brass pole from his "sleeping quarters" upstairs, as a simulated night alarm rang.

During their visit to the post office the pupils had an opportunity to observe the mail clerks sorting the mail, to have the man at the window explain the scale and stamp machine. The children voted that the most interesting part of the post office tour was the cancelling machine which does the work of several clerks in a very short time.

Undoubtedly there was still much for the children to learn at both the fire station and the post office, but the trip was certainly one of the most informative that the youngsters have enjoyed thus far. They are grateful to the members of the staffs at both places for their consideration.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN

The first meeting of the 1956-57 season brought out the members of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester in goodly numbers. On October 15, Mrs. Ernest J. Wright, 8 Stratford road, opened her home for the occasion. Mrs. Theodore C. Browne president, graciously greeted the members and guests.

All listened attentively to Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, Mrs. Harold M. Twombly and Mrs. Robert H. Reynolds give their reports on what is being done in this town to promote information to the voter in all phases of the Party work.

The first speaker of the afternoon was Candidate District Attorney Ephraim Martin of Belmont. Many ramifications of the office were explained by him. 54 cities and towns are included, with a population of 1,300,000, in the Northern District. He is well qualified to carry on this work with great understanding.

The second speaker was Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., who is Candidate for State Senator. He spoke in a neighborly way to his many friends. To know him is to feel confidence in his integrity and earnestness in running for this office.

Tea was served by Mrs. Drew and Mrs. Darling with the help of their committee.

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL

AIDED IN PACIFIC RESCUE

Winchester friends of Mr. and Mrs. James K. O'Donnell of 15 Myrtle street, were interested to learn that their son, Radioman William J. O'Donnell, played an important part in the rescue of 31 passengers from a wrecked Pan American Airliner in the mid-Pacific last week Tuesday.

Radioman O'Donnell, a former Woburn boy, is assigned to the Coast Guard Cutter W-70 Pontchartrain based at Long Beach, Calif. News of the imperiled airliner reached the Pontchartrain at sea, and sent O'Donnell to his post in the radio room of the ship. There, while the cutter sped to the rescue, he kept the outside world informed of the exciting train of events.

All of the 31 passengers of the air-liner that went down in the Pacific 1,045 miles southwest of San Francisco, were taken safely aboard the Pontchartrain and returned to California. The rescue was completed 21 minutes after the plane crashed and then sank to the bottom of the ocean.

O'Donnell is a graduate of Woburn High School, class of 1953, and is a former Tanner football player. He has been in the United States Coast Guard for three years and has seen service in the North Atlantic, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador. His present ship, the Pontchartrain, is a weather and patrol ship, patrolling the waters west of the United States, day and night, noting weather conditions or any other hazards and relaying them to the main land. He has been with the cutter since October of last year.

The O'Donnells have two more sons with service records; Jackie, who was a member of the Rhine Conference championship football team while serving with the Army in Germany; and James, who was a member of the United States Air Force.

Sunday School is held at the same hour as the Church Service.
Reading Room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

How spiritual understanding of God's goodness overcomes evil will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.
The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (571:15): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil."
Among the passages to be read from the King James Version of the Bible is the following (Isa. 35:10): "And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away."
The Golden Text is from Lamentations (3:39,40): "Wherrfore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord."

CRITTENTON JUNIOR CIRCLE

Won't you bring your Fair Lady to the Ball on November 16? And if you are a Fair Lady, bring your best beau and have a ball while helping to support the Winchester Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenton League.

The purpose of the Circle is to help to support the Crittenton Hastings House, a non-sectarian social agency for unwed parents. The aim of the Home is to provide shelter and counselling for each girl during her troubled time, and to help her make realistic plans for her future adjustment to her community and to her own particular problems.

Trained social workers and a clinical psychologist are permanent members of the staff, and psychiatric consultation is available when needed. All such services are on a confidential basis.

A weekly prenatal clinic is held at the Home, directed by an obstetrician on the staff of the Boston Lyin-In Hospital. He personally supervises the care of each girl. Confinement is at the Boston Lying-In Hospital, which has a special Crittenton-Hastings ward, and the most excellent medical services available.

Payment for care is determined by the financial circumstances of each applicant. No one is ever refused for lack of ability to pay.

The Fair Lady Ball is the Winchester Junior Circle's money-raising project for the Fall, so do give us your support. This activity, together with the Annual Bazaar, an event sponsored by all of the greater Boston Circles, and the spring dance, also help to provide a scholarship for some deserving girl who would like to further her education.

Plans for the Ball are under the capable direction of Mrs. Malcolm S. Burr, the Ways and Means Chairman. Her committee consists of: Mrs. Frederick F. WINCHESTER AT BELMONT

MUST GAME FOR ONCE-BEATEN INDIANS

Winchester plays away again this week-end, going over to Belmont for a Middlesex League engagement with Belmont High at 1:30.

This is a must game for the Indians, who have lost one league game, and need this one to meet front running Wakefield with a chance for the league title on November 10.

Melrose scrambled the league race last Saturday by knocking off unbeaten Wakefield, while Winchester was winning from Reading, and the Indians, if they can get by Belmont tomorrow, can win the league gonfalon by beating Wakefield here two weeks hence.

Admittedly that will be a chore, and taking first things first Coach Knowlton and his charges have been concerned with their Belmont date and the necessity of winning this one.

Belmont doesn't have too good a record, having beaten Melrose, 13-6; won from Lexington, 2-0; and tied Reading, 6-6; while losing to Wakefield, 12-0; Cambridge Latin, 14-12; and Concord last Saturday, 33-12. With the exception of the Concord game, all Belmont's games have been low score battles and Winchester's scouts report the Red and Blue to have the best defense they have seen at that school for some time.

Winchester's record against the same schools is better than Belmont's, and the Indians should win tomorrow. However, they will probably have to be better than they were at Reading to turn the trick.

NOT TO REMOVE COMMON TREES

The Star learned yesterday that the plan to remove several maples on the Common along Common street from the center to Winchester station has been abandoned and the trees will be left standing.

The State plan for the overhead called for the widening of Common street on the Common side some three feet for angle parking, which would have placed the new curbing behind the line of trees along the common there.

Surrounding the trees with hot top to provide for angle parking would cause the trees to die in a few years, and with this in mind it had been proposed to cut down the trees.

Yesterday the Star learned that the street and curbing will remain as they are which will permit the trees to remain standing.

MATIGNON GUILD

Members of the Matignon Guild will meet at the high school on Thursday, November 8, at 2:30. Speaker of the day will be Laura S. Cochran of Winchester, noted fashion designer and commentator. A former model and director of the John Robert Powers School in Boston, Miss Cochran's topic will be: "Secrets of style, fashion, beauty, charm, and poise."

Co-chairmen Mrs. James Doherty of Arlington and Mrs. William Lanigan of Medford, will serve refreshments with the assistance of a committee.

Faculty members will be available for conference following the meeting.

ATTENDING KEFAUVER BREAKFAST

James A. Cullen of Bacon street was among the guests at the breakfast in honor of Democratic Vice Presidential Candidate Estes Kefauver at the Sheraton Plaza yesterday morning. He was invited by Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston, but he had received a personal letter from Senator Kefauver, inviting Mr. Cullen to meet him upon his arrival at the Boston air port. They have been acquainted for the past five years.

YOUTHS BATTLED NEAR THEATRE

Two groups of youths, one from Stoneham and the other from Medford, Malden, Somerville and Melrose battled each other on upper Main street near the Winchester Theatre Hallowe'en night about 10 o'clock.

According to the police five Stoneham boys were talking to some Winchester girls near the theatre shortly before the fighting broke out. The other boys, 12 in number, drove up in cars, looking for a party on Horn Pond road.

What precipitated the trouble could not immediately be determined, but police say the Medford, Malden, Somerville and Melrose youths got out of their cars and fighting broke out immediately.

Officer William Nash, on duty nearby, sent in a call to headquarters and a police detail under Sergeant Irving Reardon, comprising Officers James Flaherty, William Haggerty and John Hogan went to Officer Nash's assistance.

Most of the battlers were rounded up and taken to headquarters where their names were taken and they were questioned by Lt. Edward W. O'Connell. One youth was taken to the Winchester Hospital with a cut behind the ear necessitating nine stitches, and another, with stomach injuries said to have resulted from a blow with a piece of pipe. A severe wrist injury, a bruised arm and a bad black eye were among the other visible evidence of the fracas.

Police believe the head injuries of the youth taken to the Winchester Hospital and another treated at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford were made by blows from pipe wielded by the combatants, who ranged in ages from 17 to 19 years.

One of the two cars in which some of the youths escaped was later picked up by the police and its occupants questioned. Lt. O'Connell stated that a conference would be held at headquarters Thursday afternoon to determine what sort of court action would be taken against the youths.

ROBERT M. KEENEY

From a Portrait
by Bernard Keyes

KEENEY PORTRAIT PRESENTED

The Robert M. Keeney Memorial Library at the Winchester High School was crowded on Sunday afternoon, as former pupils and friends of the late Bob Keeney met to observe the official presentation of his portrait to the library which bears his name. From 1930 until his sudden passing in 1955, Mr. Keeney was head of the English department at the high school and one of its most distinguished and best-loved instructors.

Presiding at the informal ceremonies was Mr. John D. Stevens, senior class adviser, who was associated with Mr. Keeney in the English department for many years. After welcoming the guests, Mr. Stevens introduced Seth Weston, chairman of the gift committee of the Class of 1955, to whom fell the happy privilege of making the presentation speech. Also introduced was the artist, Mr. Bernard Keyes, who created the splendid likeness of Mr. Keeney.

JUNIOR HIGH OPEN HOUSE

A large, interested group of parents became students again Monday night at the Junior High Open House. Following a typical, telescoped schedule of classes, they met their child's teachers, were given a brief explanation of the scope and presentation of each subject, and had any questions fully answered. As the evening progressed, it became evident that children here aren't just "stuffed" with science, math or gym. Trained and dedicated teachers and principal are making a genuine effort to teach each child according to his abilities and his weaknesses with a soundly thought-out program of work and play.

Many parents took time out between classes to chat with the able principal, Mr. Dickman, to peek into unscheduled classrooms, or to compare notes with fellow parents. With the final class bell, guests were invited to visit the attractive cafeteria where cider and doughnuts were served them by Mrs. William Crowley and her committee.

Most impressed by the handsome, convenient, well-lighted building, and by the enthusiasm of the teachers, there was hardly a parent who didn't wish he could, in fact, turn the clock back to students days permanently.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

("Living With Your Heart" is written and distributed weekly as a public service by the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

Medical history is full of fascinating coincidences, but none more fascinating—or important to the human heart—than a miracle which began in a haystack.

Heart attacks occur when the arteries narrow and the blood clots, cutting off flow of blood to parts of the heart. After a heart attack, when the victim is in bed, the lack of activity causes the blood to flow even more slowly, and its susceptibility to more clotting—and consequently, a second heart attack—is even higher.

One of the most important tools to recovery is an anti-clotting agent —something to thin the blood so it flows more easily through the sick arteries and the struggling heart. Without such agents, thousands of persons now in good health would have been dead long ago.

In the late 1920's, midwestern farmers were losing hundreds of cattle to a mysterious malady they knew as sweet-clover disease. The cows ate rotted sweet clover hay and promptly hemorrhaged and bled to death at the slightest wound —even a routine de-horning.

In February, 1933, farmer Ed Carlson of Wisconsin lost five cows. Angrily, he took a carcass to the University of Wisconsin, demanding to know why. Dr. Karl Paul Link, an agricultural chemist, tried without success to make the dead animal's blood clot. It wouldn't.

That started a chemical search which lasted for years, with mountains of rotted sweet-clover littering his laboratory basement and experiment after experiment failing. Finally in June, 1939, he found a few tiny crystals. It took him 18 months of experimenting to get one teaspoonful of this crystal material He and his associates found it was dicoumarin, made of a chemical agent which thins blood by inhibiting the formation of prothrombin in the liver

This was what killed the midwestern cows. It proved to be easy to manufacture from coal tar derivatives, but it was not until 1941 that it came out of the laboratory and into your doctor's kit.

Today dicoumarol is a major medical weapon in preventing recurrence of heart attacks. It stops anginal pain. It is a lifesaver unknown a generation ago.

Coincidence and chemistry—the hand of man and the hand, perhaps, of God. Now and then, they work to keep you living with your heart.

INSTITUTE AT ST. MARY'S

Under the auspices of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, the twelfth in a series of Insitutes on a Deanery level was held at St. Mary's Hall, Sunday, October 28, with the officers of St. Mary's Parish Council assisting. More than 200 representatives of the 23 local parishes were present.

These Institutes are designed to serve as a guide for programs of the Council of Catholic Women and to aid in the integration of the Council with parish organizations already existing

The Woburn Deanery includes the following parishes: Arlington, Bedford, Billerica, Burlington, Concord, Lexington, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester and Woburn

Rev. Robert Bullock of St. Camillus Parish, Arlington, gave the invocation and Mrs. William A. Rodgers, Woburn Deanery President, presided. Rev. Joseph P. Donelan, Archdiocesan Moderator, also addressed the group. Mrs. Paul Robinson, acting Archdiocesan President, presented the Archdiocesan Officers who acted as Institute leaders.

After a brief meeting, the Institute leaders met with the parish chairmen and discussed with them the work of the Council, which is to carry out Archbishop Richard J. Cushing's program of Catholic action.

Mrs. Leo V. Manoli, President of St. Mary's Council, acted as hostess at this most inspiring and informative Institute which concluded with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament celebrated by Rev. Martin J. Dolphin at St. Mary's Church.

METHODIST BUILDING PROGRAM

This coming Sunday, November 4, at 8:00 p. m. the members and friends of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will reach another highlight in the history of the church.

An open meeting is being called in which the final plans and bids will be presented for discussion and voting.

This building program is actually the culmination of many years of dreams and efforts.

The new addition to the church is emphasizing the religious educational program to meet the needs of the church school. Approximately a dozen Sunday School rooms will be added and the old Social Hall and kitchen will be made over into individual classrooms.

Looking into the future, the new Social Hall may serve a multiple duty in the potential Sunday School growth, where space may be made available by portable partitions.

The church leaders have been very pleased with the wonderful progress made and the response on the part of the people as they were challenged to meet this new need.

ANOTHER GRIFFIN BEAUTY

The November 3 issue of the Saturday Evening Post has another beautiful color spread by Winchester's eminent color photographer, Arthur Griffin of Euclid avenue.

Entitled "Autumn Magic," Mr. Griffin's photograph depicts Mrs. Griffin walking along a leaf-strewn country road under a canopy of orange-red autumn foliage carried by tall trees that line both sides of the way. The colorful study was made at Sugar Hill, N. H.

UNITED NATIONS PROGRAM AT NOONAN SCHOOL

On Wednesday, October 24, Dr. Marie Fagerland's sixth-grade class at the Noonan School produced an original program commemorating the eleventh birthday of the United Nations. The upper grade classes and several parents attended and admired the colorful stage setting comprised of a large world map drawn to scale by David Bird, Richard Geary, Thomas Bolivar and Virginia Wier, and the flags of the 76 member nations of the U.N. made by the entire class.

The program opened with an explanation of the general aims of the United Nations given by Claire Hebert, followed by a summary of the functions of the chief U.N. bodies, as follows:

The Secretariat, Kathleen Drotter
The Security Council, John MacLellan
The Trusteeship Council, Donald McLellan
The General Assembly Keith Merritt
The Economic and Social Council, Kenneth Rocketenetz
The World Court, Paul Vollmar

The audience was then taken on an imaginary visit to a meeting of the U.N. General Assembly—over which Claire Hebert presided as chairman.

First, delegates from Indonesia, Libya and Israel, nations which owe their birth to the U.N. spoke, describing their countries and their major problems. Then, both sides of the Suez question were discussed by delegates from Israel, Egypt, the United Kingdom and France. This was followed by a welcome to three new nations to become U.N. members next month, (Tunisia, Morocco, and the Sudan) by the delegate from the United States.

Then followed a talk on the work of UNICEF by Carol Vigliotti who told a touching story of how UNICEF helped a little girl and her family in Honduras to become more healthy.

After the Assembly meeting was adjourned, the audience joined with the case in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Participating delegates were:
Indonesia, Thomas Bolivar
Libya, David Mullen
Israel, Paul Howard
Egypt, David Bird
United Kingdom, Gary Callahan
France, Richard Geary
United States, Virginia Wier
Sweden, Unity Paquette
Australia, Keith Merritt
Greece, John Sullivan

Cuba, John MacLellan
Norway, Kathleen Drotter
China, Kevin Rielly
Peru, Donald McLellan
India, Kenneth Rocketenetz

LEAVES SOON ON GOVERNMENT TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Seager of Winchester and Washington, D. C., were in town this week, visiting Mrs. Seager's father, Rev. William S. Packer and her brother, William S. Packer, Jr.

They returned to Winchester from visiting their new grandson, Peter Michael Wookey, in Toronto, Canada, and their son Walter, who is a freshman at Hobart College. They went on to Washington where Mr. Seager will prepare to leave in two weeks by plane to attend a two-day meeting of the Organization for European Cooperation in Paris.

Mr. Seager, who is Regional Director of ICA for the Near East, South Asia and Africa, will go on from Paris by plane to visit Athens, Khartum, the Sudan, Addis Abeda, Dhakran, Saudi Arabia, Teheran, Kabul, Kandabra, Karachi and New Delhi.

There he will leave the special plane and travel north to Nepal, to the south of Thibet, and return to the United States by way of Ceylon and the troubled spots of the Middle East, including Egypt, Israel and Jordan if hostilities are not too violent.

Mr. Seager visited many of the places named above after attending the Baghdad Pact Conference in Teheran last April as the United States Delegate to the conference.

UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY AT THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

On Wednesday, October 17, Mr. Dickman, principal of the junior high school, presented an assembly program on United Nations Day for the students.

Betsy Root opened the program with a passage from the Bible followed by the flag salute. Mr. Dickman introduced the speaker of the program, Mrs. William C. Cusack of Winchester. Mrs. Cusack spoke briefly on UNICEF of which she is alternate representative for the United Nations. UNICEF is an organization founded for the purpose of helping foreign countries to strengthen their child health and welfare programs.

Following Mrs. Cusack's informative discussion the students viewed a movie describing many helpful deeds that have been accomplished by UNICEF. The movie featured Danny Kaye who, working with UNICEF, traveled to many distant lands to lend a helping hand, encouraging and entertaining the children. The film showed the aid which UNICEF gives to the sick in need of food and medicines. It showed how so little to us can mean so much to others not so fortunate as we.

The students enjoyed the program thoroughly.

Next Tuesday is election day, and Winchester voters, if they need any particular urging, should be attracted to the polls by the fact that two of our fellow townsmen are running for office this year. Rep. Harrison Chadwick has represented Winchester in the State Legislature for some years now and is a candidate for re-election. Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., after establishing himself in town politics, is running for the State Senate in the Sixth Middlesex District.

Candidates at all levels and of all parties naturally hope you will vote for them, but those running for office who are most worth while urge you to vote, whatever your choice may be.

This is the Star's position. Vote! Vote for whomsoever you choose! But vote! There have been few years, we submit, when there has been a greater need for every voter to say his say at the polls.

The overhead is proving a popular, if not an especially safe place for youngsters about the square to play, and it would be a good idea to discourage this practice before a serious accident occurs. One pedestrian reported this week a half-ripe apple hurled from the upper level by some thoughtless youngster whizzed by his head as he was about to pass under the overhead in the square, and others have been concerned over the possibility of serious injury or worse to the kids using the overhead as a playground. One of the principal reasons for the abolition of the overhead was the danger involved. It is no good saving lives at the street level if we are going to lose them overhead.

Several weeks ago Hillside Paint and Wallpaper Company ran an advertisement in the Star warning householders against itinerant dealers and salesmen who may be selling service or merchandise, about which they or their prospective customers know little, and for the reliability of which, because of their mobility, it is virtually impossible to hold those who sell them responsible.

The ad advised that trading at home with your neighborhood dealer is good business, because being a merchant of the community he has a stake in the community's welfare, and further in the welfare of its citizens who are his customers.

He isn't going to sell you unreliable service or merchandise because his place of business is located in the community where his customers live, and they can get at him easily if anything he sells them or does for them turns out badly.

The point of the whole advertisement is that your home town merchant or service dealer wants your business, and wants to deserve your business by standing squarely behind the goods and services he sells. It isn't always safe to shop price alone. The fly-by-night dealer can always give you a good price.

ATTENDED YWCA CONFERENCE

Miss Adele Westaway of 51 Winford way, was one of 91 persons representing 12 Y.W.C.A. associations at the Northern New England Young Adult Conference in Nashua, N. H., October 27-28.

The yearly conference is designed to bring together young adult Y.W.C.A. members from Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island to discuss mutual problems and to exchange ideas for activities. Miss Westaway is a past chairman of the Northern New England Young Adult Conference and a serving as a volunteer club advisor at the Boston Y.W.C.A. and is on their Club Department Committee. Miss Westaway was part of a group of 18 young women to attend from the Boston Y.W.C.A.

Rev. William S. Packer of Yale street, for many years a member of the Boston Globe editorial staff and widely known for his emergency preaching and pastoral work at the Church of the Epiphany, is a patient at the Pond View Nursing Home in Stoneham.

THE DATE, NOVEMBER 15

The focus is on the future as the Winchester Christmas Seal Committee prepares for the 50th Annual Campaign, which opens November 15.

"There's no time for looking backwark to past successes in the fight against tuberculosis," says Sherman Russell, chairman of the 1956 Seal Sale. "We must look forward and plan increased efforts to protect the health of our people from this tragic disease."

Funds raised in the Christmas Seal Sale, which opens on Thursday, November 15, will be used by the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee and the Middlesex Health Association to fight tuberculosis through health education, rehabilitation and chest X-ray programs in hospitals, industries and communities. Some of the funds are alloted to research and medical education through cooperative programs with the National Tuberculosis Association.

P. O. ROUTE ADJUSTMENTS

At the beginning of this week the letter carrier routes at the local post office were adjusted to try to keep pace with the growing population of the town. Up to now, new houses which could not be absorbed by the present carrier force were delivered by a mail truck which took care of the fringes, new developments, etc.

Another route has now been added and these places are now incorporated into regular carrier routes. There are still sections of town where better service is provided by the use of trucks, where the houses are too far apart for efficient foot carrier service.

It is not to be expected that every patron will be satisfied, as this is an impossible task. However, the office is trying to give better service and the wrinkles which will develop will have to be taken care of as they occur. So, all the officials ask is that everyone bear with the local office while adjustments are being made.

One of the features of the readjustment is giving the business center of town two complete deliveries. The first delivery is strictly first class mail. The second complete delivery will consist of papers, magazines, circulars, etc., as well as any later first class mail.

The local business men contacted have expressed strong approval.

B. U. QUEEN CONTESTANT

Miss Jeanne Grindell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grindell of 9 Mystic avenue, a junior at Boston University, has been chosen as one of the finalists in the university's Homecoming Queen Contest.

Miss Grindell is enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts, and is a member of the Psychology Club. Miss Grindell was nominated for Queen by the student council of the College of Liberal Arts.

The Homecoming Queen is chosen through contributions to the Jimmy Fund, the children's cancer research program. Containers with the candidates picture on it are displayed throughout the University. The contestant whose container has the largest amount of money is then named Queen. In the past three years Boston University has given over $1000 to the Jimmy Fund.

"OBOY! A BUCK!"

Many a man with a keen eye for bagging a buck in the woods doesn't know how to salt away the kind of bucks that are found in pay envelopes. You can put it down as a fact that most people find it easier to make money than to hold on to it.

But that's where we come in: we make it easy to save, and profitable—your dollars grow with each deposit and every interest payment. Put your money here, where it's bank-safe!

The mailman will cover ground for you. Just drop your deposit in the mailbox, and let him do the travelling. Use our special forms and envelopes for banking by mail.

PARKHURST TEAS

The last of the teas given individually for each teacher on the staff of the Lewis Parkhurst School were held this week. Not only do these social gatherings provide a chance for mothers and teachers to meet informally, but they give the teacher the opportunity to express many of her aims and philosophies of teaching to the parents.

The two first grade teachers were honored October 18 and October 23. Miss Purington's tea was held by Mrs. Philip Hovnanian, and Mrs. Ray Howland was hostess to Mrs. Schwendiman.

Miss Page, Kindergarten teacher, attended two teas. The afternoon session parents met at the home of Mrs. Walter Bowen on October 25, and the morning session group at the home of Mrs. William Platzoeder on October 30.

The sixth grade tea for Mrs. Syssoeff was held Monday, October 29, in the home of Mrs. Richard Fisher; Mrs. William J. O'Malley was hostess to Mrs. Patterson, third grade teacher, on Thursday, November 1.

These successful teas are made possible by the generous help of the room mothers, who opened their homes, and their able committees, who provided the refreshments.

MRS. DOMENIC JOHN FAZIO

FAZIO — GORRASI

At St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning, October 20, Miss Marie Constance Gorrasi, daughter of Mr. Louis Gorrasi of 422 Washington street, became the bride of Domenic John Fazio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Fazio of 37 Mayberry avenue, Medford. Candles and white pompons decorated the altar for the 10 o'clock marriage ceremony, which was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. John M. Manion, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Miss Gorrasi was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Ann Gorrasi of Winchester as maid of honor. Another sister, Miss Jean Gorrasi of this town, was junior bridesmaid, and the bridesmaids were two cousins of the bride, Miss Rose Carol Staffiera and Miss Roselyn Gagliormella, both of Winchester, and Mrs. Anna Jordan of Medford, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white faille taffeta adorned with lace and pearls at the neckline and having a butterfly back extending into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a prayer-book with a white orchid and stephanotis.

All the bridal attendants wore identical cocktail-length dresses of aqua shantung with velvet collars and matching velvet crowns and shoes. They carried American Beauty roses combined with ivy.

Angelo Fazio of Medford was best man for his brother and another brother, Joseph Fazio of Danvers, ushered with Michael Sarcia of Chelsea and Arthur Gorrasi of Winchester, brother of the bride.

After the marriage a reception was held at the Italian-American World War Veterans Club. Mrs. Fazio, mother of the bridegroom wore a beige gown with rose accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Fazio will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and is employed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Fazio, who is an electrical engineer at the Raytheon Laboratory in Wayland, graduated from Medford High School and M.I.T. He is now studying at Northeastern University Night School.

GRANGE INSTALLATION

A joint installation of officers of Middlesex-Essex Pomona Grange, 28, and Winchester Grange, 343, took place Saturday evening, October 27, in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church, with over 200 Patrons and friends in attendance.

Pomona held a well-attended business meeting at 4 p. m. which was followed by a catered supper at 6:30 p. m.

The installation commenced at 8:30 p. m. with the Worthy Steward of the Massachusetts State Grange, John E. Johnson, and his suite performing the ceremony in their usual impressive manner. It is of interest to those not connected with the order to note that the entire ritual of the ceremony is repeated from memory and that this was the fifteenth installation by Mr. Johnson and his suite in the month of October.

Guests included George B. Redding, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Winchester, and Mrs. Redding; and the following officers of the Massachusetts State Grange: Arthur Thompson, Overseer; Clayton Morse, Trustee of the Educational Aid Fund; Ethel Rolfe, Home and Community Service Committee member; Henrietta L. Carter, Special Deputy; John Torkelson and Joshua Hennigar, Deputies.

Patrons and friends were present from Lynn, Lynnfield, Melrose, Reading, North Reading, Stoneham, Wilmington, Saugus, Wakefield, Woburn, Malden, Somerville, Merrimac, Burlington, Littleton, Chelmsford, Pinehurst, Cape Cod and New Hampshire.

Everyone who has loved the book with the Boston Garden's setting "Make Way For Ducklings," will be especially interested in the film of this book to be shown at the film programs this week. It is one of a new series of iconographic motion pictures for children entitled "Picture Book Parade," produced by Morton Schindel at the Weston Studios, Weston, Connecticut.

The iconographic film technique is used to adapt children's picture books to the motion picture medium. The picture and text from the book remain virtally unchanged, preserving the artistic and dramatic qualities of the original. Fluid camera action imparts to the pictures an illusion of motion, enhancing the movement the artist has achieved in his drawings. The story-teller's voice and sound effects are blended with original music scores by Arthur Kleiner, Music Director of the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Other films in the "Picture Book Parade" series which will be shown at later dates will be "Story of Ping," "Millions of Cat," "Hercules," Red Carpet," "Stone Soup," and "Andy and the Lion."

This week's program, Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10:

Art and Life in Italy
Nomads of the Jungle
Make Way For Ducklings

Next week's program, Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17:

LINCOLN SCHOOL MOTHERS' HALLOWE'EN FROLIC

On Thursday afternoon, October 25, a Hallowe'en Frolic was held for the children and parents at the school. This event, which was omitted last year, is always eagerly looked forward to by the school children, who attend in costume.

This year, as in the past, it again proved to be a huge success. Working with Mrs. Harry Wood, the president of the Association, was Mrs. Robert Joyce, who was chairman for the event.

Following is a list of some of the women, who worked very diligently to make the afternoon such a happy one:
Food Table, Mrs. Warren Hichborn
Plant Table, Mrs. Bruce Pendergast
Candy Table, Mrs. Fred Moore
Puppet Show and Movies, Mrs. Benjamin Gowing, Mrs. Henry Hanson
Coffee, Mrs. Clifton Woodard, Mrs. Edward Barlow
Grabs, Mrs. Robert Joslin, Mrs. William Jeffrey
Cider and doughnuts, Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley
Fortune Teller, Mrs. Robert J. Grenzebach
Game Room, Mrs. G. H. Curtis, Mrs. D. Hadidian

These women were assisted by their committees and several others who gave of their time.

We would also like to express our great appreciation to Mr. Nick Andon, of the Converse Market, for his kind donation of the cider.

Last but not least, Mr. Peter Benson, was as usual, helpful and hardworking and we thank him.

THE TEMPERATURE'S GOING UP!

The reading on the Red Feather thermometer in the Common has gone up from 33% last week to 57% today as the campaign moves toward the final big push to the top. The committee expects another rapid increase as reports come in from the various clubs and organizations, industrial, finance and retail groups.

By now most of the house-to-house soliciting has been done and any Winchesterite who has not been contacted can easily remedy the situation by dropping his check or pledge in the mail made out to the Red Feather and sending it to Mr. Thomasb Raphael, 24 Tufts road. Our town is well on the way to reaching its goal of $57,800 but the support of every single resident will be needed

Forgive this writer for switching from reporting to editorializing, but have you see the fine articles in this paper about the six local Red Feather agencies, written by Mrs. Thomas P. Gibb? They have been very well done and have certainly brought home the value of the Red Feather to these nearby organizations whose work we all know and respect. Every one of them would be hard put to carry on at all without the financial help that comes directly through your participation in the annual campaign.

Slow down as you pass displays in town that have been set up by the Winchester Hospital, the Visiting Nurse Association and the Boy and Girl Scouts. The Home for the Aged and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul are also recipients of Red Feather money and their quiet devotion and never-ending thoughtful assistance is self-evident.

Everywhere you look, whether in Winchester or Greater Boston, you see the bright red feathers to remind you that this is the time of year to support the Big Campaign, the Red Feather Campaign, where you can give once for 277 health and social welfare agencies. If you have already given, most heartfelt thanks. If not, how about it? Raise the temperature in that thermometer to the top!

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The College Club opened its fall season Monday evening with an interesting explanation of the work of the New England Board of Higher Education. Dr. Robert H. Kroepsch enlightened the audience of the works and ambitions of this new concept in higher education. He pointed out that "The New England Higher Education Compact" is to provide for greater educational opportunities and services for the youth of New England through establishement and maintenance of a co-ordinated educational program.

The Compact aims to further education in the fields of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, public health and in professional, technical, scientific, literary and other fields. This program is to help our higher education facilities to catch up with our ever-growing population in the United States.

It further aims to assist the states and institutions, both public and private, in their efforts to advance and disseminate knowledge and to maintain the high social and economic level of the New England region.

The South has already begun this program in their universities, and results are being felt.

Dr. Kroepsch made his audience realize the importance of his work and how imperative it is that it be carried out successfully.

Coffee and mints were served before the meeting. The Simmons group was in charge of the refreshments.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 1 NEWS

Boy Scout Troop 1 of Winchester which was re-organized 4 weeks ago under the sponsorship of the Winchester Lions is growing rapidly, consisting of over 30 Scouts at present.

On Sunday, October 28, the following Scouts, under the leadership of Scout Master Michael D. Saraco, went to Camp Lane, Burlington; Michael Lonigro, Francis Donovan, Karl and Tom Russo, William Paquette, Howard Hackett, Kevin Cullen, Albert Walker, Gene Lane, John McSweeney, William Graham, John Sullivan, James Callahan, David Mullen, Thomas Mooney, Robert Morris, Donald Nadeau, Richard Saurman, Nicholas Harris, Richard Crowley, Robert Migliaccio, Paul Herman, Paul Colella, Gordon Parrish, John Powers, Kevin Kelly, Thomas Treacy, Robert McCormack, Michael D. Saraco, Jr., Victor J. Ficociello, Wallace Scrivens, Joseph Strazzere, Peter Giannotti. Randolph Kazazian of the Lions Scout Committee also took the trip.

When the scouts arrived at Camp Lane, Scoutmaster Saraco instructed the troop on making a fire. Each Patrol cooked a beef stew and if the parents could have seen the way the boys ate it, they wouldn't expect any more complaints about the food at home.

Plans are being made for the Charter Night which will be November 14. More details will be printed next week.

This week-end the scouts of Troop 1 will deliver "Please Vote" cards, house to house in the Noonan School section of the town.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The November meeting of the Winchester Art Association will be held in the Library Gallery on Wednesday evening, November 7, instead of the usual Tuesday evening. The subject "How to Draw a Line" will be discussed by Mr. Harold F. Lindergreen, who is well known to the members of the Art Association.

Mr. Lindergreen graduated from the Mass. School of Art in the Dept. of Design. He is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists and has exhibited there, and he is also a member of the Boston Water Color Society. He is past president of the Eastern Art Assn., vice president of the Mass. Art Education Assn., and is on the faculty of the Garland Junior College.

For four years he held the position as the founding director of Castle Hill. Now Mr. Lindergreen is director of the education program of the Bureau of University Travel.

The exhibit will be pictures loaned by Winchester friends and includes Chinese and Japanese prints and paintings, also etchings, line drawings and charcoal drawings.

The painting classes which are sponsored by the Art Association, are progressing favorably. There are one or two vacancies in the evening class directed by Mr. King Coffin. Anyone desiring information may call Mrs. Guy Livingstone, WInchester 6-3976.

ST. MARY'S MOTHERS' CLUB

The club held a very successful Country Store at the church hall on Thursday, October 25. Mrs. Frederick Brigham, and Mrs. Daniel Fortiere, co-chairmen for the occasion, are to be congratulated on the excellent work done by the committees under their direction.

Twenty-one of the eighth-grade girls of St. Mary's School helped a great deal by acting as ushers at the affair. They are: Carol Bairstow, Martha Brigham, Barbara Bruno, Constance Caulfield, Elizabeth Donlon, Sharon Fernald, Amy Finn, Mary Fortiere, Judith Grimes, Mary Jo Hanley, Judith Hession, Mary Juliano, Josephine Kearns, Vivian Keliher, Virginia Lizotte, Barbara McCarthy, Ruth Nease, Carol Palage, Margaret Prue, Linda Stevens, and Kathryn Winterson.

Since all prizes for the store were donated, the club wishes particularly to thank the donors of these items.

MANY THANKS!

Editor of the Star:

We wish through the Star to express our appreciation and thanks to the teachers of the Junior High and Washington Schools, the Washington School Dads' Club, Peter's classmates, friends and relatives, and finally the doctors and nurses who made Peter's stay at the Winchester Hospital as pleasant as it could be.

For the past five weeks, Peter has been in the hospital because of a broken leg received when he was struck by a car. He has returned to his home, but is expected to be in a cast for several weeks.

Again, thanks loads for your wonderful gifts and notes of encouragement!

LINCOLN SIXTH GRADE VISITS BOSTON MUSEUMS

Grade 6 of the Lincoln School visited Science Park and Boston Museum of Fine Arts recently. The trip was directed by teacher, Robert Nearine and was a school sponsored project. A total of 31 children participated.

For the second successive year, Lincoln School was invited to participate in the Metropolitan District School Program. This is a program whereby schools are permitted to send children to the Museum under supervision. Free access to the exhibition halls is combined with a demonstration of scientific principles and an animated lecture. The demonstration, this year, concerned itself with sound transmission and more practically, with television, tape recorders, and pitch control.

As part of the social studies program, the remainder of the day was spent investigating the early American collections of Fine Arts. Pupil interest centered around the Paul Revere Room, the collections of early American furniture, and the portraits of Revolutionary leaders by Stuart and Copley. A side trip through part of the Egyptian collection proved an interesting experience.

The classroom follow up for the trip consisted of letters written to Science Park with illustrations of the visit. It was hoped that free passes, awarded by the musuem, might be earned by the letters and pictures.

Miss Cullen's third grade class at the Lincoln School took a walk about the center of town to get placement of important buildings and streets for their map study in connection with a Social Studies unit.

Mrs. Sullivan's and Mrs. Buckley's class took a Nature walk in the Fells to observe the birds and the seasonal changes in the trees and bushes as part of their study in science.

L. W. V. NOTES

One of the finest services performed by the League of Women Voters is the annual release of hundreds of non-partisan, factual publications whose sizes range from one page flyers to 600 page books. The large majority of these publications are put out by the national office of the L.W.V. which is located in Washington, D. C. League members and their husbands are familiar with the "National Voter," a bi-monthly four page newspaper crammed with concise, up to the minute analysis of affairs in Washington. Each member receives this paper automatically upon joining the League. In addition, pamphlets are always available at nominal cost on items which the League is studying or has recently studied. The Carrie Chapman Catt organization, the educational arm of the League, puts out larger booklets generally written by educators, lawyers, newspaper men, or other authorities in the field with which the booklet deals. One of these booklets which was recently used by the Winchester League is "The Role of Political Parties U.S.A.," by Joseph C. Harsch of the Christian Science "Monitor."

This year the Massachusetts State League has very proudly presented to the public as well as to League members an outstanding book, "Mass. State Government: A Citizens' Handbook." Published by the Harvard press, this book has had excellent reviews from every critic and was analyzed recently on Channel 2 by Louis M. Lyons, Harvard's new analyst and commentator. The Lincoln Filene fund directors thought so highly of the book that they have presented a copy of it to every public library and every high school library in the state.

A state publication to which all Winchester citizens are freely welcome is available now at all of our banks, the library, many hairdressers, etc. It is the very pertinent "Voters' Guide" which presents many facts about the offices, platforms, and rules of voting for the November 6 election. The cost of presenting this pamphlet to the public has been shared by the local leagues and the state organization.

In this field our local league has not been idle. Last spring it presented to Winchesterites the 31-page booklet, "Inside Winchester, U.S.A." The booklet can still be purchased for 35 cents at the Spaulding Bookstore. Approximately 800 copies have been sold and the League has nearly regained the cost of publication. Almost all town meeting members own a copy and report that they find it an excellent reference.

The Winchester League greatly regrets the recent resignation of our excellent publications chairman, Mrs. Thomas Halloran, who is moving out of town. However we feel very fortunate in securing Mrs. Richard Kelley of Somerville as our new publications chairman. Mrs. Kelley's husband is dean of the school of special studies at Tufts and the Kelleys have many friends in Winchester.

Robert M. Mulford of Pierrepont road, general secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, was the principal speaker on October 24, at the annual meeting of the MSPCC Board of Directors and Town Committee members in Western Massachusetts at the Northampton Hotel in Northampton.

In his presentation remarks Seth Weston expressed the feeling of gratitude shared by all the friends of Mr. Keeney to the many people who helped to make this occasion possible. Though it was impossible to mention them all, Seth recalled the names of several. It was Betsey Sargent, also of the Class of 1955, who first suggested that the library in the as yet unfinished high school should be named after Mr. Keeney. Acting upon this suggestion, representatives of the Class requested that the School Committee take the necessary action. The Committee's approval was promptly forthcoming, whereupon the Class of 1955 decided to devote its class gift funds toward the purchase of books of select quality. Seth noted that in making these purchases the school librarian, Elizabeth Livingstone, was most helpful.

This was just the beginning, however. Soon, the Parent-Faculty Association contributed substantially to the beautification of the library by purchasing draperies for the windows and refinishing the large charge-out desk to match the other furniture.

Finally, and most important of all, there was the need to secure a suitable plaque and to arrange for the painting of a portrait. In accomplishing this two-fold task, said Mr. Weston, no one contributed more than did Miss Pauline Goodrich, art instructor at the high school. It was she who carved the beautiful lettering for the plaque. She was also instrumental in securing the services of the distinguished artist Mr. Keyes and in organizing the campaign for necessary funds. Seth also expressed appreciation to Mr. Murray Moore, a long-time friend and fellow alumnus of Mr. Keeney at Amherst College, for his assistance in this project.

In closing, Seth paid tribute to his former friend and teacher. "Mr. Keeney," he said, "gave us ideals about education and about life. He was a guide, a help, and a comfort, and I know that all who knew him loved him."

To close the presentation ceremonies, Mr. Stevens called upon Dr. Dwight L. Cart, minister of the First Congregational Church, to deliver the benediction.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Harlow Russell, president of the Parent-Faculty Association, and Mrs. Ralph Jope served light refreshments to the guests. Mrs. Robert M. Keeney and her daughter Anne were present to greet their many friends.

MRS. VICTOR CARLSON

CARLSON — BROWNE

At the Congregational Church in East Weymouth on Friday evening, October 12, Miss Barbara Clair Browne, daughter of Mrs. Gladys M. Browne of 34 Madison street, East Weymouth, became the bride of Victor Roland Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Borge Carlson, of 16 East street. The Rev. Hugh Gillis officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the church parlors.

Miss Browne was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, John Weir of East Weymouth, and attended by her sister, Mrs. Weir, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Smith of North Hanover and Miss Barbara Anderson of East Weymouth.

The bride wore a gown of white lace over satin with an illusion neckline and stand-up collar, cathedral sleeves and a bouffant skirt extending into a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a fitted cap of nylon tulle and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and feathered carnations.

The matron of honor wore a ballerina-length dress of ruby crystalette over taffeta with a matching headpiece of velvet leaves. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and gold chrysanthemums with the gold predominating.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of periwinkle blue with matching headpieces, and yellow was the predominating shade in their bouquets of gold and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Browne, mother of the bride, was gowned in mauve lace and net over taffeta, the yoke of her bodice being adorned with sequins. Her accessories matched her gown and she wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Carlson, the bridegroom's mother, wore yellow roses with her mink colored sheath of lace and brown accessories.

Roy Carlson of Winchester was his brother's best man, and ushering were Robert Kent and Gordon Richburg, both of Winchester.

After a motor trip through Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Carlson will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Weymouth High School and Mr. Carlson graduated from Winchester High School

The arrangements were most unusual and beautiful, showing much thought and individuality. The following members exhibited: Mrs. Roval Barry Wills, Mrs. Norman Mitchell, Mrs. J. Edward Downes, Mrs. Chandler Symmes, Mrs. William Goodhue, Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini, Mrs. Frederick Russell, Mrs. John B. Wills, Mrs. Roland Patrick.

CHURCH CANVASSERS' KICK-OFF DINNER

All canvassers from the seven cooperating churches are invited to attend the "kick-off" dinner, Friday night, November 16. The Winchester United Church Canvass Committee has engaged a popular caterer. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. at the Church of the Epiphany. There will be time to meet and exchange ideas with canvassers of the different churches.

After dinner the Rev. James Edward Doty of Lynn will speak. The committee is happy to have been able to secure the Rev. M. Doty for this evening as he is not only an interesting man and a good speaker, but one who has been actively engaged for several years in United Church Canvass work on the North Shore. The North Shore United Church Canvasses have been outstandingly successful, so the Rev. Mr. Doty should be inspiring to our group.

S. S. CHANGE AFFECTS PROFESSIONAL WORKERS

For taxable years after 1955, persons who work for themselves—alone or in partnership—as lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists, started building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on the same basis as self-employed persons previously covered by the law. It is estimated that about 200,000 professional people are affected by this change in the Social Security Law.

CLASS OFFICERS ELECTED AT HIGH SCHOOL

The election of class officers was held at the high school recently, following several days of active campaigning by members of the student body. At a special assembly of the senior class, the candidates for class president spoke to their classmates outlining their programs and discussing their qualifications. Because of the rule that a successful candidate must win a majority of the votes cast, it was necessary to conduct run-off elections for several of the positions.

Following is the list of new class officers:

CAN QUALIFY FOR AIR FORCE CADET

Master Sgt. Al Raftopoulos, the Air Force Recruiter for Winchester, announced to the Star recently that the U. S. Air Force has authorized him to process five young men from the Winchester area for the Air Force Aviation Cadet program for the months of October and November 1956. These vacancies are prize assignments. Only the top men in this area will be selected to fill the vacancies. To qualify a young man must be age 19 through 26, single, must be at least a High School Graduate, of high moral character, in good health and have a desire to fly.

For successful applicants their first phase of Cadet schooling is a 3 month Pre-Flight course at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. There they will learn the fundamentals required for the development of an Air Force officer: Military customs and courtesies, physical conditioning, Air Force organization and administration, military management, military law and justice, geography, leadership, intelligence, and air warfare.

After Pre-Flight, the student proceeds to 42 weeks of Primary-Basic where he is trained in Navigation and Electronics. Primary-Basic consists of approximately 180 hours of flying training supported by 850 hours of academic training.

Graduation from Primary-Basic is a momentous milestone. The Student has emerged as a junior Air Force officer with silver wings, a second lieutenant's commission, and a starting pay of more than $5,000 a year.

For complete information and testing for these vacancies all young men in the Winchester area are urged to contact M/Sgt. Al Raftopoulos at the Air Force recruiting station, 49 High street, Medford, Mass., or by phone by calling MYstic 6-5109 from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and after 5:00 p. m. by calling WInchester 6-1764.

AT LONG LAST!

Winchester surely now enjoys
Abolishment of the crossing
With no increase of roar and noise
And with police less bossing!

The firemen do not have to wait
Lost minutes for the passing
Of a sixty-car long Diesel freight
Across the highway flashing!

And now the East does meet the West
Without the intervention
Of lowered gates, some less than best
For accident prevention!

Now what some feared, a Chinese Wall
Is somewhat less than that,—
You hardly notice it at all
And don't have to hold your hat!

So may our townsfolk all agree
The change is one real blessing!
From controversy at last, free.
And perils, so distressing!

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Gerald J. Murphy
District Manager, Social Security Administration
Cambridge, Mass.

Today I am addressing my discussion of the new Social Security Law to women—to wives of retired insured workers, to widows of deceased insured workers, to women workers who are in employment or self-employment that counts toward old-age and survivors insurance benefits, and to those dependent mothers who might become eligible for survivors payments if an insured son or daughter should die.

Heretofore there has been a uniform age at which benefit payments could start for all beneficiaries other than children and wives or widows with children in their care. That age was 65; it remains 65 for male beneficiaries. The 1956 amendments to the law, however, lower the age at which women can receive benefits. Beginning with November of this year (1956) women can start getting payments at age 62.

Widows and (in case there is no surviving child or spouse entitled to benefit payments) dependent mothers, may begin getting survivors benefit payments when they reach age 62. They will get the same monthly benefit that they would have started to get at age 65 under the old law.

Wives of retired insured workers and retired insured working women can, if they choose, start getting benefit payments at age 62. However, the monthly benefit amount payable to them will be somewhat less than the amounts of the benefits they would have received had they waited until age 65. In case a wife or an insured working woman elects to start getting benefits before age 65, she will continue to receive a reduced amount after she reaches that age. The longer a woman waits after reaching 62 and before age 65 to start getting payments, the less the reduction in the amount of the monthly benefit. As I have said above, however, once she starts getting monthly payments at a reduced rate, she cannot later qualify for the full amount.

Let us take the example of a woman who has been employed in work covered by social security long enough to become insured. Assume that her full monthly benefit amount, based on her average earnings in covered work, is $78.00. If she waits until she reaches age 65 to retire, she will get that full amount every month from then on. But she will reach age 62 in November 1956. If she decides to retire then, she can get old-age payments starting with November. The amount she will receive will be 80 percent of the monthly amount she would receive if she waited until she reached 65. This will be $62.40 monthly instead of $78.00 per month. If she waits until she is 63 to start getting retirement payments, her benefit amount will be $67.60 monthly. Every year, and every month within a year in which she puts off receiving retirement benefits up to age 65, will increase her benefit amount slightly. I want to point out again, however, that once she starts getting reduced payments, she will not be able to qualify later for the full payment.

The above example applies also to the wife of a retired insured worker receiving benefits. In her case, however, the amount of the monthly benefit she would get, if she chose to claim payments at age 62, would be 75 percent of what she would get if she waited until she reached age 65. As in the case of the woman worker, the wife's monthly payments will be a little larger each month she defers claiming benefits after her 62nd birthday and before she reaches 65. However, if her retired insured husband should die at any time after she has begun to receive her reduced benefits she will begin receiving full widow's benefits plus the lump-sum death payment

Today I have explained how age 62 has become important to women under the new Social Security Law. In my next article I will tell why age 50 is of great significance to many now disabled workers formerly in employment or self-employment that counts toward old-age survivors insurance benefits.

Did you know that: the U. S. Army is seeking to enlist young men for duty with the Anti-Aircraft Command? These young men will be assigned to duty at anti-aircraft sites after completing the Anti-Aircraft or Guided Missile School at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Despite the inclement weather, a large group of mothers attended a tea given for Mrs. Schwendiman, first grade teacher at the Lewis Parkhurst School, Tuesday, October 23. Mrs. Ray Howland was the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bertram Dube and Mrs. John Finamore at the tea table.

Speaking to the mothers, Mrs. Schwendiman told of her goals in teaching and the skills to be developed this year. Reading, the most interesting skill, became the topic of lively discussion, ending an enjoyable afternoon.

ADVERTISE IN THE STAR

ARE YOU EXPECTING PLANTS BY MAIL?

A word of advice to home gardeners comes today from Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun. "If you're expecting a shipment of shrubbery or plants through the mail, you'll get best results" he says, "if you take certain steps to co-operate with postal authorities. This is the shipping season for nursery stock orders, and much of the stock is perishable." So here's what you should do, according to Postmaster Gilgun and the Gardening Council of New York.

If you plan to be away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept your shipments, keep watered and in a cool location until your return home. Otherwise, the plants may deteriorate in storage at the Post Office, Express, or Freight Station while awaiting delivery.

If a neighbor cannot accept delivery, contact the Post Office or Transportation Agent, and leave instruction as to where the plants can be delivered. A cool basement, garage, or shaded porch is always better than a mail room or On-Hand Department for storage of plants and dormant nursery stock.

If you are home when your shipments arrive, make sure you have prepared the gound for planting in advance, and put the nursery stock in the ground as soon as it arrives. Early planting, liberal watering, and following the sender's instructions will insure best growth of all plant materials.

EDITH NOURSE ROGERS UP FOR REELECTION

With a most distinguished record in American public life the Honorable Edith Nourse Rogers, our member of Congress for the Fifth Congressional District, will be up for re-election to the 85th Congress which convenes in January. Because of her achievements for the people of her District and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Congressman Rogers will doubtless receive another big vote.

Mrs. Rogers has instituted, and supported Federal projects that have greatly benefited the Fifth Congressional District, representing invested capital in the hundreds of millions, thousands of jobs and most of all, millions of dollars in payroll and wages to so many living in this area.

Congressman Rogers has also been responsible, personally or indirectly, for bringing to the Fifth District and to Massachusetts many new private industries and has succeeded in obtaining manufacturing contracts from the Federal Government for many of the old established industries.

Everywhere the Honorable Edith Nourse Rogers, is known and respected for the great work she has accomplished for our war veterans. Mrs. Rogers has been Chairman of the great committee in Congress on Veterans Affairs. It was because of the thinking of Mrs. Rogers and her efforts that the G.I. Bill of Rights was enacted, which provided educational benefits for the veterans of World War II and it was Mrs. Rogers who again had the G.I. Bill of Rights extended to include the veterans of the Korean War. In World War II Mrs. Rogers created and had enacted into law the legislation which provided for the Women's Army Corps. It was this legislation which opened the door of the entire military establishment of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Marines to the women of America. Mrs. Rogers has opened a whole new life for the amputee veterans, those who have lost arms and legs, and she has done great things in opening new vistas for those blind veterans who lost their eyesight as the result of combat. Edith Nourse Rogers is respected deeply by our war veterans as one of the great humanitarians of all time.

PARKHURST ASSEMBLY TAUGHT FOREST FIRE PREVENTION

"Fire Prevention Out-of-Doors" was the theme of an assembly program presented by the fourth grade pupils in Mrs. Helen Mallion's class at the Parkhurst School recently. The entertaining play, written and acted by members of the class, used the familiar character of Smokey the Bear to help carry the important message of the need for carefulness in our forests.

Each pupil in the class was able to be the character he most wished to be, except for a few boys who took second choice when they found that the quota for positions as Forest Rangers had been filled The girls in the class did considerable research on the qualifications for U. S. Rangers, and they prepared difficult examinations for each boy applying for a position in that important field.

Those taking part in the play were:

Smokey the Bear — Wayne Taylor
Brownie Leader — Nancy Neill
Brownies—Joanne Berg, Judith Dunn, Nancy Robinson, Lee Sulmonetti
Cub Leader — James Batten
Cubs—John Barges, Ronald Bartell, Garth Moulton
Mr. Careless and Family—Davis Blanchard, Barbara Doane, Virginia Keith, Annette Petralia, Linda Thomas
Mr. Careful and Family—Russell Osgood, Katharine Comins, Cynthia Freeman, Deborah Monkiewicz
Forest Rangers—Douglas Johns, Mark Schmidt, David Swanson

The attractive forest scene, which included trees, animals, birds, a waterfall, a bridge, and a Forest Ranger's tower, was created by the members of the class. They hope that Mr. Careless and his family learned a good lesson in fire prevention from Mr. Careful and his family and that they will always help the Cubs, Brownies, Forest Rangers, and Smokey the Bear to conserve our natural resources.

PARKHURST SCHOOL TEA GRADE 1

A tea in honor of Miss Purington, first grade teacher at the Lewis Parkhurst School, was held Thursday, October 18, in the home of Mrs. Philip Hovanian, 146 Cambridge street.

Miss Purington's concept of the first grade child and his particular needs was of especial interest to the first grade mothers attending the tea.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Gordon Fisher and Mrs. Harry D. Mueller.

WASHINGTON GRADE TEAS

The mothers of the second grade pupils at the George Washington School were entertained on Wednesday, October 10, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hall, 16 Kenwin road. Refreshments were prepared and served by the room mothers, Mrs. John Nutile and Mrs. Kezar Nichols, assisted by the following committee: Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Richard Cunningham, Mrs. Paul Eaton, Mrs. Henry Clarke, Mrs. Leo Dantona, Mrs. Gunnar Jansen, Mrs. Stanley Osgood, Mrs. Andrew Sinclair, Mrs. Robert Tesar, Mrs. William Varley.

An interesting and informative discussion was held regarding the curriculum of the second grade with Miss Leonor Rich, principal, and Miss Mary Cullen and Mrs. Barbara Eason, grade teachers, participating.

A tea for the mothers of the third grade was held at the home of Mrs. George Steers, 38 Hillcrest Parkway, on Thursday, October 18. Refreshments were served from an attractively decorated table with a centerpiece of asters in shades of pink. Miss Rich and Mrs. Roland Hanson, president of the Mothers' Association, poured. Mrs. Frances Houghton and Mrs. Ruth Graham, third grade teachers, outlined to the mothers the curriculum to be covered during the school year. Arrangements for the tea were made by the room mothers, Mrs. Frank Willette and Mrs. Dana E. Peterson, assisted by their committee, Mrs. Robert Elliott, Mrs. Edward Howard, Mrs. George Rowe, Mrs. John Sheehan, Mrs. John Shanahan and Mrs. William Varley.

Continuing the series of grade teas, the mothers of the fourth grade pupils had tea with the teachers, Mrs. Louise B. Mathews and Miss Nancy Glennon, at the home of Mrs. John Lane, 5 Orient street, on Tuesday, October 23. Despite the rain, a large number of the room mothers were present. Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Guy Santo, room mothers, were in charge of the refreshments, which were served from a very attractive table with a centerpiece of autumn flowers. The committee consisted of Mrs. Donald Brosius, Mrs. John Coakley, Mrs. Benjamin Crue, Mrs. Leo Ford, Mrs. Wallace Gardner, Mrs. Elmer Grinnell, Mrs. Clarence Knight, Mrs. Mario Marrone, Mrs. John McFarland, and Mrs. Bernard McLaughlin.

At each of these teas, each mother was given mimeographed sheets listing the subjects their children are studying and what is to be covered in each subject during the year This information has proved very helpful and interesting to all.

Safety Tip: Temper your driving with common sense, advises the AAA. It's only common sense to Look and Signal before you pull out of a parking space—yet too Common Sense way.

HOW'S YOUR HIGHWAY I. Q.?

How's your highway I. Q.? How much do you know about the facts of driving safely?

A quick-quiz to find out how much—or how little—drivers know about the cause of accidents has been prepared by James Haley of the Luther W. Puffer, Jr., insurance agency, based on information supplied him by safety engineers for the Kemper Insurance group. Haley says the Highway I. Q. quiz offers drivers a brief refresher course on some common misconceptions about driving safety.

"Knowing the correct answers to these questions," he points out, "may someday save a driver's life."

1. What is the minimum safe distance in dry weather at which to follow another car? (a) 10 feet for each 10 m.p.h.? (b) one car length for each 10 m.p.h.? (c) 20 feet? or (d) three car lengths for each 10 m.p.h.?

2. What are the conditions of the roads at which at least 80 per cent of last year's traffic fatalities occurred, (a) wet? (b, dry?

3. Do more accidents occur in good weather or bad weather?

What should you do if you become fatigued while driving? (a) speed up to make your destination before you fall asleep? (b) pull over to the curb and rest? (c) stop and eat a heavy meal? (d) take some pills?

5. What is the fastest and safest way to stop a car? (a) slam the brake pedal hard? (b) ease the brake pedal to a deliberate stop? (c) pull the emergency brake and depress the foot pedal? (d) pump the brake pedal gently but firmly?

6. When a tire blows out, what is the best thing to do? (a) apply the brakes quickly? (b) apply the brakes gently or not at all? (c) pull off the highway? (d) speed up to counteract the effect of the blowout?

7. There are four specially engraved invitations to death on the highway. Which is the greatest cause of death? (a) reckless driving? (b) not having right-of-way? (c) driving on wrong side of center line? (d) excessive speed?

8. Where is the best place to put an old tire you think may blow out if driven far? (a) either front wheel? (b) in the garage? (c) spare wheel? (d) either rear wheel?

9. Drunken drivers or drivers who have been drinking are involved in one out of how many fatal accidents? (a) 24? (b) 6? (c) 18? (d) 106?

10. In addition to the specific wording of the signs, the shapes of highway signs have significance. Indicate the shape of the signs which have the following meanings: (a) stop, (b) caution, (c) railroad crossing, and (d) reduce speed.

What about the answers? Haley said the correct answers are as follows:

1. (b) One car-length for each 10 m.p.h. You must compensate for emergency stops and for any advantage in braking distance the car ahead of you may hold over yours.

2. (b) Dry. Dry roads are no guarantee of safety, Haley said. Speed and careless driving are more dangerous than the condition of the road.

3. Good weather. Only one out of five fatal accidents occurs in inclement weather, according to the Kemper safety engineers.

4. (b) Pull over to the curb and rest. Avoid starchy foods, heavy meals and liquids. Drugs, which slow up reactions, are dangerous.

5. (d) pump the brake pedal gently but firmly, particularly on wet or icy pavement.

6. (b) Apply brakes gently or not at all. In case of blowout, a sudden application of the brakes may cause a car to overturn.

7. (d) Going too fast for road, weather and visibility conditions is most common cause of fatal accidents.

8. (b) A worn out tire is a menace to the driver, his passengers and to others on the road. Keep it in the garage, put it on the rubbish pile or make a swing for the kids, Haley advised.

9. (b) One out of six. The figure for pedestrian deaths only is even higher. One out of every four adult pedestrians killed in traffic had been drinking.

10. (a) Octagonal. (b) Square. (c) Circular. (d) Diamond-shaped.

Traffic Tip: Let your car warm up before taking it into traffic, advises the AAA. It's not fair to other drivers to stall in traffic, and it's a dangerous thing to do.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

COUNCIL MEETING

The Fall Council (formerly Association) Meeting of the Winchester Girl Scouts will be held at the Cabin on Tuesday, November 13, at 1:15 p. m. Dessert and coffee will be served by Mrs. Dan Fortiere and her committee. This meeting is for all Girl Scout adults, and will include troop leaders, assistants, troop committee people, board and board committee people. A short business meeting will be called to order by the Council President, Mrs. Thomas Hill, at 1:45 p. m. after which there will be information and discussions, of the neighborhood plan. Miss Stephanie Hersey, Winchester's delegate to the Senior Roundup held in Michigan this past summer, will be present to tell about her experiences.

Service for Red Cross

The Winchester Scout and Brownie troops who are interested in a service project during the next month, are requested to call the Girl Scout office for information for gift boxes for the Red Cross "Christmas-on-High Seas" project —this is an annual project and many Girl Scout troops have spent part of a troop meeting in past years in cooperation with the Red Cross on this worthwhile service. Deadline date is November 20.

Troop Registrations

Most all Winchester Girl Scout and Brownie troops, register annually during the month of November—Registration blanks have been given or sent to all known troop leaders. Any troop leader who has not received one, should call the office and one will be sent to her. These should be completed and returned to the office with the necessary registration fees, before the end of November.

Games, Songs, Training Session

Mrs. William Glowacki, training chairman, announces that a morning session to learn games, songs and singing games will be held at the G.S. Cabin on November 8, from 10 - 11:30 a. m. Mrs. James Marchant will be the instructor and all troop leaders, Brownie and Intermediate, who need help in this part of their troop program are cordially invited to attend.

Fall Sectional Meeting

The Fall meeting of Metropolitan Boston, Section 1, will be held on Wednesday, November 7, at the Elks Home on Church street, in Everett, from 9:45 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. The theme will be "Troop and Community Service" and will be of interest to all Girl Scout adults, especially those working directly with troops. Call the local Girl Scout office for additional information, or to arrange transportation if needed.

Mrs. Thomas Hill of Winchester, who headed this community's delegation to the three-day Regional Girl Scout Conference in Springfield, Mass., on October 24, 25, 26, reported on the conference proceedings.

The conference, Mrs. Hill said, was attended by Girl Scout adults and Senior Scouts from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Among the major problems discussed at the conference, were the need for more Girl Scout volunteers to serve as troop leaders and to take on other "behind the scenes" jobs in Girl Scouting and ways to improve the Girl Scout program so that it will provide more opportunities and challenges for girls.

As a result of the conference, the Winchester Girl Scout Council is planning in the near future, new activities for girls, development of neighborhood service teams, and other new ideas and projects stemming from the regional conference

Among the speakers who addressed the conference were Miss Oleda Schrottky, Special Adviser, Field Department of the National Staff and Mr. Phillip Cummings, commentator, news analyst and educator. The delegates also heard a panel discussion on Community Relations. Led by Mrs. Anne B. Ford, Representative to Washington, Community Relations Divison of National Headquarters, the panel members were: Dr. Harold B. Gores, Superintendent of Schools, Newton, Mass., Rt. Rev. John P. Carroll, Director, Catholic Youth Organization, Boston, Archdiocese, Rabbi Herman Snyder, Temple Sinai, Springfield; Mrs. Edith Zibelli, Chairman, Youth Work Committee, Massachusetts Council of Churches, and Mr. Kenneth LeMere, Secretary, Central Labor Board, Springfield.

Taking her subject from the Girl Scout Promise, "On My Honor," Miss Schrottky reminded her listeners that "We, as parents, leaders, teachers, must accept the solemn obligation to take time to expose children regularly to ethical principles; not only by quoting these or pointing to them, but ourselves living them to the best of our ability."

In addition to Mrs. Hill, other Girl Scouts from this area who attended the conference were: Mrs. Ralph Thomson, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. E. M. Shinnick.

SONS OF ITALY Bowling News

Once again we are at the Winchester Bowladrome with six weeks gone by, which hardly seems possible.

"Time waits for no man," so as you read this you will have bowled through the first quarter of this season.

There is a new team on top this week as the Jitterbugs were D. D. T.'d off the top rung as they dropped four straight points to the Bee Bops. At the same time the All Stars white-washed the Blue Eyes to cause a temporary two-way tie for top honors.

Team Standings

All Stars	17 - 7
Bee Bops	17 - 7
Jitterbugs	14 - 10
Blue Eyes	12 - 12
Lindy Hop	11 - 13
Rock & Roll	10 - 14
Hot Shots	9 - 15
High & Low	6 - 18

Hi Single — Babe Tofuri—130

Top Six Bowlers

Tony Saraco	103.8
Richard Bucci	101.0
Bob Fiore	99.2
Dick Fiore	98.3
Joe Berardi	97.0

Tony Saraco is setting a terrific pace in the average department, for if he lets down but for a moment, the coyotes are ready to pounce upon him. There are a good number of top-notch bowlers this year, which makes for a most interesting season in the average department.

We stated last week that there weren't any 300 bowlers but the rebound was wonderful, as eight of them broke the barrier this week, one in particular for the first time this year.

This happy lot was paced as many time before by Tony Saraco, 327; Richard Bucci, 308; Arca Amico, 312; Max La Crubba, 302; Mel Fiore, 310; Roy Penta, 308; Bob Fiore, 312; and for the first time in his bowling carrer, "Roaming Eyes," Dan Gattinieri, 311.

The Bee Bops set the pace this week with 1447 pinfalls. Setting a team average pace of 96.5 for the night, they trounced the Jitterbugs 4 points.

Their captain and capable leader, who now needs no fanfare of introduction, is Bob Fiore, who is really doing a remarkable job.

His teammates are such prominent men as Leroy Penta, president of the Star Lumber Co.; Dan Gattinieri, the clothing industrialist and philanthropist; Dick Tofuri, son of that famous playboy, "Mushy;" and M. J. Saraco, prominent contractor in our town. Enough said!

The overall average this evening of all the teams was 91.7. There were no absentees and, in fact, the overall average percentage is well over last year's at this date. Keep up the good work, boys.

Notes

Your reporter noticed that:

If Dick Tofuri and Joe Ciarcia keep adding weight they'll be joining the Amazons. The fightingest man that ever wore a pair of bowling shoes is Larry Penta; heaven help you if he finds a mistake in addition or otherwise.

We know that Suppa works for Filene's, but it is not necessary for him to model a 4-way stretch girdle to drum up business; or is his fat running over, too? Jeff has developed a new stance! As he releases the ball he stands erect with his hands extended like fins, making a perfect example of a dudded rocket sputtering as the ball misses the target.

As one married man to another, this is one night we can howl! Word of advice, don't howl too loud, as the walls have ears! No names mentioned for safety reasons. The lighting system got an assist as Ralph Tauro removed his hat. Blinding, eh what? Though he was low man he was still among the spectators, who else but Ben Gillotti.

As the night came to a close there was quite a commotion at the cigar dispenser. Scooting over, I observed "Curly Locks Chic" Vespucci taking a safety pin off his right pocket and taking out a dime, which he tried to insert in the automatic cigar dispenser to no avail.

With perspiration running down his face he went over to Jack, the attendant, and borrowed a file to remove the rust and mildew from the dime (Jack Benny the second)! Finally, after getting the cigar, he presented it to that famous connoisseur of women, the Ziegfeld of our times, Dan Gattinieri.

It seems that this ceremony has been taking place each week. Silas Marner Chic has been paying for the last 4 or 5 weeks, the bet being that the low man buys the cigar. The only way the contract can be broken is if the price of cigars goes up, for which he is hoping!

We close again, and the prize winner this week was Joe Berardi, captain of the Jitterbugs.

MODERN PUBLIC SPEAKING

Elsewhere in this issue is the advertisement of a course in Modern Public Speaking inaugurated in Woburn by Bob Ferullo, a Woburn boy, who has had much experience in this important field.

A graduate of the Carnegie Institute course in New York City, he has served as director and supervising director of Carnegie classes and assistant instructor of advanced public speaking.

He is now studying at B.U. and has served as judge in many public speaking contests in New England and New York.

VISITED MT. HOLYOKE

On Friday, October 26, twenty-two High School seniors and juniors visited Mount Holyoke College. After a swim in the gymnasium pool, the girls had lunch in the dormitories, with the Winchester girls now at college acting as hostesses, visited various classes, had a conducted tour of the campus, and met with Miss Newhall, Dean of Admissions, in Wilbur, the social hall. The drivers were Mrs. Richard Emerson, Mrs. Adin Bailey, Mrs. Waldon Hersey and Mrs. Harlow Russell.

"BIG MIKE" MURPHY

"Big Mike" Murphy, block buster of Winchester High School's football teams of 1954 and '55, is still hitting up the middle in college ball as a 200 pound sophomore fullback on the St. Joseph's College eleven at Collegeville, Ind.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Murphy of Allen road, "Mike" is fast becoming Coach Bob Jouron's key offensive threat in St. Joseph's drive toward the Indiana Collegiate Conference title. He is the bread-and-butter boy who gets those two or three yards on third down when possession of the ball is at stake.

St. Joseph's dropped its first game to Xavier, "Jocko'" Serieka's alma mater, but since that 13-8 reverse the Pumas have beaten Great Lakes, 29-0; Depauw, 32-0; and Valparaiso, 35-0. Murphy has been outstanding in all three victories. Against Great Lakes he averaged 5.3 yards a carry and against Depauw, 4.9 yards.

Already "Big Mike" has established a new conference record for rushing the ball, carrying 31 times in the Valparaiso game to break the old mark of 24. In his 31 carries, practically all inside the ends, Murphy gained 117 yards for a 3.8 average. In all 31 carries he never lost a yard.

In the 67 times he has carried the ball in four games he has been tackled for a loss only twice, for a total of five yards lost. He has rolled up a total of 262 yards in his 67 carries for an average of 65.5 yards a game and an average of just under four yards a try. He has scored four touchdowns, and is one of the most consistent ball carriers St. Joseph's has had in years.

TIE IN MIDDLESEX

WINCHESTER AND WAKEFIELD AT TOP OF LEAGUE

The Middlesex League, re-activated this year after a long layoff, continues its unpredictable way with upset following upset and the league championship likely to be in doubt until Winchester and Wakefield class here Nov. 10.

Melrose, far from impressive in early season, rose to the heights last Saturday by knocking off hitherto unbeaten Wakefield, 21-18, to drop the Scarlet into a top tie with Winchester, loser only to Concord in the first game of the season for both schools.

Winchester squeaked by Reading, 19-6, scoring two touchdowns in the final quarter. The Indians play Belmont this Saturday at Belmont, and will be favored to win; though Wakefield was a top-heavy favorite last week against Melrose, and look what happened! Concord crushed Belmont last Saturday, 33-12, and the Red and Blue has shown little that would install it a favorite to beat Winchester tomorrow.

The other teams in the Middlesex League, Stoneham and Lexington, played non-league games last Saturday, Stoneham losing to Danvers, 7-6, and Lexington dropping a 25-0 decision to Punchard.

Indians Finally Prevail

Intercepted Passes Hurt Reading In 19-6 Win

Winchester came back from Reading last Saturday afternoon with a 19-6 win over Reading High in a Middlesex League game at the Junior High Field. The game was a tight one and somehow you can't get over the feeling that Winchester's win was a bit on the lucky side.

Reading, as usual, was fired up for this one, and out-statisticked Winchester, 16 first downs to 10, with a total of 288 yards rushing to 234 for the Indians. The Rockets threw six passes, completing two for 19 yards and having three intercepted. Winchester didn't complete either pass attempt. Both teams fumbled disastrously, Reading twice and Winchester three times. The Indians lost 20 yards in penalties to 25 for Reading, the Rockets' final 15 yarder for unnecessary roughness leading to Winchester's final touchdown.

It was really those three pass interceptions that raised hob with the losers, those and a stout goal line stand that stopped the red shirted Reading boys at the beginning of the final quarter on the Winchester four.

Winchester had a chance in the first quarter when the Indians blocked a Conway punt and recovered on their own 40. The locals swept to two first downs on the ground, only to lose the ball on a fumble at the Reading 26.

With Beighley and White doing the bulk of the carrying the Rockets drove to the Winchester 35 where they in turn fumbled away the leather. Winchester had to kick and Murphy dropped the Reading safety on the Rockets' 15.

Once again Reading started to roll, driving out to its 41, where an attempted lateral was spilled by Murphy for an eight yard loss and Conway dropped back to the punt. He got the kick away, but Reading was offside on the play, and on the next attempt to punt, Conway got a bad pass from center. First trying to run with the ball and being hemmed in away back, he finally threw a desperation pass down the field, apparently trying to down the ball.

The pigskin, however went right into the eager arms of Cosimo Paonessa, and the little halfback lost no time in toting it into the end zone for the six points by which Winchester led at the half. Russo missed the try for goal from placement.

The sigh of relief from the Winchester stands at the half sounded like the air rushing out of a busted balloon, for the Rockets looked like sure scorers in the waning moments of the second quarter.

Conway ran the kickoff back to his 36, and three plays later a 15 yard personal foul against Winchester nullified some good defensive work and gave Reading a first down at Winchester's 45.

From there, first White and then Beighley got away for good gains to give the Rockets a first down at the Winchester 13.

Reading's running game was going well, the Indians seeming to have no defense for a sweep right with Beighley carrying. At this point, however, the Rockets took to the air, and little Freddie Bartlett made the second of two providential interceptions for Winchester, plucking the pigskin out of the ether at the one yard line and getting back with it to the Winchester 10 just before the half ended.

Coming out for the second half Reading was full of fire and returning the kickoff to their 36, the Rockets moved steadily down field to a first down at the Winchester 20.

Here the Indians put on the first of two good defensive stands. White on a sweep left was piled up on the line of scrimmage. Wendell got four through the line, but Flaherty stopped White again without gain, and a fourth down sweep was stopped by the Indians two yards short of first down, with Winchester taking over at the 12.

Winchester couldn't go and Russo got off a short kick that carried only to the Winchester 35. This time Reading did it.

The Indians broke up an attempted lateral for a five yard loss, but Beighley, on that pesky sweep, whizzed out to the right to the Winchester eight where a good tackle by Bartlett postponed the touchdown.

Conway picked up three to the five, Delong failed to gain but on third down Hayes found a hug hole outside Winchester's right tackle and galloped over for the touchdown. Joe Cussen squarely blocked the try for point after from placement.

The score really fired Reading and shortly after the kickoff when Russo ran from kick formation up the middle on 4th down and failed to make it, on a referee's decision that his kneee had hit as he catapulted himself well beyond the first down mark, Winchester had plenty of cause for concern.

The apprehension didn't appreciably lessen as Conway hit Hoekel with a pass at the Winchester 27 for a first down as the third quarter ended.

White swept to the 18 and Beighley repeated to the 12 for another first down, but Winchester stopped Beighley with only two at the 10, and then piled up the little speedster without gain. Hayes bucked for four, but with the ball at the six, fourth and four the Indians stopped Beighley at the four and took over.

Paonessa, Russo and Longworth made first down at the 16, Paonessa added one and Thomson made first down at the 26.

Russo added another first down at the 36, and then Longworth sent Thomson on a sweep right. For once his mates got "Dougie" by the line of scrimmage, and the speedy halfback fled along the sidelines to the Reading goal line where he and a Reading defender upended the goal line flag as they drove into the end zone.

The officials ruled Thomson had stepped outside at the five, and on the next play Winchester fumbled with Reading recovering at its 6. With the score tied at 6 points this looked like it might be it.

However, the god of battle was riding on the Winchester banner two plays later when Reading fumbled and Neil Kerrigan fell on the ball for the Indians at the Reading 17. From that point Russo in five straight carries went over, going the last three yards off his own right tackle after making a first down at the Reading 3. An attempt to pass for the extra point failed to connect.

Reading worked the ball to its 44 after the kickoff, but here an attempted triple pass was smeared back on the Reading 37. On the next play big Jim Wakefield intercepted a Reading pass at the Reading 45 and returned it to the 40.

Each team lost five yards for offside, and with the ball on the 40 a fumble drove Winchester back to the 46. "Doug" Thomson drove through to the 30 and a 15 yard penalty for unnecessary roughness gave Winchester a first down at the Reading 15.

"Dougie" hit off tackle to the 11 and then skirted his own right end to drive into the end zone. This time "Moe" Russo put the ball squarely between the uprights for the extra point, and time ran out with the kick.

HARRIERS LOSE MCCL TITLE TO NEWTON

The Red and Black cross country runners ran into powerful Newton on the 2.4 mile course at Tufts College, last Friday, and dropped the crown they won last year by a 50 to 66 margin.

The MCCL title run saw 110 runners, representing 16 schools, start the long trek over the flat Tufts course. The race was a two team battle with Newton the favorite and Winchester trying to keep the title for a second year.

Spike Paranya of Lexington, favored to win the individual championship, jumped away to an early lead which he never relinquished. Herb Osgood of Salem dogged his heels for about a mile but the pace was too fast and he had a fight to take second over Briar Havey of Newton, only a few yards back.

Capt. Ken Brown of Winchester allowed the leaders too big an early lead and although he came fast in the last half mile he had to be content with fourth place.

Paranya broke the course record with a 11:32 effort. Newton took the team title with 3 - 5 - 9 - 12 - 21 for a total of 50 against Winchester's 4 Brown, 7 Ekstrom, 15 O'Connell, 18 Saurman, 22 Callahan for 66. It was a close race and a rather bitter loss for the Indians who had not tasted defeat for nearly two years.

The Junior Varsity race was a 28-78 runaway for Winchester who placed all its five scorers in the first 15 and took four of the first 6 places in a field of 177. Woburn finished in second place.

Robin Carlson and Charlie Clifton moved out of the pack early and soon raced away from the rest of the runners They ran stride for stride until the last 200 yards when Carlson drew away to win by about 6 yards. Seaver closed fast to take fourth and Charlie O'Connor was a a strong 6th. Howie Bates, running his best race, closed the team score in 15th.

The team now faces the big ovent of the year, the State meet on Saturday, when the Indians will again defend the title they won last year.

IMPORTANT LETTER To SUMNER G. WHITTIER

Dear Sumner:

From reading the newspapers and listening to television, I regret to say that your opponent is distorting unbelievably your record just as he did mine two years ago.

For the first time in any of the seven statewide campaigns in which I have participated I was compelled to take the air and charge my opponent with distortions, misrepresentations and half-truths of my record.

Apparently he will not learn that our citizens will not be misled by outright and deliberate misrepresentations of the record of a public official.

You can be justly proud of your record. Unscrupulous distortions cannot change it. I know you will win on November 6th.

Sincerely.

HIGH SCHOOL PFA PLANS OPEN HOUSE

Members of the executive board of the Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association met at the home of President Evelyn R. Russell on Monday evening to complete plans for the annual Open House which will be held at the High School on the evening of November 5.

In letters mailed this week, Association President Evelyn Russell and Principal W. Howard Niblock extended to the parents of high schoolers a cordial invitation "to see the school through your student's eyes." With school enrollment at record figures, the Association expects that this year's Open House will have the largest attendance ever.

IMMEDIATE LEAVE IN DECEMBER

"When do I get my first leave?" has long been one of the first questions asked by Army recruits as soon as they have been sworn in. The answer has usually been: "After you complete your basic training."

Those men who enlist between December 15th and January 1st will be given a different answer to that question. It will be: "Right now, if you want it."

Sergeant First Class William Bonnell of the Army Recruiting Station at 49 High street, Medford square, announced this morning that he has been given authority to offer men enlisting during the last two weeks in December up to 15 days leave immediately after they are sworn in at Boston Army Base. This action has been taken by the Army so that men may enlist and still be assured of being home for the holidays. All such leaves must terminate on or before January 7.

In addition to being home for the holidays this year, men taking advantage of this offer on the part of the Army will reap another benefit. Their enlistments will terminate just before the holidays, which will enable them to be home for Christmas that year, also.

SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

Wade L. Grindle, chairman of the general committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, has announced that its 11th annual meeting will be held on the evening of December 5 in the Winchester Public Library.

All organizations that have contributed to the scholarship fund this year urged to have representatives at this meeting. Reports of the accomplishments of the past year, as well as outlines of the work for next year, will be made. Election of officers will be held.

The foundation has had a very successful year and some interesting reports will be heard.

UNITED CHURCH CANVASS POSTER CONTEST

All posters to be entered in this year's United Church Canvass Poster Contest must be in the church office of the First Congregational Church not later than noon, Wednesday, November 7.

It would be well to check carefully to see that your poster contains all the necessary information called for, both on the front and back of the poster.

Prize-winning posters will be on display in downtown stores and at the Canvassers' "kick-off" dinner.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

The Fall Meeting of the Bay State Historical League was held at the First Church in Eliot square, Roxbury, on Saturday, October 20, as guests of the Church and Roxbury Historical Society.

Mrs. Robert Barclay, the Secretary, gave a brief report of the annual meeting of the American Association for State and Local History, held at Old Sturbridge Village on October 7, 8 and 9.

The Historical Societies of Wellfleet, Chatham, and Colrain were voted into the League. It was then announced that the Winter Meeting would be held at the New England Historic Genealogical Society on January 19, 1957.

Dr. Richard D. Pierce, PhD., Professor of History of Emerson College, gave a "Brief Historical sketch of Roxbury and the Church."

The present 152-year old Meeting House was erected on the site of the 6th church built in New England in 1631. Here John Eliot, the Apostle to the Indians, was minister for nearly 40 years. Across the street was "Dillaway House" (the parsonage) where during the Revolution General Washington stopped and reviewed his troops on the Church Green. It was from the church that John Dawes started his famous ride.

Rev. Everett Carlton Herrick, D.D., Pres.-Emeritus of Andover-Newton Theological School, spoke on "John Eliot," saying that he was most charitable, liberal, industrious, and self-sacrificing. He learned the Indian language, put it into English letters and then translated the Bible into words of the "Praying Indians," (a copy of which was on exhibition). He founded the 1st private school in America, the Roxbury Latin School, 311 years ago.

The Church and "Dillaway House", the headquarters of the Roxbury Historical Society, were full of priceless antiques.

Refreshments were served in the Parish House at the close of the well-attended meeting.

Winchester Historical was represented by the following: Misses Clara Russell, Laura Tolman, Persis Richardson, Louise Bancroft, Mrs. T. T. Greenwood, Mrs. Arthur Belville, Mrs. P. J. Glendon, and Mrs. Helen Winn Smith of Wakefield.

COMMUNITY CHEST AIDS CONFERENCE OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

(Sixth in a series of articles on Red Feather aid to Winchester)

Benefits from the current United Community Services Campaign will be felt throughout Winchester as funds are distributed to six local agencies and institutions, among them the Conference of St. Vincent de Paul of the Immaculate Conception Parish.

The Conference is a charitable organization which gives help wherever it is needed, regardless of religious affiliation. The St. Vincent de Paul trucks are a familiar sight, collecting clothing and furniture, to be repaired and used again wherever needed. Less well known, perhaps, is the quiet, kindly work done by the members of the Conference, visiting homes in pairs, helping families to solve their own problems. The investigators can fill emergency needs on their own responsibility, but for longer-term problems they report back to the Conference.

Family bills for food, clothes, fuel, light and medical services are taken care of by the Conference when needed, especially when the problems are of a temporary or borderline nature and do not require resort to public welfare. The conference advises families where to get additional help when their problems need to be referred to other, more specialized agencies. Many children who need a few weeks in the country are sent to summer camps, at the Conference's expense, in whole or in part.

To carry out its work the Conference depends to a large extent on the United Community Services, although it also receives contributions from the Church. The five other local agencies which share in the two-day flow of Red Feather funds between Boston and its suburbs and which have been reviewed in previous articles, are: the Fellsland Council of Boy Scouts, the Winchester Girl Scouts, the Winchester Hospital, the Home for Aged People in Winchester, and the Winchester District Nursing Association.

FINAL MORNINGS LECTURE

Since the time of Moses, women have seldom been so challenged "to light the candles of freedom and peace" as in today's grim world. American women, with their traditional belief in the dignity of man, have a special and vital role on the world stage. In diverse ways, whether "to write with truth upon the immortal minds of children," or, with the integrity of Grandma Moses, simply to paint, each can answer her own call to greatness, as Robert Browning expressed it, "all service ranks the same with God." And who is to deny that the most important point of the compass is the place where you stand?

It is the diversity of gifts, united, that makes America strong, and offers the greatest weapon against communism. This was the inspiring message of Mildred Buchanan Flagg, noted author and lecturer, in the final mornings program at the Music Hall last Thursday morning.

Though few people ever make the headlines, even the headlines for years have proved that the individual, not the event, is most important. With lively sketches of some of the famous people she counts as friends, Mrs. Flagg re-emphasized this theme. Whether with the courage of General and Mrs. Dean, with Albert Schweitzer's devotion to humanity, or the indomitable spirit of Helen Keller, each "lighted a candle." Mme. Curie, Dr. Sikorsky, Halie Selassie, the King and Queen of Greece, Churchill, Ike, John D. Rockerfeller, assumed stature in Mrs. Flagg's portraits chiefly because they gave their own best gifts unashamedly as individuals. Humble or famous, Mrs. Flagg's challenge was a moving call to the greatness in each of us.

This season's exceptional series was organized by Mrs. Joseph Worthen and sponsored by the Winchester Wellesley Club for the benefit of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and the Wellesley College Development Fund. Mrs. Ralph Jope most graciously introduced each speaker. Pouring at the coffee hour before this final lecture were Mrs. Robert Holmes and Mrs. Dunbar Shanklin.

DEVER AGAIN?
NEVER AGAIN!

"After a brief period in Congress, the Democratic candidate for Governor was induced by Dever's promise of future support to leave the Federal service and accept appointment as State Treasurer. Dever delivered. In 1954, the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. This year, the Democratic nomination for Governor.

"Given this background, is it not reasonable to assume that the election of Dever's boy would mean a return to the incompetence, the inefficiency and the subservience to improper political pressures against which the people of Massachusetts rebelled in 1952?

"You face a choice between Sumner Whittier, a man of proven ability, seasoned by twenty years of experience in the problems of State government, and a creature of the Dever machine.

A "THANK YOU" FROM ITALY

Milan, October 18, 1956
To the readers of the Winchester Star

I left Winchester almost four months ago and you must excuse me if I have been so long without sending you any news about what happened to me during this time.

Leaving from Boston on June the 23rd, I took a bus trip with 35 other foreign exchange students of the Boston area, stopping in Detroit, Chicago, Knoxville, Tenn.; Washington, D. C.; and New York.

Our one year stay in America was over on July the 24th, when a ship loaded with 550 of us left from Quebec on the way back to Europe. From then on our American experience entered definitively the "world of memories."

Even now after four months of life back in the family I often think of the days spent in Winchester and, believe me, I always think of them with a great joy.

I have been studying pretty hard these months to prepare for some exams I passed successfully last week and now my regular life as an Italian student begins again.

All I want to say to you today is, many thanks for accepting me in your community for one year, for letting me attend your High School and for the many other things you did for me. As time goes by I understand more and more every day all the good that my stay in the States and in Winchester particularly has brought to me.

I do not want to mention here any names because I am sure I would forget someone. My thanks go again to everyone of you distinctly and collectively hoping to be able to pay back in Milan to some of you the hospitality that you so generously offered me last year.

To finish this short letter I want to repeat a phrase that so often was told to me while still in Winchester: "Good Bye and, please do come and see me sometime."

So long.

Yours sincerely,
Paul Kluzer
Giampaolo (Paul) Kluzer
Via Ariosto 23
Milano, Italy

P. S. to the Editor of "The Winchester Star:"
Dear Sir:

I wrote this letter to you hoping that you'll be able to publish it on the paper. You would do a great favor to me, since it is pretty hard for me to thank personally all the many people I feel I must thank.

My best regards and thanks to you since now in any case: both if you'll be able to print the letter or not.

ARLINGTON-WINCHESTER SIMMONS CLUB

The October meeting of the Arlington-Winchester Simmons Club was held October 2 at the Robbins Memorial Library, Arlington. Winchester hostesses included Mrs. William Glowacki, Mrs. Will Skerry, Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves, Mrs. Donald Fritch and Jean Marks.

After a short business meeting, Miss Jane Curtin, acting Director of Admission, was introduced as the speaker of the evening. Miss Curtin spoke on the college as it looks from the Admissions Office. This year 1040 applications were received to fill 313 openings for the September, 1956 class. This makes a total of 1500 undergraduates, graduate and special students. The future looks good, said Miss Curtin, when one checks the incoming classes who are more and more capable.

Two new courses have been added to the curricular: in the School of Science, a course in medical technology; in the School of Publications, a course in technical writing.

Those present appreciated the opportunity to receive first-hand information of activities at the College.

FIRST TIME FOR BELLINO

Editor of the Star:

Saturday, October 20, in Staunton, Va., we witnessed something that Winchester football fans had never seen in four years of following the exploits of Joe Bellino on the field. Unhappily, Joe was benched for three quarters of the game due to a minor hip injury. We are not happy to report this but we think his many admirers would like to know the story.

Joe, as your readers have been previously informed, is attending Columbian Preparatory School in Washington, D. C., in preparation for a career at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis. Our son, Eddie, is now attending Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va. Columbian Prep played S.M.A on Saturday and we went down, not only to see our son, but also to see Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo play. Frank was co-captain for the day.

The game started and we had to be very careful about our enthusiasm because we were sitting with the Staunton students and, of course, our boy was with us and is supposed to be filled with Staunton enthusiasm. On several occasions, however, when Joe had the ball or Frank made a spectacular charge to block a pass or kick, we were on our feet cheering for the two boys from home

One time when Frank made an exceptionally good charge and broke up a play before it could get started, Eddie stood up and yelled, "How to go!", and then clapped his hand over his mouth in embarrassment and looked up and down to see if he had been noticed by any of his superiors Truly it was a rather difficult situation for loyal Winchesterites such as the Morses.

Early in the first period, Joe went out off tackle for a pass which he caught right in front of us on about the 20-yard line and hi-jinxed along the sideline for the first touchdown, cleverly sidestepping two tacklers in the process. It was like old times to see Joe do this and our hearts were warmed.

Sometime later, Columbian had the ball and in kick formation, Joe tried to kick the ball on fourth down. He made an attempt to kick and then ran off to his right and went perhaps four or five yards but not enough for a first down and the ball went over to S.M.A. Joe was taken out and we didn't see him in the game again.

The play had looked like a fake punt; however, we are not football experts and we could not be sure. The only thing we knew was that Joe wasn't playing and we could see him on the bench getting up and moving about apparently trying to work out a pain in his right hip. Frank played the whole game and did an outstanding job, as you could well expect.

When the game was over, we sought out Joe to see what had happened and we discovered that he had been hurt in some play that had taken place between the time of his touchdown and the punt play. It seemed he tried to kick the ball and couldn't get his leg up and so had elected to run with it. He didn't seem to think it was serious and hoped to be back in action in another week.

Needless to say, we were disappointed not to see more of him on the field as well as afterwards. Both boys had to go back to school promptly and this is about the end of our story.

Joe's parting remark to me was that, that was the first time in four years that he had to stay on the bench because of injuries. We hope to see Frank and Joe on Saturday, November 3, at the Notre Dame-Navy game here in Baltimore.

May we, through the medium of this letter, extend our best wishes for all the good things in life to our many friends in Winchester. Winchester is truly a wonderful little town and those who live there should count themselves very fortunate.

Yours truly,

HARRIERS WIN DIVISIONAL

KEN BROWN BREAKS COURSE RECORD

The Winchester runners swept to an easy victory in the Pilgrim Divisional race held at Essex Agricultural School in Hathorne, Thursday, October 18. The Indians scored 30 points to second place Wakefield's 66.

The annual Divisional race proved to be an all Winchester affair as the local club took both both the varsity and junior varsity race as well as the individual championships.

The varsity race promised to be a two man affair as Captain Ken Brown of the Red and Black faced Herb Osgood of Salem, the only runner to defeat Ken this season.

Thirty-five runners took off on the rugged 2.5 mile course and Osgood jumped into a early lead. Brown, not to be trapped by an early torrid pace, as he was in the Salem-Winchester meet, stayed back about 100 yards.

Osgood held on to his lead at the mile and three quarter mark as Ken, running easily in second place, with Bill Lobdell of Wakefield made his move

Brown accelerating to a fluid sprint, overhauled Osgood and passed him, increasing his margin to win by 200 yards, and in doing so established a new course record of 14:08.5 to break the mark of 14:08 set last year by Steve Paranyas of Lexington.

Lobdell of Wakefield was a strong 3rd and Ouellette of Salem took 4th in front of Dan O'Connell of Winchester who ran his best race of the year.

The Red and Black completed its scoring with Mike Callahan, 7th; Harry Ekstrom, 8th; and Bill Saurman, 9th. The other two varsity runners were Bill Emerson, 10th; and Quent Roberts, 12th.

The Junior Varsity completed Divisional meets by winning the JV title handily with 21 points to 2nd place Revere's 44.

The JV race was a two man affair in the last half mile and Robin Carlson and Charles Clifton of Winchester matched strides as they fought for the individual title.

Robin edged Charlie in the last 10 yards to win by a scant yard or two. Penta of Revere was a surprisingly strong third in front of Don Seaver.

Charlie O'Connor, 6th, and a rapidly improving sophomore runner, Don Lewis, 8th; completed the JV scoring. There were 77 boys running in this race.

The Red and Black have a non-league dual meet with Stoneham, October 23 and then face stern opposition as they try to defend their MCCL title on October 26 at Tufts College against Newton and Woburn, tops in the 18 school league.

ATTENDED UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

MRS. CUSACK HEARD DULLES PRESENT U. S. RESOLUTION

Mrs. William C. Cusack of Lakeview road, who is alternate United States delegate to the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), has just had three interesting weeks, the first of which was spent in Washington being briefed for the work she is to do.

For the past two weeks Mrs. Cusack attended executive board meetings of UNICEF, which coincided with the meetings of the UN security council, giving the UNICEF delegates opportunity to hear some of the exciting security debate.

Last Thursday all other UN meetings were adjourned to permit everyone to attend the meeting of the General Assembly, at which Secretary Dulles presented the United—States resolution on the Middle East Crisis, subsequently approved by the attendant nations.

Mrs. Cusack described as especially thrilling the opening of the General Assembly when the new president of the assembly, from Chile, called upon all present to stand and join in prayer.

The meeting of the General Assembly lasted from 5 in the afternoon until 3 o'clock the following morning, and it was at its conclusion that Mrs. Cusack was privileged to meet and talk with both Secretary Dulles and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

A week ago Mrs. Cusack and the United States delegate to UNICEF, Dr. Martha Eliot gave a luncheon at the Cosmopolitan Club in New York for delegates from 10 member countries, including delegates from India and Israel, the Ambassadress from the Dominican Republic, and delegates from the USSR, Canada, Italy, Yugoslavia, Colombia, the Philippines and Pakistan.

FELT MILL FIRE

A large crowd gathered to watch a two alarm fire which destroyed a storage shed at the Bacon Felt Mill on Grove street Sunday afternoon. When firefighters answered a 4:47 alarm, they found the building enveloped in flame, and put in the second alarm. While Engine 3 and the Chief's car from Stoneham, and a ladder truck from Arlington covered Winchester Headquarters, all six pieces of apparatus from Winchester fought the blaze.

In half an hour they brought the flames under control and eliminated any chances of its spreading to the nearby main building of the abandoned mill. The storage shed, which burned quickly because of its wood construction, was empty. This shed was the last remaining structure of the old mill, the rest of which burned to the ground shortly after the turn of the century.

Chief Callahan discovered there was also a fire on the first floor of the main building, which was empty, and upon investigation found that this fire had been deliberately set, and that there had been several other attempts to set fire to this building. He believes that a group of children who were seen around the mill shortly before the fire were responsible for both blazes, and is now carrying on an investigation to learn their identity.

AUTO OVERTURNS

A Chevrolet auto driven by Edward F. Gearin, Jr., of Arlington was almost demolished late Saturday night when it crossed the roadway, jumped the curb, knocked over a state sign, and hurdled a stone wall into a vacant lot between 19 and 23 Cambridge street.

The car landed on its roof atop a ledge about 20 feet below in a gully. Gearin escaped serious injury and was released from the Winchester Hospital where he was taken by police.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Thanksgiving and Christmas if these holidays are to be happy occasions in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

A STUDY ON THE PROBLEM, ALCOHOLISM

The young people of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church are setting up a series of three Sunday evening services on a study of the number two problem in our country, namely, alcoholism. The services are open to the public and we cordially invite those of the community who are concerned and interested in this problem.

This series will be held at 7:30 P. M. each Sunday evening beginning this week and running through the next two Sundays.

This Sunday Rev. Willis P. Miller of East Saugus Methodist Church, and a representative of one of our state organizations interested in the problem will present an address entitled, "Alcoholism Today." He will also show some excellent films.

November 18, an excellent recent motion picture entitled, "Far From Alone" revealing the story of a college athlete and his problem will be shown.

On November 25, Chaplain Robert Burt, drawing on his experience as Walpole Prison Chaplain, will present an inspiring and exciting address, "'Alcohol and Crime."

It is wonderful to have our young people considering this major problem in our nation today and the excellent support of our people will certainly be inspiring and offer them a challenge as they continue their activities in the developing of strong Christian character.

Rev. Charles Johnson, the Youth Director will be in charge.

THANKSGIVING COMMUNION

The Women's Thanksgiving Communion Service, sponsored by the Philathea Society of the First Baptist Church, will be held Tuesday, November 13, at 7:45 p. m. in the Sanctuary. The speaker will be Rev. Ruth E. Thompson of First Baptist Church, Gardner. Music for the Service will be rendered by Mrs. Frederick MacDonald. Mrs. Charles Carr, Devotional Chairman, will lead with prayer and scripture reading.

Mrs. Frank McCullough will be in charge of the Communion Table preparations. Mrs. John Dawson, Mrs. William Wickwire, Miss Doris Emery and Mrs. Adelbert Brink, members of the Church Diaconate, will serve during the Ordinance of the Lord's Supper.

Mrs. Eleanor Davis will supervise the ushers— Mrs. Lawrence England, Mrs. Everett Littlefield, Miss Daisy Smith and Mrs. Edwin Allen.

Mrs. Herbert D. Thompson, president, and members of the Philathea extend a cordial invitation to all women of the Church and the community.

WINCHESTER POLICE RELIEF CONCERT

An audience of all ages nearly filled the High School Auditorium Thursday night, November 1, to enjoy an entertaining and hilarious evening at the Annual Concert of the Winchester Police Relief Association. Billy Kelly, who served as Master of Ceremonies, started off the show with a few side-splitters, backed by the tunes of Al Drootin and the Ruby Newman Orchestra. The first act Billy introduced was Los Larabees, a couple whose dangerous act of cracking bull whips, called "Whips of the Argentine" kept the spectators in suspense. This was followed by several imitations with voice and trumpet by Johnny Miles, and a "Scintillating Ballerina" named Patti Whyte. The first half of the show was brought to a charming finish by the Hampton Sisters, a popular New England singing trio, who sang a number of harmonious songs.

The second half of the show was opened by Perry and Diane, who called their tap and soft shoe dance routine "Dance Stylists." Billy Kelly then took over with his own version of a "Modern Minstrel Man" to the accompaniment of Al Drootin and the boys. One portion of his act brought out the hidden talents of a certain Winchester selectmen, who it is rumored will be seen soon on Ed Sullivan's show. The final act was a "Lesson in Acrobatics" given by Ladd Lyon and his partner, who showed how "easy" it is to balance on the top of tables and chairs.

Much credit for the success of the Annual Concert and Ball goes to Richard W. Beaton, chairman of the ball committee, and John H. Elliot, treasurer of the ball committee. Officers of the Winchester Police Relief Association are, president, Alfred W. Poole; vice president, Roland Roy; treasurer, Joseph J. Derro; and secretary, Joseph L. Quigley. Trustees of the organization are Charles J. Harrold, William J. Callahan, and Edward F. Bowler.

TEMPORARY TRACKS GO SUNDAY

Commencing this Sunday the temporary tracks that have carried trains through Winchester during the construction of the railroad overhead will be abandoned and all trains will be run overhead.

The exceptional stretch of good weather has enabled the railroad and Maney crews to make unusually fast progress, and the Swanton street by-pass will be opened today.

Work will now be pushed on the Bacon street and Common street underpasses so as to have them completed in as short a time as possible. The Common street underpass is expected to be ready by Thanksgiving, but it will be Christmas before the Bacon street underpass will be ready for use.

Meanwhile work is continuing on the new road through the Skillings estate, but it is not expected that this will be ready for use for about eight weeks. Those in charge of construction feel that the opening of the Bacon and Common street underpasses should take precedence and believe, with their opening, much of the traffic congestion problem will be eliminated.

WYMAN PARENTS' NIGHT

A reminder to Wyman School mothers and fathers that Parents' Night School will be held on Tuesday, November 13. Parents are invited to come and be a pupil in their child's own classroom. Kindergarten and first, second, and third grade classes will meet from 7:45 to 8:15, and fourth, fifth, and sixth grade classes from 8:15 to 8:45.

Refreshments will be served during a social period in the Assembly Hall from 7:45 to 9:00 p. m.

Winchester Casts Big Vote

Republicans Favored As 94.2 Percent Of Electorate Cast Ballots

Winchester's vote in the National and State Election Tuesday was preponderantly Republican as it has been in the past, with 94.2 percent of the 10,582 on the voting list expressing their preferences at the polls.

Good as this vote was percentage-wise, it was not as good as the local vote in 1952 when 95.3 percent of an electorate of 10,011 went to the polls. Actually more votes were cast this year than four years ago, 9967 votes to 9543.

REV. NORMAN L. SMITH

NEW PASTOR AT SECOND CHURCH

Rev. Norman L. Smith is the new pastor of the Second Congregational Church in the Highlands, succeeding Rev. A. John Skeirik, who resigned recently to accept a call to the First Congregational Church of Wellsville, N. Y.

The new pastor was born June 21, 1921, in Taunton, was graduated from Taunton High School in 1939, and attended Suffolk University before graduating from Boston University College of Liberal Arts as a history major with the degree of A.B. in 1945.

He graduated from Boston University School of Theology with the degree of S.T.B. in 1949, and was ordained in his boyhood church, the Trinitarian Congregational Church of Taunton January 28, 1951. While in school he was employed by Carroll E. Whittemore Associates, Inc., and for two years thereafter headed its religious book department.

While in theological school he served churches in Maine, Rhode Island and Massachusetts and in 1950 was unanimously called to the Fourth Christian and Pacific Union Congregational Churches in Westport. He came from his pastorates there to Winchester.

While in Westport Mr. Smith was active in establishing the Westport Council of Churches, was a frequent radio speaker and served for two years as director of the Daily Vacation Bible School.

During his pastorate the Pacific Union Church was completely renovated upon the occasion of its 100th anniversary in 1955, and interest and membership in this and the Fourth Christian Church have been at an all time high.

Mr. Smith is a member of the Boston Congregational Club, the Massachusetts Association of Congregational and Unitarian Ministers, the Westport, Fall River and New Bedford Ministers Associations, Westport Council of Churches and Protestant Advisory Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Among his interests are New England antiquities, antique furniture and china and creative writing. Being a bachelor, his aunt will act as hostess in the parsonage. Mr. Smith maintains the family home in Taunton and a summer home at Oak Bluffs, Martha's Vineyard Island.

TO FACE COURT

The out-of-town youths who were involved in the street fight at the Winchester Theatre on Hallowe'en will appear in Woburn Court Thursday, November 15 on charges of disturbing the peace.

Police were called to break up a general fight involving youths from Stoneham, Medford, Somerville, Malden and Melrose. Two of the combatants had to be treated at the Winchester Hospital for severe head and body injuries received in the brawl, and another was said to have had several stitches in a head wound at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

The early morning vote in 1952 was a bit better than it was this year, with 2728 votes recorded at 9:30 four years ago and 4321 votes at 11:30. This year's totals at these hours were 2593 and 4275.

A 2 o'clock, however, Tuesday's vote was bigger than in 1952, by 5715 to 5633, and at 4:15 the '56 advantage increased, 6915 to 6555. In the late voting 3052 cast ballots between 4:15 and closing time at 8 o'clock this year to 2988 four years ago.

Precinct 5 was the first in at 10:05 p. m. and the last precinct, Precinct I, came in at 10:53. Town Clerk Helen Stinson was able to announce the vote at 12:05 a. m. Wednesday morning. There was little excitement around the polls during closing time and while the votes were being tabulated. Only a handful was present when the results were announced.

Rep. Harrison Chadwick, running unopposed in the 29th Middlesex, led the ballot with 8408 votes. Winchester gave its fellow townsman, Harrison Lyman, 6850 votes to 2948 to the successful Democratic candidate for State Senator in the 6th Middlesex District, Frederick T. McDermott.

Keeping in mind there were more votes cast on Tuesday, Winchester gave the Eisenhower-Nixon Presidential team 7353 votes this year to 6857 in 1952. The Stevenson-Kefauver Democratic standard bearers fell slightly behind the Stevenson-Sparkman team of 1952, by 2504 to 2577.

Both the successful Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Foster Furcolo, and Sumner G. Whittier ran ahead of the '52 vote for Herter and Dever. Furcolo polling 3447 to Dever's 3020, and Whittier polling 6402 to Herter's 6362. Actually, considering the large vote this year Furcolo's vote was about the same as Dever's, and Whittier's not so good as Herter's.

In the referendum on liquor, the town voted against the sale of liquor in any form in town, even the vote for package stores falling off, 5963 against this year, to 5248 four years ago.

With only 424 more votes cast this year than in '52 the figures above show really little change in the town's voting.

Sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served at the polls by Peg's Restaurant. Heavy traffic was reported around the polls and in the center all day.

WYMAN SCHOOL TEAS

During the past two weeks the Wyman room mothers have been busy having a series of teas so that both mother and teacher can get better acquainted.

Mrs. Kenneth Colony started off the season with a gay and successful tea for Miss Bond's second grade on October 29. Her able committee was the following: Mrs. James Coon, Mrs. James Gustin, Mrs. William Harvey, Mrs. David Cameron and Mrs. Philip Salter. Mrs. Harris Richardson poured, and later on presented her husband with a new baby son.

On October 30, Mrs. Richard Davenport and Mrs. Robert Watson both held teas. Mrs. Davenport's for Miss Dolan's kindergarten and Mrs. Watson's for Mrs. Dodge's third grade. Assisting Mrs. Davenport were Mrs. Wallace MacDonald, Mrs. Roger Wells, Mrs. Gustav Kaufman, and Mrs. Boyden Bussard. Mrs. Watson's committee were; Mrs. Needham Brown, Mrs. Raymond Chase, Mrs. Philip Gallagher, and Mrs. William Niblock.

Mrs. Chester Watts chose the first day of November to honor Miss Gardner. The refreshments prepared by Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Thomas Kell, and Mrs. Wilson Power and Mrs. William Harvey, were delicious.

November 2, hit the jackpot with three teas the same day.

Mrs. Kern Folkers competed with the high school, and still had a good number of mothers for Mrs. Hammond's sixth grade. Mrs. Robert Carlson and Mrs. Joseph Logan poured, and the committee who brought the lovely sandwiches were; Mrs. Vaughn Harmon, Mrs. John Stockwell, and Mrs. Vincent Ambrose.

Mrs. Greeno of the first grade arrived safely at the home of Mrs. Donald Withers, with Mrs. James Lamphier, Mrs. Wallace MacDonald, Mrs. William Rozette, Mrs. Arthur Haley and Mrs. Seymour Russell bringing the refreshments to delight the eye and apetite.

Mrs. Winthrop Knox, Jr., and her committee also had a party for Mrs. Pages' fifth grade. It is interesting to note that Mrs. Page taught the same class last year, and all is well.

The ticket mothers for Wyman who worked hard to make Saturday night's dance a real success, and are also responsible for the sale of tickets for any further ways and means projects are listed below.

Grade 6, Mrs. Edward Little and Mrs. Robert Carlson.

Grade 5, Mrs. Lyle L. Longworth and Mrs. Adolph Hermann.

Grade 4, Mrs. Thomas D. Walsh and Mrs. M. J. MacDonald.

Grade 3, Mrs. C. Newton and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham.

Grade 2, Mrs. James Coon and Mrs. Herbert Wood.

Grade 1, Mrs. C. Peckham and Mrs. Alfred Sandberg.

Kindergarten, Mrs. J. O'Grady and Mrs. Irving Cumming.

STAFF OF CHILDREN'S THEATRE SCHOOL

This is the organization of preparing the children and the Production for the Children's Plays presented by the Winchester Community Theatre.

The fall term is a period of 12 weeks, the children meeting once a week for 6 weeks and twice the last six weeks. They may enroll from 4 to 14 years and all are used in Production.

Jane Renz, a capable dancer herself, is teaching the dancing. Her training and approach with the children, in modern dance, ballet, and more recently with Ted Shawn and Motion Choir, is particularly suitable for the dramatic movement Carlene Samoiloff seeks for in the acting of the children, and in her direction.

Mary Ranton Witham is giving some time to the children's voice work, and use of Music. Her skill with her beautiful choral groups is well known and her inspiration to the children adds to their confidence and ability.

Dell McKenzie and her children's TV program in Providence and Manchester was well known, and she is helping in the 3 groups and production.

Justine King, who was active in the plan to bring live Theatre to the children of Winchester through the Mothers' Association, is also helping on the staff.

Jacquiline Barnes Blanchard is secretary, and Dorothy Smith is treasurer and both are regular helpers at rehearsals.

Mrs. Anne Gordon is in charge of costumes for the children and will need volunteers for "Snow White." If you are interested to help, call WInchester 6-3957.

Some men for scenery help are needed, please phone WInchester 6-2033.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. James Gustin of 9 Warren street, participated in the National Appalachian Mountain Rally sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America. In an English "Triumph" sports car, with Jim driving and Sylvia navigating, they placed eighth in a field of 77 cars, and had the best time of any cars entered from the Boston area.

COMMUNITY THEATRE ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Winter Program for Winchester Community Theatre is in reahearsal. The first production will be, in keeping with the current 100th Anniversary Celebration of George Bernard Shaw, his "Great Catherine." It is a comedy of action and gay satire and fun-poking at the manners and methods at the Court of Catherine the Great, and what happens to a proper young English officer under the sponsorship of Premier Patiomkin. This, the main play, is being directed by Sheila Goldes, a new comer from California, currently with the Staff Players at M.I.T.

Also on the Program will be Shaw's Prologue of "Androcles and the Lion"—where Androcles and his wife, Mageara meet the Lion. This will be done as a curtain raiser and directed by Carlene Samoiloff who is designing the sets.

Costumes for "Catherine" will be in the able hands of Ellie Hooper, who did the delightful costumes for "Family Portrait" of the Unitarian Players last year.

The first Children's Play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be presented January 11 and 12, and some 45 children are being trained now to participate in acting, dancing, and painting sketches for scenery and costumes.

The Winchester Community Theatre has a four-fold purpose, as planned by its founders:

1. To provide a pleasant creative outlet in Theatre Arts for all people in the Community who wish to participate in plays, in acting or Production and to work toward better performances; meant to complement, not compete with the two Church Drama groups in town.

2. To provide a children's group trained in, and participating in, Theatre Arts, performing for children.

3. To help provide the Winchester High School Drama and Speech Department with Stage or Scene Equipment.

4. To bring to Winchester occasionally an outstanding feature in the Professional Theatre.

The second and third of these points have been done. Last Spring 1,000 children saw "Peter Pan" and some 45 participated. And the High School has some $500 worth of scenery, given by Winchester Community Theatre, Inc.

On December 7 and 8, the Town can see the results of the first point on the program. The 4th point—an "outstanding feature in Professional Theatre" is being considered for March, and can be an exciting event for Winchester.

Watch next week's Star for this announcement, and for names of our cast and committees.

EDITORIAL

Some motorists do not realize that they are supposed to yield position on the highway to an ambulance on the way to an accident or transporting a patient to a hospital. Highway regulations require motorists at the approach of an ambulance to pull to the right and stop at the side of the road until the ambulance has passed. Few do any such thing, not because they would willfully delay an ambulance on an emergency errand, but because so many drivers have become so imbued with the desire to get where they are going first that it doesn't occur to them that others on the road may be traveling on business more urgent than their own.

Surely no one would want to delay an ambulance the few minutes that might mean life or death to a badly injured fellow man. Ambulances on emergency errands signal their approach with sirens and the drivers do everything possible to ensure right of way.

It is an excellent idea to grant this right of way, not only for the sake of the person the ambulance is carrying, but also because delaying an ambulance might easily result in your registration being sent to the Chief of Police. We are sure his action on such registrations will be immediate and not especially pleasant.

Every once in a while we hear talk of the extension of Route 3 from 128 to Boston being routed right through the Winchester Country Club. We have always believed such a route will not be chosen, especially in view of the recent prominence given recreational facilities by the State.

The plan for Route 3 which the Board of Selectmen has felt all along is most likely to be chosen is the one mentioned by our fellow townsman, John Volpe, while he was State Commissioner of Public Works. This plan would have the new Route 3 cutting across a section of Winchester in the hill district west of Ridge street and going southerly on the other side of Morningside in Arlington. This is the plan Winchester has expected and would very probably support.

THERE IS A LIMIT!

Editor of the Star:

The M.D.C. Police Department has recently employed an additional forty-four police officers at an annual cost of approximately $275,000 to the already overburdened taxpayers of the Metropolitan district, of which Winchester is a part. The Legislature has added more streets to the M.D.C. system, hence the new personnel.

There have been mass resignations of police officers who were employed by the towns and cities in this area in order to fill these more lucrative positions, because the M.D.C. is the highest paid police department in the Commonwealth. The exodus is well understood! The services rendered by the additional personnel amounts to duplication and overlapping of police work and has become a great racket and a disgrace. The original intent of the M.D.C. system has been abused by the recklessness and political pressure bestowed upon it by the Legislature. They cry out at election time that in certain areas people are drained by the landlords. The politicians could do a great deal of house cleaning themselves for if any draining is done, they are the worst offenders.

The M.D.C. should be limited to the activity for which it was created. Let the towns and cities in Metropolitan Boston do their own policing. They did a much better job. The added cost of the increased M.D.C. will be apportioned to the Town of Winchester, reflecting an increase in our tax bill. However rich and productive our state may be, there is a limit to what it can spend.

Sincerely yours,
Vincent G. Carroll

THE IRON HORSE

Editor of the Star:

A short time ago, Winchester was offered, free, a discarded steam locomotive. The Selectmen did not accept this gift as there were problems of site, possible vandalism, costs etc, etc.

However, it has been suggested that the small plaza under the new bridge at Winchester center, would be an excellent location for such an educational exhibit. Even now, we have youngsters who have never seen the Iron Horse! It must be remembered that the steam railroads were a vital part of our history. There is a strong body of sentiment, at all age levels, interested in such a project to preserve at least one specimen locomotive.

The suggested site is ideal, as it ties-in with the new railroad designs. The spot is so constantly under observation, that vandalism would be discouraged. In any case, all movable parts should be welded or otherwise fastened to the body of engine and tender. The exhibit should be mounted on a short section of real track; not only for looks but to distribute the weight.

Old locomotives are going to the scrap pile fast. Plans must be started and the Maney engineers notified to delay finishing details at the circular plaza as long as possible.

The Selectmen could call on Railroad executives who live here in Winchester, to study these suggestions and make recommendations to the Board. There is no time to be lost. If the idea interests you, be sure you let your Selectmen know you are hoping they will reconsider the project. No action will be taken if you do not bring it up.

FINES NOT THE ANSWER!

Editor of the Star:

Fines do not seem to be the answer to our traffic violations. Perhaps better results could be obtained by impounding the car from one to thirty days. If we had to do without the car for a few days each time maybe we would wise up.

FROM MR. LYMAN

Editor of the Star:

Before getting back to my family and office may I thank all the loyal friends in Winchester who worked so hard for me in my recent unsuccessful campaign for the State Senate. Your confidence and support meant, and will always mean a great deal to me.

REV. JOHN P. ROBERTSON

THE SENIOR FORUM

The members of the Senior Forum will this Sunday welcome a friend of long standing when Rev. John Prescott Robertson comes to be the guest speaker at their 9:30 Chapel Service. Mr. Robertson was for several years the Assistant Minister of the First Congregational Church here in Winchester, and at the same time served as Director of Forum. In the ensuing years he has held the pastorate at the First Congregational Church in Braintree, but his continuing interest in Forum is evidenced by his willingness to take time from his busy schedule to share the Forum Worship Service. He has chosen as his topic, "I Speak on Christian Citizenship."

The chaplain this Sunday will be Bill Schmink, assisted by Larry Longworth. The ushers will be Tim Reynolds and Lin Morison.

Tomorrow night Forum is holding Open House, to which all members and friends are invited. There will be entertainment for all. Liz Fisher and Bruce Gunther are planning games, lighting will be arranged by Jan Monro, and Chip Mead and his orchestra will play for dancing. Publicity has been handled by Cindy Dunn. The chaperones for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Glogston, Mrs. Charles Crede, Mr. and Mrs. Aram Mouradian, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schmink.

WILLIAM E. WALSH

William E. Walsh, 85, retired executive of the United Shoe Machinery Company, who had been living in Winchester for the past three years with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas M. Bates, 26 Mt. Pleasant street, died Tuesday, November 6, at the Winchester Hospital.

Born in Ireland, Mr. Walsh spent most of his life in Auburn, Me., and was associated with the United Shoe Machine Company for 51 years. He retired as general sales manager for Maine in 1944.

He was prominent in the activity of the Democratic Party in Auburn, was a charter member of the Knights of Columbus in Portland, Me., and a life member of the Auburn K. of C. He was also active in the Elks in Maine and a member of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce.

Besides Mrs. Bates, he leaves his wife, Mary E. (Flynn), Walsh; a sister, Miss Nellie Walsh of Auburn, and six grandchildren.

The funeral will be held this Saturday morning in Lewiston, Me., with requiem mass at St. Joseph's Church.

IN THE STAR

DR. HERBERT E. MAYNARD

Herbert E. Maynard, M.D., a practicing physician and surgeon for 54 years and the oldest member of his profession actively practicing in Winchester, died suddenly at his home in Stetson Hall Wednesday morning, November 7. He had been bothered with a heart ailment for some time and his death is attributed to a heart attack. The end came peacefully as he sat in his chair in his living room after an active day on Tuesday, during which he visited several patients and listened to the election returns until midnight.

Dr. Maynard was the son of Fred W., and Emily F. (Colby) Maynard. He was born November 30, 1878, in Waltham, and grew up in that city, attending the Waltham schools, and Waltham High School. He was graduated from Boston University Medical School in 1902, and soon after his graduation came to Winchester and established himself in practice here. His first office was in the apartment house beside the Trust Company on Church street, which has housed so many physicians through the years.

On February 2, 1907, he married Dr. Mary Elizabeth Taylor of Alexandria Bay, N. Y., a classmate at medical school, and they lived at 80 Church street until her death in 1940. Dr. Maynard had his office at his home until just prior to World War I when he opened a Boston office at 178 Commonwealth avenue.

Throughout his long career Dr. Maynard was both a general practitioner and a surgeon. He did the first surgery at the old Winchester Hospital and he was from its founding chief of surgery at the Hahnemann Hospital on Commonwealth avenue in Brighton. After retiring from this position he continued as honorary chief of surgery until his death. He had patients throughout Greater Boston and had served three generations of families in Winchester.

Dr. Maynard was a veteran of World War I. Before the United States entered the war he served in the British Royal Army Medical Corps with the rank of captain, seeing active service both in Britain and France. When the United States entered the war he secured his release from the British Army to join the United States Army Medical Corps, also with the rank of captain.

He served on the surgical staff at Bay Hospital, Camp Mead, Md.; at Demonstration Hospital, New York City; at the Neuro-Surgical School of the Neurological Institute in New York City and at the United States General Hospital, No. 5, at Fort Ontario, N. Y. During his Army service he was assigned to the City of Oswego, N. Y., for the care of the civilian population during a severe epidemic of influenza, and he also studied as an Army officer at Neuro-Surgical School in New York City.

Although his busy professional life permitted him little time for hobbies, Dr. Maynard was a great nature lover and an ardent devotee of hunting and fishing in the region about Kezar Pond in Maine.

He was a member of the Nuttall Club, an ornithological club, of Cambridge; a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and of the Winchester Unitarian Church. He had also been a member of the Boston City Club and of the former Calumet Club of Winchester.

On November 28, 1949, Dr. Maynard married Marguerite D. Jones of Winchester, who survives, with a daughter, Mrs. Ralph D. Larson of this town, two grandchildren, Carol and Dexter Larson; a brother, Fred W. Maynard of Weymouth; and a sister, Mrs. Harold W. Brown of Chelmsford.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the Unitarian Church with the minister, Rev. Robert A. Storer, officiating.

Flags on the Common and town were displayed at half-staff until after the funeral.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN

John J. O'Brien of 1 Bond street, Boston, a former resident of Winchester, died Nov. 1 at the Boston City Hospital in his 74th year.

A native of Winchester, he was the son of Dennis, and Anna (Roache) O'Brien. He lived while in Winchester on Swanton street, but had resided in Boston for the past 20 years, and was a retired laborer. A brother, Jeremiah O'Brien of Boston, survives.

The funeral was held from the Lane Funeral Home Monday morning with requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church by the Rev. Joseph McInnis. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

LYMAN LOSER BY 4,441

Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., of Winchester, Republican candidate for State Senator in the 6th Middlesex District, was defeated by his Democratic opponent, Senator Frederick T. McDermott of Medford, by 4,441 votes. McDermott polled 35,170 to Lyman's 30,929.

Mr. Lyman was disappointed in his showing in Woburn, but felt the State Democratic sweep was bound to hurt in a city so preponderantly Democratic as Woburn. The Lyman Arlington vote was also disappointing, for Mr. Lyman and his supporters had felt he would carry this usually Republican town.

The coming construction of the extension of Route 3 from 128 to Boston undoubtedly hurt Mr. Lyman in Arlington, where the feeling seemed to be that the election of Mr. Lyman would result in locating the highway almost entirely in Arlington instead of going through the Country Club as favored by the Arlington authorities.

Following is the McDermott-Lyman breakdown.

	Woburn	Arlington	Medford	Winchester	Total
McDermott (D)	8,311	13,070	10,841	2,948	35,170
Lyman (R)	4,784	12,115	7,180	6,850	30,929

FREDERICK WEST HILL

Frederick West Hill of 19 Bacon street, area supervisor for the Western Union in New England and the Maritime Provinces, died late Tuesday night, November 6, at the Winchester Hospital, following a short illness.

Mr. Hill was the son of Lester, and Mary (Sheehan) Hill. He was born September 23, 1892, in Cambridge and grew up in that city, attending the Cambridge schools. He had one of the first short wave sending and receiving licenses issued in this country, and at the age of 17 was a wireless operator on trans-oceanic liners.

Later he joined the Western Union in the traffic department and remained with this Company for 44 years, being area supervisor for New England and the Maritime Provinces at the time of his death.

Mr. Hill was a member of Fourth Estate Lodge, the newspapermen's Masonic lodge in Boston. He had a trained tenor voice and sang professionally for some time. He was for 20 years a member of the choir of the Church of the Advent in Boston, and he was also a member of the Amphion Glee Club of Melrose.

On November 24, 1914, at St. James Episcopal Church in North Cambridge, Mr. Hill married Nora B. Bain of St. Helen's, Lancashire, England. Mrs. Hill survives, with a son, Frederick R. Hill of Winchester; three grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Josephine Leach of Springfield.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Epiphany by the rector, Rev. John W. Ellison. Rev. Peter Blynn of the Church of the Advent will celebrate a requiem mass. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

ROBERT H. EASON

Robert H. Eason of 36 Highland avenue, building superintendent of the Winchester Public Library, died Tuesday morning, November 6, at the Winchester Hospital, after a short illness.

Mr. Eason was the son of Robert H., and Ada Frances (Parsons) Eason. He was born February 16, 1888 in Gloucester and had lived in Winchester for the past 45 years, serving as building superintendent of the Library since 1931. He was also for many years a special police officer.

A lover of art and especially of paintings, he hung the many pictures exhibited in the Library art gallery during his years of service, winning the praise alike of exhibitors and viewers for his artistic arrangements.

On February 28, 1911, Mr. Eason married Grace E. Witteridge of Boston, who survives, with a daughter, Mrs. William Sampson (Eileen Eason of Manchester, N. H., a son, Elliot H., of Woburn; two grandchildren, a brother, Wallace H., of Malden; and a sister, Mrs. John Sheen of Gloucester.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

I. C. LADIES SODALITY

The regular monthly meeting of the Immaculate Conception Ladies Sodality was held in the school hall, Tuesday, October 30, following church services. The hall was gaily decorated for the Hallowe'en Social which was held under the capable direction of Mrs. Eleanor Russo and Mrs. Celia Conlon.

Mrs. Eleanor Russo, M. C., drew loud applause for her splendid program of entertainment. First to create a spirit of gaiety, the "Bunny Hop" was started by crazily costumed characters urging the Sodalists to join in. Before they could recover their composure they then formed a circle for the "Hokey Pokey."

As a little relaxation from their cut-ups the group was next entertained by Miss Louise Orgettas, accompanied by Don McFeeley, singing the beautiful arias from the score of "The King and I."

A spark of originality was brought about by show stopper Miss Kay Delaney, who created the "Spook who danced the Charleston."

Fresh from their triumphant hit in "Melody Ranch" the "Two Country Rubes," Misses Mary Lou McCall and Judith Sousa, did their comedy dance to "Tennessee Wig Walk." Their co-hits, "The Three Belles," Misses Sheila Conlon, Mary Frances Meehan and Kathleen Mills, sang "To-Nite You Belong to Me;" and then the two acts combined to make a hilarious skit, with their song and dance.

The Sodalists then participated in a few spine-tingling games, provoking much laughter and rewarding all with appropriate prizes.

Next a group of costumed lovelies entertained with the "Mexican Hat Dance." The lovelies were Eleanor Russo, Bertha Lucy, Kay McLeod, Florence Lane, Loretta Donnell, Mary Gomes, Mary Connolly and Helen Dooley.

Mrs. Celia Conlon and her wonderful helpers then served a very colorful collation: doughnuts of delicious combination, parti-colored cup cakes and coffee and tea. As the Sodalists departed for home, they could still be seen smiling at the crazy antics of the night.

OPERATION FOR CHAPIN

John Chapin, star quarterback on the Winchester High School football team, who injured his knee in the early season Cambridge Latin game and has seen no service since, underwent an operation yesterday for the removal of cartilage from the injured member. He is definitely out of football for the season with his future participation in high school athletics in doubt.

It is hoped that "big John", expected to be one of the keyplayers on this year's basketball team and the pitching mainstay of the baseball team, will recover from the operation sufficiently to play some basketball and baseball, but knee injuries can be tricky.

High school fans got another bad scare this week when "Larry" Longworth, who has replaced Chapin at quarterback and who has been doing an exceptional job for an inexperienced youngster, went home ill with what was feared to be appendicitis. Later reports however were reassuring, and Larry practiced Wednesday. He is slated to face Wakefield tomorrow.

WINCHESTER SUCCESSFULLY DEFENDS STATE C. C. TITLE

The Red and Black cross country runners traveled to White Stadium last Saturday to participate in the State Meet. The local runners were attempting to capture their third state title in a row.

The team ran one of their best races of the season to place all five scorers in the first twenty to capture the Class C title again, with 50 points to runner-up Dedham's with 80.

The race found 139 runners from 13 schools taking off over the state course, run on the Franklin Park golf course. The top men moved out early with Spike Paranya of Lexington jumping away to an early lead over Ken Brown of Winchester.

The runners began to spread out after the first mile and the pattern of the race began to form as the Red and Black harriers raced into good scoring positions. Paranya finished first by about 150 yards over Ken Brown.

The time for Class C was the fastest of all divisions, 12:06:2, as the first five runners all broke the old class record. Harry Ekstrom, closing fast, took 6th, Mike Callahan was 12th, Bill Saurman right behind in 13th, Robin Carlson raced into 17th to complete the scoring for Winchester. Dan O'Connell in 19th and Don Seaver in 24th offered strong insurance to the team.

Over 500 boys ran in the four classes representing 63 teams throughout the state. Ken Brown was placed in 7th among the top ten runners, an outstanding accomplishment. Of the 63 teams, the three fastest were selected to represent Massachusetts at the New Englands to be held at Waterville, Maine, on Saturday, November 10.

Winchester was one of the three teams chosen along with Scituate and Newton. This marks the second year in a row that the Red and Black have earned this honor, which is a distinction seldom earned by any team.

The team scores:

1. Winchester	50
2. Dedham	80
3. Woburn	96
4. St. Johns	136
5. Needham	187

M. S. P. C. A.

The next meeting of the Winchester Branch Auxiliary will be held Friday, November 16, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. William C. Kimball of 221 Cambridge road, Woburn, the well-known Kimball Arms home.

We are to enjoy hearing a talk by the speaker for the afternoon, Mr. Albert A. Pollard, director of the American Humane Education Society, whose office is in the same building as the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital in Boston.

In the October Newsletter of the American Humane Association we are told that in California "Bullfights" are being stopped and that the local S. P. C. A.s and Gov. Knight have taken an active stand, in response to the protests of the people, by letters, newspapers, television and radio broadcasts. It is intended "to keep California's entertainment" and "sports" up to the standards of fair play that we Americans demand.

The A. H. A. is composed of member societies of S. P. C. A.s and individuals all over the United States. There is also a Child Welfare department.

The new television series, "Noah's Ark," is being supervised by the American Humane Association whenever animals are used.

Our Mass. Society is a prominent member of this association. Dr. E. H. Hansen has been its president.

We thank those who have given cloth for Angell Hospital. Let us remember animal needs at Christmas time, those who can never solicit for themselves.

New members and friends are welcome at our meetings. As usual, tea, and a friendly period after the speaker.

HIGH SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE

Despite the attractions of final political rallies, a large crowd of parents turned out for the annual Open House held at the high school on Monday evening under the sponsorship of the Parent Faculty Association. Visits to the homerooms, attendance at classes where the teacher explained the aims and objectives of their respective courses, and opportunities to enjoy light refreshments in the cafeteria combined to provide an evening of enlightenment and good fellowship for the parents of high school pupils.

In addition to attendance at regular classes, the gymnasium, auditorium and other special-purpose rooms were visited. The library with its portrait of the late Robert M. Keeney was a central attraction during the evening.

At the conclusion of the homeroom period, Principal W. Howard Niblock spoke briefly over the public address system, welcoming the school's patrons to the evening program. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Kelley, membership chairmen, were assisted by the homeroom mothers in receiving the nominal dues which help to finance the activities of the Parent-Faculty Association. Mrs. Robert Low, chairman of the refreshment committee, and her loyal team of assistants, provided a generous supply of coffee, sandwiches, and cookies for the special hour in the cafeteria.

The speakers were judged by Miss Trickett of Winchester, Mr. McKlusky of Belmont and Mrs. Woods.

Winners of the contest were Pauline Webster of Braintree and Alexander Macmillan of Hingham. They competed against two others from Boston public schools and two winners from parochial schools at the Red Feather Headquarters in Boston on Thursday, November 3.

JOHNSON BROTHERS GET BREAKS

Within a period of 2 weeks both "Bob" and "Richie" Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson of 42 Jefferson road, received broken arms playing football.

"Bob" got his in a practice game out at Michigan State where he has also been active in baseball and boxing.

"Richie" got his shortly after he kicked off for Hebron Academy against Fryeburg Academy last week. This is the third broken arm for "Richie" and he is looking forward to his hockey season with some apprehension. Considering his history of broken bones and crutches, you can't blame him.

However, Hebron expects to have an outstanding hockey team this season and "Richie", a former Winchester High hockey player, hopes to be a factor.

RALLY AT COLUMBUS HALL

Many Winchester people attended a gathering in Columbus Hall last Sunday evening to see and hear Harrison Lyman and Lt. Governor Sumner Whittier.

Other entertainment consisted of songs by William Gurissi, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor A. Thistlethwaite as well as music by Frank Marinelli and Frank Rose.

Those present on the stage besides Lyman and Whittier were Attorney Emidio DiLoreto, Ralph Bonnell, Attorney Joseph Silverio, Harrison Chadwick and Harry Gorrasi.

RED FEATHER PROGRESS

Announcement was made on Tuesday that the good citizens of Winchester had already pledged 72% of the quota set for the 1957 Red Feather drive. This is about the same level reached at this stage of the campaign last year.

Precincts 3 and 4 in the Residential Division are racing neck and neck reaching for the summit. All other divisions are progressing, if at a slower pace. Because many of us are busy with various community interests and often away from home to make contact. It would assist all concerned if you would phone when you are available.

The Community Chest needs the increasing support of all, including our many fine merchants, professional people and industrial and financial establishments, in order to meet the rising cost of Red Feather services in a growing and progressing community. It also needs the support of the numerous clubs and associations in Winchester, a few of which have been consistent givers. Some organizations are unable to contribute either because of charter restrictions or financial limitations. It would be a fine expression of neighborly spirit were the others to come forward and add their support.

Let us hope that everyone in Winchester will cooperate with their 600 hardworking and public spirited neighbors by pledging generously to this good cause and helping them to go over the top. If you haven't been contacted already pleases phone one of the following division chairmen:

From the selection of this play, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," to the final clever curtain call, the cast and crew of the Parish Players' fall production did a remarkable competent job. For the audience, shadowed by current headlines and newscasts, the time had come for a "ripping good" comedy, and the Players gave it to them wholeheartedly.

Harlan Grant, director of the Players, with his tongue-in-cheek narration of the modern version of the Cinderella Story, did his share in setting the mood of the play, and conditioning the audience for the choice humor ahead. Then came the four "big, bad executives"—Elmer Carlson, Charles Kakatsakis, Robert Ericson, and William Early. These four men are extremely nice, kind people off stage, but in Cadillac," they were the most convincing, smooth villians in a long time! And they acted their roles consistently and quietly.

As Laura Patridge, the little old lady who goes to Wall street, Janet Dalrymple set a smart pace, with a crisp, direct approach. Not once did she slip out of character, and her comedy was keen and well handled. Doris Carlson, who played Shotgraven, the secretary, was attractive, poised, and sincere—making it hard for us to believe that this is her first stage role. She has a very pleasing voice, and she and her boss, Mrs. Partridge, made a happy team.

Mark Jenkins, played by Henry Fitts, made the job of mail clerk in a big company seem good fun and lively. This is a different role from that he played in "Sabrina Fair"—but then, Mr. Fitts is a very versatile actor, we have found.

Miss L'Arriere the model, was capably played by Helen O'Donnell of Woburn—with swivel hips and a wonderful "canned" voice, she certainly could wear clothes, and was just right for the part. Mary Whitesell, as Miss Logan, was a mechanical doll, conveying a world of words and ideas without uttering one single line in the play. Her pantomime was delightful, and it proves very forcefully that on the stage, what one thinks of as a "small part" is oftentimes a memorable one!

Bob Blake as the U.P. man, and George Connor as the A.P. reporter did some fast talking, to trap Mrs. Partridge into pictures. And again three "small parts" proved the theory that oftentimes these parts are little gems in themselves, and add greatly to the show. Such roles were given a great deal of meaning by Caroline Eccles as the "Louella Parsons" of the airwaves; George Connor in his take-off of John Cameron Swazey, and George Hebb with his dignified version of a veteran newscaster.

At the final second of the play, Dot Wills as the little old lady in the audience who "wants to ask a question," just brought the house down, for this lady is one of the Parish Players' old favorites and always enjoyed.

But it is to Al Pywell as "Ed McKeever" that top honors in "Solid Gold Cadillac" must go—for he was admirable in every way. He was every inch the big self-made, top executive with the ham actor's complex—the top man who wasn't too big to wish he could go onto the stage, and secretly admire Mrs. Partridge for being an actress. His recitation was one of the most hilarious scenes we have seen on the Players' stage in many many years. Or anywhere, for that matter! He is a forceful speaker, with a good sense of timing, and the audience heard—and enjoyed—every word. We hope he will be on this stage again soon.

To the stage crew and prop women in this play goes enormous applause. There were fourteen scene changes in this play, and they were whipped along by the crew with no delays or hitches. The crew on lighting were equally on the job, and Ed Eccles "doubled" as the chauffeur in the gold suit! The convincing make-up job on the cast by Florence Grant, and the always smooth, polished directing of Harlan Grant made this play an excellent 1956-57 opener for the Players.

Mrs. Stella Clarke of 19 Garden street, Cambridge, mother of Mrs. Lester C. Gustin, Jr., of Hillcrest Parkway, died Thursday, November 1, at Phillips House after a long illness.

She was active in women's organizations, having been a member of the Florence Crittenton League, Women's City Club, Music Lovers Club of Boston and the Cushman Club; also of the Lexington Outlook and Belfrey Clubs, Eighth District Past Presidents Club, Professional Women's Club and Women's Rotary Club of Boston.

WELLESLEY CLUB

The fall supper meeting of the Winchester Wellesley Club, arranged by Mrs. Charles Sweetser and her committee, was held on October 30, at the home of Mrs. Robert Holmes on Lakeview road. Elizabeth Brenner, a student at Wellesley, was guest speaker. With youthful enthusiasm and poise, she described her summer experiences as one of 15 Wellesley students taking part in the Washington Internship Program. Under this plan, at their own expense, thirty students in all worked in various federal offices in the Capital, attended seminars lead by prominent officials, and were offered a rare peek at the mechanics and personalities in and behind the political scene.

Also guests at this meeting were Mrs. Paul Mansfield, Executive Secretary of the Wellesley Alumnae Association, and Judy Burleigh, a Wellesley graduate, presently teaching at Wyman School as an intern from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

RECORD AUDIENCE VIEWS ANNAPURNA

The Winchester Public Library played host to a capacity audience at the first Family Night film program in the Art Gallery Friday, November 2. Scheduled for showing was the exicting color film "Annapurna," a documentary account of the ascent and descent of that uncharted mountain in the Himalayas. Over one hundred interested people were present to see the film. This group consisted of every age level and, in many cases, entire families.

As the film opened, Maurice Herzog, the leader of the group of French adventurers, explained that these films were actually taken by the group as they climbed. These films of sheer cliffs of snow against clear blue sky were both beautiful and terrifying. Disaster was always ready to pounce upon them if one wrong step or miscalculation was made. In spite of all difficulties, victory was theirs, but the price paid was the loss of fingers and toes from frost bite.

As Mr. Herzog said in the final minutes of the film, "Every man has his "Annapurna," the unknown which must be conquered.

You and your family are invited to attend the Family Night film programs, held in the Art Gallery of the Public Library every Friday evening at 7:30 p. m.

INDIANS WIN, WAKEFIELD TIE BREAKS STALEMATE

With next-to-last-place Stoneham holding vaunted Wakefield to a 13-13 tie last Saturday, Winchester's 25-0 victory over Belmont boosted the Indians into undisputed first place in the surprisingly unpredictable Middlesex League.

Winchester and Wakefield, each with a single loss, were tied going into last Saturday's contests, and there were few who figured Wakefield to be held to a tie by Stoneham. Local followers were going to be happy if Winchester beat Belmont and went into this week's Wakefield game tied with the Scarlet and Gray.

Another upset in the league was Reading winning its first circuit game at the expense of Melrose, only team this season to upset Wakefield. In non-league engagements Concord beat Maynard, 37-24, and Lexington beat Needham, 13-0.

This week's Winchester-Wakefield game will definitely settle the league championship, with Winchester needing only a tie to win the title.

LONG-PARCHED NAZARETH GETS NEW WATER SUPPLY

Nazareth, scene of many miracles, has witnessed a new one—water, in plentiful supply.

Joint Arab-Jewish ceremonies have opened a pipeline which brings the literally precious fluid into every home in this perennially parched city.

The water for the most predominantly Arab city in Israel is piped in from a Jewish farm settlement in the Valley of Esdraelon. The 12-inch pipe carries it to a summit overlooking Nazareth where a junction with municipal pipelines allows distribution throughout the city.

Heretofore, Nazarene women had to carry water in earthern jugs just as their predecessors did long before the time of Christ, says the National Geographic Society. Now such sources as the famed "Fountain of Our Lady Mary" will be needed only as shrines recalling the city's historic past.

To the homeplace of Jesus the advent of modern conveniences is a vast change from experiences of the past. In the Christian era alone Nazareth has been conquered a half dozen or more times. Under most of the conquerors, the city fared badly.

The Jewish inhabitants of Nazareth disappeared sometime before the sixth century. But long before the birth of Christ they had been the target of a variety of invaders.

No mention is made of Nazareth in the Old Testament. In the time of Christ the town was so insignificant that the term Nazarene was applied to Him in derision. Yet Nazareth became and continues to be one of Christendom's holiest places.

The city was wrecked by Saladin in the Christian-Moslem wars of the Middle Ages. In the same period the Christian population was massacred by Bibars, the Egyptian sultan and general. Some of the historic churches have been razed and rebuilt as many as three times.

In the heights above Nazareth, which lies in a cup of the Galilee hills, may be seen the sites of many of the famous place names of biblical history. To the east lies Gilboa where Saul died, and Tabor where Deborah's men gathered to meet the Canaanites. Westward is ancient Megiddo where the Egyptians defeated Josiah of Judah, and Carmel where Elijah bested the prophets of Baal.

Less than five miles away was the once thriving city of Sepphoris where the Romans put down a desperate revolt of the Jews led by Judas the Galilean when Jesus was a boy.

FIELD HOCKEY NOTES

Last Saturday, November 3, the girls' varsity field hockey team of Winchester High School was one of the many guests of the Boston Field Hockey Association at their annual sports day held at Concord High School. Approximately thirty-four schools from Massachusetts attended and a few out-of-state schools were represented at this event.

Leaving the school at about 8:30 in the morning, the team arrived at Concord in time for their first game with Beaver Country Day School. Betsey Snell drove in the first goal early in the twenty-minute period, followed by another by Stephanie Hersey. Beaver then rallied back to score once, giving the Sachemettes a 2-1 victory in their first game.

Having had about twenty minutes to rest from the previous game and to greet old friends, the girls lined up for their second game against a well-trained Winsor squad. Winsor caught us off guard in the first few minutes as they scored quickly. Although the girls played one of their hardest-fought games they couldn't seem to get the ball between those two important posts. Winsor had an extremely good non-stick dodge which made it very difficult for the defense to feed the forward line. The final score was 3-0.

After another short breather the girls were ready for their final game of the day. The Sachemettes faced the Mary C. Wheeler School of Providence. They held Winchester scoreless throughout the game but in turn were not able to score themselves, the game ending in a scoreless tie.

The girls have been practicing hard this fall under the able coaching of Miss Mildred Barnes and leadership of Captain Stephanie S. Stone. A cheering squad composed of Winchester mothers and girls accompanied the team. The following girls made the trip: Captain Stephanie S. Stone, Mary Dowling, Judy Dalrymple, Anne Moriarty, Judy Dallin, Ann Luitweiler, Betsey Snell, Stephanie Hersey, Carol Fisher, Charlotte Clark, Sandra Lawson, Nancy Pizzano, and Molly Devaney.

Swiss mothers in the Canton of Valais carry their babies on top of their heads. The baby is trussed inside a wooden cradle, which rests on a thick cushion perched on the mother's head. With her hands thus freed, the woman does her knitting as she jogs up and down steep rocky paths, the National Geographic Society says.

HARRIERS BEAT STONEHAM FOR SIXTH STRAIGHT

Last week Tuesday, the cross country runners brought their dual meet season to a close with a sixth straight win over Stoneham by the decisive score of 15 to 49. This victory, incidently marks the 21st straight dual meet victory for the Red and Black runners.

The pattern of the race was established early as only Chapman of Stoneham was able to stay with the local runners on the tough uphill grind for the first .7 of a mile. At the halfway mark five Red and Black runners held the lead with Capt. Ken Brown in the number one spot.

The last half of the race was an easy paced affair with Saurman moving past Chapman to give Winchester the first six places. Following Brown to the finish were Emerson, Ekstrom, Carlson, Callahan, and Saurman.

Chapman of Stoneham eased in ahead of Clifton to avoid a shutout. The winning time was a respectable 16:46.

The JV team completed their season with their seventh straight shutout as Quent Roberts in 1st place lead the scoring followed by Seaver, Cooper, de Rivera, and Van Ummersen.

"LADIES IN RETIREMENT"

Robert Haseltine, director of the Unitarian Players' coming production of the psychological melodrama, "Ladies in Retirement," has brought his cast to the final stages of rehearsal, so that on Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17, we may expect the usual fine product from the Winchester Unitarian Players.

The set, constructed by Stephen Morang and Edward S. Read, Jr., is an adaptation of the original set created by scenic designer Raymond Sovey for the New York production of the play. Mr. Sovey's design for the play, "Lavendar and Old Lace" will soon be seen on the Boston stage during the fall theatre season.

In adapting the set for use on the stage at Metcalf Hall, Mr. Morang and Mr. Read have achieved a realistically somber and brooding effect; their re-creation of the interior of a pre-Tudor country country house on the bleak Thames marshes is reminiscent of a set for "Great Expectations."

They have provided just the right background for the psychological contrasts and revealing characterizations of the play, which is bound to thrill and delight its audiences.

Mrs. Olive F. Anderson of Winchester is Production Chairman, and is assisted by the following staff:

A VISIT WITH THE HAYWARDS

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Leary of Lochwan street recently visited Mr. Leary's former high school teaching associate, Ray Hayward, and his wife, Dorothy, at the Hayward's new home on Great Chebeague Island, Me.

"Ote" and Charlotte arrived at the island after a precarious ocean voyage of an hour across Casco Bay to find "Raymie" waiting for them on the dock with the Island taxi. The Leary's only squabble with the gentleman who drove this equipage was his propensity for backing the vehicle, (after they had gotten aboard), to within inches of a sizeable drop from the wharf into 40 feet of wet salt water.

"Ote" never could figure why the taxi chap chose to get so close to going overboard, but apparently the nerves of the Chebeague Islanders are fashioned of piano wire or moose sinue, to say the least, and the chauffeur seemed to think nothing of his proximity to disaster! As a matter of fact he advised the Leareys not to worry about it either!

The Leareys found Ray and Dorothy situated in a spot of considerable scenic beauty, their place comprising some three or four acres and extending right down toward the water.

The Hayward house was converted from an old barn and is a picturesque structure with big exposed beams and all the rest, and a nice loft in which "Raymie" has established his wood carving activity.

Ray could have done it himself, of course, but as long as "Ote" was there, he let him hang a new door and tend to one or two other little carpentering jobs that what with one thing or another had escaped the Hayward agenda. Ray superintended the jobs of course, and from time to time braced the door or steadied a slab-side while "Ote" drove home the nails or worked in a heavy screw.

Time passed quickly and before the Leareys knew it they were on the briney deep again going back to the main. They promised to call again and next time "Ote" claims he's going to take along "Dan" O'Donnell, just in case there happens to be a window sticking or a bit of "tidy'n' up" to do.

Mr. Krusen was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received his Master Degree from Cornell University.

A February wedding is planned.

TOWN GETS BLANCHARD TREES

The First National Stores, which recently purchased the Blanchard Lumber Yard property as the site for a new super-market, is giving to the Town of Winchester two handsome blue spruce trees that have stood on the lumber yard property for many years.

One of the trees stands approximately 35 feet high and the other 25 feet high. The First National Store is paying for the removal of the trees by tree surgeons and for placing them, one on the Main street park across the street from the lumber yard, and the other on the Common.

In both cases the trees will replace others blown down in the hurricane of two years ago. The gift of the spruces is a welcome one and in line with the good neighbor policy of the First National Stores.

Blue Cross Premiums Sent Up

Winchester Boy, Hospital Administrator, Says Many Unnecessarily In Hospitals

The following report of a recent address to the Civitan Club, printed in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Times, should prove interesting to those in Winchester who know the speaker, David Kenerson, a former Winchester boy and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kenerson of 14 Brooks street.

Mr. Kenerson is administrator of the Mound Park Hospital, the hospital for whites in St. Petersburg, and also of the Mercy Hospital for negroes in the same city. He has held these jobs since February 1 of this year and with both hospitals administers a $10,000,000 plant and a $3,000,000 budget.

Born in Winchester, Mr. Kenerson graduated from Winchester High School, from Dartmouth and from the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth. He is presently a candidate for a Ph.D. from the University of Florida, having completed his thesis on the subject of Hospital Administration. The report of his address to the Civitan Club of St. Petersburg, Fla., follows:

"Hospitals might well adopt some of the techniques used by industry to cope with rising costs, David R. Kenerson, Mound Park administrator, told members of the Civitan Club yesterday.

"Although wages in industry have risen substantially in the last 10 years, industry has been able to absorb the increased costs by increasing productivity through automation and other devices, Kenerson said. Though limited in the hospital field, a few such opportunities do exist, he said.

"All hospitals are confronted by rising costs, which have gone up 132 per cent since 1946 while the cost of living was going up 37 per cent, Kenerson said. He quoted Ray Brown, president of the American Hospital Association, as saying that in the next five years they will go up 25 per cent more, at the rate of five per cent per year.

"Kenerson gave as the reason for this rise the fact that hospitals are personal service institutions; that it costs more today to keep up with high standards of medical care and that, due to certain hospital requirements, 100 per cent bed occupancy cannot be maintained.

Salaries Biggest Item

"Biggest item of hospital cost is salaries, which make up 64 per cent of the total budget, Kenerson said. Food costs account for more than half of the balance, he added. In the last ten years, he continued, hospital salaries have risen 165 per cent, but without any proportionate increase in the number of patients that can be handled.

"Only way in which hospital production has been increased in the last 50 years, the administrator declared, is in reducing the average length of a patient's stay. Since the patient undergoes more technical and scientific treatment in a day, however, it costs him more per day, Kenerson said.

Empty Beds Costly

"To a hospital administrator, nothing can be more expensive than an empty bed, Kenerson delcared. The cost of an empty bed is $2,600 when occupancy is less than 70 per cent, when occupancy averages more than 70 per cent, it is $1,300, he said.

"Because personnel is such a large factor, it behooves hospital authorities to pay close attention to salaries, man-hours and all factors that go into the personnel budget, Kenerson concluded. Studies must be made, he said, of how much time it takes to do different jobs, employing various techniques of accounting.

"There may also be possibilities for economy, Kenerson said, in the following suggestions: Using to the utmost the skills of various specialists, rather than using skilled persons in many types of jobs; permitting ambulatory patients to eat in the hospital cafeteria; separating patients who are in critical condition, according to diagnostic categories, in order to make better use of skilled manpower; seeking new techniques for getting bedridden patients on their feet sooner.

"New patterns must eventually come in hospital management, Kenerson asserted. The large number of patients who are in the hospital when they don't need to be sends Blue Cross premiums up, he said. Perhaps, he suggested, insurance plans should set up a policy that would permit some diagnostic work to be done outside the hospital.

"Rarely are the costs of the individual patient covered by what he pays the hospital, Kenerson observed. The crux of balancing the hospital budget is to see that somebody pays for every patient—either the individual, Blue Cross or some government body."

Halloran, 3 Edgehill road, recently participated in "Royal Flush," Wellesley College's Junior Show, an original musical comedy written, produced, and directed by members of the Junior Class. Miss Halloran was a member of the costumes and records committees of "Royal Flush." She is also active in the Athletic Association at Wellesley. She is a graduate of Winchester High School.

RICHARD ROGERS, Pres.

Dear Friend:

Shut your eyes for one minute and think of those unfortunates who cannot open theirs and see.

We have read how in the beginning
GOD said, "Let there be light,"

And lo, what a beautiful world He made
For man to enjoy with his sight.

But alas, down through the ages,
Things change and not always for good

Our eyesight may often grow dimmer,
We do not see as GOD meant we should.

So let us help in GOD'S divine purpose
To make His works mankind's delight

By buying these Eye Conservation Seals
Help the "Lions" save our precious sight.

H. G. S.

All contributions obtained will be used to assist residents of Winchester and to help support Eye Research Projects at Harvard, Tufts, Massachusetts Eye & Ear Infirmary, and the Joslin Clinic.

Your anticipated gift (cash, check or money order) placed in the return envelope provided and mailed to us today will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

COMPLETE MARYCLIFF BAZAAR ARRANGEMENTS

HARVEST BAZAAR

The annual Harvest Bazaar of the Marycliff Guild will be held on Tuesday, November 13, at the academy in Winchester.

Plans have been made to present new features, one of which, is the Doll House showing many bride doils and hundreds of delightful dresses, coat and hat sets, etc. Come and enjoy a tasty luncheon, afternoon snacks or a home cooked dinner.

THE CHILDREN'S FAIR

Children who dearly love a "fair" but who seldom have one all to themselves will have a red letter day on Thursday, November 15, at "The Children's Fair" of the Winter Wonderland Fair, First Congregational Church. This is a "fair within-a-fair" just for little people. No grown-ups admitted!

At 11:30, there will be luncheon served to the children—a good hot lunch for 35 cents. At 2 o'clock the fair doors open for candy, hot dogs, ice cream—grabs, all kinds of toys for sale, and special tables that will feature gifts scaled to little purses. Here children may buy Dad or Mother a Christmas gift for a very small amount, for children know that it isn't the Money you spend, it's the thought behind it that counts.

At 3:30 to 4:15, the Committee has arranged a truly delightful entertainment. Noreen Johnson and her dance group will perform, followed by a clever pantomime of "Midsummer Night's Dream" with music. A large committee of parents, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ericson, has planned an entertaining and worthwhile "miniature fair" for children on this day, and it is hoped that parents will want to send their youngsters to the "Children's Fair" in the old vestry of the Church on Thursday.

"NO MORE BALLOONS"

Carole's Idea — The young patients of Dr. Harry Mueller of Winchester, think quite a lot of him because of his generosity when they visit his office. Among them was Carole Sundberg, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Sundberg.

When her father told Carole that she was going to have a new physician because Dr. Mueller was going to take up special work in his field at the Children's Hospital, the little girl thought about this change for a minute and then commented:

"I know what happened. He must have run out of balloons."

ANNUAL MEETING WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

The annual meeting of the Winchester Hospital was held at 8:00 p. m. at the hospital, October 30, 1956. A large attendance was present to hear the reports of the president and administrator and to receive reports of the various committees.

Mr. Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., president, reported an increase to 37,337 in total patient days for the year ended October 1, 1956, and an increase in admissions of 3,941 patients. Average stay of patients dropped to 7.2 days. The cost of operating the hospital increased substantially during the year and there was an operating loss of $27,348.66. Net non-operating income and depreciation of fixed assets were substantially in equal amounts and offset each other. An indebtedness of $80,000 remains from the building and remodelling program of 1952.

One-half the Ford Foundation allotment of $55,000 to the hospital was received during the year. In keeping with the terms of the grant, a portion of the money so far received has been used to improve the physical services and equipment of the hospital and the balance has been set aside for similar use. These improvements have thus been made possible without being a charge against operating income and without the long delay that would otherwise have occurred.

In closing, Mr. Hood expressed his appreciation to the staff and personnel of the hospital for their cooperative spirit and to the En Ka Society, the Winton Club, the Friends of the Winchester Hospital and the many others who have contributed materials, financial assistance and services during the past year and who have become an essential and vital part of the hospital family.

Referring to finances, the administrator, Mr. Harlan L. Paine, Jr., reported an increase of $61,000 in expenses over the previous year. Of this amount, $42,000 was attributed principally to salary increases with wage levels still rising. Speaking of the services of the hospital, the administrator stated, "I would remind you that we are providing top-grade service with nursing care far in excess of that provided in the average hospital, and doing so at rates that are at the bottom of the scale for hospitals in the Greater Boston area."

After the acceptance of reports, nine directors, one trustee and a nominating committee were elected as follows: board of directors for a three-year term expiring October 1959, Mr. Gilbert H. Hood, Jr.;Mr. Ralph W. Hatch; Mr. Allen O. Eaton; Mr. William F. Hickey; Mr. James B. Harlow; Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood; and Mr. Dudley H. Bradlee, 2nd, all of Winchester; and Mrs. Justin L. Anderson of Reading; for a two year term expiring October 1958, Mrs. Philip P. Wadsworth. Mr. Maurice T. Freeman was re-elected to the board of trustees for a three-year term expiring October 1959. The following nominating committee was elected for 1957: Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, chairman; Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker; Mr. Nicholas H. Fitzgerald; Mr. Donald J. Lewis; and Mr. Gilman Wallace.

The board of directors met at the close of the meeting of the corporation, and the following officers were elected: president, Gilbert H. Hood, Jr.; vice president, Thomas M. Hennessey; treasurer, Ralph W. Hatch; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Leah S. Grimes; secretary, Allen O. Eaton.

DIABETIC DETECTION WEEK

An extensive search for the undetected diabetics in Middlesex County will be launched during Diabetes Week, November 11-17, by the Middlesex East District Medical Society.

Sponsored nationally by the American Diabetes Association, Diabetes Week marks the renewal of the annual Diabetes Detection Drive and is observed each year during the week preceding Thanksgiving. Dr. Sigmund J. Szydlowski, Wakefield, is chairman of the local Diabetes Detection Drive. The committee members who will assist him in conducting the local search for diabetes are as follows: Dr. David Dutton, Stoneham, Dr. Marion W. Perry, Reading, Dr. Ernest C. McDougal, Wilmington, Dr. Thomas H. Hearne, Melrose, Dr. C. R. Hardcastle, Woburn, and Dr. Nelson C. Fontneau, Winchester.

The usual symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, intense itching, easy tiring, failing eyesight, and slow healing of cuts and scratches. However, some people may have diabetes without any symptoms at all. The most likely targets for the disease are persons who are overweight, past 40 years of age, or related to diabetics. However, anyone can develop diabetes at any age.

Free urine tests for diabetes will be done during Diabetes Week by all the doctors and hospitals in the district. Please label urine specimens with name and address. You will be notified if the test discloses any sugar.

E. M. A. R. C. CAMPAIGN

An appeal for volunteers to aid the 1956 Campaign of the East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children was issued today in Winchester by Mrs. Sylvester Horne. The campaign, which begins November 28 and ends on December 5, will seek to raise $2,000 this year.

Children and adults afflicted by mental retardation, Mrs. Horne pointed out, can frequently be helped by proper diagnosis and dequate treatment, care and education. E.M.A.R.C. is one of nearly 500 units of National Association of Retarded Children throughout America dedicated to helping as many as possible of the estimated 4,800,000 children and adults suffering from this tragic handicap.

There are various degrees of mental retardation, but one fact stands out clearly. Most of these children can be helped to lead rich and rewarding lives if they get half a chance. They are no different from other children in their desire for appreciation, approval, and most of all acceptance.

Those who wish to volunteer their services to help the drive in Winchester during its campaign should contact Mrs. Sylvester Horne, 3 Stratford road, telephone WInchester 6-1822-R. Mrs. Horne stressed that even an hour a day may help the plight of the mentally retarded of Winchester.

Mrs. Crotty will be assisted by a large active group of committee members which include: Mrs. Clyde Armstrong, Mrs. James Marchant, Mrs. Mathew Benincasa, Mrs. R. E. Muehlig, Mrs. Ralph Boynton, Mrs. Frederick Brigham, Mrs. William Perkins, Mrs. Henry Valcour, Mrs. Robert Buckley, Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. William Burns, Mrs. Percy Cliff, Mrs. Daniel J. Doherty, Mrs. B. Robert Finn, Mrs. Frank Hurley, Mrs. J. H. Ivers, Mrs. William Lippman, and Mrs. H. J. McCarthy.

GEO. W. BLANCHARD & CO. LUMBER YARD

Lumber Firm Goes Back 84 Years.

G. W. Blanchard Co. Closes Doors

When the First National Stores took over the G. W. Blanchard Lumber Co. at 695 Main street on November 1, another old-line Winchester firm closed for the last time the doors of its offices and yard that had been open for business for 84 years. Many a house in Winchester and surrounding cities and towns were built with lumber from Blanchard's, drawn through the streets of the town by two-horse teams with the driver perched on a sliding seat beside his load at the front of the long wagon.

Blanchard's was not always at its Main street location; nor was it always Blanchard's. The firm had its origin in the lumber and tan-bark business of Alexis Cutting on what was later old Manchester Field, which was also in the seventies and eighties the site of several tanneries and a railroad freight and switch-yard.

George W. Blanchard, later to head the Blanchard Company, did not know there was such a person existing as Alexis Cutting when he came to Winchester in 1880. He was born in Cumberland, Maine, January 14, 1857, the male members of his family having been seafaring people for years.

Mr. Blanchard came to Winchester with the idea of going to sea himself. His uncle, Dean Blanchard, living in Malden, was in the sugar importing business with Captain Kinsman of Winchester, whose home was located on what later became the Edwin Ginn estate on Bacon street, and it was in one of their ships, plying between Boston and Cuba, that the young George Blanchard was planning to sail.

When he arrived in town there was no ship sailing in the near future, so while he was waiting for one to arrive Mr. Blanchard lived with Captain Kinsman and got himself a job at the lumber and bark yard of Alexis Cutting on old Manchester Field.

Ships arrived and sailed, several of them, but they sailed without Mr. Blanchard. He liked the lumber business, and he also liked the boss's daughter, Celista, whom he married in 1885.

Some five years later Mr. Cutting merged his business with that of Henry A. Emerson, whose coal yard was located adjacent to the Cutting lumber and bark yard on Manchester Field.

Mr. Blanchard bought into the firm at that time as did Charles E. Kendall, and the new firm, known as the H. A. Emerson Company, continued on Manchester Field until about 1894-95 when the Metropolitan Park Commission took over the property and turned it into a public playground.

At that time the Emerson company moved its yards to 695 Main street, the location later occupied by the Blanchard Company until it closed its doors last week.

The Blanchard Company did not stem directly from the H. A. Emerson Co. In 1902 this firm became Blanchard & Kendall, with Mr. Blanchard and Mr. Kendall as partners, a firm that continued the coal, wood and lumber business previously carried on by the H. A. Emerson Company until 1907 when Mr. Blanchard bought out Mr. Kendall's interest.

At that time Blanchard & Kendall became the George W. Blanchard Company, and Sidney, who graduated from Amherst in 1907, and was a member of the last Winchester High School class to graduate from the old Prince School on Church street, the class of 1903, joined his father in the firm. In 1916, upon his graduation from Amherst, Mr. Blanchard's son, Dean, entered the business.

The business grew and prospered under Mr. Blanchard and his sons. At its peak the firm employed 40 men at the yard in Winchester and at the mill further up on Main street, acquired by Mr. Blanchard from David N. Skilling. There were 38 horses housed at the Winchester barn and an office staff of seven. When the lumber business was booming the firm had yards in Medford, Arlington and Stoneham as well as in Winchester.

Much of the lumber handled by the firm came from the Henrys at Lincoln, N. H., or from H. C. Stetson near Ashland, Maine. In those days it was nothing to buy ten cars of lumber, or a million feet at a time. Lumber for a whole house came together in a freight car, frame, siding, boards, lathes, etc., and was unloaded at the railroad siding at the Winchester yard, being driven to its destination in the Blanchard two-horse teams.

From the first the Blanchard Company's principal business was lumber. For some years the company handled coal and kindling, especially in the days when Mr. Kendall was associated with the business. Mr. Blanchard continued to handle coal for some years after he bought the Kendall interest, but gradually this part of the business declined, and in recent years the Blanchard Company has concentrated on lumber.

Commencing in 1908 the company began to motorize its business with a "Cool Kelley" machine and later an old Locomobile made over into an iron-tired contraption that would now be known as a tractor-trailer. Many who saw the machine predicted it could not be driven on the roads, but it was, though the ride was something less than supremely comfortable.

Mr. Blanchard gave up active business in 1922 and went to Cumberland Foreside, Maine, to make his home. His comfortable Winchester home on Washington street beside the then high school was torn down to make room for the wing that houses the gymnasium and auditorium added to the building in the early thirties.

Following Mr. Blanchard's departure, his sons, Sidney and Dean, have run the business until the property was bought by the First National Stores as the site for a super-market.

When the Star reporter visited the Blanchard yard October 26, he found both Sidney and Dean in the denuded office, packing records and valuable papers for future reference. The yard, once teeming with activity, was quiet; doors everywhere were shut, empty coal bunkers yawned and only a typewriter standing on an otherwise empty counter remained a mute reminder of the busy days of yesteryear.

With the closing of the Blanchard doors November 1 another old-line Winchester business left the local scene, joining those that have gone before, Bacon Felt, McKay Works, Whitney Machine, Puffer Manufacturing Company, to mention a few. Time marches on. The reporter was doubly aware of this as he left Blanchard's after his last visit!

PARKHURST SCHOOL GRADE FOUR

The fourth grade class of Mrs. Mallion's at the Parkhurst School has been observing the eleventh birthday of the United Nations by informing the delegates assembled in New York that their work for peace is being appreciated. The class has written a letter to UN headquarters and enclosed a birthday card and an original poem by Deborah Monkiewicz entitled "To Our Wonderful U. N. Men." The pupils expressed the hope that the seventy-six member organization would continue its good work of building a "Road To Peace."

The display case in the foyer of Parkhurst School is filled this week with reminders of important U. N. projects. These fourth-graders have put themselves on "Peace Street" with children from many countries, contrasting the happy way of living the U. N. way with the destruction caused by war on "Dead End."

PARKHURST SCHOOL JUNIOR R. C. ASSEMBLY

The first Junior Red Cross Assembly was held at the Parkhurst School on Friday, October 19, at 2 p. m. This closed the fall drive for enrollment and contributions. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades presented a varied program based on Red Cross activities.

Mrs. Donovan's fourth grade had a quiz on the origin and functions of the Red Cross. Mrs. Mallion's fourth grade presented a program called "Becoming Acquainted with Children Around the World." Miss Caffrey's fifth grade explained the meaning of the Red Cross services and Mrs. Syssoeff's sixth grade spelled out the reason why everyone should support the Red Cross.

The assembly ended by singing the Red Cross song. Mrs. Stanley is the Parkhurst advisor for the Junior Red Cross.

Mrs. Annie Foster was presented with a corsage, and plants were at each table for decorations. Mrs. Bradford Bentley made a birthday cake to go with the ice cream for dessert.

Indian Summer at Cedar Hill

For the first time this year, Winchester's Girl Scout Troop 10 had almost perfect weather for their Cedar Hill camp out, last week-end.

Fifteen scouts under the leadership of Mrs. James R. Stewart, Jr., and Mrs. Lawrence Beckley left Winchester shortly after school, Friday, bag and baggage-bound for Hilltop campsite in Waltham.

Troop campfire included a planned program of charades, new songs and new games for individual or group participation. (Reports were received at home of some interesting results!) and Taps found all ready for bed by 9 o'clock.

A unique event awaited the girls after breakfast, Saturday morning. In two groups, the Troop undertook an Adventure Trail involving such skills as following compass readings, identifying trees, collecting certain specimens of wild plant life and cross-country hiking. Notes were to be found, meanwhile, telling each group what to do next, and the final word found a lot of them ending up in the Maze.

The afternoon was well spent practicing campcraft skills and accomplishing parts of scouting badge work.

After supper in the dying embers of the group campfire, a round of hair-raising ghost stories finished off the evening's activities, followed by the traditional and always spine-tingling singing of Taps.

Sunday's operations began with an impressive "Scout's Own" Service, led by Mrs. Beckley, Betsy Root, Joan Denton and Jeanne Chase. Then followed a morning of further practice in camping skills practiced in the interest of becoming better Girl Scouts.

Scouts making this one of the most successful week-ends of the year included Marilyn Beckley, Nola Carucci, Jeanne Chase, Joan Denton, Ann Dyson, Marie Enwright, Carlene Hatchell, Joanna Hill, Susanne Kimball, Connie Littleton, Martha Maloney, Peggy Padelford, Betsy Root, Barbara Stewart and Libby Symmes.

Troop 20 Overnight

Troop 20 Girl Scouts from Grade 5 at Parkhurst School enjoyed an overnight November 2, at the Girl Scout Cabin. Patricia Thomas, a new member flew up at a candle light ceremony and received her wings and pin. The girls really had the upper hand all evening and reversed many of the accepted procedures.

After cooking supper and tidying up, the girls welcomed their parents for dessert and coffee and an evening of entertainment. The Scouts made the dessert, taught the parents to dance the Hokey Pokey directed the singing and joined the parents in the surprise game of the evening.

Dancing was lead by Claudine Rogers assisted by Diane Schiffmacher and Janet Forsberg; singing was directed by Mary Louise Albiani assisted by Carol Howland and Virginia Stearns. Cooking undertaken by Mary Clair and Natalie Wernet and the receptionists were Patricia Thomas and Rosemary Leary.

Col. and Mrs. Nathan Thumim of Arlington, formerly widely known residents of Winchester, have been stopping at the Sarasota Terrace Hotel in Florida while awaiting the completion of their new home in Sarasota. They report a pleasant trip south and temperatures of 75 degrees daily.

REV. JAMES EDWARD DOTY

TO ADDRESS EPIPHANY CANVASSERS

November 16, at 6:30 p. m. at the Church of the Epiphany, canvassers cooperating in the United Church Canvass will, for the first time, meet together for a "kick-off" dinner. The Reverend James Edward Doty, speaker of the evening, has chosen for his topic, "Do You Want More Money for Your Church?"

James Edward Doty, a native of Lakewood, Cleveland, Ohio, graduated from Mount Union College, A.B. (1944) and Boston University, S.T.B. cum laude (1947). He not only has fulfilled residence for the Ph.D. at Boston University but also has done graduate work at Harvard and Oxford Universities.

Since 1951, Mr. Doty has been pastor of New England's most historic Methodist Church, First Methodist Church, Lynn, Massachusetts, coming from Salem where he served Crombie Congregational Church for four years. Besides his pastoral duties, Mr. Doty has traveled extensively—an eight months tour in Europe in 1947, and in 1955 visited the world-famous Dr. Albert Schweitzer at his jungle hospital and visited seven countries in Africa. He has written articles for a nationa-wide newspaper syndicate and more than thirty magazine articles. At present he is engaged in writing a book on Dr. Schweitzer. He also has been heard weekly, since 1948, on the radio.

In addition to these activities, Mr. Doty is founder of a Pastoral Consulting Center in Lynn, his home town. He acts as director for this interdenominational Center. Also for several years he has engaged actively in making the North Shore United Church Canvass an outstanding success.

Tickets for the dinner may still be secured through the canvasser's individual church.

ATTENDED WASHINGTON CONVENTION

Mrs. Verna Carlisle Gilson, wife of Winchester's Superintendent of Schools Harry V. Gilson, was a consultant at the recent annual convention of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C.

A brilliant lineup of the nation's leaders in government, medicine, business and industry, all interested in the rehabilitation of the crippled, attended and many notables spoke.

Included were Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Louis B. Seltzer, noted editor of the Cleveland Press.

Also participating were Walter P. Blount, M.D., past president of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, Milwaukee; Irving S. Cooper, M.D., from the department of neurological surgery, St. Barnabas Hospital, N. Y.; Leonard Mayo, Ph.D., director of the association for the Aid of Crippled Children, New York; and William M. Cruickshank, Ph. D., professor of education and psychology, and director of education for exceptional children, Syracuse University.

An exhibition of prostheses and appliances, planned in cooperation with the Orthopaedic Appliance and Limb Manufacturers Association, was another highlight of the convention.

The spiritual basis for true health and peace will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (265:5): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off"

Among the scriptural selections the following will be read (Matthew 11:28): "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest'."

WINS TECH PROMOTION

Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., President of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, today announced the appointment of Dr. James G. Kelso, a member of the faculty, as his executive assistant.

Dr. Kelso, who was appointed placement officer for M.I.T. last summer has been succeeded in that position by Joe Jefferson, former assistant director of student aid. Dr. Kelso succeeds Malcolm G. Kispert, recently appointed assistant chancellor.

"Because of his broad experience in the academic field and in dealing with students, with industry, with government and with research agencies, Dr. Kelso is particularly fitted to assist in the multiplicity of matters coming up in the president's office," Dr. Killian said. "His service to the Institute has been very important and I shall continue to rely upon him."

A native of Worcester, N. Y., Dr. Kelso attended Dartmouth College and was awarded A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University for graduate study in American history.

Dr. Kelso served as a paratrooper during World War II, entering the Army as a private in 1941 and being discharged in 1946 as a lieutenant colonel. He made jumps in Sicily, Normandy, Holland and Germany, holds eight battle stars and was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

Dr. Kelso joined the M.I.T. faculty, to teach history, in 1948 and holds the rank of assistant professor. He became associate placement officer in 1955, taking the responsibility for guidance of industry and of students in the difficult field of attempting to supply engineers and scientists to meet the crucial demand. Last July he became placement officer, in charge of an office which took over the responsibility for placement of alumni as well as students.

Dr. Kelso is married to the former Miss Dorothy Honiss of West Hartford, Conn. They live at 81 Walnut street and have two children.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL GRADE TEAS

The fifth grade tea was held at the home of Mrs. Howard Nichols, 7 Appalachian road, on Wednesday, October 24. After delicious refreshments were served, the teachers, Miss Mary Downs and Miss Kathryn Dempsey discussed with the mothers the subjects to be covered in the fifth grade and how these subjects are correlated.

Arrangements for the tea were made by the room mothers: Mrs. Robert Tesar and Mrs. Michael Civetti, assisted by Mrs. William Cruwys, Mrs. James Falzano, Mrs. Robert Holland, Mrs. Franklin Moulton, Mrs. B. Thomas Preston, Mrs. James Russo, Mrs. George Stratton and Mrs. John C. Wile.

Mothers and teachers of the sixth grade were entertained at the home of Mrs Roland Hanson, 27 Prince avenue, on Tuesday, October 30. Miss Phyllis Roberts and Mr. Roland A. Nault, sixth grade teachers, outlined for the mothers the curriculum to be covered this year. Refreshments were prepared and served by the room mothers, Mrs. Richard Hakanson and Mrs. Eric Johnson assisted by Mrs. Charles Huckins, Mrs. Walter Hutchinson, Mrs. Thomas Morison, Mrs. George Rowe, Mrs. Pasquale Tofuri and Mrs. Robert Watson.

On Thursday, November 1, the first grade tea was held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence W. Lunt, Jr., 14 Highland avenue. The pourers were Miss Leonor Rich, principal, and Mrs. Roland Hanson. Serving on the tea committee under the leadership of the room mothers, Mrs. John Hoffman and Mrs. Clifford Lindberg, were Mrs. Edward Barker, Mrs. Clellan Bunn, Mrs. Paul Hayford, Mrs. John Sheehan and Mrs. Charles Slack. The teachers, Mrs. James Hancock and Mrs. Merril Wells gave the group a complete picture of the first grade activities and illustrated their talk by showing actual books and materials used by the pupils.

This tea concluded the series of grade teas held for the George Washington School during the last month.

EN KA FALL MEETING

Previous to the En Ka fall meeting, two En Ka Board meetings have been held at the home of its new President, Mrs. George L. Connor, at 31 Prospect street. She welcomed the Board members and reminded them that it was a privilege as well as a responsibility to be on the Executive Board. Besides the regular business, Mrs. Frank Creelman and Mrs. Robert Roundey were elected as additional members to the Membership Committee, and Mrs. Marion Clark and Mrs. Forrest Pitman were voted to serve on the Nominating Committee.

Over 100 En Ka members met on Tuesday, October 30, at the spacious home of Mrs. Albert Swazey on Main street, to talk over the coming year's activities. After a most delicious luncheon served by Mrs. Don Greer and her committee, the President Mrs. George Connor opened the meeting by introducing two guest speakers, namely, Mrs. Nellie Sullivan who has been with the Board of Public Welfare in Winchester for 29 years, and Mrs. Walfred Wiklund, of the Winchester District Nursing Association. Both talked in a most convincing manner of the work done and needing to be done in their fields.

Mrs. Arthur Lyng, Social Worker in the Welfare Department, due to the recent loss of her husband, was unable to speak at this meeting as previously planned.

Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Chairman of the En Ka Social Service Committee, was responsible for these two most enlightening talks and for getting these two well known Winchester guests to come to this fall meeting. She reported much work already accomplished through these channels. After these heart rending talks the president called for the reports of the various chairmen.

Due to this special program, the report of the June meeting was omitted . The Secretary, Mrs. Ronald Wyman, read the Board decisions. The Treasurer, Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, reported a balance of $26,467.98 in the various funds of En Ka. The Vice President, Mrs. Paul Forester, Jr., evidenced by her work chart that many hours were spent through the summer in the service of En Ka by its loyal members.

Mrs. Hollis Dyer, chairman of the 1956-1957 En Ka Street Fair, has already had a meeting at her home at 3 Ardley place of her 29 directors and booth managers. The big annual event that concerns everyone in Winchester is set for May 24 and 25.

The Finance Chairman, Mrs. Virginia Dickey, reported that the redecorating of the En Ka room at the Winchester Hospital has been completed. Under the direction of the Finance committee the following sums were voted from the Street Fair Fund:

$100. to the Winchester Hospital
100. to the Home for Aged People
100. to the Winchester District Nursing Association
100. to the Winchester Girl Scouts
100. to the Winchester Boy Scouts and twelve Band uniforms, hats and trousers, for the Winchester High School Band.

The Color Guard, given by En Ka last year, is a spectacular addition to the Winchester Band of which we are so proud.

Mrs. John McLean, chairman of the En Ka Civic Committee, reported the continuation of the Baby Photo Service under the direction of Mrs. Thornton Jesdale and the Book Truck Service at the Winchester Hospital doing its rewarding work under the guidance of Mrs. Paul Dunn.

Mrs. George Neilley reported that chairmen for the monthly suppers at the Home for the Aged has been selected.

The Membership Chairman, Mrs. Richard Fisher, and her committee gave out the new 1956-1957 year books. This corrected list of En-Ka members is most valuable and represents much time and effort on the part of the committee.

The Nominating Chairman, Mrs. Evan Kibbe, reported the resignation of Mrs. Samuel Cole as Publicity Chairman as she is moving to Salem, and Mrs. Franklin Lane was elected to fill her place on the Board.

A new committee has been formed, the En Ka Work Shop, and Mrs. Francis Chase has graciously accepted the chairmanship. This committee provides hand work of various kinds for the needy of Winchester and arranges a place in some En Ka members' homes for its monthly meetings. The first meeting was held October 4, at the home of Mrs. Russell Symmes at 233 Main street and the next meeting will be held on November 8, at Mrs. Dunbar Shanklin's at 12 Everett avenue.

To quote our President, "It is hoped that these meetings will fill a long felt need and bring the members of En Ka together in a spirit of friendship and service, and let others less fortunate know that 'Somebody Cares'."

The meeting adjourned at 3:30 with a feeling by all that we had started our year by accomplishing the object of the En Ka organization, "to aid in welfare work in Winchester."

Safety Tip: Be sure you're the first to dim your lights when you meet another car, warns the AAA. Bright lights can blind the driver. Dim your lights when you follow another car, too. It's annoying and confusing to the driver when your bright lights are shining in his rear-view mirror.

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Gerald J. Murphy
(Manager of the Cambridge Social Security District Office)

Today I shall discuss the disability in connection with old-age and survivors insurance. Disability first came into the social security insurance picture in 1954. Until now, however, it was just a provision to protect the insurance rights of a worker who became totally disabled after he worked in employment or self-employment covered by the law. There was no provision to start paying benefits to him after he was determined to be disabled for any further gainful work.

The 1956 amendments to the social security law change this. Beginning with July 1957, a disabled person, age 50 or over, may be eligible to start getting monthly social security insurance benefit payments. It is no longer necessary to wait until he reaches age 65 to have his retirement payments start, nor is it necessary for an insured woman worker to wait until she becomes 62, if she is disabled and has reached her 50th birthday.

To meet the requirements of this new provision in the law, you must be so severely disabled that you are not able to engage in any substantial work. If your disability is just a temporary condition—one that will not keep you out of work permanently, or for a long and indefinite period of time—you are not eligible for benefit payments. Or if your disability is a kind which just makes it necessary for you to slow down in work or work part time, you cannot qualify for monthly benefit payments. However, if your disability—either physical or mental—is long-continued, has lasted for at least six months, and there is little chance of recovery in the future, you may be eligible for monthly benefit payments. These payments, which can start at age 50, are the same as the amount of the old-age insurance benefit you would be entitled to if you were 65.

Bear this in mind: the first month for which cash disability payments can be made is July 1957. However, there will be no benefit payments for your dependents until you become entitled to old-age benefit payments at age 65 (or, in the case of a woman getting disability payments, at any time between age 62 and 65). Of course, receipt of disability benefits will not effect the payment of benefits to any of your eligible dependents in case you should die.

The work requirements for disability insurance payments at age 50, are: social security credit for 5 years of work in the 10 years before the established beginning date of your disability, and 1½ years of work in the 3 years before that date. Active military service at any time after September 15, 1940, and work in the railroad industry after 1936 can count toward the work requirements for disability insurance payments under certain conditions. However, if you are receiving another Federal disability benefit or a State or Federal Workmen's compensation benefit for any month, the amount of your disability insurance benefit will be reduced by the amount of the other benefit for that month.

If you apply for disability insurance benefits, you will be referred to a State vocational rehabilitation agency which will consider you for services which may help you return to gainful work. Disability insurance payments will be withheld from you if you refuse without good cause to accept rehabilitation services that may be offered to you by your State agency.

If you are now age 50 or over, have been in employment or self-employment covered by social security long enough to meet the above-stated requirements, are now disabled but have never applied for the "disability freeze" of your earnings record, you should get in touch with your social security office right away. If you have already had your earnings record "frozen," there is no hurry about applying for the benefits payable at age 50. You have until December 31, 1957, to make your application without losing any of the payments.

From what I have said, it is apparent that disability insurance has now become a part of the old-age and survivors insurance program. Under the amended law, disability benefits are payable also to children who become disabled before their 18th birthday. In my next article, I shall explain this important amendment to the social security law.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

One of modern medicine's "most-wanted villains in cholesterol, a fatty substance whose habits are under close scrutiny in cardiac laboratories.

Cholesterol is made up much like any other fat. It circulates through the bloodstream and normally washes harmlessly through the inner linings of the arteries and seeps back into the blood or is carried off without damage.

But sometimes cholesterol piles up in the artery lining. This narrows and roughens the artery walls sets up lesions and paves the way for the blood clot that means—heart attack!

The mere presence of a lot of cholesterol in the blood means nothing to most of us. But great importance is being attached in the research laboratories to the molecular form in which it is carried through the bloodstream. Scientists are working feverishly to establish whether the presence of certain giant bodies called lipoproteins prevents cholesterol from washing easily through the artery walls. If there is a significant relationship between the two, it could be a historic step forward in the business of living—longer—with your heart.

Our medical detectives are working as hard in the field of cure as of prevention. One of the hottest developments in years has come from research with estrogens.

Estrogens are female sex hormones. Women have much less heart disease than men, and their hormones, administered to male victims of atherosclerosis, actually have healed the deadly artery lesions—widely in animal experimentation, on a limited basis with humans. A drawback to this treatment is the fact that it brings unpleasant "side" effects, yet it is a major step forward.

In three week's time, researchers can create the same kind of lesions which kill men through a high-fat diet in a chicken. Estrogens can repair much of this damage.

The key to heart-attack prevention for the layman today is diet. This doesn't mean, necessarily, a low-cholesterol diet; your body can manufacture huge amounts of it from other "building blocks." It does mean a low-fat diet, both for those who have had heart disease and those who would prevent it. We eat far too well for our own good.

And until medical science finds a way for the body to absorb large amounts of cholesteral—triggered by high-fat diets—without artery damage, lean eating is the alternative.

THE FRANKLINS' FIFTIETH

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Franklin of Fairmount street, widely known residents of Winchester for many years, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday of this week, November 6. It just happened of course that the Presidential election took place on that day. When they were married fifty years ago neither George nor Dora had in mind observing their golden wedding day in conjunction with the election of a President of the United States.

George, better known as the "Squire of Fairmount Hill," former executive clerk of the Board of Selectmen, and his good wife wanted no part of a public observance of their anniversary.

They did, however, consent to a family dinner at the Town Line in Lynnfield, by a get-together at the new home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coss, at 5 Lloyd street.

The Franklins' son, Russell, came on with his wife and daughter, Barbara Franklin, from Philadelphia for the party, leaving his other three children, Nancy Lee, Peter Russell and Sarah Elizabeth, to keep the home fires burning. Also helping to swell the family party were the Coss youngsters, Jeffrey Peter and Linda Lee.

After dinner the party returned to the Coss home for election returns, enlivened past a doubt by some of George's more exciting experiences in the Spanish War!

L. W. V. NOTES

How do you feel about a four year term for governor? If such a term were voted, would you care whether the election came in a presidential or non-presidential election year? The four year term for governor raises this question: should members of the General Court, the Massachusetts legislative bodies, be elected for four years? How about other constitutional officers—secretary of state, lt.-governor, etc?

These questions will be discussed at the four League unit meetings next week. Another topic in which much interest was registered at the last unit meetings is the value of direct primaries and of the pre-primary convention. This will be another opportunity to discuss this question with more resource material available.

Unit hostesses and leaders are as follows: Wednesday, November 14, 7:45 p. m. hostess, Mrs. Robert Joslin, 6 Crescent road; leader, Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley. Thursday, November 15, 9:30 a. m. hostess, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, 225 Highland avenue; leader, Mrs. Oscar Surtees. Thursday, November 15, 7:45 p. m. hostess, Mrs. William Harvey, 55 Yale street; leader, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich. Friday, November 16, 9:30 a. m. hostess, Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, 9 Ravenscroft road; leader, Mrs. Howard Aiken.

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Gerald J. Murphy
(Manager of the Cambridge Social Security Office)

In my last article I told of self-employed lawyers, dentists, and other professional people now covered by social security. Under the 1956 amendments to the law, their earnings started to count towards old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families as of January 1, 1956. Naturally, they want to know how long it will take them to become insured under the law.

To become insured under social security a person must have been in work covered by the law for a specified length of time. The amount of work required is measured in "quarters of coverage" which, in a general way, corresponds with a calendar quarter of work. A self-employed person gets 4 quarters of coverage for a year in which he has $400 or more in net earnings from self-employment. The usual requirements for becoming insured are one quarter of coverage out of every two calendar quarters elapsing after 1950, provided there are at least six quarters of coverage. Under the amended law, a person who works continuously after 1955 can become insured with fewer quarters of coverage. This change in the law permits self-employed professionals and others brought under social security as of the beginning of this year to disregard their years of non-coverage in acquiring an insured status under social security.

Ordinarily, benefit amounts are based on a person's average earnings in employment or self-employment covered by the law after 1950. If all the time elapsing after 1950 were used in figuring this average, self-employed professionals newly brought under social security would have 5 years in which these earnings were not covered and would count against them. The amended law permits the dropping of these five years.

A self-employed dentist, lawyer, or any other person whose work was first covered by social security this year, will not have his average earnings reduced when he qualifies for benefits because his work was not covered in the years 1951 through 1955.

In these articles, I have frequently mentioned age 65 as the earliest age at which a person can qualify for old-age payments. This has been true since the beginning of social security insurance payments. It still holds for men. The recent amendments, however, provide for the payment of benefits to women beginning at age 62. In my next article I shall explain how women—retired insured workers and wives and widows of retired or deceased insured workers—can start getting benefits payments at age 62.

Safety Tip: Until we get better highways, we'll have to cope with the ones we have. You can help by driving carefully on roads with driveways and entrances leading into them. Be alert for cars entering the highway, advises the AAA.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

On Monday, November 5, the Fortnightly met in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church, called to order at 2:00 p. m. by the president, Mrs. Paul H. Atwood. A few brief reports were given. Miss Bancroft said that all who went to the Jackson Homestead in Newton felt well repaid. The same is true, as Mrs. Atwood said, of the delightful tea given by Mrs. Potts at her attractive home.

This followed an informative talk by Mr. David Post on relief work abroad and the difficulties incurred in the U. S. Refugee Relief Program. Under the law passed by Congress in 1953, all refugees have to have a sponsor here, an assured job awaiting them, and are checked as to their records, health, and work ability.

Mrs. Lester Leathers spoke at length on the Art Exhibits in local stores and $5.80 was collected for the Penny Art Fund.

Mrs. Fiske asked members for used Christmas wrapping paper which can be pressed and re-used on the many gifts for the veterans' bags.

A moving picture of old Sturbridge and its activities to be shown after the meeting in the Public Library was announced by Miss Bancroft.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Norman Alden Downs, a graduate of Northeastern University Law School, taking the course when her daughter was in primary school.

She is a member of the Radio Forum of Station WHDH and is a charming and enlightening speaker on the Law. She pointed out the wisdom of consulting competent lawyers on legal matters to be sure one is abreast of the changes that do occur and gave illustrations of cases of various kinds of litigation where mistakes due to ignorance of simple points had invalidated the intention.

She explained procedure in wills, codicils, inheritance questions, and so on, giving much valuable information and then answered questions from the floor.

Our president reminded us that our next meeting, November 26, is Guest Night and the speaker will be the noted newspaper columnist and world traveler, Mr. Saville R. Davis.

Art Committee

This being National Art Week, the Fortnightly is sponsoring, as it has before, an exhibition of the work of local artists, displayed in several store windows.

In those of Filene's (on the Thompson street side) is Miss Pauline F. Goodrich's grouping of jewelry, handwrought in sterling silver. Here, too, is a "Still Life" in tempera by Mrs. Roger M. Burgoyne and a framed picture, "Poppies," hooked by Mrs. Lester S. Leathers, both Fortnightly members.

Oil paintings here are "Annisquam Light" by Jean Kirkpatrick and "Autumn Sunlight" by Emily Marks. The water colors are by Winchester High School pupils under Miss Goodrich's direction, Carmeline Holland, Charles Bond, Roberta Rich, Bonnie Harrington, Jane Bowman, Annette Johnian, Regina Mingolelli, Joseph McCormack, Marilyn Snelling Vanessa Ahlfors, Robert Daphinais, Claire Pearce, and Helen Bolster.

A manikin in the window represents an artist at work with palette in one hand, brush in the other. On her easel is an unframed oil, "Golden Hills," by Miss Gloria Mucera. The arrangement is by Miss Rita Mucera of Filene's. We appreciate her excellent work and are grateful also to the manager, Miss Rachel Armstrong, for the use of the window.

At Peck and Peck's, three oil paintings by Fortnightly members are shown, "Light House" by Dorothy Dey Howard, and "Winsor Mountain Road, Hillsboro, N. H." and "Chrysanthemums" by Marion Ladd Symmes. Our thanks to Mrs. Ruth Miano, manager of the store.

In the window of the Rutherford Equipment Co., 2 Mt. Vernon street, is art work by pupils of Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully who conducts the Children's Art Class at the Public Library.

Here are pastels by Richard Stiles, aged 10; Ann Gregory, 11; and Edward Tankard, 9. Sponge painting by Douglas Smith, aged 11 and two, "Fall Foliage," by Ruth Beckley, 11.

Also an enamelled tie clip by Douglas Smith and a turquoise enamelled locket with gold lustre by Ruth Buckley. Our thanks to Mr. John Rutherford & Co., for allowing the use of this window.

These exhibitions (under the auspices of the Fortnightly) evidence the continued interest and growth in artistic creation and expression in Winchester which is indeed gratifying.

ATTENDED CONFERENCE

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Kitchin of 16 Chesterford road attended the recent insulation conference of the National Research Council at the G. E. Laboratories in Schenectady, N. Y.

During July and August the Kitchins spent about six weeks at their farm house on Bustin's Island, Casco Bay, Maine, being joined there during their vacation by their son, Robert, and his two children, and their son, Don, Jr., with his wife and two children from Kimberton, Pa.

Charles, and his wife and two sons, who live in Lexington, have a cottage near the Kitchins, so the family had quite a reunion during the vacation period.

Millions of shimmering snowflakes will hang from every room of the Parish House, and in every possible nook and corner, delightful snow scenes, gleaming lanterns, and gay Christmas touches will transform the staid old building into a living Christmas carol. So mark it on your calendar now—the Wonderland Fair on Wednesday, November 14 (8 o'clock) and on Thursday at 10. It's a Must if you like gay, unusual and clever things for Christmas!

ON NAVY SUPERINTENDENT'S LIST

Friends of Midshipman Henry A. Morgan, Jr., will be pleased to learn that he made the Superintendent's List at the Naval Academy for 1955. He has also joined the staff of the Trident, a Naval Academy Magazine, and is hard at work in the production or make-up end.

He, with the other Middies, had the pleasure of seeing Navy take Notre Dame 33-7 last Saturday, the first victory over Notre Dame by the Navy since 1944. In his words "it was simply grand."

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumeraries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

AUCTION THURSDAY, NOV. 15

An old time country auction, with Mr. Bean the famous "Yankee Auctioneer" wielding the gavel, will take place Thursday evening, November 15 at 8 o'clock in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church. Hundreds of treasures—a dining room suite, piano for the playroom, chairs, tables, lamps, china—some things you can't live without, some things you wouldn't be caught dead owning! But all are interesting, and Someone wants them! And everyone has fun at a good auction.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swan, Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Hersey, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Sawyer, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Millican are in charge of the auction. There is a supper at 6:30, with Mrs. Herbert Ross and Mrs. Bradford Bentley in charge, but it is hoped that those who cannot attend the supper will still plan to come to the auction. And bring neighbors, too!

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car—it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Sometimes a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive—a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dreambook: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushioning action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power-Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!

Here we stand, all through with the first quarter and not a single change in team positions over the previous week.

The All Stars and the Bee Bops both took four points apiece to maintain a two-way tie as the second quarter of the first half commences.

Tony Saraco	104.6

Babe Tofuri	98.5
Bob Fiore	98.3
Joe Berardi	97.0

Once again Tony Saraco led the pack as he glowed with a 327 pinfall to lead in the 300 department. He seems to improve each week as his average to date has reached to heights never attained in our S.O.I. bowling records to my knowledge. Others to bowl over 300 were Babe Tofuri,304, and Richard Bucci, 300.

The All Stars, one of the top teams, led in pinfalls with 1425. This team is sparked by Tony Saraco, whose phenomenal bowling of the past weeks has everyone talking to themselves.

His teammates are his cousin, Tony Bardascino, who shows a lot of promise, Eddie Forgione, the very late shopper, Danny Maestretta, one of our town's most reliable workers and call fireman, and Tony Chefalo, the overworked plumber and eagle scout.

It's not my intention to willfully make public that our friend "Curly Locks" is tight. Let's just say he is close in monetary dealings. He's just one of the missing this bowling night! Could it be the financial disaster which has taunted and haunted him these past weeks has finally brought on a state of suspended animation and anguish.

As you all know by now, Dan Gattienieri bowled a 295, which would surely get him another cigar. Missing also was Suppa, whose 4-way girdle gave way the fifth way.

Where was the "Kangaroo Kid," Jeff, whose vast knowledge on international affairs has put him on 24-hour call for immediate action? We want his vast public to know that he is a twenty-year B. C. man. Who is 753 and 411? More about these famous numbers later. Did you vote?

What former football great and famous back-pocket, hidden-ball bowler bowled a 78 string? Could the consumption of American cookery be the cause? Though he did not bowl last year anywhere, he has picked up where he left off! Who else but Carl Bertolucci! It's about time Father Sam Corby gave his son Frank a few tips on bowling! Even our official score keeper, Paul Lentine, was knocked low with a new virus, X92. He is one of our main cogs it the sports committee. In a telephone conversation he said he would be back in action this week.

As the shooting ceased in Strike Lanes this week bowling had closed for the night and everyone adjourned to the clubhouse to discuss the evening's happenings.

LEAGUE CROWN RESTS ON MEETING OF "B" RIVALS

Saturday's football game between Winchester and Wakefield High Schools, played on Manchester Field, commencing at 1:30, will definitely decide the 1956 championship of the re-activated Middlesex League.

Winchester is in first place in the league, going into the game, having moved up to top rating last week-end by beating Belmont while Wakefield was being held to a tie by Stoneham. Previously Winchester and Wakefield had been tied for first place, each having won four and lost one game, Winchester to Concord and Wakefield to Melrose.

Wakefield comes here with wins over Reading, 8-7; Concord, 20-6; Woburn, 27-13; Belmont, 12-0; and Lexington, 26-6. Of the victories only those over Concord and Woburn are noteworthy, and in view of the Patriots' subsequent losses, that over Concord doesn't rate top billing.

The fact that Wakefield was beaten by Melrose, over which in turn Reading won its first league game last Saturday, doesn't put the Scarlet exactly in the invincible class.

Against the same league teams Winchester has the better record. The Indians lost their opener to a much-further-along Concord team, 25-13. They would dearly love to play the Patriots again, and really feel they could erase the only blot on their escutcheon.

Winchester has beaten Stoneham, 18-0; Cambridge Latin, 32-13; Lexington, 14-7; Melrose, 27-6; Reading, 19-0; and Belmont, 25-0. Of these results only the Lexington score is less impressive than Wakefield's against these same teams.

Physically Wakefield has the advantage, its starting team averaging 175 to Winchester's, 157. Both will be "up" for this one. If memory serves, Wakefield hasn't beaten Winchester here since Coach Knowlton's first year in town, 1940, when the Scarlet won, 19-0, on Shore road field.

Wakefield hasn't enjoyed its long string of reverses and will arrive tomorrow to win. Winchester isn't figuring on losing either. The Indians are not a great team. They don't rate with last year's club, but they have still won six out of seven.

The resulting clash should be a dilly, and it is too bad Winchester will not have the services of big John Chapin for this one or the coming Woburn game. John hurt his knee in the Cambridge Latin contest and hasn't played since. He underwent an operation for the removal of cartilage from the knee this week end and of course is out for the season, if not for good!

PARKHURST SIXTH GRADE FIELD TRIP

The sixth grade of Parkhurst School, under the supervision of Mrs. Laura Syssoeff, made a never-to-be-forgotten field trip, October 9, to the Babson Institute, Wellesley, to become acquainted with the world-famous globe recently set up there, as well as to study the relief map of the U. S. with its fascinating features.

Miss Gubbellini, curator, met the group upon arrival and conducted them to the enclosure housing the globe. The mighty machinery was put in motion, and instantly geographical concepts were made plain to the students, as rotation, revolutions, seasons, meridians, parallels, etc.

A climb to the baclony above the relief map housed in a building beside the globe brought further educational enjoyment to the boys and girls who were allowed to operate an electrical appliance lighting up the capitals of the states and main cities, to study the map itself, and discover independently its interesting features.

Each student went home with a folder telling the history of the map, and one concerning the globe, and an invitation to return some Saturday with his parents to share with them his information gathered on the field trip.

ON SCHOOL SALE COMMITTEE

Serving on the committee planning the annual Christmas Shop for St. Sebastian's Country Day School, Newton, are Mrs. George Govoni, 7 Robinson Circle, and Mrs. R. Everett Mitchell, 54 Emerson road. The sale will be held Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17.

Winchester students attending the Newton school are Jay Donahue, 15 Ledgewood road; Robert Dunn, 6 Fernway; David and Graham Govoni, 7 Robinson Circle; Everett Mitchell, 54 Emerson road; and John Volpe, 10 Everett avenue.

GRADE FOUR ASSEMBLY WYMAN SCHOOL

Miss Betty Batchelder's Fourth Grade of the Wyman School, which has been studying Africa and the Congo River, presented a play to the school on Wednesday, October 24, and to the parents on Thursday, October 25, as a culmination of its activity on that subject.

Austin Broadhurst, the class announcer, introduced the program by correlating United Nations Day with the study of Africa. The United Nations Assembly is working to have peace all over the world. In schools everywhere in America children are studying about the countries that make up the United Nations. Through their study of these countries they are learning the ways and customs of other people.

In its program the Fourth Grade took its audience on an imaginary airplane trip to far away Africa, one of the United Nations' member countries. The play took place at the airport with the family making plans with the pilot to fly 8,029 miles to the Congo River in Africa.

A map of the world and a World Map of the Air Age were used in clarifying locations, distances, and information pertaining to the Belgian Congo. A large mural showing native life in the jungle formed the backdrop on the stage.

Members of the family group and the airport staff were as follows:

Father	Ralph Sexton
Mother	Sally Worthen
Brother	David Wingate
Sister	Elizabeth Cornwell
Pilot	James Tuller
Co-Pilot	Mark Hakanson
Engineer	Jeffrey Wheeler
Stewardess	Gail Snelling
Asst. Stewardess	Libby Politano

Soloists in the class choral speaking number called "Flying" were:

James Bussard
Michael Gorman
Sally Worthen
Peter Sommers
Stanley Bennett

Carol Walsh and Pamela Spang recited the amusing poem "The Hippopotamus" by Georgia Durston as an introduction to the telling of the beloved Rudyard Kipling story of "The Elephant's Child" by the following members of the class:

Michael Gorman
Elizabeth Cornwell
Ralph Sexton
Libby Politano
James Bussard
Gerald Cullen
James Tuller
Robert Lynch
Carol Walsh
Barbara Quigley
Jay Butler
Austin Broadhurst
Robert Letty
Richard Herron
Sally Worthen
Cynthia Abbott
Vicky Reeves
Tony Silvestri
Stanley Bennett
Mark Hakanson
Kenneth Trevett
Pamela Spang
Julie Devaney
Karen Trump
Robert Croft
Jane Ayer MacLean
Jeffrey Wheeler
Betsy Fulton
Davies Browne
David Wingate
Peter Sommers
William Hood
Gail Snelling
Martha Doty

Combining both the information about Africa and Kipling's "The Elephant's Child" in its study the Fourth Grade has had its "satiable curiosity" answered too.

PARKHURST THIRD GRADE

On Thursday morning, October 25, the third grade in Mrs. Ruby Wiggett's room presented their assembly. It was entitled "We Like Our Town," and told about the history of Winchester. All members of the class participated. Susan Lewis was the announcer. A choral speaking group included Deborah Gouzoule, Marsha Benham, Richard Stearns, David Dunn, Linda Zammarchi and Lucinda Burleigh. Carl Reynolds gave a talk about Early Inhabitants.

Charles Weedon gave a talk about "Edward Converse." Jeffrey DeLong talked on "Early Schools." Thor Gislason talked on "Naming the Town."

A short dance was done by Martha Davis, Bradford Armstrong, Arthur Kyricos, Ingrid Berg, Nancy Bowen, Jeffrey DeLong, Whitney Gay, and Deborah Freeman.

Paula Lamson, Leslie Wild, Peter Lennon, Ingrid Berg, Frank Manganaro and Linda Petersen, read poems composed by the class. Others, including Alex Clair, displayed original drawings. Several songs were sung by the class. A large mural, painted by members of the class was hung in the background. Grades 3 through 6 attended the assembly as well as many parents.

Mrs. Roger Hadley of 193 Forest street dropped in at the Star Office last Friday with a pot of white violets she had dug up in her yard that morning. The plants were vigorous and in full bloom, and Mrs. Hadley said in the 30 years she had lived on the old Chase Farm, which is her home, she had never seen violets in bloom this time of year.

EDUCATOR FROM SCOTLAND VISITS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The teachers and pupils at the Winchester Junior High School were pleased to have Mr. Lawrence Christie, of Aberdeen Scotland, and a leader in secondary education in that country, visit their school last week. Mr. Christie was sent to the United States by the Education Association of Scotland to study secondary education in selected communities in this country.

Among the selected secondary schools visited by Mr. Christie were Winnetka and other suburbs of Chicago; Shaker Heights, Ohio; Chicago, Illinois; Shorewood, Wisconsin; Scarsdale, New York; White Plains, New York; and Marion, Pennsylvania.

The choice of Winchester as one of the schools to be included in Mr. Christie's study may be regarded as a compliment to the school and its faculty. During the day Mr. Christie visited many of the classes and enjoyed conversations with students and teachers alike. His favorable comments on both staff and scholars were most gratifying.

Mr. Christie concluded his day in Winchester in an interesting talk with Dr. Harry V. Gilson, superintendent of schools.

The first meeting of the Wyman School Junior Red Cross Council was held on October 30.

The officers for this year are:
President—Malcolm MacKay
Vice Pres.—Ann Shidler
Secretary—Carl Fontneau
Treasurer—Robin Voges

Our vice president Ann Shidler conducted the meeting, as the president was ill. After the salute to the flag and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," the classroom representatives were presented. Secretary Carl Fontneau read the Junior Red Cross pledge for service. Robin Voges told of the earning of membership by doing a kind service for others. Our third grades made Thanksgiving nut cups for Bedford Veterans' Hospital. Miss Lowry talked with the children about having safe, and the right kind of fun on Hallowe'en. She gave the children the slogan: "Fun is really only fun, when its fun for everyone." The meeting was adjourned after the singing of "America The Beautiful."

Indians Top League On Sixth Straight Victory

Winchester High School's fifth straight victory, achieved at the expense of Belmont High last Saturday at Belmont, boosted the Indians into undisputed first place in the Middlesex League standing. Winchester beat Belmont, 25-0, while Stoneham was holding Wakefield to a 13-13 tie. This stalemate was responsible for the Indians' top rating, for entering the game Winchester and Wakefield were tied, each having a four and one record.

Winchester's win over Belmont was chiefly distinguished by the fact that the Indians went into the air for three of their four touchdowns. Winchester is generally thought of as a ground team, yet no one could ask for three prettier or more opportune aerials than those thrown and completed by the Indians for 18 points last Saturday.

Neither team got anywhere in the first period, which was really hard fought with both clubs hitting hard. Belmont had a great chance when it blocked a Russo kick and recovered on Winchester's 27. It had another when McCormack recovered a Longworth fumble at the Indians 26.

Each time, however, the locals stopped the Red and Blue cold, and the quarter ended with Winchester in possession on the Belmont 34.

Russo bucked for three and a first down at the 31. Longworth recovered a fumble for a very fortunate five yard advance and Russo added four up the middle.

With third and one Belmont massed its defense for a buck, and Longworth took to the air, tossing off a pretty pass out to the left to Murphy, all alone at the Belmont 15. There was no Belmont boy even remotely near "Vinnie" as he caught the ball and trotted into the end zone. Russo's try for the extra point from placement was wide.

There was no more scoring the first half, but following half time Winchester really put on an offensive show.

Belmont kicked off and Paonessa, starting fast, shot out of a funnel in the middle of the field and legged it to the Belmont 36, where he was slowed down by Creonte and knocked outside by big Chrisafulli.

Thomson broke through to a first down at the 23 and Russo bucked for seven. Thomson added two, and then Paonessa on a buck left shot through a hole in the Belmont frontier and scooted 14 yards into the end zone almost before the delighted Winchester stands knew what had happened. Five plays had eaten up about 80 yards. Russo missed the try for point-after.

The third quarter ended with Belmont in possession at its 48. A great tackle by Joe Flaherty stopped Belmont on an attempted criss-cross and Winchester took over at its 31.

Paonessa bucked for two, and then Russo smashed up the middle. Two good blocks got him into the clear and "Moe" legged it all the way to the Belmont 20, where he was caught from behind.

Thomson hit off tackle for eight and Paonessa just missed a first down through the line. With a foot to go Longworth again went to the air and hit Murphy near the goal line with "Vinnie" running the last two or three yards unmolested. Russo again missed the try to convert.

Coach Knowlton was getting his reserves into action at this point, and after Ruggeri had run the kick-off back to the Belmont 31, the home team tried a forward lateral. The forward was completed, but as the receiver attempted to lateral, Jim Wakefield, reserve center, stole the ball at the Belmont 38.

Flaherty had to kick and "Eddie" Fitzgerald cut down the Belmont receiver with a crashing tackle at the Belmont 21. Two pass plays and a sweep gained only two and on fourth down Morton smeared an attempted statue of liberty play to give Winchester the ball at the Belmont 12.

Three plays later from the 10 Dana Starkweather arched a pass to Bill Morton for the touchdown, Morton making a good turning catch of the ball just outside the line. Starkweather bucked over for the extra point, after Belmont had twice been penalized for offside.

Winchester made nine first downs and 244 yards by rushing, completing four of nine passes for 50 yards and three touchdowns. The Indians lost 25 yards in penalties and fumbled five times, recovering three times. Belmont made five first downs and rushed for 119 yards, completed three of 14 passes for 27 yards. Belmont lost 57 yards in penalties. The summary:

BELMON HIGH—le, Jones; lt, Johnson; lg, Woodbury; c, McBride, Rooney; rg, Colby; rt, Collins, O'Conner; re, Wilkins, Kelley; qb, Gardner; lhb, Ruggeri, Creonte; rhb, McCormick; fb, Crisafulli.

PEE WEES WIN 6th

The Winchester Pee Wees completed an undefeated and untied season Sunday at Melrose dropping the "Little" red by a score of 27-19. Bob Benincasa scored early for Winchester when he intercepted a Melrose pass and raced into the Melrose end zone from twenty yards out. Barry Johnson scored the extra point taking a pass from Kent Parrot.

Melrose came back and drove sixty-five yards with Lenny Harmon scoring on a wide sweep. Melrose failed in their attempt to score the extra point. Benincasa scored shortly after on a sweep around the Melrose left end on a play that went all the way from Winchesters own 40 yard line. Winchester failed on the extra point attempt. The Melrose return bid to tied up the game before halftime was rudely interrupted by a fine pass interception by Dan Winn Winchester's center who played a rugged line backing game all afternoon. Dan faced and grabbed the pass on the Melrose 35 dodged and spun across the Melrose goal line. At the half the score was 20-6 Winchester.

Melrose came back in the second half to play on even terms with Winchester most of the third period. Benincasa added another to Winchester at the end of the third on a 15 yard run down the side line and added the extra point on a signal mix up that worked out for the winners.

Melrose's fast running back Lenny Harmon scored early in the 4th period and added the point after, both on sweeps. Melrose scored again in the last minute of play on a perfectly executed pass play to Craig Walker who made an excellent grab to make the final 27-19.

The end play of D. Brink, T. Root, R. Doane and R. Wild, bottled up Melrose most of the day. The running of Benincasa behind the work horse blocking of Johnson and ball handling of Parrot combined to keep the record perfect

All the Winchester boys played a good game. Tim Root, and Joe Ruma both made long runs that just missed going all the way. Bill Schneider did a great job playing both end and half back on defense as did Ed Masi.

Good performances were turned in by D. Blanchard, D. Swanson, P. Swanson, B. Howes, W. Gay, B. Kelleher, P. Young, H. Lewis and J. Buckley.

Sunday, November 18, it is hoped you will show your loyalty to your church by your attendance in the morning. In the afternoon at two o'clock, solicitors will meet at their individual churches before starting their calls. It is urgently hoped that those who have not already turned in their pledges for the coming year will endeavor to be at home to welcome the canvassers who will call in person. It will be a wonderful opportunity to visit with one of your own church members and learn even more of your own church's needs and aims.

RESTRICTED PARKING FOR COMMON STREET

With the possibility of the Common street underpass being ready this week-end, or at least by Thanksgiving, Police Chief Charles J. Harrold has announced that when the underpass goes into use parking on Common street opposite Waterfield Building will be restricted to parallel parking on the northerly side of the street with the cars headed toward Church street.

Chief Harrold has also announced that cars parked in the taxi stand at the Winchester Station or in other restricted areas there, will not be given warning tickets, but will receive three-way tags, entailing a trip to Woburn Court.

MRS. HELEN L. GORMLEY

Mrs. Helen L. Gormley, wife of James J. Gormley of 90 Canal street, died suddenly Tuesday evening, November 13, at her home at the age of 56.

Mrs. Gormley was the daughter of Peter, and Delia (Lydon) Egan. She was born in East Boston, and before coming to Winchester 10 years ago made her home in Jamaica Plain. She was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Besides her husband she leaves two sons, James W., of Dorchester, and Gerard Egan of Billerica; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Vassello of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. John J. Lynch of Roslindale; and two brothers, Sgt. Matthew M. Egan of the Boston Police Department and Joseph F. Egan of River Edge, N. J.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Burial was in Mt. Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

MISS SYLVESTER SHOWERED

Miss Lorraine Sylvester of Washington street, a member of the clerical staff at Filene's Winchester store, was pleasantly surprised Monday evening, November 12, when she was given a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Paul Ganchi on Cross street.

Assisting Mrs. Ganchi with arrangements were Rita Mitchell and Ann Tarquinee. The house was attractively decorated, and after the opening of the many packages a buffet supper was served.

Miss Sylvester is to marry Mr. Peter Duran of Woburn on December 1.

CHARLES A. LAMARCA

Charles A. Lamarca of 103 Church street, head of Lamarca Sales, a food brokerage firm located at 126 State street, Boston, died suddenly Saturday morning, November 10, at his home, following a heart attack. He had suffered a similar attack six months previous.

Mr. Lamarca was the son of Gaetano, and Francesco (Seminara) Lamarca. He was born January 3, 1909, in Boston, and grew up in the Dorchester area of the city, being educated at Boston English High School and Boston University.

His father was the founder of the Prince Macaroni Company of Lowell, then located in Boston, and for a time as a young man Mr. Lamarca worked for this firm as sales manager. Fifteen years ago he established his own food brokerage business, Lamarca Sales, at 126 State street, Boston, in which he was actively engaged at the time of his death.

Mr. Lamarca had resided in Winchester for the past 16 years, coming to this town from Dorchester. He was a member of Winchester Lodge, 1445, B.P.O.E.; and of St. Mary's Holy Name Society.

On February 10, 1935, Mr. Lamarca married Katherine Albiani, of Boston, who survives, with a daughter, Louise Ann; a son, Guy, both of Winchester; and five sisters, Mrs. Josephine Ferri and Mrs. Margaret Albiani of Winchester, Mrs. John Serino and Mrs. Louise C. Terricone of Cambridge and Mrs. Vera Plotner of Milton.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

THANKSGIVING VICTORY DANCE

The Twentieth Annual Thanksgiving Night Victory Dance of Winchester - Woburn High School football players and their followers will be held Thursday evening, November 22, from 8 to 12 p. m. in the new high school gymnasium.

Through the years Winchester and Woburn youngsters have gathered at the Victory Dance, replayed the big holiday classic, then written into the record books, and had a good time in each other's company. The dances have made for fine spirit between the students of both schools, and have been well conducted by their founder, Freddie McCormack, former All Middlesex League football guard and proprietor of McCormack's Apothecary.

High point of the dances is the presentation of the football trophies, the McCormack Trophy to the best Winchester back in the Woburn game and the Hevey's Pharmacy Trophy going to the best Winchester lineman.

Two Charles T. Foley Memorial Awards go to the best Woburn back and lineman in the holiday game. Fred McCormack will make the presentation.

Ray Allen and his eight-piece band will play for dancing, offering a variety of music to suit all tastes. Proceeds from the Dance, after expenses, go to the Winchester scholarship foundation.

WINCHESTER AT WOBURN

USUAL CLOSE BATTLE EXPECTED AS ANCIENT RIVALS CLASH

Well, here it is nearly Thanksgiving again and time to start thinking about the big Winchester-Woburn football game to be played this year Thanksgiving morning, November 22, at Connolly Memorial Stadium off Montvale avenue in Woburn, commencing at 10:15.

Neither team carries an unblemished record into the holiday classic, but the usual large crowd is expected to be on hand for the meeting of these ancient rivals, since a win for either one will make that school's season a success, regardless of its over-all record.

The Winchester-Woburn rivalry is one of the oldest in Greater Boston, going back to 1891. Since that year there have been 49 games played with Winchester winning 24, Woburn 17, and eight ties. That's close enough for anyone, and if you take the last ten games, you find Winchester winning 6; Woburn, 3, and one tie!, that memorable battle in the mud at Woburn in 1949, which Winchester will always believe it won.

If there is one thing you can expect from a Winchester-Woburn game, it is the unexpected. The whole series is studded with upsets. The breaks have always loomed especially big in the battles between the Tanners and the Indians, and the weather, too, has been a big factor.

This is especially true if the game is played at Woburn, where rain or snow or a freeze before game time is likely to make the footing treacherous and handicap the team depending on speed to win.

Any team playing at home has a real advantage, and this is particularly true of Woburn, where fans, no matter how lukewarm they have been during the season, are always red hot in support of the Orange against Winchester. This factor, intangible though it may be, and the fact that the Tanners are generally at their peak emotionally against the Red and Black, sends Woburn into a game with Winchester in its own back yard in a position to be favored. Winchester has so often played poorly against Woburn, after otherwise good seasons, that everything else being equal, many habitually favor the Tanners, despite the factual record of their series with the local boys.

This year neither team is of championship caliber, despite the fact that both were in the running for their league titles until just lately. Winchester's defeat at the hands of Wakefield last Saturday knocked the Indians out of the Middlesex League championship, while Woburn's loss to Marblehead disposed of the Tanners' chances for a tie in the Northeast Conference.

Winchester's won-and-lost record is better than Woburn's this year. The Indians lost to Concord, 25-13, and to Wakefield, 12-6, in a game they definitely could have won with a little better luck. Winchester has won from Belmont, 25-0; Reading, 19-6; Melrose, 27-6; Lexington, 14-7; Cambridge Latin, 32-13; and Stoneham, 18-0.

Woburn has lost to Swampscott, 38-6; Wakefield, 27-13; and Marblehead, 26-13. The Tanners have a tie with Winthrop, and have beaten Danvers, 19-0; Amesbury, 20-6; Reading, 12-6; and Methuen, 22-0. There surely is nothing in this record to make Woburn a favorite Thanksgiving on cold statistics.

Winchester and Woburn have played two teams in common, Wakefield and Reading. Woburn beat Reading, 12-6, and lost to Wakefield, 27-13. Winchester beat Reading, 19-6, and lost to Wakefield, 12-6. You say which did the better! Winchester scored three touchdowns against Reading to two for Woburn and the Tanners scored one more touchdown against Wakefield than Winchester.

On the defensive side Woburn and Winchester are all even against Reading, while Winchester's showing is better against Wakefield, the Indians holding the Scarlet to two touchdowns while the Tanners gave up four.

There is nothing more dangerous than comparative scores when picking a winner, and past Winchester-Woburn games have demonstrated conclusively how poor an index they can be.

Against about the same sort of opposition Woburn has scored 118 points and given up 116. Winchester has scored 154 points and allowed 69. If you like comparative scores and vital statistics, you have to give the nod to Winchester.

We personally would rather rate this one strictly even, with the breaks and the will to win deciding the outcome. Neither team has the horses it had last year. Woburn has two good, if not great, backs in McGilvary and Lampher. Its veteran quarterback, Sal Carbone, overshadows Winchester's Larry Longworth on size and experience, if nothing more.

McGilvary may be the best running back on the field Thanksgiving. Winchester scouts have been high on him all year. Whether he and Lampher can match Winchester's Captain "Moe" Russo, "Dougie" Thomson and the flashy Cosmo Paonessa only time will tell.

Games are usually decided on the rush line, and here Woburn generally has the edge. Winchester's line played well against Wakefield and a similar showing against Woburn will give the Tanners trouble. The local line is big, but lacks experience. How it will go against the Tanners' tricky buck-lateral and split-T plays we can only guess.

Wakefield had plenty of trouble moving on the ground against the locals. When Watson started to throw the ball, however, the picture changed. If Carbone has a good day pitching, Winchester can be in for trouble. However don't overlook the fact that Longworth occasionally comes up with some worthwhile chucking.

We still say, even Stephen, and take your pick! It is the intangibles that are likely to decide the winner come Thanksgiving.

MRS. IDA A. HACKETT

Mrs. Ida A. (Breagy) Hackett, widow of Leo V. Hackett and a former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday, Novemebr 13, suddenly, at the home of her son, William F. Hackett, 398 South Martin avenue, Mt. Holly, N. J. She was 69 years old.

Born in Stoneham, before going to Mt. Holly, Mrs. Hackett lived for many years at 856 Main street. Besides her son she leaves a daughter, Mrs. William McCarthy of Bedford.

The funeral will be held from the Lane Funeral Home Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church at 9. Burial will be at St. Patrick's Cemetery, Stoneham.

A green and white Mercury car bearing a Texas license plate was found stripped and burned in an empty field beyond the barrier at the end of Johnson road Tuesday afternoon. Chief Callahan of the fire department found the auto, which could not be seen from either Johnson road or Ridge street, while making a brush fire check in the nearby woods. Police believe the barrier was temporarily removed while the car was driven into the field.

LIVINGSTONE REUNION

The Livingstone family, from far and near, held a family reunion Sunday, November 11, at the home of Jim Livingstone, 8 Sanborn street. The date November 11, was chosen as having been the birthday of the Livingstones' mother, Mrs. Julia E. Livingstone. She and her husband, the father of the family, James Livingstone, lived in Calais, Maine.

The advance guard of the family arrived in town Friday night, and even then proved too many to be entertained at the hospitable Jim Livingstone home. Guy Livingstone of Chestnut street and "Chick", of Brooks street, rose to the occasion and in the three homes the visitors found accommodations.

In all, 42 members of the family with their children and in-laws attended the reunion, and had a great week-end. Meals were served at the Jim Livingstone home, and only his daughter Libby's "word of honor as a high school librarian" made the Star believe the quantities of turkey and ham and everything that were consumed during the get-together. Actual Livingstone family members included five brothers and sisters, 13 children and 16 grandchildren. The children, ranging from 11 months to 13 years ate together, while the five brothers and sisters sat down together, eating from old family plates once owned by their grandmother, who was born in 1810 in Castine, Me.

The James Livingstone family includes a daughter, Elizabeth, and a son, Robert, of Winchester; and a daughter, Mrs. Jean Higgins of North Attleboro, who came on for the reunion from North Attleboro, with her husband and daughters, Shirley and Nancy.

Also at the reunion were Mrs. Harry R. Haley of Milltown, N. B., and her grandchildren, Janet Haley of Boston, Bill Haley of Milltown, Ann Haley of Bouve Boston School of Physical Education at Tufts and Judy Haley of Fisher College; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Scoboria of Bedford Village, N. Y., with their children, Mrs. Julia Fracker of Chatham, N. J., her daughter, Cynthia; and C. Preston Scoboria, Jr., his daughter, Lynn, and his son, Preston, a freshman at Tufts.

Mr. Alfred L. Coe of Providence, R. I., was another present, as were Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone of Chestnut street, their son, Jim and his wife and daughter, Betsy, of Belmont; another son, Frank of Ann Arbor; and a third son, Phil, and his wife, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Others present were Mr. Charles S. Livingstone of Brooks street, and Red Beach, Me., his son, Philip, and wife of Kenwin road, and their daughters, Julia, Martha and Hilda; another son, David, of New York City; and a third, Brand and his wife, of Lancaster, N. H.; with their daughter, Tina, and sons, Eric and Alan. Rounding out the party were Mrs. Betty Knight of Hawroth, N. J.; and Mrs. Ellen Haycock of River Edge, N. J., daughters of the late Sarah Livingstone Mundhenk.

Tom Drapeau of 78 Sylvester avenue, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the school department, and Mrs. Drapeau are back in town after a vacation spent in Port Hood, Cape Breton, N. S., visiting Mrs. Drapeau's brother, Mr. Hugh McIsaac.

While at Port Hood Tom enjoyed some two weeks of hunting in the woods and mountains around Cape Breton, having the good fortune to get a small buck and later, a doe. Local hunters reported deer not so plentiful in the area he hunted, so Tom's luck was evidently with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Drapeau covered more than 3500 miles on their vacation, having only one unpleasant day during their trip. While hunting in the mountains Tom encountered some snow flurries during the early mornings.

COLLEGE CLUB AT THE SAVINGS BANK

Nancy and "Bill" Wilde of Oneida road called at the Savings Bank this week with their two children, William Allan, the 3rd, and Carol Ann, to open savings accounts in the College Club, newest self-planned savings service of the Winchester Savings Bank.

"Bill" is associated with his father in the W. Allan Wilde & Son Insurance Agency at 3 Thompson street, one of Winchester's oldest insurance firms, and thus knows the value of having adequate insurance coverage. He and Nancy have, therefore, decided that the College Club Plan offers insurance for the higher education of their children.

The only sure way for the average family to acquire the cash needed for future college bills is to plan ahead with a savings program designed for this specific purpose. The College Club offers a plan that can be fitted to any family's income and may be started with what the family can afford, and added to with any amount at any time.

Mr. Hatch, the treasurer, or Miss Ralph, the assistant treasurer, at the Savings Bank, will be glad to explain the system and answer any questions for you, as they did for Bill and Nancy, in getting their children enrolled in this plan.

WINCHESTER MORNINGS

Since the time of Moses, women have seldom been so challenged "to light the candles of freedom and peace" as in today's grim world. American women, with their traditional belief in the dignity of man, have a special and vital role on the world stage. In diverse ways, whether to "write with truth upon the immortal minds of children," or with the integrity of Grandma Moses, simply to paint, each can answer her own call to greatness. As Robert Browning expressed it: "all service ranks the same with God."

It is the diversity of individual gifts, united, which makes America great, and offers her greatest weapon against communism. This was the inspiring assurance of Mildred Buchanan Flagg in the final Mornings program at the Music Hall recently.

Though few people make the headlines, even the headlines have proved repeatedly that the individual, not the event, is most important. With lively sketches of many famous people she counts as friends, Mrs. Flagg re-emphasized this theme. Whether with the courage of General and Mrs. Dean, with Albert Schweitzer's devotion to humanity, or the indomitable spirit of Helen Keller, each "lighted a candle." John D. Rockerfeller, Mme. Curie, Ike, Churchill, Halie Selassie, all assumed importance in Mrs. Flagg's portraits chiefly because they gave their own best gifts unashamedly as individuals. Mrs. Flagg's challenge was a moving call to the greatness in each of us.

This season's exceptional lecture series was organized by Mrs. Joseph Worthen, and sponsored by the Winchester Wellesley Club for the benefit of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and the Wellesley College Student Aid Society. Mrs. Ralph Jope introduced the speakers. Pouring at the coffee preceding this final lecture were Mrs. Robert Holmes and Mrs. Dunbar Shanklin.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Union Thanksgiving Service of the Winchester Protestant Churches will be held on Wednesday evening, November 21, at 7:45 at the First Congregational Church. The service will be conducted by the ministers of the various churches. The preacher for the service will be Dr. James H. Robinson of New York, who will preach on the topic, "Does God Have Anything To Say?"

Born in the Negro slums of Knoxville, Tennessee, Dr. Robinson intimately knew the many deprivations which go with physical poverty; but he found a certain disturbing sustenance in the religious faith of his parents, even though it did not seem to him to have much bearing on the harsh reality he knew. His fight for an education and his struggle against almost insuperable odds have been forcefuily and touchingly described in his autobiography, "Road Without Turning," published in 1950. In this book he also relates how Christian faith and love made it possible for him to come to grips with the racial problem after having been all but overwhelmed by it.

When the family moved to St. Louis, he was able through sheer tenacity to enroll at Lincoln University, where he worked his way through and graduated as valedictorian of his class. Having decided on the ministry, he completed his studies at Union Theological Seminary in New York, where he was elected class president.

Ordained by the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., in 1935, he founded the Church of the Master and the Morningside Community Center in Harlem, with a starting membership of less than fifty. Under his leadership, these institutions today provide religious guidance and practical assistance to more than 2000 men, women and children of all races. He has also helped to found the Interracial Fellowship of Greater New York, the Sydenham Hospital (the first interracial hospital in the United States), and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students.

When Dr. Robinson was invited to deliver the 1955 Lyman Beecher Lectures at Yale University, it was the first time a Negro minister had been thus honored. "The American Church can boast of no more creative preaching of the Word than that which has been practiced by James Robinson at The Church of the Master in New York City," declares Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr. At the same time, probably no minister in modern times has achieved his education and his position through a more torturous process of blood, sweat and tears.

The public is invited to this Thanksgiving service. Let us be united and grateful neighbors.

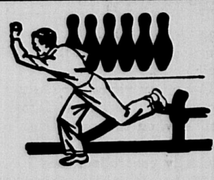
SONS OF ITALY Bowling News



S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

My friends, and I mean my friends, we have gone through another week of bowling. There were no casualties but one on which I will elaborate more thoroughly later on.

The All Stars broke the two way tie to stand alone on the top rung as their fighting unit collaberated to take three points.

Meanwhile the Lindy Hop gang were white-washed by the Bee Bops four to nothing.

Team Standings:

All Stars	24 - 8
Bee Bops	21-11
Jitterbugs	19-13
Blue Eyes	16-16
Lindy Hop	15-17
Rock and Roll	13-19
Hot Shots	11-21
High and Low	9-23
Hi Single:
Choppers Gangi	147
Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri	352
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco	104.1
Richard Bucci	100.
Bob Fiore	98.3
Babe Tofuri	98
Dick Fiore	97.2
Joe Barardi	95.9

The setting was a little different this week as a bowler who hasn't come into his own this year as yet, broke it wide open in the high single department with a splendid 147 string.

"Choppers" Gangi, the boy with the famous hardy laughter, that captivates the female sex, had the distinct honor of bowling this superb string.

He also had the privilege of leading the 300 class with a 334. Along with him this evening were Joe Riga, 316; Joe Amico, 313; Tony Saraco, 303; and Chic Vespucci, 301.

High and Low takes the limelight this evening for high pinfalls with 1430. The name sure fits the team as they bowled from obscurity to prosperity.

Their captain who needs no introduction is Richard Bucci, the founder of that famous malignant game of rummy, whose tentacles enslave many of our members. His mate is "Silas Marner Curly Locks," "Chic" Vespucci, better known of late as No. 753 at B.C.

Joe Ciarcia the proud new father; Joe Riga, the main spoke of the team; Frank Corby, one of the new rookies; and last but not least, the proud owner of one of the S.O.I.'s grandest awards, good ole Ben Gilotti.

We stated some weeks ago that we would keep you posted on Errol Flynn, or I should say "Hokie," the only surviving Yankee of the Civil War. Skipping many of his minor ailments and getting to his present catastrophe, we noticed that on Monday, November 5, at our club domicile we found him seated as we entered.

I asked him how he felt as I know he was carried from the bowling alley the previous Thursday. He asked me to call the doctor and make an appointment for that night. For what I asked?

Upon this question he stood up or should I say he tried? My heart dropped as I gazed upon this famous brave warrior of our pioneer days. To describe his condition he reminded me of the Andre D'Oria and hour before she sank listing heavily to port. Putting my ear close to the floor to grasp his request, I went to the phone and made the appointment.

The next time we met was Sunday, November 11, Armistice Day, a day of rejoicing. "Hokey" looked as though he had fought every war since the beginning of time and lost.

Science we hope will someday find and solve his problem which has baffled them to date. Here's hoping that he will feel better by the time this article goes to press.

So we close again another week of bowling with this week's award going to George Klayda, well known silent partner of that monumental pillar of financial wizardry, M. D. Saraco, of the Winchester Salvage Co.

With traffic moving more and more swiftly through the center Chief Charles J. Harrold is beginning to wonder just how the continuous flow of cars and trucks is going to work out with regard to pedestrians when the construction work in the square is completed. He is strongly of the opinion that the new layout is not going to affect the number of trucks going through the square, and feels that in the long run it will be necessary to install some sort of traffic lights, or keep police officers on duty at both Hevey's and McCormack's corners. Those who are around the center habitually believe him.

The Red Feather campaign is coming to an end, and although Winchester has raised 80 percent of its $57,800.00 quota, those charged with conducting the drive here are not happy over the fact that many people have not contributed at all to the United Community Fund.

The local committee naturally wants to make its quota, but is reluctant to ask those who have contributed to make a further contribution. Nor would they be likely to get one from any substantial number of persons. There are just too many fund drives coming up nowadays to ask anyone to give to any of them twice.

Winchester will probably make its Red Feather quota if those who have intended to contribute right along, will just get around to doing it during these last anxious days. The town benefits directly from your contributions to Red Feather. The Star has published a series of articles this fall telling how it and its institutions benefit.

We hope you have read the series and so are better informed about how Red Feather pays off. We also hope that you good people who are going to send in a contribution to Community Fund won't wait much longer!

Some time during last Saturday night the last train ran through Winchester on the temporary tracks laid to take care of railroad traffic while the overhead was being built. Sunday all trains were upstairs, and will continue overhead for good.

The first of the week saw the work of removing the temporary rails get away to a good start, and with this work went the removal of the railroad gates, a symbol of the grade crossing since the old Boston & Lowell days.

For many years Winchester residents have taken the railroad gates for granted. We doubt if there is anyone in town who can remember the time when they were not going up or down at the approach or departure of trains. Hand operated for many years, and in recent years electrically controlled, they have been a symbol of safety in the center, even if they were something less than perfect at times.

The gates have done their job and are now no longer needed. The metal bases looked strange without their wooden arms as they awaited removal Monday. Time marches on, and the old order changeth! We imagine few will miss the railroad gates, yet they, too, have served the town faithfully for a long, long time.

The Selectmen and the Planning Board are keeping a close watch on the development of plans to extend Route 3 from 128 to Boston. The proposed new route affects Winchester, and both the Selectmen and Planning Board members are leaving no stone unturned in their effort to best serve Winchester's interests in the final plan selected.

Football and basketball have been Winchester's big sports in recent years from the standpoint of spectator interest, and no one, least of all the Star, wishes to take anything from the achievements of our football and basketball teams.

In whooping it up for the grid and hoop stars, however, we should not overlook what the Winchester boys in other sports are doing, notably the cross country team, which last Saturday won the New England Interscholastic Cross Country Championship for the second successive year. No team in schoolboy history has equalled this feat, and last year the Indian harriers made a clean sweep of the available championships, Middlesex, State and New England.

Cross country is a gruelling sport, in which contestants compete on their own, without benefit of cheering sections or the opportunity for consultation with their coaches. Once the starter's gun barks, the boys are on their own, and when the going gets tough, with legs aching and lungs so tight they can scarcely get a long breath, there are no roars from a crowd to keep them going.

Let's all doff our hats to our championship cross country team. Great going, boys, and let us not forget that superlative coach, Tommy Morse, who in a quiet, self-effacing way has worked miracles with his squads year after year. Modest Tom has had scant recognition from the public, but he has had the deep loyalty and devotion of his boys. After all, there can be no more satisfying reward than that.

CONFISCATION

Editor of the Star:

The purpose of this article is to warn the inhabitants of our beloved town of the plans of the M.D.C. with regard to a long range program whereby they plan on taking our reservoirs for a recreational center, thus putting an end to our natural water supply which is indispensable to the town of Winchester.

Our scientists tell us that we should conserve our natural water supply and here we have the M.D.C. working in reverse of all common sense. They plan to have us use the M.D.C. water supply, and they have very powerful influences in achieving their objectives which are, at the present time, out of hand.

The people of our town should consider the M.D.C. plans as an enemy invasion of our rights, and we should brace ourselves here and now for the confiscation of our property in the form of exhorbitant real estate taxes unless we unite against such plans.

The writer intends to insert in the next Town Warrant, an article pertaining to this matter, in order to have a voice in our legislature to bring pressure against this plan as well as to any expansion of the M.D.C. Also that all legislation and money appropriations pertaining to the M.D.C. system be advertised in the Winchester Star at town expense so that the town can be well represented to voice objections or opinions.

Consequently, at our town meetings, all the plans of the M.D.C. can be explained by the proper town officials. Then, and only then, will the tax payers realize that they face ultimate bankruptcy.

I call upon all the people of Winchester to become seriously interested. Now is the time for action before it is too late! This is a democracy—let it not become a dictatorship. Governor Herter has seen fit to comment on the extravagance of the M.D.C. Their wings should be clipped immediately!!

Sincerely yours,
Vincent G. Carroll

WATCH YOUR TB SEALS!

Editor of the Star:

For many years we have received the traditional Christmas Seals of the National Tuberculosis Association from our Winchester Tuberculosis Committee and the Middlesex Health Association for the support of its program of tuberculosis control. This year the Boston Association has gone beyond Boston, sending seals to residents of Winchester for support of their program in Boston and Chelsea.

We are concerned that these seals have been sent to local residents who have contributed to our Seal Sale in the past. We have heard that some contributions have already been sent to Boston by local residents, who thought they had received the official Christmas Seals from the Winchester T. B. Committee.

Great progress has been made against tuberculosis in Winchester and Middlesex County but much work still remains to be done.

We sincerely hope that you will buy your Christmas Seals with the National trademark, the red double-barred cross, from the Winchester T. B. Committee to support the committee's efforts in its program of tuberculosis prevention and control.

Signed
Sherman B. Russell
Chairman

THANKS VOTERS

Editor of the Star:

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to all of the voters in Middlesex County who cast a vote for me in the recent election. It was your vote which brought about my election to the position of Middlesex County Commissioner. I also want to take this opportunity to express my heart felt thanks to my friends who worked so tirelessly in my behalf. I fully realize that the duties of a County Commissioner are of great importance and I promise you that I shall perform those duties with this thought uppermost in mind that whatever I shall do shall be done for the best interests of all the cities and towns comprising Middlesex County.

Sincerely,
Edward L. Buckley
County Commissioner Elect

PROUD OF "WALLY!"

Editor of the Star:

In last week's issue of the Star (November 9) you printed a notiice of the promotion of Walter E. Bosselmann to the rank of Captain in the Air Force ROTC at Tufts University.

This announcement was of particular interest to all DeMolays in the Winchester-Woburn area, since the same young man is present Master Councillor of the Winchester Chapter Order of DeMolay.

Just another achievement for this outstanding DeMolay and a tribute to this organization for the part it plays in developing character and leadership in young men.

Winchester Chapter is proud of you, Wally!

GIFT OF MODEL SHIP HONORS CAPTAIN COOK

A scale model of the Endeavour, the tiny bark in which Captain James Cook circumnavigated the world, has been presented to the Seamen's Church Institute in New York by Sir Percy Spender, the Australian ambassador.

The model recalls the herculean achievements of Captain Cook in his three voyages. He claimed Australia for the British crown, discovered the Hawaiian Islands, disproved the existence of a vague "southern continent" and found a cure for scurvy, the scourge of sailors of his time, says the National Geographic Society.

It is probably due to his use of citrus fruit in shipboard diet that English seamen are called "Limeys" to this day.

Captain Cook's life was a true Horatio Alger story. He first worked as a shop boy for a grocer in the seaside village of Staithes in Yorkshire. Later he was apprenticed to a coal shipper. While an apprentice, he begged a table and lamp from his employer's housekeeper and began his self-taught education.

Through his own efforts he became a master of navigation, mathematics and astronomy. His particular hero was Euclid, the Greek mathematician who has been called the "Father of Geometry."

In 1755, Cook volunteered into the Royal Navy as an able-bodied seaman having, as he afterwards said, "a mind to try my fortune that way." His service coincided with the Seven Years War. After a period of valiant action he was promoted to sailing master. Later he made a brilliant survey of the hitherto uncharted coast of Newfoundland, and recorded celestial observations which attracted the admiration of leading astronomers.

His first voyage, in 1768, was organized for both science and exploration. English astronomers were highly interested in a transit of Venus which would not recur for more than a hundred years. Appropriate observations could be made only in the South Seas. There was still speculation about a large southern continent stretching somewhere between Australia and South America. The government was determined that if there were new lands to discover they should not fall to France or Spain.

As astronomer, surveyor and sea fighter, Captain Cook was the logical choice to command a South Seas expedition. He undertook the mission and accomplished all his assignments. He observed the Venus transit, charted New Zealand, and proved that the supposed continent did not exist.

On his second voyage Cook was the first man to cross the Antarctic circle, sailing nearer the South Pole than any other explorer was to do for more than fifty years. It was on this voyage that he discovered the cure for scurvy which was to save many lives.

He also distributed seeds of vegetables, fruits and melons throughout the South Sea islands, as activity which profoundly affected the economy of the East Indies.

Hawaii was discovered on his third voyage. The natives first treated Cook as a god, but later they became sullen and vengeful. Finally a ship's boat was stolen and the captain led a party to recover it. In the fight that followed, he was fatally stabbed in the back.

Today a plaque at Kealakekua Bay, Hawaii, marks the spot where he fell on February 14, 1779.

GOOD GUESS!

Honorable Mention in a contest to guess when the first freeze of 1956 might occur was won by Mrs. F. L. Churchill of 24 Fletcher street.

Mrs. Churchill is a regular listener to the Morgan Baker programs on WEEI, and she entered the contest which Baker described as "a test of New Englanders' knowledge of their own unpredictable weather." Baker offered prizes to listeners sending him a prediction of when the first freeze of 1956, as recorded by WEEI's meteorologist E. B. Rideout, would occur.

Mrs. Churchill's forecast was just 15-minutes behind the actual time and date fixed by Rideout's telethermograph, and Morgan Baker is sending her a supply of Prestone anti-freeze.

WEB OF BLACK WIDOW SPIDER SERVES BOTH MAN AND NATURE

Black widow spiders are spinning webs for the United States Army—and saving the Government thousands of dollars each year.

Kept in jars and fed on flies, the notoriously venomous spiders docilely produce nets of dark strands for use as cross hairs in telescopes, microscopes, gunsights, and other instruments.

The black widow was selected for military service over other species because of the strength and elasticity of her web, which has been found capable of withstanding compressed-air blasts of up to 90 pounds.

Female Does the Work

Spider webs, made largely by the dominant female, come in all shapes and textures, says the National Geographic Society. Threads range from invisible single fibers to combined lines woven into snares heavy enough to entagle a snake or a mouse.

In all, there are some 25,000 known species of spiders, each with its own style of web.

The black widow's weave is coarse and irregular, with a central tunnel where she lies in wait for victims. A member of the poisonous world-wide genus Latrodectus, she is fond of setting up housekeeping in dark, protected spots in and around human dwellings. Though she attacks man only on accidental contact, her bite is excruciatingly painful and occasionally has proved fatal.

Naturalists call the symmetrical orb web the spider's masterpiece. Spun in many forms by the large Argiopidae family, it is distinguished by dry radiating spokes that intersect and support sticky encircling lines.

One handsome creation of a tropical orb spider is a circular golden net more than three feet across. It sometimes ensnares small birds.

Other web types include tangled mazes, closely woven sheets, funnels, hammocks, triangles, and "lamp shades." The bowl and doily spider spins a double design—a horizontal sheet below an inverted bowl.

Lassoes Her Prey

Even stranger is the way of the bolas spider. Swinging from a loose trapeze line, she draws from her abdominal spinnerets short lengths of thread that she finishes off with a sticky ball of silk. With these she "lassoes" passing insects, and draws in her prey.

Besides building snares to catch food, spiders spin sacks to shelter their eggs and young.

The raft spider ties leaves and twigs together with silken strands, and sails the open pond on the finished craft. Underwater spiders make small domed tents of waterproof silk.

Aerial spiders launch threads into the air and, carried by the wind, may float on a gossamer cloud for hundreds of miles.

Man, too, has made odd use of spiders' work. From ancient times webs have served as health charms and remedies for disease. Applied to wounds, they checked blood flow. Primitive South Pacific peoples still make strong spider webs into fishing nets, bags, and headdresses.

Acceptable silk fabric can be spun from spider thread, although such an industry is not commercially feasible. Research scientists, find spider webs especially suitable for collecting atmospheric particles. And artists have painted detailed portraits and elaborte landscapes on spider-web foundations with delicate engineering skill that rivals the spider's own.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The ascent made on Armistice Day, 1935, by Explorer II, is still the record altitude for a manned balloon. Released near Rapid City, South Dakota, the helium-filled balloon rose 72,395 feet above sea level. It remained poised above the earth for an hour and 40 minutes, man's longest stay at such a height. Sponsors of the flight were the National Geographic Society and the United States Army Air Corps.

The White House grounds in the center of Washington, D. C., are a haven for birds, says the National Geographic Society. President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent birdwatcher, found and recorded nests of redheaded woodpeckers, redstarts, flickers, wood thrushes, catbirds, screech owls, and sparrow hawks.

The United States Treasury will receive more than $100,000,000 this year for grazing and timber rights in national forests.

It will be good news to their many friends in Winchester that "Raymie" and Dorothy Hayward, formerly long time residents of the town, will be up for the Winchester-Woburn football game Thanksgiving. Former faculty manager of athletics at high school and at one time assistant coach of football, "Ray" is a shrewd prognosticator, and can generally tell at the half whether the points scored up to then are going to be enough.

SUN, SAND, FIRE AND WATER RANK AS OLDEST TIMEPIECES

It takes a shockproof, waterproof, antimagnetic watch to keep the wheels of modern civilization going. Time was when a knotted rope did just as well.

Certain primitive tribes, who never split a second, carried the practice of dividing time by knots into the 20th century, the National Geographic says. On planning a party, a Guiana Indian chief sent identical strands to the coterie. Each guest untied one knot every morning. And when he worked past the last one, it was time to honor the invitation.

Debtors and creditors used the same twist. Should the day of reckoning come too fast, the debtor might wheedle a new cord or get leave to retie a few knots in the old one.

Since the dawn of society, every civilization has been preoccupied with finding a better way to tell time.

Cave man no doubt watched the movements of sun, moon, and stars. He gauged short spans of time by the shadows of trees and cliffs. It occurred to him one day that he could cause a neater, sharper shadow by setting up a pole in a clearing, with a stone or stones to measure the march of the image. Ipso facto, the first crude sundial.

The sundial's shortcomings are apparent, especially on dark days. Nontheless, it has served man long and well. The science of dialing was taught in British schools as late as the 17th century. It is possible to buy a modern sundial with a swiveling base, adjustable to daylight or standard time.

Many thousands of years ago, an early hydraulics expert figured out a means of calculating time without sunlight. Of unknown nationality, perhaps Chinese, the genius came up with the water clock or clepsydra—"thief of water." In its simplest form the clepsydra is a bottle-necked vessel that gradually loses water through a tiny hole in the bottom.

The water clock reached its peak of usefulness in the golden age of Greek and Roman oratory. Some speakers were suspected of putting muddy, sluggish water into their clepsydras to steal a bit more time.

In time clever mechanics added wheels, dials, and ingenious gadgets to the clepsydra. One of the most famous was given to Charlemagne by the Shah of Persia. This gold-inlaid water clock featured 12 doors that opened in sequence and remained ajar to mark the hours visually. At 12 o'clock, miniature horsemen popped out to close all the doors.

Throughout its long service, the clepsydra had distinct disadvantages. Water freezes and evaporates. The clock was expensive and bulky.

Sand was the answer. Origin of the handy, portable, nonfreezing sandglass is lost in time, but it may have been used in Alexandria at least 2½ centuries before the Christian Era. The hourglass inspired a mode of dress in later years, and became a symbol of life in Father Time's hand.

Fire has always been a convenient timekeeper. Chinese and Japanese burned knotted ropes. Alfred the Great regulated his activities with banded, timekeeping candles. In recent times Dutch and German farmers used lamp clocks with calibrated-glass oil vessels.

Invention of the truly mechanical clock is generally credited to the 10th-century monk Gerbert. Nowadays people everywhere depend more and more on it, and less on the old devices or natural phenomena.

"It is past the time of the cock crow" may be a delightfully poetic phrase, but it hardly helps the harassed commuter catch the 7:02.

THE UNRESOLVED QUESTION— WHO "INVENTED" BASEBALL!

As the 1956 baseball season opens, the Abner Doubleday sides begin to choose up again. Did he or did he not "invent" baseball?

The established leagues have accepted the tradition that he did, says the National Geographic Society. The Baseball Hall of Fame was established at Doubleday's home town, Cooperstown, New York, to honor him and heroes of the game. Various sports historians have since raised shouts of protest.

It is generally agreed that Doubleday devised the diamond-shaped playing field, but some experts contest even that.

The authoritative "Encyclopedia of Sports" says flatly, "Those who acclaim Abner Doubleday as originator of the game of baseball, those who fix 1839 as the year of its beginning and honor Cooperstown as the birthplace are wrong on all counts.

Robert W. Henderson, former chief of the New York Public Library's Main Reading Room, is equally positive. He asserts that George Washington's men played baseball at Valley Forge. He also quotes from "A Little Pretty Pocket Book," published in 1744:

"The Ball once struck off,
Away flies the boy
To the next destined post
And then home with joy."

The poem is titled "Base Ball."

Similar games go much further back. From the dawn of civilization throwing, running and catching have been popular. Greeks, Persians and Norsemen played handball. The Romans batted balls with bandaged fore-arms. In Egypt archeologists have found a leather-covered ball more than 30 centuries old. It is stuffed with papyrus but the segments of its cover are sewn like those of a modern baseball.

The Fuzzy Wuzzies of the Sudan, immortalized as fighting men by Rudyard Kipling, have perhaps the strangest "ball game." To settle differences they duel in a way that certainly fits Ty Cobb's prescription of coming up "the hard way."

Each of two duelers takes his place in a circle marked in the sand. The circles are several yards apart and are equipped with mounds of baseball-size stones. The players then pelt each other until one retreats from his circle in disgrace.

ANNUAL HOLIDAY BAZAAR

Florence Crittenton League's "Annual Holiday Bazaar" will be held in the Dorothy Quincy Suite at John Hancock Hall on November 27 and 28 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Twenty-four circles will offer a variety of merchandise for sale. The Senior Winchester Circle has already been active in showing their individual and unusual costume jewelry in a preview sale.

The Fashion Show will be at 2:30 p. m. on November 28 at John Hancock Hall. Ross Modes of Newton, a familiar figure of "Fashion Firsts" in Winchester, will present his models in costumes designed by leading men and women of the fashion world.

THANKS FROM MRS. REYNOLDS

Cynthia Reynolds, Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, Chairman for Winchester, wishes to thank the many workers who gave so generously of their time, and the 1500 Winchester Republicans whose contributions helped to meet Massachusetts' share of the expense of the Republican Campaign.

ST. MARY'S SODALITY

Sunday, November 18, at 7:45 a. m. will be Communion Sunday for the members of the Blessed Virgin Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

Please remember at the regular Monday evening meeting the annual Thanksgiving offering of canned goods for the Boys Guidance Center.

"SHORT AND SNAPPY!"

This will be short and snappy so read on, fellow residents. Here's some news you should know.

The Winchester Red Feather campaign is only up to 80% of its goal and time is running out.

It's small wonder that reminders need be made, what with the excitement of a national election and the frightening and sobering significance of the international news, but:

Winchester, as a town has always supported the Community Fund.

Our neighboring towns are showing us up! Lincoln and Wellesley are over the 100% mark.

We desperately need the gift that many of you intend to make, but haven't sent in yet.

Just think, if every person in town were represented by a contribution as low as $3.00, the goal would be reached. As it is, a number of civic-minded residents and organizations have already given many times their share and still the fund is about $10,000 short.

Now it's the accumulation of Everybody's gift that can bring in the quota. Remember, this is the big campaign, benefitting not one case or one agency but 277 agencies and countless less fortunate people.

Write out your check now! Make it out to "Red Feather" and mail it to:

Mr. Thomas Raphael, Residential Chairman, 14 Tufts road, Winchester.

Don't let the Red Feather thermomether in the Common freeze up 'til it's hit the top!

HARRY B. MACRAE, C.S.B.
DALLAS, TEXAS

TO LECTURE IN WAKEFIELD

The availability of healthier, happier, more abundant living through spiritual understanding will be the topic of a free, public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Wakefield Sunday afternoon by Harry B. MacRae of Dallas, Texas.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. MacRae will speak in First Congregational Church, 1 Church street, Wakefield, at 3:30 p. m., November 18, under the auspices of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. His subject will be "Christian Science: Bringer of Peace."

Mr. MacRae became interested in Christian Science while completing a pre-medical course at the University of Cincinnati through a physical healing of his father. He withdrew from a business career in 1932 to devote his full time to Christian Science healing. Since 1937 he has been a teacher of Christian Science, and since 1947 he has served as a Christian Science lecturer, traveling widely to speak on Christian Science in this country and abroad.

BANKER BUYS SUMMER HOME OF WINCHESTER PROFESSOR

Arthur M. Wright, secretary and treasurer of the Harvard Trust Company, Cambridge. has purchased a ten-room summer home on the river at Annisquam, according to Previews, Inc., The National Real Estate Clearing House, marketing agents. The residence and a guest cottage on two and a half acres was sold by Robert H. Stewart of Foxcroft road. Mr. Stewart is on the staff of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts College. E. Raymond Abbott, Gloucester Realtor, handled the sale.

The two-story residence has a wide covered porch on two sides. The living room, with a fireplace, and the dining room both have beamed ceilings. Three bedrooms and a bath are on the first floor and four more bedrooms and a bath are upstairs. A four-room cottage near the waterfront is included in the sale, as well as two garages, each with space for three cars.

The grounds have a frontage of 183 feet on the Annisquam River. Landscaping includes flowering shrubs, a terraced grape arbor and a tennis court.

NOT TORN DOWN

The Star is indebted to Roland Simonds, former Selectman, Fire Engineer and one of Winchester's old timers for a correction in its story of the passing of the Blanchard Lumber Yard.

In our story we inadvertently said that the home of the late George W. Blanchard was torn down to make room for the addition of the auditorium, gymnasium and class room wing to what was then the high school.

We knew better. The Blanchard house was moved from its site on Washington street between the high school and the old Cate house down the street to land beside the old General Corse house. It is now numbered 77 Washington street and is the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbody.

We apologize to any of the old timers who noticed the error. The old Charles Kendall house and Cate house, if memory serve, were torn down at or about the time the school addition was built. The Blanchard house was not torn down, but moved for further usefulness down the street.

JUNIOR HIGH FELLOWSHIP

The Junior High Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will meet this Sunday afternoon in the Vestry. The movie, "Martin Luther" which we saw at the last meeting was a starting place for a discovery of many fascinating people in our Church history. Our President, John Mallery, and Worship Chairman, Brian Walsh, have an interesting program lined up with a great variety of projects to work on. Everyone come and be prepared to learn, build, paint, draw, or report.

Worship for this meeting is in charge of Brian Walsh. A period of recreation and refreshments will bring the afternoon to a close.

TB SEALS NOVEMBER 15

Winchester residents will receive their 1956 Christmas Seals in the mail next Thursday, November 15, announced Sherman Russell, Chairman of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee. With the Seals is a letter from a little boy urging the purchase of Christmas Seals "to help bring other daddies like his home from the Sanatorium."

Illustrating the spirit of the 50th Annual Seal Sale, the Christmas Seal Children march forward into the future They carry the red double-barred cross, the trademark of the official Christmas Seal.

"Much has been done against tuberculosis" says Mr. Russell, "but the big task remains. We cannot celebrate past triumps. We do not have time to look back. Let us join the Christmas Seal children in the march forward to conquer TB."

TEAM WORK

A working agreement and operating understanding between Red Cross and State Civil Defense has been signed by Governor Herter and the Red Cross.

In natural disasters, the agreement states the Red Cross will carry out its traditional mercy services—providing clothes, food shelter, medical care, household furnishings, building and repair of homes and occupational rehabilitation, and has financial responsibility in the activities.

In these disasters, Civil Defense Medical Service will organize and direct medical resources and facilities to minimize the effects of the disaster. The American Red Cross will continue to augment existing community medical resources to make the necessary medical and nursing care available. Civil Defense welfare personnel may assist the Red Cross disaster service under Red Cross direction.

In such disasters as hurricanes, floods and other calamities, liaison, planning and exchange of information will continue between Red Cross and Civil Defense.

Under war-caused conditions, the Civil Defense Agency has complete operational and financial responsibility, with the Red Cross turning overall its resources to assist Civil Defense, which will direct all disaster operations.

DADS' NIGHT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The George Washington School was the scene of much activity on Tuesday evening, November 13, as the parents of its pupils visited the classrooms where they were welcomed by the room mothers and had the opportunity to talk to the teachers, review the children's work and enjoy the colorful art work done by the students.

At 8:15 p. m. the parents gathered in the auditorium where Mrs. Roland Hanson, president of the Mothers' Association, welcomed them. Mrs. Hanson then presented Mrs. Walter Hutchinson, program chairman, who introduced Dr. Ahmed el Bindari, the speaker for the evening.

Very appropriately, this being American Education Week, Dr. Bindari made an interesting comparison of various school systems in the countries where he has been educated and has traveled. First he touched briefly on the methods of education in Egypt and Europe but devoted most of his time to the schooling in Russia. Faced with the problem of raising literacy from twenty per cent to eighty per cent a large part of the national budget has been devoted to education in Russia. Schooling is mandatory for children between the ages of four and fifteen and it is hoped to extend this through schooling equivalent to our high school and to the age of eighteen. There is no central control of the school system, each community establishing its own system. However, most of them are patterned after a model which exists in Moscow. It is Dr. Bindari's opinion that the calibre of education in Russia is high and in fact, superior to that in the United States. After high school the students are encouraged to go on to higher education and in fact, are paid by the government by a system not unlike our G. I. bill. This has encouraged a large number of students to obtain higher education, particularly in technical fields.

This was followed by a lively question and answer period when several people raised questions regarding comparison of the Russian system with the United States system.

Refreshments were then served by Mrs. John Wile, social chairman, and her able committee.

THE SENIOR FORUM

When the Senior Forum meets this Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m., in Ripley Chapel, they will have the pleasure of hearing one of their own church members, Dr. Albert G. H. Dietz. Dr. Dietz, who is head of the Department of Building Engineering and Construction at M.I.T., is an active layman of First Church, having served as superintendent of the Church School and being at present a deacon. He knows Forum as a parent since Gretchen, now at Smith, was active in Forum and Henry is now a member. Dr. Dietz has just concluded a very interesting series of adult discussions on "Science and Religion" at the church, and will this Sunday speak to the high school group on the same subject.

The chaplain will be Tim Hill; and assistant chaplain, Martin Kazanjian. The deacons will be David Sturtevant and Lin Handford; and ushering will be Dennis Baker and David Bates.

Forum members will observe Thanksgiving Sunday by meeting a request from the Boston City Missionary Society for a collection of canned foods and good outgrown clothing. All are urged to make a substantial contribution to this cause.

CHRISTMAS CLUB

Mr. Charles W. Butler, Treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company, announced today that checks totaling in excess of $100,000. were mailed to all Christmas Club depositors at the close of business on Wednesday, November 14.
The popular appeal of this particular type of savings is clearly indicated by the substantial increases which have been shown again this year in the number of individual depositors as well as the total dollar volume of Christmas Club deposits. The yearly distribution of this money, saved over a 50-week period, gives added impetus to the pre-holiday purchasing power of a large number of prospective retail shoppers.
The 1957 Christmas Club applications will be available at both offices of the Wnichester Trust Company, 35 Church street and 16 Mt. Vernon street, on and after Monday, November 26.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME

On Sunday, November 11, at the 7:45 a. m. Mass, celebrated by Father Edmund Parker, members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society received Holy Communion in a body. After mass a light breakfast was served in St. Mary's Hall prepared by Frank Antonuccio, chairman of the refreshment committee, and his young assistant Al Thorne, III.
President, Al Thorne, Jr., opened the meeting and Rev. Martin J. Dolphin the Society's Spiritual Director led the group in the recitation of the Holy Name Pledge. A past president's pin was awarded last year's president Joseph M. Foley by Father Dolphin, who praised his outstanding work in behalf of the society and church.
Frank Provinzano, supervisor of the Town Softball League, on behalf of the board of Park Commissioners, presented the championship trophy to St. Mary's Holy Name Society softball team which won the championship this past summer. Team Captain Kenneth Donaghey accepted the beautiful trophy and turned it over to Father Dolphin for viewing throughout the year.
The Society has formed a bowling league operating every Monday evening at 7:00 at the Winchester Bowladrome on Swanton street. The officers of this league are Kenny Donaghey, president; Herb Cleary, vice president; Joe Sampson, secretary; and Joe Moffett, treasurer. A few more bowlers are needed to complete the league so anyone interested is cordially invited.
President A. Thorne, Jr., spoke on the annual Turkey Bridge and Whist Party to be held Monday evening, November 19, at St. Mary's Hall. Hugh Fay is chairman and Frank Muraco co-chairman of this gigantic affair. Precinct chairmen and their committees will call at members' houses for returns sometime between the 13 and 18. Proceeds of the affair will go to the church.
Program chairman Herb Cleary introduced the guest speaker, Rev. George McCabe, S.J., chairman of the Shadowbrook Fund.
Father McCabe, formerly professor of speech at Weston College, chose as his subject the part catholics have played in America's history. He said that at the time of the American Revolution one third of the inhabitants of the United States were born in Ireland, and that one half of the soldiers in the war were Irish. General Washington publicly praised catholics for their part in the revolution.
During the Civil War nuns nursed the wounded of both sides. Father McCabe showed that in World Wars I and II the percentage of catholics in the armed forces was much greater than non-catholics in respect to the total population of the country.
In spite of this loyalty record Father McCabe doubts that a catholic could be elected to the presidency or vice presidency at this time because of the mistaken view of many non-catholics that his religion will interfere with the duties of his office. Father Dolphin closed the meeting with a prayer.

MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Winchester's Postmaster, Thomas J. Gilgun, who launched his 1956 "Mail Early for Christmas" Campaign today, believes a word or two to the wise will help make your Christmas and those of your friends and loved ones as merry as it should be.
Speaking about his plans, the Postmaster said, "There's about 167 million people in this country today. More than ever before. More people means more Christmas mail. That's why it's so important to have a helping hand from the public to "Mail Early For Christmas."
The Postmaster especially directed his appeal to "the lady of the house," because she usually selects the Christmas cards, buys most of the gifts, and sees to it that the Christmas mailing list is up-to-date.
Predicting that this year's Christmas mail will set a new all time record, the Postmaster urged that you take the folllowing steps at once: Check your Christmas card lists very carefully—make sure that each address includes the full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Then, secure Pamphlet No. 2 at the Post Office, telling you all about Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing, and Pamphlet No. 3, giving full details on Domestic Postage Rates and Fees. Stock up on stamps at the same time.
Also, ask for free labels reading "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out of Town Delivery," so that you can speed arrival of your Christmas Cards by sorting and tying them in two separate bundles with the addresses all facing one way.
A modest investment in heavy wrapping paper, sturdy empty cartons, strong cord and craft paper adhesive tape will pay big dividends in safe deliveries of your cherished Christmas gifts.
If you'd like to include your Christmas Cards or letters inside the packages with your gifts, just add the appropriate First Class mail postage to the postage for the packages themselves. This combination mail service recently introduced by the Post Office Department insures simultaneous arrival of your gifts and greetings.
Remember, that only Christmas Cards carrying three cents, or six cents Air Mail postage, may include a personal message. Nothing more than a signature is authorized on cards mailed at the two cent Third Class rate, and be sure your return address is on every Christmas Card envelope—this is socially correct, and helps both you and your friends to keep your mailing lists up-to-date.
After your gift wrapping and packing is complete and your Christmas Cards are addressed and stamped, plan your mailings so that those for the most distant points go first. Try to get all long-distance mailings into the Post Office before December 10 and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15.

The Star has advance news, but no details of a trek by "Squire" George Franklin, et al, to "Raymie" Hayward's new abode on Great Chebeague Island in Casco Bay, Maine, this week-end. Beyond the fact that the hardy adventurers are leaving Winchester at 5:45 a. m. to make the first boat over to the island, we know nothing about the plans. Arising at such an unholy hour, however, ought to make for some sort of doin's during the day, and further reports of the trip are eagerly awaited.

JEAN — BERECZ

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at St. Theresa's Church in Billerica on Saturday afternoon, November 10, when Miss June Berecz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Berecz, Jr., of 235 Mystic Valley Parkway, became the bride of Arthur Lawrence Jean, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lawrence Jean of Main street, Billerica. Rev. Father O'Keefe read the marriage service in a setting of white gladiolas at 2:30 o'clock, and the bridal music was played by Mrs Leo Lucia.

Miss Berecz was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace over satin with a cathedral-length train and a fingertip length veil, caught to a headpiece embroidered with sequins, rhinestones and pearls. Her cascade bouquet combined white chrysanthemums and ivy and was centered with two white orchids.

Miss Ruth Ann Berecz was her sister's honor attendant, and Miss Diane Cameron, cousin of the bride, and Miss Anne Donnelly, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. Bridesmaids were Miss Mabel Polewarczyk, Miss Jacqueline Wilson and Miss Frances Cameron, nieces of the bride; and Miss Arlene Jean, sister of the bridegroom.

The honor maid wore a floor-length dress of old rose chiffon with shoes to match. Her Colonial bouquet was vari-colored chrysanthemums, and she wore a headpiece of matching flowers.

The bridesmaids wore floor-length dresses of royal blue taffeta with matching shoes. Their Colonial bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums and they wore matching flower headpieces.

The flower girls wore yellow chiffon floor-length frocks with flower headpieces matching the mixed chrysanthemums in their white flower baskets.

Valentine Polewarczyk was Mr. Jean's best man, and ushers were Stephen Berecz, III, brother of the bride; Roswell Galvin and Robert Donnelly, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Lawrence Jean, cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception was held after the marriage at the Meadowbrook Country Club in Reading. Mrs. Berecz, mother of the bride, wore a light blue sheath with a white velvet hat and matching orchid. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jean, also wore a white orchid with her brown sheath and beige hat.

After a wedding journey through the Poconos Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr and Mrs. Jean will make their home on Massachusetts avenue in Billerica.

The bride is a graduate of Medford High School, class of 1954, and attended Comptometer School. Mr. Jean, who is associated with the Stephen Berecz Company, graduated from Howe High School in Billerica and attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

ALDORISIO — KEEFE

At St. Joseph's Church in Malden on Sunday afternoon, November 11, Miss Barbara Jeanne Keefe, daughter of Mr. Cornelius Keefe of 296 Broadway, Malden, and the late Mrs. Keefe, became the bride of Harry C. Aldorisio of 110 Middlesex street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Aldorisio. Rev. Father Collins officiated at the 3 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception at the home of the bridegroom's brother, Joseph Aldorisio, 84 Sylvester avenue. Miss Rita Malcolm was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Keefe was attended by her sister, Miss Virginia Keefe of Malden.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon net and lace over white satin with a sweetheart neckline and a pillbox crown. The honor maid wore a dress of peach-colored nylon net and tulle with a flowered headpiece and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Donald Aldorisio of Revere was his brother's best man and ushering were four more brothers of the bridegroom, Joseph Aldorisio of Winchester, Edward Aldorisio of Malden, Vincent Aldorisio of Braintree and Robert Aldorisio of New York City.

After a wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Aldorisio will make their home at 425 Main street, Everett.

The bride is a graduate of Cheverus High School in Malden. Mr. Aldorisio has a hair dressing salon at 9 Pleasant street in Malden.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The ruler of Rei Bouba, a domain of some 36,000 people in Africa's French Cameroons, maintains royal cavalry garbed in chain mail, the National Geographic Society says. So lordly is his sultanic majesty, the Lamido, that his subjects are forbidden to look at his face. Yet he has 400 wives.

During Antarctica's summer, microscopic forms of sea life coat the underside of bay and ocean ice in a dark-brown layer like peanut butter. This plankton layer soaks up the heat of sunlight, filtering through from above, melting the ice faster from the bottom than on top, the National Geographic Society says.

Ermine, prized for centuries as royal raiment, is actually the winter coat of weasels, which turn from brown in summer to pure white in snow season, except for jet-black ends of their tails.

The basis of mankind's clocks, the turning of the earth itself, varies slightly. It sometimes speeds up, then slows down. These differences are minute. From 1680 to 1800 the earth "lost" 27/100ths of a second. From 1800 to 1900 it "gained" 30/100ths of a second, the National Geographic Society says.

Bands of male baboons, barking loudly, have been known to charge hunters in a body, the National Geographic Society says. Africans experienced in bush hunting claim they would rather let their dogs bait a lion than try to corner a troop of these crafty monkeys, which rank among the most savage of African mammals.

Cross Country Crown to Winchester

Harriers Become First Team In History To Win New England Title Two Successive Years

The war whoop of the Winchester Indians sounded loud and clear in the crisp cold air of the Colby College campus last Saturday as the harriers swept to their second successive New England title. For the first time in the long history of the New Englands a title holder was successful in defending its crown. This unprecedented victory is one of the most outstanding accomplishment in New England sports annals.

Winchester was one of the three teams selected to represent Massachusetts this year. These teams are the top three selected on a time basis for their first five runners from the 63 schools competing in the State meet. Scituate was the No. 1 team, Newton No. 2 and Winchester No. 3. The New Englands include the top three teams from each of the six New England states plus the 10 top runners that are not members of the winning teams. In other words, the race embraces the cream of high school runners from the six-state area. In no other sport are so many fine young athletes assembled to compete against each other.

Winchester was defending title holder but was not conceded much of a chance against the favorite, Scituate, Waterville, Maine, Newton, Portsmouth, N. H., and East Hartford, Conn. However, this Winchester team had a dogged determination to make it a tough fight for any other school and spent a rugged week on an extended training schedule designed to cut down the time lag between themselves and the other two Massachusetts teams. This hard work plus a will to win paid off as the Indians surprised the 17 other schools in the field to take the crown once more!

The Red and Black runners left for Waterville on Friday and spent the night at a hotel in that town. Up early Saturday, they found a clear, cold day with a light dusting of snow to greet them. After breakfast the team left for the Colby campus and a practice jog of the rugged 2.7-mile course. After this practice session strategy was discussed in the Colby fieldhouse followed by an hour of relaxation.

At 11 a. m. 170 runners faced the starter's gun. The start was marred by a mixup caused by the misfiring of the gun and the failure of the officials to call the boys back. The Winchester harriers, confused, hesitated, then finally realizing the race was on, sprinted after the field.

At this point it looked dark for the Red and Black but the team, recognizing the poor position they were in, added speed and worked their way through the maze of runners to at least a position of contention. The race progressed uphill for a mile and a quarter, which proved to be to the liking of the Winchester team.

At this check point all seven runners had moved into the top 60 positions. They continued to pick up places on the down grade before leveling off for the last half mile. At this point began the race for the finish on the track. Capt. Ken Brown with a driving race for the wire took the top Winchester spot, finishing 9th with an excellent time of 13:55. The race was won by Harrold Hatch of Pemetic by a stride over Dave Moore of Natick, in 13:29:4. Harry Ekstrom, Winchester's second finisher, was 19th.

After all the runners were in, a corrected list was made, eliminating individual runners, and then the 18 team scores were figured.

Winchester's team count resulted in one of the lowest totals, if not the lowest, ever made in the New Englands — 59. This count was made up by the finishing positions of the five team scorers as follows:

Brown	3
Ekstrom	8
O'Connell	10
Carlson	18
Saurman	20

Winchester's other two varsity runners were Callahan in 21st and Don Seaver 35th. This finish was remarkable when it is realized that all seven Red and Black runners were in the first 35 of the 126 team members competing.

UNITED NATIONS DAY PLAY AT PARKHURST

The fourth and fifth grades of Parkhurst School were given a surprise by Mrs. Laura Syssoeff's sixth grade—an invitation to see a play in observance of U. N. Day, October 24.

The play centered around the office workers in the Secretary General's office—suddenly overwhelmed by a delegation of foreign children from all parts of the world on a pilgrimage to thank the United Nations, for priceless benefits received. The various "thank you" speeches made the audience aware of all the various agencies and activities of the U. N.

Songs by individuals and a chorus added to the appeal of the play—and large U. N. flags made of paper by the class members and hung on the blue backdrop added color. A typist was busily typing, a reporter taking notes, and a switchboard operator intent on making her connection throughout the play. Mr. Cerra, father of the telephone operator, made and presented to Parkhurst school the switchboard which really operated.

The characters were:

Secretary General of the U. N., Freddy Wright.

Reporter, Shirley Petersen.

Switchboard Operator, Carol Cerra.

File clerk, Barbara Walsh.

Typist, Carol Brink.

Shafei Hanafei (Egypt), Evan Croft.

Gopal (India), Dean Ericson.

The Library has recently added to its Reference Collection the most important work for English biography; namely, the Dictionary of National Biography or the D.N.B. The work includes inhabitants of the British Isles and its colonies but excludes living persons. Articles, signed by specialists, are scholarly and accurate. Important names are treated at length, minor names more briefly. Altogether it contains over 30,000 biographies. This famous work, popularly known as the D.N.B. was the model to some extent for the D.A.B. or the Dictionary of American Biography which also is contained in the Reference Collection of the Winchester Public Library.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The November meeting of the Winchester Art Association was held in the Library Gallery on Wednesday evening, November 7. The coffee hour at 7:30 was arranged by Mrs. T. E. Burleigh, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Clarence Gay. The attractive center-piece on the table was arranged by Mrs. Philip Downes.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. John Ottiano, opened the meeting and introduced the speaker, Mr. Harold F. Lindergreen who is well-known in Winchester. As an accomplished artist and teacher Mr. Lindergreen was well qualified to discuss the subject "How to Draw a Line." Asking the question "What is a line?" We proceeded to define it from its derivation and its function in the field of art. Fascinating examples were shown of what can be done with a cord, made into lines and forming shapes. The statement that lines wrap around space and the discussion of the various characteristics and functions of lines were points which provoked thought and interest.

On the walls of the Gallery are hung many beautiful etchings, drawings and Chinese and Japanese prints which are loaned by generous Winchester members and friends of the Art Association. These pictures will be on exhibit through November.

The subject for the December meeting is "Form is Where You Find It."

Middlesex Crown to Wakefield

Scarlet Defeats Winchester, 12-6, In Real Thriller

Wakefield High beat Winchester, 12-6, last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field in a hard-fought and closely contested game that kept some 4000 half-frozen fans tense with excitement from the opening to the closing whistle.

The visitors hadn't beaten Winchester since 1940, and Saturday's long-sought victory was doubly sweet, for riding on the outcome of the game was the championship of the reactivated Middlesex Football League. The overjoyed Wakefield cohorts took the title back home with them, leaving Winchester the bitter consolation of having given the victors a helluva ball game and actually outplayed them most of the way.

The Indians have nothing of which to be ashamed. They made 19 first downs to 10 for Wakefield, rushing for 320 yards to 160 for the Scarlet. Each team threw three passes, Wakefield having an edge here, completing four for 55 yards and a touchdown, while Winchester made three good for 52 yards and had two intercepted.

Winchester lost 60 yards in penalties, three being especially costly, while Wakefield drew only one five-yard penalty. The Scarlet fumbled once and Winchester twice, recovering once.

The first half was all Winchester, the Indians making 11 first downs to three for Wakefield and rolling up 195 yards on the ground to 55 for the winners. In the air the Indians completed two of three passes of 38 yards while Wakefield didn't try to throw the ball.

Captain "Moe" Russo played well in a losing cause, and despite the late surge of Watson and Doucet that brought victory to Wakefield, was the outstanding player on the field for the greater part of the game. Without him Winchester's cause would have been well nigh hopeless.

"Doug" Thomson, too, ran well with the ball, getting Winchester's only touchdown on an 18-yard off-tackle scamper. Russo, Flaherty and Bartlett played well on defense and the Winchester line played its best game of the season.

Watson and Doucet were Wakefield's big heroes, the former running well and passing very effectively late in the going when the game rode on his pitching arm. Doucet ran hard, and his 29 yd. dash from his 22 to Winchester's 49 gave Wakefield a great start on its winning touchdown drive. He also drove hard along the sidelines after taking Watson's pass for the score that paid off. Whether he could have run away from the speedy Paonessa, out of the game at that point with an injury, no one will ever know!

Penalties lost the game for Winchester, a fifteen yarder just before the half setting the Indians back from what would have been a first down on the seven to a first down on the 26. Time ran out with the ball on the Wakefield two. Faster running of plays would definitely have helped there.

Another fifteen varder in the last quarter set up Wakefield's first touchdown, putting the ball on the one-yard line, first down, instead of second down and 20 on the 24

The first penalty came at the end of a 59-yard drive from the Winchester 37 to the Wakefield 4. Longworth, on a clever bootleg play, had advanced to a first down at the 6 from the Wakefield 19.

Only about five minutes of playing time remained and if Winchester could have scored at this point, it is dollars to the proverbial sinkers they would have won.

Russo bucked to the four and "Dougie" Thomson slanted off tackle to a short yard from pay dirt. On the next play, Thomson actually went over but a "back-in-motion" call nullified the score and put the ball back on the six.

This was it, for on the next play a Longworth pass was intercepted by McDonough of Wakefield in the end zone. The Scarlet end fell as he was apparently trying to fight his way over the goal line, unfortunately for Winchester, just before he made it. The play went as a touchback and the ball went to the 20. Wakefield started at that point to its game-winning touchdown.

Whether turning back Winchester so close to victory fired Wakefield beyond stopping, or Winchester sagged involuntarily after missing the score is hard to tell. Perhaps it was a little of both.

At all events Wakefield went like a house afire from then on and completely dominated play, going 80 yards in eight plays, commencing with Doucet's sweep from the 22 to the Winchester 49, behind some effective three-man blocking.

Staying on the ground the Scarlet drove ahead to first downs at the 37 and 21, last-ditch tackles by Flaherty preventing longer gains.

From the 21 Canavan and Doucet picked up five. Watson then faded and tossed a flare pass out into the left flat. Doucet grabbed the ball between the ten and fifteen-yard lines and really drove along the sideline into the end zone. Wakefield tried for the extra point by rushing but was piled up.

First Half All Winchester

Winchester completely dominated play in the first half and twice missed scoring by narrow margins.

The second quarter had just begun when the teams exchanged fumbles, Winchester recovering the Wakefield bobble on its own 37.

From there Winchester drove to a first down at the Wakefield 10, a 24-yard pass from Longworth to "Vin" Murphy keeping the drive alive.

Thomson picked up four, but a fumble lost this yardage, Longworth recovering, and a pass missed its intended receiver all alone in the end zone. On fourth down Russo was stopped well short of the goal line and Wakefield took over.

The Scarlet made a first down, but then had to kick and the ball was downed at the Winchester 27. From here Winchester put on a really impressive offensive that the half-time whistle stopped short of pay dirt.

Russo and Thomson made it first down at the 42, Thomson picked up five yards and Russo bulled through to the Wakefield 42 and first down.

Thomson hit off tackle to a first down at the Wakefield 29, and then broke through for a second first down at the 19.

Winchester looked unstoppable at this point as Russo banged through to the 11 and then swept to a first down at the seven.

Here it was that a fifteen-yard holding penalty was assessed, putting the ball back on the 26.

Russo busted through for eight and then taking a pitchout from Longworth threw a pass to Murphy, who was downed on the five for a first down. Russo carried to the two but before another play could be run the half ended.

Wakefield received the second half kickoff but Winchester stopped the Scarlet at the Winchester 49 and Thomson ran the Wakefield punt back to his 30. From there Winchester went all the way in 11 plays.

Thomson picked up nine and Russo got the first down at the 40. Flaherty and Russo got five and Thomson reached midfield for the first down.

Flaherty reversed for five and Russo added four, with Thomson again making the first down at the Wakefield 37. Flaherty picked up two and Russo got away to the Wakefield 18 for first down.

Here Thomson, with Russo throwing a key block, got through a hole at his own right tackle and scooted all the way into the end zone for the game's first score. Russo's try for the extra point from placement into the wind was wide.

Wakefield had to kick after receiving the kickoff and Winchester took over at its 41. Russo picked up some good yardage, but Winchester was assessed another 15 yarder for illegal use of hands, and was forced to kick.

Wakefield started at its 33, and aided by Watson passes to McDonough and Doucet, moved the ball to the Winchester 14 for a first down, both Doucet and Watson contributing key rushes in the drive.

At the 14 Watson dropped back to pass and was smeared back on the 24 by several Winchester linemen who converged on him.

With the Winchester stands whooping it up the ball went back and the Indians were penalized 15 yards to their one-yard line for holding. Doucet slanted over off tackle for the touchdown, but the attempted point after was no good.

Winchester played the second half without Paonessa, who sustained a leg injury and the loss of the little scatback was felt both on offense and defense. The summary:

RALPH H. BONNELL

RESIGNS AS STATE GOP HEAD

Ralph H. Bonnell of 81 Arlington street, head of Bonnell Motors, Ford distributors for Winchester, and a member of the firm of Bonnell and Stokes, Mercury dealers in Arlington, has resigned as chairman of the Massachusetts State Republican Committee.

Mr. Bonnell tendered his resignation to the State GOP authorities on election day, before any returns were in. It was with the understanding that he would continue in office only until the election that he consented to take the State Chairmanship last May.

Mr. Bonnell's resignation from the State Committee does not affect his National GOP status. He will continue as the Massachusetts member of this group and he has also recently been appointed a member of the executive committee of the National Committee.

In commenting on his resignation Mr. Bonnell told the Star he would be glad to relax a bit after the strain of the recent campaigns, adding laughingly that he would also like a little more time "to sell Fords."

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

Delivery of the 1957 alphabetical Boston and Vicinity Telephone Directory—about a 3-weeks operation with favorable weather—begins November 15. Winchester subscribers will begin to receive alphabetical directories on November 16. Over 825,000 copies are to be distributed, on the basis of one per telephone in the directory area of 45 exchanges.

This delivery will be followed in early December by delivery of the companion volume, the 1957 Boston Classified Telephone Directory (Yellow Pages).

The new alphabetical volume's front cover carries a pencil sketch of the Public Garden bridge with a swan boat in the scene. The 89-year-old bridge—originally a true suspension bridge and still appearing as one—antedates the telephone's birth in Boston (in 1876) by nine years.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company reports that the pages of the new directory are printed on a blue-white paper, especially developed for improved readability. A cream-white paper was formerly used.

Listing pages in the new alphabetical directory total 1294, an increase of 22 reflecting continued growth in telephones in service. Twelve pages and the inside front cover contain general information, including as a new feature, illustrations and descriptions of various types of telephones instruments and other equipment for special needs. Listings in the book total about 626,000, or about 14,000 more than in the old directory. They include revisions arranged for prior to October 3, 1956.

Some 500 men and women will be engaged in the delivery beginning Thursday, November 15, and in the work of checking delivery completeness and accuracy. Delivery personnel will pick up copies of the old directory to guard against their continued use.

Two things the Telephone Company recommends: Examine your old directory before you part with it, to make sure nothing of value has been left in it. Check your listing in the new directory and report any error, even of the slightest.

Did You Know that the U. S. Army has a new program called the "Buddy Assignment Plan," where groups of buddies can enlist together and take basic training together?

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

ASKS AID FOR HUNGARY

The Universalist Service Committee has issued a Thanksgiving appeal for assistance to the valiant patriots of Hungary. More than 1,000 Universalist churches, church schools and women's organizations have been asked to send parcels of blankets, shoes and warm clothing for children to the committee's Boston Headquarters for redistribution to Hungary.

Rev. Dana E. Klotzle, West Newton, Mass., Executive Director of the Universalist Service Committee reports that the appeal for assistance came directly from its fraternal associates of the Unitarian Church in Hungary. Dr. S. Van Der Woude, European associate of the Committee will enter Hungary as soon as conditions are stabilized to supervise the distribution. The Universalist Committee will also provide food and medical supplies for children's homes in Magyarkoet and Budapest as soon as internal conditions permit.

Following World War II, the Universalist Church of America through its Service Committee set up food and clothing distribution centers in the Budapest area which brought the denomination a citation of gratitude from the Hungarian government.

At the Winchester Star you can buy, dictionaries, slide rules, pocket adding machines, brief cases, zipper notebooks. 3 Church street.

NEW FAIRYLAND MUSEUM

REAL, LIVE MOTHER GOOSE IN PERSON

Mother Goose Land, a fairyland brought to life with a real live Mother Goose and life size Mother Goose characters, has just opened its doors to the public at the Fanny Farmer Candy Fair in Peabody, Mass.

This novel museum wonderland, open without charge to all visitors, has gathered under its roof all the happy people out of Mother Goose verse. For example, there's a jovial Humpty Dumpty almost four feet high sitting jauntily on a real brick wall and set for a fall; and a daring four foot Jack who climbs a winding beanstalk clear up to the ceiling. There's also Ole King Cole, Little Jack Horner, the Cat and the Fiddle, Little Miss Muffet, Three Men In a Tub, Mary and Her Lamb and all the rest.

The full dimension Mother Goose figures have been colorfully portrayed, and some, set in life like motion. They were created and styled by several leading American sculpture designers and artists, who went to great lengths to re-create the characters in expert and accurate detail. Accompanying each figure is the fairy tale in verse.

At Mother Goose land, Mother Goose herself, in person!, and in colorful regalia, escorts children through the museum fairyland, reciting to each the appropriate verses from her giant Mother Goose story book. After each tour, each child is given without charge, a copy of a Mother Goose verse booklet suitable for coloring, as well as a fruit flavored kiddy pop.

Mother Goose Land, open each day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. was created as an educational and institutional public service project by candy maker Fanny Farmer for children of all ages.

Mother Goose Land is located at Fanny Farmer's Candy Fair on Routet No. 1, Newburyport Turnpike, Peabody, Mass. There is ample free parking space for everyone.

METHODIST INSTITUTE ON ALCOHOLISM

This Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. the second service, in a series of studies on the problem of alcoholism, will be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Another excellent movie will be shown.

"Since leading psychiatrists and medical doctors around the country are urging American people to pay heed to this number two problem of our nation, it behooves us to wake up and take notice," says Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the church. With close to four million alcoholics in our country and a similar number of problem drinkers, a study of the solution of such a problem seems urgent.

The series will close a week from this Sunday when Chaplain Robert Burt of the Walpole State prison will bring a message entitled, "Alcoholism and Crime."

Both adults and young people are cordially invited.

The series is being sponsored by the Youth group of the church, under the direction of its leader, Rev. Charles Johnson.

During theh Processional Hymn at the eleven o'clock Worship Service at First Baptist Church next Sunday, November 18, the Church School children and young people will come into the Sanctuary by Departments, bringing gifts of canned foods. These gifts will bring Thanksgiving happiness to the Boston Baptist Bethel Center and local families through the Winchester Relief Committee.

The intensive Sector Plan conducted by Baptist Churches across the country for the past several weeks, will culminate on Sunday when a Dedication Service for all Canvassers, all members and all friends of the Church will take place at the Morning Service. At two o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Church bells will ring, signalling the start of the Every Member, Every Friend Enlistment, when about sixty consecrated Canvassers will visit in the homes of the Parish to explain our 1957 budget for His Kingdom.

The Lay Development Program being conducted to train men, women, and youth for effective Christian service, will hold its fourth meeting in the Church Sunday evening. At seven o'clock Mrs. Edwin H. Tuller will be in charge of the worship service and Rev. Robert L. Weaver, Director of Missionary Cooperation for the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, will speak on "How Baptist Churches Work With One Another." Five Workshop Conferences will be in session at eight o'clock under the leadership of Mr. Robert W. Carlson, Mr. Charles A. Huckins, Jr., Dr. Cecil W. Pride, Mr. Theodore W. Shidler and Mr. David B. Thoms.

TWO SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH

This coming Sunday, designated as Loyalty Day in most of the protestant churches will also be Thanksgiving Sunday at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

There will be two services. The first service will be held at 9:45 a. m. and the second at 11:00 a. m. All young people from the 4th grade through high school will meet together at the usual hour of 9:30 a. m. and proceed to the sanctuary as a group.

With all the other churches, the Methodist Church will seek to make Thanksgiving a little better for some of the needy people of the community and around the world.

Members and friends, along with the Sunday School students, are asked to bring non-perishable articles or contribute, as they see fit, in serving the community, the New England Home for Little Wanderers and the national Share Our Surplus program.

MRS CHESTER G. FLAHIVE

FLAHIVE — MARTIN

At St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning, November 10, Miss Carolyn Gladys Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Martin of 61 Wedgemere avenue, became the bride of Chester Gerard Flahive, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gerard Flahive of 10 Powder House terrace, West Somerville. The 10 o'clock marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Desmond of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Jamaica Plain, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. White flowers on the altar and family pews made an attractive setting for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Martin wore a gown of hand-clipped rose point lace over glowing white satin with a bouffant skirt and back galloon terminating in a cathedral-length train. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a headpiece of matching rose point and she carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis entwined with ivy and centered with a white cattleya orchid.

Miss Claire Galvin of Belmont was maid of honor, and Miss Marilyn Hallen of Stoneham was flower girl. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Donahue of Belmont, Miss Priscilla Martin of West Roxbury, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Robert Adler of Hartford, Conn.; and Mrs. Louis Natichioni of Framingham.

The honor maid wore a dress of iridescent green taffeta fashioned with a cowl neckline of velvet of a deeper shade adorned with a matching bow in the back and a flared skirt varying from waltz-length in front to full length in back. Her headband matched the velvet of her dress and she carried a cascade bouquet of chrysanthemums and pompons in fall shades.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of rust iridescent taffeta styled like that of the honor maid. They too wore matching velvet headbands and carried chrysanthemums and pompons.

The flower girl wore a princess style frock of rust taffeta with a deeper toned velvet sash and matching headband. She carried a nosegay of miniature pompons.

John A. Wick of West Somerville was Mr. Flahive's best man, and ushering were Donald G. Martin of Winchester, brother of the bride; Richard Coffee of Arlington, Edward McDougall of West Somerville and William Fullerton of Hyde Park.

A reception was held after the marriage at the hotel Somerset in Boston. Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride, wore a draped cafe du lait satin sheath with a sculptured neckline and a panier bow back. Her accessories were in a contrasting shade and she wore an odontoglossum orchid. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Flahive, wore a gown of mist blue peau de soie with an Alencon lace jacket and a small blue feathered hat. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

After a wedding journey to Florida Mr. and Mrs. Flahive plan to live in Cambridge.

The bride is a graduate of the Mary A. Burnham School for Girls in Northampton; of Lasell Junior College and attended the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance. Mr. Flahive graduated from Huntington Preparatory School and also attended the Bentley School. He was in the Army for three years, serving 27 months in the Far East.

MRS. WELLINGTON P. BURTNETT

BURTNETT — DEMERS

The marriage of Miss Maredith T. Demers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Demers of Allen place, Hartford, Conn., to Mr. Wellington Parker Burtnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grant Burtnett of Wildwood street, took place on October 20, in St. Joseph's Church, Occum Village, Norwich, Conn. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. Maurice F. Sullivan of Groton, Conn., before an altar adorned with chrysanthemums and palms.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ralph Demers, a student at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida, the bride wore a gown of hand-clipped rosepoint Chantilly lace, over a bouffant skirt with a back cascade of crystal pleated tulle ruffles flowing into a Chapel train, accented by a sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. Her fingertip veil fell in two tiers from a Chantilly lace crown reembroidered with pearls and sequins, she carried her maternal grandmother's mother of pearl prayer book marked with orchids.

Mrs. Walter Stone of West Haven, Conn., sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, Miss Johanna Mackey of Hartford was bridesmaid and Miss Barbara Dillon of Waterbury, Conn., cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The attendants wore gowns of velvet in the autumn shades of pumpkin and emerald velvet, designed like that of the bride, in waltz length, with matching velvet head bands trimmed with mums. Their bouquets were also of chrysanthemums.

The flower girl wore an emerald velvet gown and carried a miniature bouquet like that of the matron of honor. The ring bearer was Walter Stone, III, nephew of the bridegroom, who wore a cinnamon color boucle suit.

Mr. Sherman Saltmarsh Jr., served as best man and the ushers were Dr. Walter Stone, Jr., of West Haven; Arthur Grant Burtnett, Jr., of Somerville, brother of the bridegroom and Maurice F. Demers, brother of the bride.

A dinner for all the guests was served at the Norwich Inn following the ceremony. Guests attended from New York, New Jersey, Florida, Massachusetts, Waterbury, Conn., New Haven, Hartford and West Hartford.

The bride traveled in a charcoal gray suit with velvet trim and matching accessories. After a trip through the New England States and Canada, the couple will be at home at 17 Linden street, Winchester. Mr. Burtnett is affiliated with the House of Seagram in Boston.

WINCHESTER PEE WEES FOOTBALL SQUAD*

PEE WEE FOOTBALL

The Winchester Pee Wee Football Team celebrated their third year of existence by coming up with an undefeated, untied season, sporting a record of six wins and no losses, outscoring their opposition 205 to 96.

The success of this year's Pee Wee Team was due to superior coaching. The Winchester team, running from both the single wing and the split "T", operated more smoothly offensively and defensively than any other team in the league.

The Winchester Pee Wees were started three years ago by Scott Parrot of 1 Hilltop road, known in Winchester since childhood when he attended Winchester Public Schools. Scott later played Prep School football, hockey, and basketball at Belmont Hill, played hockey for the Junior Olympics, and football for the U. S. Marines at New River, North Carolina. He was a member of the class of 1945 at Dartmouth but left there and entered the U. S. Marines early in World War II.

When asked why he started the Pee Wees three years ago, Scott points out that the third grade youngsters in his area were playing tackle football in the afternoons after school with sixth graders twice their size, without either protective equipment, or supervision.

A couple of injuries to the youngsters brought the idea of organized Pee Wee football to mind. The first year was spent in inter-squad games, and inter-town games on a very informal basis. The following year, 1955, found Gloucester (Magnolia) scheduling two games with Winchester. Scott then was able to interest his Dartmouth pal Bill Riley from Medford in the program, and Medford, Magnolia, and Winchester made up the Pee Wee competition for the second year.

This year Melrose came into the league. A home and home game between each member of the league was scheduled. With Winchester the only team to have completed the season, the league standings show that Winchester has insured themselves of the top spot.

PEE WEE LEAGUE

Medford	3	2	0	1
Magnolia	1	4	0	1
Melrose	0	4	0	2

The interest in Pee Wee football has grown both among the boys and the parents since its start. It has supplied the boys with organized tackle football; competitive and hard-played as it is, quick whistles, required protective equipment, and good fundamentals have taken the place of sand lot pile ups and resulting injuries.

Next Fall Pee Wee football is open to any boy in Winchester under thirteen years of age and under 105 pounds. The squad will be cut to 24 boys by a predetermined date agreed upon by the league coaches.

Six man football is played as it teaches the fundamentals better than does eleven man football. Tackling, blocking, and ball handling is more of an individual undertaking in six man football. There are less pile ups which cuts down on injuries and the game is faster and more open.

Melrose and Magnolia are sponsored by the Kiwanis, and the latter by the Lions. Both teams have been outfitted with pads, helmets, sweaters, and six man football shoes. To date, neither Winchester nor Medford have been supported. It would be worthwhile indeed if the Winchester boys could get some help for next year. To date, the boys have bought their own sweaters and supplied their own required equipment.

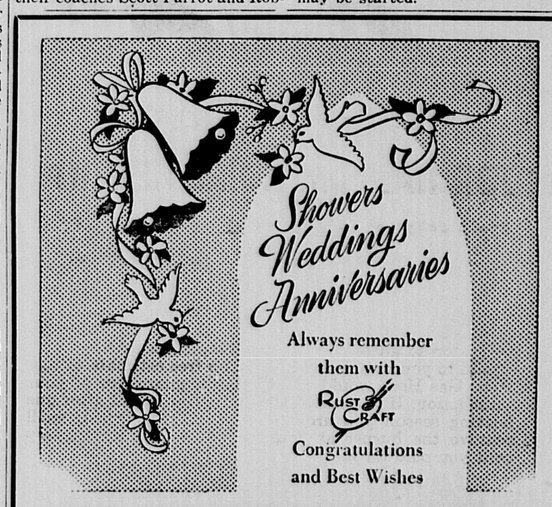
With the squad necessarily having to be cut to 24 boys, of course, there will be some boys who come out for the team who will be cut. If there are any other Winchester men, or men from other towns who would like to organize a Pee Wee football team, the following coaches can give them the rules and details. In Winchester, Scott Parrot, Coach; Robert Johnson, Asst. Coach; in Melrose, William Haas, Coach; Robert Walker, Asst. Coach; in Medford, William Riley, Coach; in Magnolia, John Burnett, Coach; Don Lowe, Asst. Coach.

The games are played on a field 80' x 40'. There are four downs in which to make 15 yards for first down. Penalties have been decided upon to fit the size field and extended yard markers. In virtually every other way, the game is played like regular eleven man football.

The Winchester boys along with their coaches Scott Parrot and Robert Johnson have done a great job. The team played hard, and played to win. The boys memorized and used twenty-six plays and/or variations. Spectators at the games will tell you it was sometimes impossible to follow the ball and that bruising, blocking and tackling were featured.

With the close of the 1956 season it is hoped the Winchester boys will come up with another undefeated season next year. Both Coach Parrot and Coach Johnson have impressed upon their boys that football like many other sports, is a team game, that being a good loser is as important as being a humble winner, that the schoolroom is the most competitive playing field there is, and that good sportsmanship and the proper attitude is the key to good athletics.

It is hoped that Coaches Parrot and Johnson who have given much time to the development of this undefeated team and this newly formed league will be given a boost in their effort to continue the program on a more complete scale next year, and that interest in Pee Wee football will grow in this area as has Pee Wee hockey in the past several years. Scott Parrot also coaches the Winchester Pee Wee hockey team at the North Shore Sports Center. This league includes Melrose, Saugus, Gloucester, Lynn, Swampscott, Marblehead, and Peabody. It is the hope of both Mr. Parrot and Mr. Johnson that additional teams will be formed in Winchester and that another league may be started.



Always remember them with

MENTAL HEALTH AND CANCER PROGRAM

"The Menninger Story" by Walker Winslow and a cancer film, "Breast Self-Examination" were the program features of the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association held on November 9, at the Town Hall.

Mrs. Clarence L. Luitwieler Jr., President, opened the meeting with the secretary's report by Mrs. R. Ronald Wyman and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Austin Broadhurst followed by the 1957 budget report by Mrs. Daniel L. McLaughlin Jr., chairman of the finance committee which will be presented to the Community Chest and Council for approval. Mrs. Allen W. Bryson, corresponding secretary, read the thank you note from Miss Alice B. Peterson who resigned from the nursing staff.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Walter P. Keyes, Chairman of the Education Committee who introduced Mrs. James B. Willing of her committee. Mrs. Willing in the next half hour held her group spellbound with the fascinating report of a most unusual family. As described by Walker Winslow in "The Menninger Story," a story of Dr. Charles Menninger, his wife Flo, and his two sons, Dr. Karl and Dr. Will. Among the many accomplishments of this illustrious family was the founding in 1953 of the greatest psychiatric clinic in the world, the Menninger Clinic in Topeka Kansas.

Dr. Charles Menninger was a man to be envied, a normal and stable man of infinite patience and understanding raised in a simple life on a Kansas farm in a family of nine children. The story of this family of three doctors all interested in mental health and psychiatry is a valuable one for all of us If mental health in our country is to be improved in the next generation, we must understand ourselves better and in turn understand our children. All of us have seizures of tensions than can be called mental accidents or mishaps like a broken leg. When cured, we can again return to our normal life. Satisfactory home life is very important for emotional stability—we must all feel a family closeness. When our children, for instance, are most disagreeable is when they need love most. "There is nothing so hard as to live an ordinary life decently," quoted Mrs. Willing in her most appealing report of personal anecdotes of the Menningers which she skillfully threaded with her own intellect, wit, and humor.

Following this enlightening and stimulating report, Mrs Walfred Wiklund, Executive director, introduced Miss Vivian Scott, Health Educator from the Mass. Cancer Society who presented to the board a most valuable film for approval and possible sponsorship for future public showings to all women in Winchester. The film, "Breast Self-Examination" has already proven its value in other communities for ealy diagnosis of this particular cancer. Statistics for breast cancer is high and by monthly self-examination, growths can be discovered as early as the first or second month of development, whereas your doctor does not see you this often. The group agreed that this was an excellent film and sponsorship of this for future showings in March, Cancer month, was referred to the Executive Committee for decision.

The regular business meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was concluded with reports by the committee chairmen: Mrs. Herbert Ross, nominating, Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick, member of the House Committee, Mrs. Harry L. Mueller, nursing committee, who reported that the nurses would again staff the first aid station at the Enka Fair as approved by the board.

Mrs. Wiklund announced that she would attend the Mass. League for Nursing conference in Boston—on November 14 and 15.

The meeting adjourned with the announcement of the annual meeting to be held in the evening this year sometime in January as would be announced.

REMEMBER THE CHILDREN'S FLOOR

Finished your Christmas shopping? Of course not; not until you have shopped for a doll, toy or book for the children's floor of the Winchester Hospital.

Friends of the Winchester Hospital are appealing to their members and others for the toys which are needed right now and through the holidays for children confined to the hospital. To meet hospital regulations, toys must be new. Suggested items are dolls of all kinds, picture books, coloring books, puzzles, comic books and cuddly animals as well as educational toys to use in bed or during convalescence.

Toy contributions may be left at 23 Sheffield road, the home of the Friends' Chairman of Toys, Mrs. Roswell M. Boutwell, 3rd. Or, call Mrs. Boutwell, WInchester 6-3455 to have your contribution picked up.

TO ATTEND WEST COAST CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Anderson of 8 Niles lane, left November 10, by plane for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will attend the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association convention.

While in California, the Anderson's plans to visit friends and do some sight-seeing.

They plan to fly to Las Vegas, Nevada, for a couple of days before returning home for Thanksgiving.

ST. MARY'S MR. & MRS. CLUB

Close to 300 members of St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club participated in a gala birthday party, the theme of the second Club meeting of the young season, at St. Mary's Hall on Wednesday evening, November 7. Mere words so inadequately describe the colorful and highly original birthday table settings, each table grouping imaginatively decorated to highlight the feature activity or occasion that each month popularly brings to mind.

Presidents, Mae and George Kean, we know will forgive the delay in starting the evening's functions None could resist inspecting each birthday table setting, one for each month, to admire the handiwork of Rose Marie and George DeMars, entertainment chairmen for this meeting, and their many wonderfully helpful hosts and hostesses. To every member on every committee that made this meeting such an outstanding event, the club expresses its appreciative thanks.

Preceded by a prayer led by Reverend Father Manion, Club Spiritual Director, and a short business meeting, Dr. James McDonough contributed to another interesting and informative Catholic Action Program. Jim Mullens, a "visiting fireman" from Everett added a little zest to what proved to be an enjoyable provocative discussion.

The social part of the meeting once again proved the culinary skills of the club members. The birthday "celebrators" were treated to refreshments, including, of course, mouth-watering birthday cakes on every table, for which the hard working refreshments committee is indeed deserving of high praise.

But what party is complete without music and song? A pennant winner in any league was this lineup that entertained:

Master of Ceremonies	John Griffin
Piano	Tom Deechan
Songs and Patter	Ted and Phil O'Rourke
Accordian Minstrel	Joe Trevalini
Special Duet	Dr. James McDonough and Larry Pasquale
Waltz Contest Winners	Jean and Bill Burns

Yes, it was a wonderful evening and we hope again to wish you all another happy "39th" birthday next year no member will want to miss. In fact, from all indications, no member will want to miss any of these monthly meetings. Which reminds us, don't miss the Holly Dance to be held on Saturday, December 1st. You members of past years need not be reminded of how highly successful the former Holly dances have been. You won't be disappointed. Come meet and get to know your fellow parishioners and townspeople. See you all at St. Mary's Hall Saturday, December 1.

"JOHNNY CAN READ"

The Mothers' Association of the George Washington School held the first in a series of programs following their theme for the year of "Your School, Your Child and You," on Monday, November 5, and the theme for this meeting was "Johnny Can Read."

Mrs. Roland Hanson, president, gave a short history on the criticisms of the teaching of reading. Mrs. Hanson then introduced Miss Lenor Rich who demonstrated some of the difficulties which the young child faces in learning to read and the stages of development of readers through the grades including the kindergarten where the desire to read is encouraged. Miss Marion E. Phipps, reading consultant for the Winchester schools, outlined her program and the services she gives. The next speaker was Miss Elizabeth M. Russell of the Children's Division of the Winchester Public Library. Miss Russell spoke of the enrichment opportunities afforded by the library, ways in which the children are encouraged to read such as the reading club during the summer months, suggesting good types of literature, and having a good home library. She had on display books suitable for elementary readers as suggestions for home libraries and gifts.

A demonstration of small group techniques in the teaching of reading was then given by Miss Phyllis Roberts, sixth grade teacher, and her pupils. The interested audience was shown how the vocabulary is developed, the use of the dictionary by the pupils, organizing information and finding expanded opportunities to do work involving critical thinking.

The mothers expressed genuine interest and enthusiasm in this program and are looking forward to the next meeting to be held on January 15 on the "Interpretation of Social Sciences." These programs are being planned by Mrs. Walter Hutchinson, program chairman.

Double Birthday Celebration For Red Cross In Winchester

The Winchester Chapter of the American National Red Cross is celebrating a double birthday as it chooses this week, the 35th anniversary of the formation of the Chapter on November 21, 1921, to celebrate this country-wide 75th anniversary of its parent organization, brought into being in 1881. As a very large percentage of the town's population from kindergarten up are members of Red Cross, this is truly a Winchester family affair, and the Chapter representatives hope that everyone in town will share the community pride which attends this big event.

On Saturday, November 24, a large birthday cake will be part of a window display at Wilde's Insurance Co., 3 Thompson street, the display to continue for that week. Miss Natalie Jewett, Winchester Chapter's founder and first chairman, has been asked to represent the first Red Cross group here in joining the chapter's present chairman, Mr. Royce Randlett, in cutting the cake.

Miss Jewett not only founded the chapter, but has been on the job ever since, being at present chairman of the important Red Cross Home Service group.

From Clara Barton's first disaster service in 1881 to this very week when the whole world thrills to the sight of a Red Cross convoy bringing aid into Hungary, national and international Red Cross have embodied the word "help." During the last thirty-five of this seventy-five years, Winchester's own chapter has played a large and generous part in furthering the invaluable assistance provided by the American National Red Cross.

Additionally, they have organized and carried out a continuous span of important Red Cross services here on the local level. All this has been accomplished through the time and effort of Winchester's many wonderful volunteer workers, past and present, guided and assisted by the local Red Cross office, at present under the capable direction of Mrs. G. Thayer Richards.

Mr. William A. Wilde, Jr., present chairman of Disaster Service, Red Cross, and a director, has been chairman of the Chapter's 75th Anniversary Committee. Mrs. William Cusack, a director, has been in charge of arranging for the birthday display. Together they have worked with Mrs. James H. Coon, Mrs. J. Edward Downes, Mrs. Olcott L. Hooper, Mrs. Daniel P. McLaughlin, and Mr. Carl G. Richmond to bring this important celebration to the attention of the town.

JANICE MARIE ALLEN

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Allen of 9 Grayson road, announce the engagement of their daughter Janice Marie to Ralph H. Nay, Jr., of Nashua, N. H., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Nay.

Miss Allen graduated from Winchester High School in 1954 and Boston School of Dental Nursing. Her fiance graduated from Hesser Business College.

May 19, is the date chosen for the wedding.

POLIO VACCINE AVAILABLE

Parental request forms for obtaining signatures for first and second inoculations for children in the 15 through 19-year group will be issued in the high school during the last week in November so that the inoculations may be started early in December.

Parental request forms for obtaining signatures for the booster doses in children who have already received their first two doses will be issued in December through the schools. Parents of pre-school children may obtain these forms at the Board of Health Clinic. The original request form was only for two doses, so a new request form must be signed by the parent. These booster doses (third injections) will be given after January 1, 1957.

Physicians are now able to buy Polio Vaccine in the drug stores for the inoculation of their patients who are 20 years of age or older. It is recommended that all adults up to the age of 45 years receive the vaccine.

Harry L. Benson, M.D.
Chairman, Board of Health

ROADS OPEN SOON

Construction crews have been busy this week removing the temporary railroad tracks from the center, and it is expected that some time this week Common street from the center to the Winchester Station will be open for parking though the completion of the road will have to await warmer weather in the spring.

The same is true of the other street construction jobs, that at Bacon street and Common street from Church street to Waterfield road and on Swanton street. These underpasses will all be open for use, but will not be completely finished until suitable weather in the spring. It was expected that the Common street underpass would be open by Thanksgiving, and the Bacon street underpass by Christmas.

The use of Common street from the Center to the railroad station for access and parking depends on how well the rough surface stands the coming cold weather. If the road starts to buckle with the frost it will be closed until spring.

It is considered unlikely that the Skillings bypass, which is an important factor in the entire overhead picture will be opened until spring when it can be put in finished condition.

NATIONAL GUARD TAKES OVER BORDER ROAD INSTALLATION

At ceremonies on Sunday, November 18, the military layout on South Border road was turned over to the 104th Anti-Aircraft Brigade, Massachusetts National Guard. The U. S. Army is no longer involved at this site.

Starting Monday, November 19, there are to be eighteen men at the site for eight hours daily during five days of each week with a watchman on duty at all other times. While these men are all members of Battery A, 772nd Bn., 104th AAA Brigade, they are to be employed by the National Guard as civilians to maintain the Radar Installation and the six 90 millimeter guns in ready condition.

In the event of a "Red Alert," Battery A will take over the installation on an active duty basis on short notice. Most of the men involved live in Medford, Everett and Somerville. (From report to the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross by Carl G. Richmond, Sec.)

Tea will be served at the close of the program by Hospitality co-Chairmen Mrs. Arthur Center and Mrs. Henry Center.

STOVE FIRES

An oil burner in a kitchen range at the apartment of Mr. Robert Ross of 35 Irving street overflowed onto the floor Saturday afternoon, causing a fire under the stove. A similar fire in the kitchen of Mrs. Mary E. Sheehan of 153 Mt. Vernon street at 6:25 Monday evening scortched the floor around the range.

Mr. Guy DeFilippo of 905 Main street called the fire station at 11:37 Sunday morning for help in ejecting smoke from his home after he had put out a fire in the stove oven.

MRS. SARAH COX

Mrs. Sarah Cox, former resident of this town for more than 25 years, died Sunday evening, November 18, at the Cape Cod Hospital, Hyannis, after a brief illness. She was born in Hearst Cross, England on February 5, 1878.

Mrs. Cox is survived by her husband, Walter E. Cox of Dennisport; a daughter, Mrs. Jerome B. Foster of Winchester; a son Robert B. Cox of Birmingham, Michigan; and three grandchildren.

Private services were held Tuesday and burial was at Swan Lake Cemetery, Dennisport.

Tyler W. Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Black of 7 Seneca road, has been awarded a varsity letter for his outstanding ability in the line of the Lawrence Academy football team this fall. By defeating Cushing Academy, 24-0, the team closed its second undefeated season. Before a capacity crowd of 500 on Saturday evening, he also starred in the chorus at the school's 30th annual Autumn Frolic.

Tyler is a member of the academy's four-man Student Council, a very effective student organization.

PROPOSED NEW WING OF CRAWFORD MEMORIAL CHURCH

METHODISTS ON THE MARCH

Plans are moving toward the climax in the Adventure of Faith set forth by the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. This Adventure relates to the new wing to be added to the church in the near future. The contract, calling for a building project in the amount of $152,000.00, was signed this week with Custance Bros., Inc., Contractors. The architectural work is under the direction of Hutchins and French, who were architects for the church when it was built in 1924.

The Planning and Survey Committee, under the direction of Dr. Arthur C. Fay, worked arduously for many months in presenting the needs to the members of the church. The committee visited churches all over the state for ideas in careful planning.

Both men and women of the church, revealing their enthusiasm, worked together in a financial drive which brought about a wonderful response of sacrificial giving on the part of members and friends of the church. With approximately ten new Sunday School rooms being added, the old Social Hall being converted into partitioned Sunday School classes and acousticized, and a new Social Hall being constructed, allowing for potential Sunday School rooms for the future, with collapsible partitions, the church is preparing itself for the expansion in enrollment already taken place and the possible growth in the years ahead.

A new kitchen is being built off the new Social Hall and the old kitchen will be converted into one or two Sunday School rooms and a kitchenette.

With the signing of the contract this week by Mr. Ralph Hatch and Mr. Norman Osborne, co-chairmen of the Building Committee, work will begin as soon as it is deemed wise by the contractors.

It is expected that the new addition will be ready for next fall's opening of Sunday School.

JOHNSON SOLDIER OF MONTH

Word has just come through from Itazuke Air Force Base in Southern Japan that a Winchester boy, George W. Johnson, was recently honored there by being named Airman-of-the-Month, following a two months competition with other outstanding airmen of the base. Announcement was made at ceremonies at the base, during which Col. James M. Webster, 8th Wing executive officer presented the Winchester boy with a Certificate of Merit, a check for $25 and a three-day pass.

Airman 1/c Johnson is attached to the 1955th AACS Squadron based at Itazuke. Son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Johnson of 10 Rangeley ridge, he is a graduate of Winchester High School and entered the Air Force in July of 1953.

While at high school Johnson was drum major of the band and an outstanding tumbler and acrobatic dancer, starring on the Vaudeville Show stage. He was dancing professionally before entering the service.

After graduating from Radio Maintenance School at Scott Field, Illinois, he was assigned to Itazuke in Japan, and has been there ever since. An electronics technician, he is presently supervisor of the radio site at the base. Airman Johnson will have been in service 29 months in December and this Christmas will be his third away from home. He is expected home for Easter and expects to be separated from the service some time during the following summer.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs Sturgis Stevens of Wellesley announces the engagement of her daughter Shirley Stevens Slocum to Robert L. V. French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vestal French of Ledgewood road.

Mrs. Slocum, daughter of Winthrop P. Stevens of Albany, N. Y., is a graduate of the Albany Academy for Girls and Wheelock College class of 1951.

Mr. French was graduated from Belmont High School, and in 1950 from Harvard College, where he was a member of the Pi Eta Club. He served in the Navy during World War II.

MISS RUMA ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Domenic J. Ruma of 6 Agawam road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemarie Regina, to Mr. Rodney J. Pitman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney J. Pitman of 2 Hill road, Bedford.

THEODORE J. BOECKER

TO HEAD MARCH OF DIMES

Theodore J. Boecker, director of Winchester Civil Defense and member of the Lions Club, has been named chairman of the 1957 March of Dimes campaign in Winchester under the Lions Club sponsorship.

Arthur Johns, honorary chairman, Robert Shohet, Arthur Hewis, Peter Marchesi and R. Douglas Ramsdell make up Mr. Boecker's committee for the drive.

The purpose of the drive this year is to acquaint people with the truth about the Salk vaccine and the fact that it is now available to all who wish it without cost. The secondary purpose is to "Finish the Job" started last year by reimbursing the National Polio Foundation for the funds it expended in Middlesex County during the 1955 Polio epidemic.

RETIREMENT MEETING

There will be a meeting of all the members of the Contributory Retirement System in Winchester, together with all other interested employees of the Town at the Junior High School Auditorium on Tuesday, November 27, at 7:30 p. m.

The speaker of the evening will be Mr. Arthur W. MacKinnon, who is a past president of the Massachusetts Association of Contributory Retirement Boards. He is now the comptroller of the Town of Brookline. He has for many years been deeply interested in the retirement law and is thoroughly familiar with it and its many problems.

MRS. IDA H. TUFTS

Funeral services were held on Armistice Day, November 11, at the First Baptist Church for Mrs. Ida Helen Tufts, a former widely known resident of Winchester, who died November 9, at the Medford Orthopedic Nursing Home after a long illness. The pastor of the church, Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, officiated, and interment was in the family lot in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Mrs. Tufts was born in Roxbury, the daughter of Benjamin Franklin, and Elizabeth (Chesley) Ayers. She was educated in the Boston schools and graduated from Teachers College, following her graduation with service as a teacher in a public school on Blossom street in Boston.

She and her husband, the late John L. Tufts, came to Winchester shortly after their marriage forty years ago ,and built the home they occupied at 18 Bacon street. Later they lived for a time in New York and New Jersey, but most of their life until Mr. Tufts death about ten years ago was spent in this town.

Though Mrs. Tufts has been in poor health for many months, she was able to vote in the last Presidential election. She was for many years actively identified with the First Baptist Church, singing in the church choir as long as her health would permit. She was a member of the former Winchester Choral Society and had been a member of the Fortnightly Women's Club. While in New York she sang in the choir of one of the large Episcopal Churches.

She leaves a brother, Frederic Chesley Ayers of Detroit, and a niece, Mrs. Jerome Fullroth, also of Detroit.

PLAN NEW CHRISTMAS LIGHTING

Winchester is to have more elaborate lighting in its business center during the coming holiday season if the plans of a group of Service Club members and business men progress as they seem likely to as this goes to press.

Winchester's three service clubs, the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, are sponsoring a plan to make Winchester's Christmas lighting more in keeping with that in comparable cities and towns. Local business men have backed the project solidly, and plans have been discussed and estimates secured at a series of meetings between the two groups.

At final meetings this week a finished plan was worked out, with which the service clubs and business men will go before the Board of Selectmen next Monday night. It is expected that a definite announcement of this plan will be made in next week's Star.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM HOME

WINCHESTER HOMEFRONTERS

For over a month the little shop beside Randall's on Mt. Vernon street has been a busy spot with Winchester Homefronters packing Christmas boxes for our boys and girls in the service.

The tremendous task of packing candy, nuts, etc., assembling cartons and attaching stickers was lightened by the willing help provided by mothers and friends. Mrs. Malcolm Burr, project chairman, is most grateful for the assistance of those who worked to make the project a huge success.

Besides those in the picture who worked were, Mrs. Francis Bees, Mrs. Carl Thomas and Mrs. Percival Smith. A large group of women did a lot of telephoning to check names and addresses. Many thanks to all who helped in any way.

BONNELL ELECTED

Ralph H. Bonnell of Winchester, chairman of the Republican State Committee, is a recently-elected honorary vice president of the Middlesex Club, oldest Republican organization in America, which already is planning its annual Lincoln Day dinner for Hotel Statler, Boston, and seeking as principal speaker an official of national prominence.

Former State Senator Richard F. Treadway (Treadway Inns) is the club's new president, succeeding former Senate President Jarvis Hunt of North Attleboro. John B. Fisher of Wellesley is vice president. Waldo M. Hunt of Needham and Gage Bailey of Cambridge continue as treasurer and secretary, respectively. Harry Dunlop Brown of Billerica is assistant secretary.

OVER THE TOP!

Bert Dube, chairman for the United Community Fund Red Feather Campaign announced to the Star on Tuesday that Winchester went over the top during the past week end and exceeded its quota of $57,800 for the drive for funds which is just ending.

Contributions are still coming in, and it is expected that the total collected will establish an all-time record for Winchester during peace times!

SAVILLE DAVIS

TO SPEAK HERE

Monday evening, November 26, will be Guest Night at The Fortnightly in the First Baptist Church Social Hall. After a short business meeting Mr. Saville R. Davis, the well-known commentator and news analyst will speak on "The New World of Asia." He recently returned from an extended tour of the Far East and is exceptionally qualified to talk on developments there.

A high honor graduate of Williams College, with a master's degree from Harvard and "a journalistic degree from the school of hard reporting," Mr. Davis is American News Editor of the Christian Science Monitor. He is equally at home in many lines including moderator of television news and foreign correspondent.

He covered most of the big international conferences in the postwar period and is particularly adept at discussing controversial topics in an impartial way. His analysis of difficult situations enlarges an audience's grasp of trends and is clarifying as well as informative. Mr. Davis broadcasts on current world affairs over Radio Station WBZ Tuesday evenings at 9:15.

Fortnightly members and guests are privileged to hear this outstanding authority. After the lecture, refreshments will be served.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE STUDIES PLANS FOR ADULT EDUCATION

An adult education program for Winchester may become a reality, if the plans proposed by the Citizens Advisory Committee on Adult Education are put into effect. This committee was created by the School Committee as a result of a survey by the League of Women Voters which indicated a definite interest in and need for a program of adult education in Winchester. Mr. Vincent Ambrose is chairman, and other members include Mr. William F. Burns, Mrs. Roger Burton, Mr. Nicholas Fitzgerald, Mrs. P. Robert Griffith, Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mr. Hoyt C. Hottel, Mrs. Benjamin T. Marshall, Mr. William Spaulding, and Miss Grace Wills.

Thus far the principal task of the Committee has been one of investigation, study, and recommendation. It has attempted to discover specific educational areas in which there seems to be a definite interest. It has considered policies and procedures with respect to the organization and conduct of an adult educational program. In the event that the Town establishes such a program, the Committee will offer its assistance in securing the best possible personnel to staff the courses which are offered.

Following considerable investigation and several meetings, the Committee met this week with the School Committee to offer its recommendations. Members of the Committee were encouraged by the favorable reaction of School Committee members to their proposals. Final adoption of the program and provisions for its financing await action by the town, but its supporters are confident that Winchester will have at least the beginnings of an adult education program within a year.

NASON HEADS BANK BOARD

George P. Nason of 4 Sussex road was elected chairman of the board of the Charlestown Savings Bank, Boston, on November 20, 1956. His association with the bank covers a span of fifty-three years, the last seventeen of which he has headed the organization as its president. His banking career includes service in every department of the bank and the offices of assistant treasurer, treasurer and president.

Often considered the dean of Massachusetts savings bankers, Mr. Nason is prominent in banking circles and civic affairs, taking an active part in the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts, the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, the New England Baptist Hospital and the Hahnnemann Hospital.

Under his leadership, the Charlestown Savings Bank, with assets of over $130,000,000, has become the fifth largest of the 189 savings banks in Massachusetts. In addition to serving the bank in his new capacity as chairman of the board, Mr. Nason will continue as a corporator and trustee.

ARTHRITIS KICKOFF MONDAY

The appearance in Boston Monday of Jackie Gleason, TV star, to kick off the "Arthritis" campaign from Boston Common, is giving fresh impetus to the drive in Winchester which gets underway with a door-to-door solicitation, December 2-8.

Mrs. Charles Jellison, local chairman for the Massachusetts Chapter, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, said that Gleason was taking time off from his enormously busy television schedule to come to Boston for the kickoff.

"Among all age groups," Mrs. Jellison said, "arthritis ranks second among the top ten chronic diseases and rheumatic diseases disable ten times as many persons as does diabetes or tuberculosis and seven times as many as cancer."

Mrs. Jellison appealed to the residents of Winchester to try to remember these depressing figures when some time during the first week of December they are asked to give.

ROBBINS TB COUNCIL MEMBER

Dr. Laurence L. Robbins of Winchester is a council member of the Boston Tuberculosis Association which is currently conducting a Christmas Seal Sale from its headquarters at 554 Columbus avenue. Suburban residents had 50% of the 10,000 below-cost chest X-rays the Boston Tuberculosis Association took last year. Residents outside of Boston proper were given below-cost care in the Association's Sheltered Workshop for arrested cases, and in the Prendergast Preventorium for children whose families have tuberculosis. Suburban residents are admitted to the Association's free home nursing and first aid classes.

Hence it is logical, according to William F. Otis, Christmas seal sale chairman, for residents outside of Boston proper to be asked to buy the Association Christmas seals, just as they are asked to support Boston hospitals which serve them as well as residents of Boston.

Suburban housewives and mothers owe a debt to the Boston Tuberculosis Association for teaching health laws and cleanliness to the hundreds of South End women who daily travel to the better suburbs to cook, clean and baby-sit.

LEAGUE AIDS STATE PROBATION REFORM

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters and especially Mrs. Alan Morse, former State League President, have just cause to be very proud of the recent passage of the Probation Reorganization bill in the Massachusetts Legislature.

This bill raises standards of probation service for the state by limiting to a reasonable amount the number of cases handled by a probation officer, fixing the compensation for personnel, and setting up training programs and research studies relating to crime. It also establishes an impartial Committee on Probation to coordinate and develop the Department of Probation.

Back in 1954 probation officers themselves opposed attempts to set up separate juvenile courts on the grounds that buildings without adequate or trained personnel were worthless. League members noted this with interest and at the Fall Conference in 1954, decided to investigate the complaints of the probation officers, feeling that improving Probation Service generally would benefit juvenile as well as adult offenders and thus be a practical approach to the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Leagues all over the state went to work on the problem, talking to judges, County Commissioners, and probation officers in their areas. In Boston Mrs. Morse called a meeting of key probation officers, with the help of Commissioner of Probation, Albert Carter. General areas of agreement were reached as to standards and goals for which the officers were aiming, and the latter were pleased to find that outsiders were interested in their problems.

Then came the Charlestown prison riot and the first Wessell Report. This report mentioned the Probation Service only briefly in its over-all view of the entire correctional system, but its suggestions were in accord with the probation officers' desires. No action was taken by the 1955 Legislature however except to set up the administration of the Department of Correction which led to the appointment of Commissioner Russell Oswald. A committee was set up to consider the rest of the report and bring in proposals for legislation the next year.

Then the League, satisfied that the Probation Service needed improvement, went to work on public relations. They called a meeting of about 60 organizations and many legislators to seek bi-partisan support for legislation to solve the problems of the Probation Service.

The second Wessell Report in the spring of 1956 detailed precisely what the League believed needed change and the Legislative Committee filed a bill seeking probation reform. During the summer Leagues blanketed the state with radio interviews, newspaper stories, and telephone calls. In October 1956 Governor Herter signed the bill for probation reform. Incidentally, the probation section of the second Wessell Report was the only section acted upon by the Legislature. Insert: In the words of the State League Bulletin editor, "Does it prove that conviction plus good public relations won the battle?"

CHAPLAIN BURT AT METHODIST CHURCH

This coming Sunday morning at 10:45 a. m. at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, the pastor Rev. John Snook, Jr., will speak on the subject, "Frets That Are Costly Unless—." It will deal with the importance of reactions which people take to the many and varied problems of life which they encounter.

At the evening service at 7:30 p. m., Chaplain Robert Burt, of the Walpole State Prison, will speak on the subject, "Alcohol and Crime." Chaplain Burt's intimate relationship with one of the great problems of our day, through his dealings with men who have become victims of a dread disease, will give to us a thought-provoking challenge as we seek to avoid some of the great tragedies of life, which beset millions of people.

The meeting is open to the public and is being sponsored by the young people of the church.

CERTAIN ARMY ENLISTEES TO GET IMMEDIATE LEAVE IN DECEMBER

"When do I get my first leave?" has long been one of the first questions asked by Army recruits as soon as they have been sworn in. The answer has usually been: "After you complete your basic training.

Those men who enlist between December 15 and January 1, will be given a different answer to that question. It will be: "Right now, if you want it."

Sergeant First Class William Bonnell of the Army Recruiting Station at 49 High street, Medford square announced this morning that he has been given authority to offer men enlisting during the last two weeks in December up to 15 days leave immediately after they are sworn in at Boston Army Base. This action has been taken by the Army so that men may enlist and still be assured of being home for the holidays. All such leaves must terminate on or before January 7.

In addition to being home for the holidays this year, men taking advantage of this offer on the part of the Army will reap another benefit. Their enlistments will terminate just before the holidays, which will enable them to be home for Christmas that year, also.

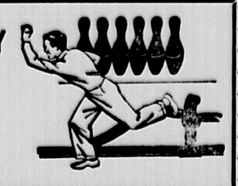
SONS OF ITALY Bowling News



S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

With heavy hearts the bowlers climbed the Strike Lane staircase for the ninth series. For those who need an explanation our best friend and friend to all mankind has finally been hospitalized, "Hokie" Procopio, the only living legend of our time.

The All Stars, captained by Tony Saraco are opening up a gap which will be hard to close this first half. Tony is bowling with such accuracy as never seen before by any one individual.

Team Standings:

All Stars	27 - 9
Bee Bops	21-15
Blue Eyes	20-16
Jitterbugs	20-16
Lindy Hop	18-18
Rock and Roll	17-19
Hot Shots	11-25
High and Low	10-26
Hi Single:
Choppers Gangi	147
Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri	352
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco	104.4
Richard Bucci	100
Babe Tofuri	97.6
Bob Tofuri	97.6
Dick Fiore	97.2
Joe Berardi	96.1

The team that scored the high pinfalls needs no more publicity than they have been receiving recently.

Again Captain Tony Saraco's team holds the limelight in this department with a 1435 pinfall. They are at present running roughshod over all opposition. Once again we give their names. Eddie Forgione, Butsy Mistretta, Joe Ciarcia, Deadhorse Chefalo and Tony Barsardino.

It seems his name crops up quite often in every department for once again he led the 300 pack. Tony Saraco had 319 and the other 300 bowler this week was Joe Riga with 304.

Unable to concentrate, for all of us have but one thought, waiting for the reports on Hokie which are to be released after censorship from headquarters, 22 Swanton street. To bring you up to date here are the reports from Sunday, November 11 through Saturday, November 17.

So again we close this column hoping that you all had a very happy Thanksgiving Day.

See you next week.

ST. MARY'S MOTHERS' CLUB

On Wednesday, November 14, the monthly meeting of St. Mary's Mothers' Club was held at St. Mary's Hall.

After the business meeting, which was ably conducted by the president, Elizabeth Iannacci. Father John Manion, our spiritual director, continued his reading of the amusing story, "The Walters Family." He then asked us five penetrating questions on family life. For example: Do you consider a husband's duty finished when he brings home his pay check?

Mr. Bertrand Lewis of Whiting's Milk Co. presented two very interesting movies, "California Missions" and "Boston Old and New."

The hostesses, Chris McDonald and Jean McEwan, assisted by the third-grade mothers served a delicious tea to top off an interesting and enjoyable meeting.

The next meeting will be in January.

HERBERT E. BIXLER

GETS AIRLINES POST

H. E. Bixler, a former resident of Rangeley and more recently of Chappaqua, N. Y., has been appointed assistant to the president of Northeast Airlines, it was announced today by George E. Gardner, president.

Mr. Bixler has been actively associated with management in the New England transportation picture for the past 20 years, holding executive positions with both the New Haven Railroad and later the Boston & Maine. A native of New London, Conn., he is a graduate of Amherst College and holds a master's degree in transportation from Yale University.

WINCHESTER WOMEN ELIGIBLE

Under the 1956 amendments to the Social Security Act, 100 women in Winchester between the ages of 62 and 65 are now available for Old Age and Survivors Insurance payments, according to an estimate of the Cambridge District Social Security Office. Forty of these have already filed their applications and may expect to receive their first checks in December. The law has been written so that those who file at any time within the next year may still have their benefit payments retroactive to November 1956.

Heretofore there has been a uniform age at which benefit payments could start for all beneficiaries other than children and wives or widows with children in their care.

That age was 65; it remains 65 for male beneficiaries. The 1956 amendments to the law, however, lower the age at which women can start getting payments at age 62.

Widows will get the same monthly benefit that they would have started to get at age 65 under the old law.

Wives of retired insured workers and retired working women can, if they chose, start getting benefit payments at age 62. However, the monthly benefit amount payable to them will be somewhat less than the amounts of the benefits they would have received had they waited until age 65.

THE BIG TREK TO HAYWARD'S

It all began last Saturday morning in the early hours of dawn just after 5 o'clock. At that ungodly hour the big Nichols Cadillac, with owner, Harry; son, Kezar; and son-in-law, Donald Dalrymple aboard; pulled into the Franklin yard on Fairmount street.

Readers of last week's Star will recall that there was at publication time prospect of a big trek to Ray Hayward's new home on Great Chebeague Island in Casco Bay, Me., involving George W. Franklin, the "Squire of Fairmount Hill;" his long time buddie, Harry Nichols, and the latter's son and son-in-law, Kezar Nichols and Donald Dalrymple. It had been the concensus of opinion among this little group of thinkers that it would be necessary to leave Winchester shortly after 5 a. m. in order to make the first boat leaving Falmouth Foreside for Great Chebeague.

In discussing plans for the trek it had been "Squire" Franklin who had ademonished his prospective traveling companions to "be on time" Saturday. As a consequence, of course, it was he who kept the party waiting.

When the Nichols "Caddy" huffed onto the Franklin preserves, it was George's good wife, Dora, who blinked a sleepy eye out the window to witness its arrival. The "Squire" was not blinking or doing anything else with his eyes at the moment, except keeping them tightly closed in slumber.

He was, however, quickly alerted to the arrival of his associates, and while he made his toilette with more celerity than is usual for him at 5 of a morning, Kezar Nichols was invading the Franklin galley and preparing a breakfast of sorts against the "Squire's" arrival on the first floor.

He got down stairs in due course of time, broke his fast and with a bit of general small talk that barely preserved the decencies of debate, the party moved slowly from the Franklin domain and headed north at speed.

Now it really must have been at speed, for the big Cadillac roared onto the Casco Bay dock at 7:30 a .m., elapsed time two hours! On the dock the trekers found Otis Leary, long time friend of the Haywards, who had come over from his own week-end place at Pine Point, Me., to join the home town party, and who was upon their arrival holding up the skipper of the Chebeague boat by telling him that his friends would be along "any minute now."

The boat was boarded and the sail out to the island began. The wind blew shrewdly off the water and after ten minutes or so of this brisk salt ozone the "Squire" decided, like the admiral of the "Queen's Navee" to seek the seclusion that a cabin graunts." He did indeed repair to the engine room of the boat, where he was at least warm, though the noise of the diesel motor annoyed him slightly and the salt spray and scud slatting against the windows dimmed his view of "Aunt Tessie's place" on Little Diamond.

The other trekers braved the rigors of the quarter-deck, though Mr. Leary was careful to bundle up against the damp salt air a hack-saw he was taking to Mr. Hayward as a gift.

It might be said in this connection that Mr. Leary, on a previous visit to the Hayward island home, had been called upon to do a bit of hack-saw work, and had found the busted hack-saw blade, without handle, that graced the Hayward tool-box, both irksome to use and downright hard on the hands.

At the dock, on Chebeague, the one entirely without protection for life and limb, the hardy adventurers found awaiting their arrival Mr. Hayward in person, wearing the inscrutable Hayward smile and shepherding a truck to tote his awaited guests to his country acres.

The trip to the picturesque Hayward home was made without incident, and in the doorway of the house, beaming upon their arrival was Goodwife Dorothy, extending a hearty welcome and the offer of eggs and rashers and coffee.

The visitors by-passed the provender with the exception of the coffee, purely in the interest of time. The gaming tables had been setup against their coming and there was work to be done.

At exactly 9 a. m. the boys sat down to the tables and some cut-throat pitch, you know that high, low, jack and the game business that calls for long experience, mental agility and a conscience not too bothered by the necessity for a bit of ethical give and take now and then.

From 9 until 12 noon only the hard breathing of the contestants disturbed the stillness of the Hayward home, broken occasionally by a terse remark from Mr. Hayward or a shrill crow of triumph from the "Squire," who won right from the first.

At noon Dorothy invoked cloture, and the gamesters sat down to a delicious lobster dinner, complete with all the fixin's, even to two enormous hot apple pies with "cracker-barrel cheese."

From the luncheon table the boys returned to their game, which continued until 3:30 with no quarter asked or given.

At 3:30 the game was regretfully called, totals toted and winnings cashed in. "Squire" Franklin was top man, with Mr. Hayward a respectable second. Mr. Leary's place in the standing couldn't be ascertained.

There was one little amenity remaining to be done. Mr. Franklin, as high man, was accorded the honor of disposing of the lobster shells and other garbage attendent upon the mid-day repast. "The Squire" accepted his responsibility with an easy grace that became him well and when Mr. Leary wasn't looking disposed of the offal in a large bag which the unsuspecting Otis carried nearly back to the Main before he became alive to the realities of life.

With no further untoward incident the trekers rejoined their stout car at the dock and set sail for Winchester, arriving home at 7:30 in the evening, after a day well spent.

There is talk of further treks to the north, but the days are advancing and the time is not too far distant when some of these hardy voyageurs will cry out against that ocean-going journey. It looks like next spring to us, before the boys will get together again at Raymie's, but we emphatically wouldn't bet on it!

Representatives of the Department of Public Works visited Winchester Tuesday and inspected the business center with members of the Board of Selectmen and the Chief of Police. Possible danger spots for pedestrians or vehicular traffic were looked over and the possibility of installing stop signs or lights at those spots was discussed. Another suggestion under discussion was the possibility of installing meters on Common street.

BADMINTON HANDICAP TOURNAMENTS ANNOUNCED

With the badminton season in full swing and much interest being shown by club members, both old and new, two interesting handicap tournaments have been arranged by Whit Gray, tournament director and team captain.

Since many husbands and wives play this sport, the first tournament automatically named itself—the Mr. & Mrs. Handicap Tournament. Those not eligible to play in this will have a mixed draw handicap in which they can participate.

The same rules apply to both tournaments. Matches consist of two out of three games played by teams at their convenience during the next month or two. When winners of each tournament are determined, they will be re-handicapped and then play each other for the club handicap championship.

Draw sheets for both these tournaments have already been posted on the badminton club board in the junior high school gym, and Whit Gray wishes to remind all players to check them and set playing dates with their opponents.

These tournaments will in no way interfere with regular play on badminton nights since only one court will be used and that only when it's convenient to do so.

So, come out all you badminton players!

It's every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 p. m. to 11:00 p.m. in the junior high school gym.

RAYNOR — GOODRICH

Of Winchester interest is the marriage which took place at Emmanuel Episcopal Church in West Roxbury on Saturday afternoon, November 17, when Miss Anne Marie Goodrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster Goodrich of West Roxbury, became the bride of Clinton Stuart Raynor, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Stuart Raynor of Washington, D. C., formerly of Winchester. White snapdragons, carnations and Fuji chrysanthemums formed the setting for the 4 o'clock service which was read by the Rev. Charles C. Boyd, Jr.

A reception followed the marriage at the Longwood Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her pale ivory peau de soie gown was fashioned with a portrait neckline appliqued with imported French Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls, short sleeves, a princess bodice and a bouffant skirt with back panels of lace applique extending to a chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion fell from a matching lace cap, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Paul Lebard Goodrich of Hingham was the matron of honor. With her azure blue velveteen princess style gown, she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow Fuji chrysanthemums, bronze pompons and ivy. The bridesmaid were similarly gowned but carried bouquets of bronze Fuji chrysanthemums, yellow pompons and ivy. They were Miss Dorothy K. Sullivan and Miss Grace G. Collins, both of West Roxbury, Miss Nancy L. Bair of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth A. Humphrey of Maplewood, N. J.

REV. WILLIAM R. VALENTINE

SENIOR FORUM

This Sunday Forum will again attend the regular Church Service, when Dr. Cart will speak to them on "The Big Giveaway." The Forum chaplain will be Bob Kugler; the ushers will be George Denton, Doug Gowdy, Richard Niles, Peter Schmink, Bill Schmink, and Hank Schumacher; and the deacons will be Howie Bates, Donald Crede, Danny Dennett. Bill Emerson, Gordon Peil and Brad Ross. The Forum Choir, directed by Mr. Aram Johnian, will sing.

A large attendance is expected at the supper meeting in Chidley Hall. The group is asked to come a half hour earlier than usual, at 5:30, to participate in a service project planned by the Service Committee. Under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Wiklund, they will roll cotton balls for the Winchester District Nursing Association. In charge of the six o'clock supper is Mrs. Erskine H. Kelley, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Arthur Cochran and Mrs. Benjamin Gowing.

Forumites are looking forward to having with them for this meeting Rev. William R. Valentine, Pastor of the First Methodist Church in Wakefield. "Bill" Valentine is an old friend of Forum and the young people would feel that no year's program would be complete if his name was not included in the roster of speakers. His topic will be "My Answer to Christianity."

On Wednesday evening the members of Forum are to be guests of the Men's Club at a catered dinner, followed by an interesting program presented by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, "Perfection Under the Sea."

Last Tuesday the Forum Service Committee, consisting of Martha Fish, Chairman, Judy Murray, Sue Snyder, Roberta Watson, and Janet Woodruff, spent a few hours at the American Friends Service Committee in Cambridge, helping sort clothing to go to refugees in Europe.

SALVATION ARMY TOYTIME

ASKS OLD TOYS FOR NEEDY YOUNGSTERS

Toy Time, a Christmas project for the collection of good toys to be distributed to less fortunate children, was announced today by the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Center with the cooperation of the Shell Oil Company.

From this date until December 17, toys in usable condition may be brought to any Shell Gas Station in this area and deposited in a special container placed there for that purpose by the owner of the Shell Station. The toys will be picked up, renovated, and distributed to the less fortunate children of this area by the Salvation Army.

Winchester's Shell Station in the center closed at the time the overhead construction began in the square and has not as yet opened. Toys may be taken to either of these Woburn Stations, Charles DeRosa, Jr., 529 Main street, or David Russell and Albert Ross, 100 Winn street; to Stoneham Station, Alfred Murphy, 219 Main street; Arlington Station, James R. Delano, 1100 Massachusetts avenue, or Medford Stations, Arelius Wilkes, 107 Middlesex avenue, or John Berberian, 353 Salem street.

These locations are mentioned for your convenience. Toys may be taken to any Shell Station that is easier for prospective donors to reach.

Brigadier R. E. Baggs, Commanding Officer of the Salvation Army Men's Center, stated emphatically today, "In spite of general economic prosperity, there are many, many children in this city who exist on bare necessities, and an almost equal number know gnawing hunger and shiver in ragged clothing. Their parents may be ill, their father may be in prison or an alcoholic. We are determined that these children who are innocent victims of adult misfortunes shall not wake up to heartbreak on Christmas morning. We hope that the people of this community, in the name of their own children, will take usable toys to the nearest Shell Gas Station and thus insure happiness for the less fortunate."

Mr. Elliot Small, Public Relations Director for New England in the Shell Oil Company, said that the Shell Oil Company was happy to cooperate with the Salvation Army in this ToyTime Collection. He praised highly the owners of the local Shell stations who have demonstrated their concern for the entire community by joining in this program.

Toys for ToyTime Collection may be deposited at any hour of the day at your local Shell Station, from now until December 17, when the project closes.

"MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS"

Pointing up the need for your cooperation on his 1956 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun of the Winchester office says if you will follow these three simple rules, all of your gifts can be delivered before Christmas Day: (1) Wrap them securely, (2) Address them correctly, and (3) Mail them early!

Amplifying these rules, the postmaster said, "Avoid the risk of mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy brown wrapping paper, and be sure that every package is tied with strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the shocks.

He also cautioned us that size and weight limitations for parcel post packages vary according to place of mailing and destination, and advises everyone to secure Pamphlet No. 2 at the post office, telling all about packaging and wrapping parcels for mailing, and Pamphlet No. 3, giving complete details on domestic postage rates and fees.

Speaking about correct addressing of Christmas gifts and cards, Mr. Gilgun said: "Be sure your Christmas mailing list is up to date and that you have the complete name, address, zone number, city and state for everyone on your list. Send all your Christmas cards by first-class mail, because they will be processed and delivered quicker, and they'll be forwarded, or returned, if it becomes necessary."

Only Christmas cards sent first-class mail may carry written messages, a custom everyone enjoys. Moreover, Christmas card envelopes smaller that 2¾ in. by 4 in. or larger that 9 in. by 12 in. require hand cancellation, and thus, must carry first-clas postage.

The postmaster urges everyone to secure free labels at the post office marked "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out of Town Delivery." Then, sort your Christmas cards accordingly, tie them in two separate bundles with each address facing the same way, and attach the correct label to each bundle.

Early mailing of all Christmas gifts and cards is the biggest factor in getting everything delivered before Christmas, according to Mr. Gilgun. The whole Christmas mailing period is a battle against time. Delays now in getting your Christmas cards and gift packages to the post office may cause a slow-up all along the line. Then, there's always the danger that commercial shipments and incoming mail will conflict with the outgoing operations.

Postmaster Gilgun says that he is glad to see that many people are getting the Christmas gifts and cards for distant points mailed this week, pointing out that all mail going long distances should be sent before December 10 at the very latest.

Christmas packages for local delivery should be mailed by December 15 and all Christmas cards for nearby destinations by at least a week before Christmas.

COMMUNITY THEATRE PRESENTS SHAW PLAY

Winchester's most ambitious and promising theatre movement will get away to a fast start December 6 and 7 at the Washington School Auditorium on Highland avenue, near the Winchester Hospital, with the presentation of George Bernard Shaw's "Great Catherine" and the prologue of G. B. S. "Androcles and the Lion."

It will be the opening of a series of top entertainments under auspices of the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., and the first of the Theatre Workshop members.

Tom Morse, modest coach of the high school's cross country team which recently ran away with the New England hill and dale crown, will lend his histrionic talents to the task of assuring the quick getaway.

He will play Androcles and his rendition of the role will prove that the acclaim which he has won as coach of speech and drama teams in New England drama festivals is well founded.

An able cast which finds Izzy Battino playing the thorn-lamed lion and Madeline Zimmerman in the role of Magara, Androcles' ever-complaining wife, will make the two opening nights memorable.

The piece de resistance on both nights, of course, will be Shaw's satire on the Great Catherine of Russia. Her premiere's predeliction to vodka as an important ingredient of diplomacy in her day, appears to have had some hand-me-down effects on her Moscow successors.

Norma Merenda plays Catherine. Her success in amateur dramatics in her native Florida and her enthusiastic support of the Winchester movement are matched only by her charm and talents.

Patomkin, her leading man, will be in the capable hands of James Hintlian, who loves to "clown it up" as witness his successes with the Arlington Friends of the Drama.

The English captain and his fiancee are played by two newcomers to Winchester amateur productions, George and Natalie Appleton. The abused sergeant, who comes to know the pangs of unappreciated devotion, will be played by Chairman Larry Smith of the all-important dump committee.

Peggy Pettingill, playing Princess Dashoff, has taken time from her pressing duties as chairman of the hospital service to learn the neat intricacies of being a frolic partner to Catherine the Great.

Pretty Esta Pena, whose portrayal of Anastasia was outstanding, plays Varinka with charm.

Others in the cast of Catherine include Betty Hintlian, Eve and Arthur Twombly, Charles Buchanan, and Dan Keleher.

On the whole the cast is a wonderful example of the talent Winchester is developing in one of the most appealing of the arts.

Sheila Goldes is directing "Catherine" and Carlene Samoiloff the Androcles scene.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE LAUNCHED

The Winchester Community Theatre officially launched its membership campaign at a Morning Coffee held at the home of Mrs. Alexander Samiloff, on Highland avenue. In attendance were members of the Theatre Board of Directors and Membership committee members. Plans were outlined for a most promising and entertaining season. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "The Great Catherine," Boris Goldovsky's personal appearance in Winchester in "The Secret Marriage" and a Children's Theatre School performance to be presented in the Spring were the outstanding productions listed. Mrs. W. Rogers Hamel, Membership Chairman, introduced the following members of her committee:

Mrs. Herbert Grant, Mrs. Vincent Simeone, Mrs. Alexander Aitken, Mrs. Guy Livingstone, Mrs. Joseph Butler, Mrs. John Fox, Arlington; Mrs. Henry Magno, Miss Alice Main, Mrs. Donald K. Lewis, Mrs. A. J. Connell, Mrs. Paul Dudley White, Belmont; Mrs. Henry C. Marcionette, Mrs. James C. Marchant, Mrs. Ferdinand Martignetti, Mrs. Ronald King and Mrs. James T. Hintlian.

Season tickets are on sale now and may be obtained from any of the above members. There is great enthusiasm in all local circles in anticipation of Boris Goldovsky's Winchester appearance. It promises to be an unforgettable date on the town's cultural calendar. Community Theatre members will, of course, have priority in the ticket sale for this event which is scheduled for March 9, at the High School Auditorium, Winchester.

Also remember the first play "Great Catherine" and prologue of "Androcles and Lion"—both by George Bernard Shaw—on December 6 and 7, at the Washington School at 8:30 p. m.

Tickets are available for this or membership—from Mrs. Hamel, the Winchester Trust Co. Bank, or Winchester Cooperative Bank.

TEA AT THE KIMBALL ARMS HOME

On Monday, November 19, a delightful tea was held at the interesting home of Mrs. William C. Kimball, 221 Cambridge road, Woburn.

Mrs. Kimball had graciously invited the Winchester Branch Auxiliary of the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to meet at her house. Everyone enjoyed the unusual surroundings and the beautiful tea-table arrangement.

A good attendance showed much enthusiasm for our cause.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Albert O. Pollard, director of Education of the American Humane Education Society. He told of his experiences in talking to schools and groups of young people, and a room at 180 Longwood avenue, Boston, the headquarters building, where classes, and Girl and Boy Scouts may come and see pictures and hear a talk about first aid to animals and related subjects. He showed a few posters that were received during "Be Kind to Animals Week."

It is of great importance that all children be taught while young what it means to be kind to all living creatures.

Prevention is the "key" word. When children learn prevention of cruelty by actively being kind, they will have regard for human suffering as well.

He said that it is good for children to have pets, but parents should always supervise their care; it is good for them to have some responsibility, but it is easy for them to overlook something, water, for instance.

Teachers in all schools have a great opportunity to instill humane instincts in the very young. Only a few wise words can do much good, and will not take time out of a crowded day. We do not see many animals in suburban life, but all people are dependent on animal life even if it is not around us. It would be a sad and uninteresting world without our pets and live stock.

Teach kindness early and often.

When violence broke out in the Middle East and in Hungary, the people of the world looked to the UN to call the police. BUT---

Sir Anthony Eden, Broadcast—November 3, 1956

"We have stepped in because the United Nations couldn't do so in time. If the United Nations will take over this police action we shall welcome it."

Under the Charter the UN can only obtain forces from the member nations. The member nations have never put any of their forces at the continuous disposal of the UN. The UN should have a permanent World Police Force of its own.

Hungarian Freedom Station Broadcast—Nov. 3, 1956

"The Soviet Army is attempting to crush our troubled hearts. Their tanks and guns are roaring over Hungarian soil. Save our souls. SOS...SOS."

The UN has no force adequate to deal with a major power. It has no prospect of creating such a force until it can enforce real disarmament on all nations alike. Meanwhile, it can do little more than mobilize world moral opinion. If the Soviets fail to respond to this, Hungary is doomed.

Lester Pearson, in the UN—November 1, 1956

"I would like to see a provision authorizing the Secretary General to begin to make arrangements with member Governments for a United Nations force large enough to keep these (Egyptian-Israeli) borders at peace. My own government would be glad to recommend Canadian participation in such a United Nations force, a truly international peace and police force."

There is now a UN emergency Police Force in Egypt to restore order. This is a great achievement. Nevertheless, a "truly peace and police force" should enforce law on individuals as well as nations, so that the police need not go to war to stop war.

Secretary Dulles, in the UN—November 1, 1956

"I think that we should, and hope that we shall, give our most earnest thought to the problem of how we can do more to establish and implement the principles of justice and international law."

Peace with justice under law requires an international court empowered to try offenders, and to order binding settlements when international disputes threaten the peace.

President Eisenhower, Broadcast—October 31, 1956

"I am ever more deeply convinced that the processes of the United Nations need further to be developed and strengthened . . . There can be no peace without law . . . The passionate longing for peace on the part of all peoples of the earth compels us to speed our search for new and more effective instruments of justice."

We believe that the President spoke for the American people, and the people of all the world.

CALL FOR THE NEXT STEPS!

1. The Emergency United Nations Police Force must be developed into a Permanent United Nations Police Force.
2. The UN Police must be able to take offenders to a UN court.
3. The United Nations Disarmament Commission must speed negotiations for safe, inspectable and enforceable disarmament.
4. The UN Charter must be amended as soon as possible to give the UN the power it needs to secure peace.

CALL UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS!

Since 1947 UWF has directed attention to the developing world crisis and these essential measures to secure world peace. We hope our Call for the Next Steps will now be heeded. Send now for our up to date booklet giving more details.

For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure."
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (287:27): "The five material senses testify to truth and error as united in a mind both good and evil. THANKSGIVING AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Testimonies of gratitude for blessings brought by a spiritual understanding of God and man were a feature of the Thanksgiving service held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester.
"Thanksgiving" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon read from the desk. Especially prepared for the day, it consisted of selections from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.
Divine Truth by Haydn and Processional in D by Dubois were played as an organ prelude, and the service was opened by the congregation singing Hymn No. 283 in the Christian Science Hymnal.
Mr. Donald Greer, the First Reader, then read the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by the President of the United States.
Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon was the Golden Text from Psalms (69:30): "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving."
The postlude was Toccata in D Minor by Bach.

LINCOLN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

When the hubbub of Thanksgiving is all over and the only problem you have left is whether to make hash or soup out of the left over turkey, won't you come to the Mothers' Meeting on Tuesday, November 27, at 3:00 p. m.?
By popular vote we are having a Health Program in which the children of the school will participate.
One of our leading pediatricians, Dr. Donald McLean, will address us on "Accidents in Childhood." Dr. McLean has revised his appointment schedule in order to talk to us and we hope for a 100% attendance.
To wind up this interesting program, Mrs. Neil Borden, a retiring member of the Scholarship Foundation, will give a short outline of the activities of the Foundation.
As usual our Social Committee will have refreshments and all children three years through first grade will be well supervised in the kindergarten.
May we count on your presence?

"LADIES IN RETIREMENT" BY UNITARIAN PLAYERS

Edward Percy and Reginald Denham's "Ladies in Retirement" provided the Unitarian Players with a splendid opportunity for mood interpretation and characterization in their offering at Metcalf Hall last Friday and Saturday. The play has many moments rich in dramatic possibilities, and many of these were exploited to the full by a cast that on the whole did an excellent job. I felt that the audience was gratified, and appreciative of a good evening's entertainment.

At the rise of the curtain a superbly contrived set testified to the efforts of Stephen Morang and Edward S. Read, Jr., and their able crew. The effect was complete even to the shadows so artfully rendered, which gave the aged-in-the-wood appearance of a pre-Tudor mansion on the Thames. Particularly commendable was the angled fireplace wall, which showed an original treatment. The furnishings, too, were entirely in keeping and a credit to Mrs. Arthur Cabot and her committee. The set seemed perfectly livable, in fact, unusually so, except for the placement of the piano, which undoubtedly was due to the limitations of stage space, and probably presented a difficulty which defied solution.

The costumes seemed to be authentic for the period, and the hats were especially charming; the makeup was expertly done, and Miss Ellen Creed's make-up in the last act was most commendable. In the last act the blue lighting during the "ghost" scene was extremely effective, and in general the lighting was good, though during other scenes, in Act I notably, the dimming occurred a little too early to achieve maximum effect.

As the attractive maid, Adele Jonah was breezy and pert and altogether charming. David Holsworth as the scheming, rascally embezzler was at his best in the scenes with Adele, and in the final scene with his aunt when he takes his precipitate departure. He showed a great deal of competence in stage movement, as did Miss Jonah, whose dramatic final exit was truly convincing.

Mrs. Jane Renz, as Leonora Fiske, her first appearance, I understand, in a dramatic production, showed at times considerable zest; she created her best effects when portraying the remnants of her colorful past. Her appearance, make-up and manner contributed greatly to her characterization.

One of the strongest members of the cast was Mrs. Paulett Taggart as Ellen Creed; her performance was moving and sincere as well as played on varied emotional levels.

We cannot imagine a more delightful contrast than that provided by the two "pathetic" sisters, as played by Miss Suzanne Reed and Mrs. Elizabeth Shepard. As the playwright intended, the interplay between these two was exploited to the fullest, and Mrs. Shepard's mobile face was the signal for many a laugh in many a situation; likewise Miss Reed's sensitive and sincere portrait of a "fey" spirit was extremely touching. These two deserve special commendation.

Marion Black as Sister Theresa was appropriately costumed, and sweetly serious, though her performance in "Family Portrait" as Hepzibah seemed to this writer superior to her Sister Theresa, except in the first act. Special mention should also be made of the sound effects which were in the charge of Bradford Darling. These were mentioned by a great many in the audience as being outstandingly good; the rain and wind, the rumbling of the wagon, the hissing of boiling food, all were downright believable. Director Robert Hazeltine can feel that he has achieved an excellent production with some truly masterful touches. The performance showed considerable attention to detail, consistent direction, and concern with tone and tempo. The teamwork of cast, crew, director and assistants was evidenced by the thoroughly enjoyable and creditable presentation, which compares favorably with another production of this play recently seen by this writer.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Winchester Historical Society met in the Art Gallery of the Public Library on Tuesday, November 13. Mr. Frank E. Crawford, the president, conducted a brief business meeting and then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Marshall W. Symmes of Winchester. Mr. Symmes gave the Society an illustrated lecture, "Historic Shrines and Battle Sites," with slides in color photographed by Mr. and Mrs. Symmes on their travels in Europe and throughout the United States.

Starting in Rome at the Arch of Titus, in the Colosseum, shadow of the Colosseum, the speaker followed the march of the Roman Legions through Western Europe, to the Rhine and into France. In France, he showed scenes of modern war memorials from the First and Second World Wars. Returning to this continent, starting at St. Augustine, the oldest town, the pictures took us from Concord Bridge through the Revolutionary battles of Bennington, Saratoga and Crown Point to Yorktown; the Civil War Period, starting at Fort Sumter through the battles of Lookout Mountain and Gettysburg to Appomattox. Mr. Symmes brought us home to New England with a beautiful slide of Mt. Chocorua, a familiar and well-loved sight. The Historical Society gives grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Symmes for sharing with us their colorful and interesting experiences.

TROOP 1 CHARTER NIGHT

Before a large gathering of relatives and friends, the Boy Scouts of Troop 1 were presented their Charter by Scout Executive, Francis MacFeeley, on Wednesday evening, November 14, at the Noonan School Hall.

President Richard Rogers, of the Winchester Lions Club, the Troop 1 sponsors, accepted the Charter for the Scouts, stating that the Lions are proud to sponsor such a fine group of boys.

Winchester's Superintendent of Schools Harry V. Gilson then spoke briefly on the value of the Boy Scout to the community and to the individual himself. Miss Minnetta M. Jurgenson, principal of the Noonan School, stated that she is proud to have the Scouts as students in her school. Miss Jurgenson was made an Honorary Scout of Troop 1.

Other guests present at the Charter presentation were Boy Scout Commissioner, William Wickwire; Ken Hall, of the Boy Scouts Board of Review; Rocco W. DeTeso, John Campbell, John Kenton, who were Boy Scouts of Troop 1 under "Staff" Rogers. "Staff," who is being called "the grandfather of Troop 1" was unable to be present owing to a previous engagement.

The pins were awarded by Scoutmaster Michael D. Saraco and he was assisted by Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Fiore.

Refreshments, which included cider and doughnuts, were served during the social hour, which followed.

VISITED WINCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton S. Raynor (Dorothy Peterson) of Washington, D. C., were in town last weekend after attending the marriage of their son, Clinton, Jr., to Miss Anne Marie Goodrich of West Roxbury on Saturday afternoon, November 17, at Emmanuel Episcopal Church in West Roxbury.

The bridegroom's father, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clinton L. Raynor, formerly of Maxwell road, grew up in Winchester, graduating from Winchester High School in 1919 and from Dartmouth College in 1923. He is now associated with Woodward & Lothrop in Washington as vice president in charge of branch stores. He and Mrs. Raynor looked up a number of old friends while in town and were headed for an impromptu reunion with several 1919 classmates when seen by the Editor.

URGES SPIRITUAL BASIS FOR TRUE PEACE

Lasting peace must have a spiritual basis, and therefore can be reached only as people learn to know God better, Harry B. MacRae told an audience in Wakefield Sunday afternoon.

Mr. MacRae spoke in the First Congregational Church, Wakefield, under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. His lecture was entitled "Christian Science: Bringer of Peace."

Tracing peace to a source much deeper than its surface appearances, Mr. MacRae described it as being essentially spiritual in nature.

He maintained that in order to find durable peace and keep it individually and collectively, humanity must turn squarely to the spiritual source of peace—in other words, to the divine Mind or God.

The way to understand the spiritual basis of peace, Mr. MacRae maintained, is through learning the truth about God and man, as revealed in the Bible—particularly the teachings of Christ Jesus—and in Christian Science. In its deepest sense, said Mr. MacRae, peace is a characteristic, or attribute, of the divine Mind who is God—and, to be permanently experienced by man, it must be a state of consciousness received from God.

The way to peace, he told the audience, lies therefore in gaining a correct view of God and of man.

It was this awareness of spiritual facts which made Jesus able to calm a storm, Mr. MacRae stated.

"It is this correct view of ourselves and of our fellow man as children of God that enables us to heal the sick and to restore the sinner in this present time," he said.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT COUPLES CLUB

The next meeting of the Wednesday Night Couples' Club of the First Congregational Church will be a barn dance to be held November 30, from 8:30 - 12: p. m., at the Kelsey Ranch, 145 Spring street, Lexington.

There'll be fun for all—dancing to Dick Steele, games, and eats. There is necessarily a limited reservation, so be sure to make your reservation early by calling Marie Millican, WInchester 6-2203.

ON OPERA COMMITTEE

Mrs. Charles Abbott of 155 High street has been named local ticket chairman for "Amahl and the Night Visitors" the Menotti opera to be presented by the Boston Lyric Theatre in Lincoln on December 8. The performance is sponsored by the deCordova Museum in Lincoln.

In addition to "Amahl," the program will include a concert by "The Cavaliers" male quartet, acclaimed one of New England's most talented quartets.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

Wednesday, November 28, is the date for the next meeting of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church. The club has invited the members of the Senior Forum to be their guests for the dinner and entertainment on that evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 in Chidley Hall.

Forum night is always one of the most popular meetings of the season and the program for this meeting will undoubtedly attract an unusually large gathering.

The club is fortunate to be one of the first organizations to present "Perfection Under the Sea," a demonstration of the transatlantic telephone cable. This demonstration by Mr. Paul McMenimen of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, graphically describes an unparalleled international peacetime undertaking.

The audience will have an opportunity to see an electrically controlled map of the cable route and an interesting display of the cable construction. In addition, the group may examine samples of the various types of cable used to complete this underwater communication pathway.

The talk will also include "Voices Beneath the Sea," a Technicolor film dramatization of this historic project. This popular science demonstration dramatically portrays the contributions of this latest miracle of telephony to the economy and security of New England and the nation.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN

The November meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester met on Friday, November 23. Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox was hostess to the members. Mrs. Harold Jones and Mrs. Clarence A. Perkins poured and the Social Committee served dessert. Mrs. Theodore Browne, President presided.

Evaluation of the Election was presented by Rep. Harrison Chadwick. From his long experience in the General Court he could explain many of the mysteries of the past election. Many questions were asked and received a ready answer. All came away with the will to push forward toward bigger and better efforts for the Republican Party.

CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE

The General Meeting of the Church Service League of the Parish of the Epiphany will be held on Tuesday, November 27, at 12 o'clock noon in the Parish Hall. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Lawrence Churchill who will tell about her book "The Bible for my Grandchildren." A copy of this book was sent to the royal family in England and is read to Prince Charles and Princess Anne. Illustrations from the book will be on display.

NEW RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT CENTER

Smith, president of the division.

The Research and Advanced Development Division of Avco, one of the 100 largest manufacturing corporations for defense and industry in the country, was organized 14 months ago. At present it is concerned largely with research and development of advanced missile systems for the Department of Defense.

Temporarily, the division is located in Lawrence and at the Avco Research Laboratory in Everett. Both these facilities and research departments from several other Avco divisions will be housed permanently in the ultramodern, functional center at Wilmington. The new plant is expected to be ready for occupancy by mid-1958.

DECEMBER 2 CHOSEN!

Mrs. Sylvester Horne pointed out at the area captain's meeting that December 2, is Retarded Children's Day in Massachusetts. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children, the day has been set aside for a house to house campaign to collect funds for the states 140,000 mentally retarded children.

For hundreds of years, the mentally retarded were either considered hopeless, or not considered at all. Today, after centuries of neglect and abuse, the problems of this cruel affliction are being recognized and combatted by the parents of its victims, physicians, educators, social workers and an enlightened public.

Pilot programs for retarded children have demonstrated that the great majority of these unfortunate youngsters can be trained to develop their limited mentality. Through proper diagnosis, care counseling and training, these boys and girls are learning to become happy, self-sufficient citizens.

The services and facilities provided by the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children though the local group, the East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children, are helping the victims of retardation to find a place in society where they can function to the full extent of their capabilities.

Nursery training classes, vocational training courses, sheltered workshops and recreational programs sponsored by the association, are helping to give to the retarded the chance for the "good life" which is the inherent right of every citizen of our nation.

Mental retardation is the largest single handicapping condition which afflicts our children. Give the innocent victims of this heart-rending condition the chance they deserve as human beings. Have your generous contribution ready when your neighbor calls at your home on their behalf.

CHANGES IN YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Gerald J. Murphy
Manager of the Cambridge
Social Security Office

Under the old social Security law, benefit payments to a child ended when the child reached 18. For most children, this provision still holds. A change in the law, however, now provides for the payment of benefits under certain conditions to a disabled child after age 18 if the child became totally disabled before age 18.

To be eligible for child's benefits after age 18, the child must be unmarried, and be dependent on a parent, step-parent, or adopting parent who is eligible for old-age insurance benefits, or who was insured for the purpose of survivors benefits at the time of his or her death. The mother of the child is also eligible for monthly benefit payments as long as she continues to have the disabled child in her care.

I say "child" because the child's benefit payments under this provision in the amended law are based on a disability which became total before the child's 18th birthday. However, the benefits continue indefinitely into adult years as long as the beneficiary remains totally disabled. Moreover, it is not necessary that the recipient of disabled child's benefits have any work record at all under social security in order to get these monthly payments.

In writing the provision for disabled child's benefits into the amended law, Congress gave recognition to a well-known fact. Disabled children are as dependent on their parents after attaining age 18 as before and therefore it was felt that it was important to fill this gap in the Federal insurance program by providing benefits for children who would not be able to support themselves.

We all realize the distressing and serious situation faced by people who have the care of a child who because of a mental deficiency never grows up, or who because of a physical impairment requires constant care throughout life. The concern of these parents is the more acute because they are constantly haunted by the spectre of uncertainty—what will happen to the child when the usual family income is cut off by the death or retirement of the family breadwinner.

Parents of children who are now disabled should get in touch with the social security office 2 Trowbridge street, Cambridge. The first payments to disabled children 18 or over, whose disability became total before they reached age 18 will be for January 1957. However, no monthly payments for the child and for the mother with the child in her care will be lost if application for the benefits is made before the end of January 1958, because payments can go back for as many as 12 months before the month in which an application is made.

It is well to realize that this program of social insurance is now three-fold—it provides old-age benefits for men at age 65 and for women at age 62; it provides survivor protection for young wives and minor children and to aged parents and dependent husbands; it provides benefits to the insured disabled worker after he reaches age 50. These and other changes in the law which affect the working population and the nation's families in general are described in special leaflets available at any district office of the Social Security Administration.

CHILDREN'S TV PERSONALITY TO GREET SANTA

Captain Kangaroo will herald the opening of the Christmas season in the annual Grover Cronin Santa Parade this coming Sunday at 2 p. m. He is seen daily over Station WNAC-TV at 8 a. m. The captain will act as honorary marshal of the parade.

SANTA TO ARRIVE IN WALTHAM BY HELICOPTER SUNDAY AT 2 P. M.

Thousands of youngsters of all ages are anxiously awaiting the return of Santa Claus back to his favorite holiday location! Looking forward with much delight to his return, Santa has chosen a new mechanized sleigh, the helicopter, to speed his travels. You'll be as eager as Santa, when everyone turns out to welcome the old gentleman from the North Pole.

Awaiting Santa's arrival this year will be a very special Honorary Marshal of the Parade, none other than Captain Kangaroo, famous children's TV personality, seen coast to coast and locally through WNAC-TV every morning at 8:00 a. m. Captain Kangaroo (so called because his enormous magic pockets in the famous jacket bulge with many exciting things that delight all the children), is a modern Pied Piper who guards a treasure house full of fun and wonderful surprises. His live pet lamb which has become one of his "trade marks" will also make an appearance at the colorful parade.

Santa will land at the Reece Corporation on Prospect street in Waltham at 2:00 p. m. And to make him really feel at home, we've arranged to have eight live reindeer waiting to carry Santa along the parade route, starting at Reece Corporation on Prospect street, over Main street and down Moody street to the Grover Cronin Store. Chief John Steed will then assist Santa to the chimney on the roof top of the Grover Cronin Store, with the aid of a hook and ladder. Amid welcoming cheers, Santa and his reindeer will set out along the parade route, escorted by a dazzling array of floats, marching units and clowns. Phi Beta Kappa trained dogs from the Weston Dog Ranch return as one of the most unusual features of the parade, under the direction of Lee Schulman. A special 8-hitch pony brigade will be another exciting feature to thrill the children along the line of march.

Throngs of spectators will crowd together along Prospect street, Main and Moody street as Santa and his entourage take over the town. Store windows, roofs of parked cars, and every available vantage point will be packed with Christmas-happy people, both young and old! The Santa Claus Parade promises to be the biggest, brightest and most fun parade of them all—packed full with color and excitement!

Herb Taylor, nationally famous clown, will be along for the ride to delight the crowds as they wait for the arrival of the parade. He'll be in front of the store to make everyone delighted with his antics. Old-fashioned bicycles and antique automobiles will be rolling along the parade route. The Waltham Mounted Auxiliary Police will also take place in this annual event.

Mayor Paul V. Shaughnessy, one of the guests of honor at the Santa Parade, will officially welcome Santa to Waltham on his arrival at the Grover Cronin Store.

Some of the many units which will participate are: The 301st Field Artillery Battalion of the 94th Infantry Division; Waltham High School Band; Watertown High School Band; Mansfield High School Band, Mansfield; Waltham American Legion Band; The Assumption Drill Team, East Boston; Milton Grenadiers, Milton; Wakefield Redmen Band, Wakefield; Scottish Highlanders Band, Brookline; Blessed Sacrament Drill Team, Cambridge; Christ Episcopal Cadets, Quincy; St. Thomas More Drum & Bugle Corps, Braintree; Holy Trinity Cadets, Boston; Braintree Warriors, Braintree; St. Anthony's Drill Team, Allston; President Drill Team, Quincy.

Extra police will be on hand to handle the crowds which form along the line of march.

D. A. R.

The Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., met at the home of Mrs. Clifton W. McNeill on Monday, November 19. Dessert and coffee were served by Mrs. John B. Wills and her committee.

The opening service was led by the chaplain, Mrs. Raymond C. Strawbridge. She incorporated a selection from Dr. Norman Vincent Peale which was most appropriate to the Thanksgiving season.

Due to the illness of the regent, Mrs. Hiram F. Moody, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, vice regent, presided.

Every November the members make contributions of gifts and money for Hillside School for Boys in Marlborough, Mass. This is a D.A.R.-approved school, home and farm for 56 boys, ages 7 to 14. A basket of gaily-wrapped packages and money will go to the school through Mrs. Chandler W. Symmes, chairman of approved schools.

When the meeting adjourned Mrs. Dorothy S. Waterhouse was presented. "Documentary Wall Paper" was her subject, and a fascinating one it was. From a hobby of collecting old pieces of wall paper from old houses she has now become an authority on the subject. With infinite care these samples were taken from under many layers, to be preserved by her. Wall paper was first used in about 1500, beginning with black stencil on white and progressing to color and more intricate design. Paper and material in authentic patterns have been developed by her and are for sale. Her program was most interesting and instructive to all present.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB

As previously announced the first concert of the 16th season will be presented on Saturday night, December 15. This is the annual winter concert and will follow its pattern of all previous winter concerts with program emphasis being placed on music of the Christmas season.

The program being rehearsed is rapidly taking shape under the able directors, Allen C. Lannom and his assistant, Wendell S. Withington.

One of the happiest events on the club agenda is the presentation of a Christmas program to the family of the Winchester Home for Aged People. This has been a custom ever since the club's founding in 1940.

In passing it might be noted that on the evening of November 15 the club sang before the Everett Chamber of Commerce in Everett and on the evening of November 17 presented a program in the Woburn Public Library to help commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Woburn Combined Services Club consisting of the Rotarians, the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs. Each program was presented in the club's usual able and pleasing manner.

It is suggested that all sponsoring members and prospective members send in their applications now as the time is getting short to have their names included in the club's concert program of sponsoring members.

It is getting nearer and nearer Christmas. Have you ordered your Christmas cards yet? See the assortment at the Winchester Star, Star Building.

PRATT AIDED DARTMOUTH vs CORNELL

Dave Pratt, who formerly quarterbacked football teams for Coach Henry Knowlton at Winchester High School, and who has been waiting his chance as a sub-fullback at Dartmouth for the past two years, got his chance last Saturday in the Big Green's defeat of the Big Red of Cornell, 27-14, at Ithaca, N. Y.

Dave, a 195 pound junior, hasn't seen too much action the past two seasons, having had the misfortune to be playing behind one of Dartmouth's finest backs, Bob Rex. However, the big Winchester boy has staid in there trying and his spirit paid off last week-end.

With Rex out of the going with a bad Charley horse, Pratt stepped into the breach and turned in two fine runs, one of 57 yards on a Cornell pass interception and the other of 42 yards after taking a Rovero forward. In neither case did Dave score, but his thrilling runs set up scores and his fine work was loudly acclaimed by the Dartmouth rooters at the game.

Dave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Pratt of Salisbury street, has another year of Dartmouth football ahead of him, and is expected to be a pretty valuable piece of backfield material another autumn. He is really big now and should help the Indian plenty. Ugh, heap good man!

BRUSH FIRES

A series of brush fires has kept the town firefighters running these last few days as many Winchesterites burned their fallen leaves. Chief Callahan warns residents to be careful when burning leaves to prevent the fire from spreading.

A fire of brush and rubbish near a house at 30 South Gateway was extinguished Thursday afternoon. At 11:55 a. m. Friday box 621 was rung for a leaf fire at 52 Lorena road, and at 4:16 firefighters were called to 12 Baldwin for a similar blaze for which box 34 was rung in. A leaf and grass fire at 24 Grove street which had spread from an incinerator was doused at 5:30 Friday afternoon.

A ladder truck and an engine from Arlington, in concurrence with a reciprocal aid agreement with Winchester while work is progressing in the center, helped cover a brush fire which had spread to the back of the garage at the Locke home on Ridge street at 11:46 a. m. Saturday morning. Box 143 was rung in for this fire.

At 1:51 Saturday afternoon firefighters extinguished a brush fire at 23 Stevens street, and Box 35 was rung at 5:25 p. m. for a fire at the Town Dump which had started from a load of leaves which had been dumped with some hot ashes.

SENIORS WIN PLAY NIGHT TITLE

A busy program of dramatics highlighted the week-end at Winchester High School. Last Saturday afternoon the high school played host to several schools as part of the New England Theatre Conference, Secondary School Division.

During the afternoon one act, student directed plays were presented by Durfee High School, Beverly High School and Newton High School. Later in the day WHSR presented a special panel of student directors in a discussion of directing problems in the high school. The program was moderated by Mr. Morse of the Winchester faculty. About 75 of the visitors stayed for supper served by Miss Locke, cafeteria manager.

The feature of the day was the presentation of "One Act Play Night" in the Memorial Auditorium. The students of Winchester presented four one act plays in competition, with each class having their own play directed by a senior student who specializes in drama as part of the speech curriculum.

The freshmen presented a delightful comedy "The Ring and the Look" and did a particularly fine job in stage grouping and timing. Gardner Gray and Nancy Stone were fine in individual roles with comedy being handled quite ably by Bill Lamarche.

A most unusual vehicle "The Lost Elevator" was the sophomore contribution to the program. This play takes place entirely in an elevator and calls for very clever staging. The directors and the cast did a most competent job and the audience throughly enjoyed the production. Lynda Baker gave promise of being a fine actress with her role of the elevator operator.

The seniors had a melodrama "High Window." This is a show of suspense and it was handled very well by a very eager class. Sarah Jane Woodward did a competent job in the lead role and was supported by a fine cast throughout.

The junior presented the clever farce comedy "Cracked Ice." This play gave the audience a continuous series of laughs. Standouts in this production were Don Seaver as Elmer Backlash and Susan Simpson in a delightful role calling for all pantomime as Beautiful.

After all plays were produced the judges retired to the lounge to make their decisions. After all the tallies were completed the judges returned to the stage. Mr. Morse introduced the judges to the audience. They were chairman, Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, President of the Winchester Community Theatre, Mr. John McLaughlin of the High School English Dept., and Dan Doherty, a member of the Senior class.

Mrs. Samoiloff spoke briefly about the One Act Play Night and congratulated all players and the Curtain and Cue organization. She then announced the All Star Cast as follows:

Peter Dee, as Walter Hodge in the Senior Play.

Carol Leverone as Judith Ware in the Senior Play.

Donald Seaver as Elmer Backlash—Junior Play.

Sarah Woodward as Emily in the Senior Play.

Best director was awarded to Nancy Towle and her assistant Cindy Dunn of the Senior play.

The best play of the night was "High Window" presented by the Seniors.

An excellent crowd of nearly 500 saw the four plays and the enthusiasm of the audience indicated the popularity of the feature event of the high school dramatic club, Curtain and Cue.

VICTORY DANCE NICE PARTY

Over 600 teenagers from Winchester and Woburn High Schools attended the Annual Victory Dance after the big Thanksgiving holiday football game, held this year for the first time in the new high school gym.

The gym was attractively decorated in the colors of the two schools, a big Woburn banner being displayed at one end of the gym and a Winchester banner at the other. Very effective lighting made the decorations even more pleasing and added to the enjoyment of the dancers. Ray Allen and his 11 piece band played.

The Winchester cheer-leaders under Rita Amico, Judy Madden and Ann Flaherty planned and executed the decorations. Al Thorne and Brian McCormack handled the coke bar.

Fred McCormack of McCormack's Apothecary, handled arrangements for the dance and presented the four trophies won by players on both teams during the game in the forenoon.

Woburn's two Charles T. Foley Memorial Awards for best Woburn lineman and back in the game went to Captain Bill Spolidoro, center, and Joe McGilvary, fullback. Winchester's right halfback, Cosimo Paonessa, was awarded the McCormack Trophy for best Winchester back and the Hevey Award for best Winchester lineman went to Neil Kerrigan, left guard. All were present to receive their trophies and were loudly applauded by the dancers.

Proceeds from the dance, after expenses are paid, will go to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS PRESENT SPRING RECITAL

Elementary school pupils will present a recital of stringed instruments in the auditorium of the Washington School on the evening of Tuesday December 4. The program will begin at 7:30, and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend. Mr. Theodore Janner, assistant supervisor of music, has announced that some fifteen young musicians will participate in this the first in a series of recitals planned for the present school year.

During the past few years the program of instruction in stringed instruments has been considerably expanded in the Winchester schools. Regular class instruction is conducted. In addition, a number of the pupils are studying privately. Mrs. Carl Thomas, Mr. John Woodworth, and Mr. Robert Brunton, through their private instruction, have assisted in the training of several of the children who will play next Tuesday. Mr. Wendell Withington, director of Music for the Winchester schools, will offer a piano interlude as part of the evening's program.

GET STATION PERMITS

The Boston and Maine Railroad has been granted permits to wreck and remove Winchester and Wedgemere Stations and to erect new station buildings at these locations.

The Winchester Station is to be a two-story brick and granite structure to be built against the retaining walls of the tracks. The first floor will contain a waiting room, ticket office, room for the storage of mail, a heater room, and toilet facilities.

A stairway will lead from this room to the second floor, which will be at track level and will contain a large heated and lighted waiting room with seats.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT GROWS

In a report recently submitted to the Town Planning Board, the Winchester School Committee reviewed school building needs for the next five years. The Committee pointed out that accelerated growth in school enrollments will make these needs felt earlier than had been anticipated.

It will come as something of a surprise to many people to learn that school enrollments in Winchester have increased more than 40 per cent in the past seven years. Furthermore it is anticipated that a fairly rapid growth in the Town's population may expand enrollments substantially above present figures.

The effects of this expansion are being felt most acutely at the Senior High School level, where the increased birth rate beginning in the early 1940's is now being reflected in enrollments beyond the capacity of the building. The Senior High School registered 737 pupils in 1949, compared with this year's enrollment of 1,000 which is taxing the classroom capacity of the building. It was originally estimated that additional building needs for the High School were several years away, but the Committee's report indicates that more classrooms will be needed as soon as they can be provided to accommodate steadily increasing enrollments.

In another part of its report the Committee noted that anticipated growth in the western section of the Town may necessitate construction of a new elementary school for occupancy in 1959 or 1960. Plans for large scale housing projects plus normal residence construction in that area are expected to cause a sharp expansion in elementary school enrollments in the next two or three years considerably beyond the capacity of the Parkhurst School.

CHRISTMAS SEALS!

This past week Winchester residents received from the Middlesex Health Association their annual envelopes of the famous double-barred Christmas seals. Returns should be made to Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth, 43 Lawson road, treasurer of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee. Mr. Sherman Russell is Chairman of the Committee.

Last year residents in this area received 6,146 chest x-rays through the Association's screening clinics. Chest x-ray surveys were provided to protect Winchester families, food handlers, older age groups, and school children. Every purchase of Christmas seals—those gay little holiday seals with the double-barred cross, the boy and girl standard bearers for 1956—makes possible the year-round program of the local committee and Middlesex Health Association. It does even more, for it offers those who buy the seals a weapon to strike against this personal and community menace—tuberculosis.

These Christmas seals — like those in the picture—have become a Winchester tradition. Response to them has given this town a unique place in willingness to help control tuberculosis, to carry out the unwritten message behind the seals—"No one is safe until All are safe."

PARKWAY PARKING RESTRICTED

The Metropolitan District authorities have notified the owners of cars parked on the easterly side of the Parkway, the side nearest the senior and junior high schools between Mystic avenue and Washington street, that parking will no longer be permitted there.

Parking on the Parkway will now be limited to the westerly side of the street and the Metropolitan District officials made it clear that during snow storms no parking will be permitted on that side.

NOTEMYER — MACE

White snapdragons and chrysanthemums with variegated English ivy decorated the altar of the Church of the Epiphany on Saturday afternoon, November 24, for the marriage of Miss Barbara Ann Mace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Mace of 2 Robinhood road, to John Francis Notemyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Notemyer of 14 Nathaniel road. The rector of the church, Rev. John W. Ellison, read the candlelight service at 4:30 o'clock and a reception followed at the oval room of the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Mace wore a gown of candlelight parchment satin fashioned with a tightly fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a Sabrina neckline outlined with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her full skirt extended into a chapel-length train and had a princess panel in the front with matching lace detail. Her flowers were Eucharis lilies and stephanotis combined with chrysanthemums and ivy.

Miss Marion M. Mace of Winchester was her sister's honor maid. She wore a princess style dress of Arabian peacock velvet with a small matching hat and veil, and carried a white fur muff adorned with pink sweetheart roses and baby ivy.

Miss Eleanor Ann Ewing of Melrose, Miss Judith Lazzara of Stoneham and Miss Sheila Collins of Cataumet, Cape Cop, and Baltimore, Md., were bridesmaids. They wore coralberry velvet dresses with matching hats and they also carried white fur muffs with pink sweetheart roses and baby ivy.

Miss Betty Ann O'Malley of Everett was junior bridesmaid and Miss Barbara G. O'Malley, also of Everett, was flower girl. They wore frocks of Arabian peacock velvet with matching hats. The junior bridesmaid carried a white muff with pink sweetheart roses and the flower girl carried a basket of rose petals.

Mrs. Mace, mother of the bride, wore avocado green silk with a bouffant skirt and gold accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Notemyer was gowned in navy blue silk and lace and wore pink accessories.

Walter E. Rees of Wakefield was Mr. Notemyer's best man, and the usher corps, headed by Robert Burns of Arlington, included Walter Cardinali of Needham, Maurice Pickering of Hyannis and Richard Brown of West Denis. Peter Palrineri and his brother, Clayton, both of Wellesley and cousins of the bridegroom, were junior usher and ring bearer.

After a wedding journey to Hamilton, Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Notemyer will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Colby Junior College. Mr. Notemyer, who is associated with Arthur D. Little, Inc., is a graduate of Wentworth Institute.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE HOLDS PUBLIC HEARING

The Youth Activities Committee, which was established by the Annual Town Meeting "to investigate and report on possible quarters for activities, both work and play, for boys and girls no longer in school," will hold a public hearing in the Committee Room of the Town Hall on Wednesday, December 5, at 8:00 p. m. All interested persons are invited to attend and to present their views. It is hoped that young people of post-high school age will be present to offer their suggestions.

In assuming its duties, the Committee has felt it necessary to secure a comprehensive view of the problem—to determine as far as possible the need for an activities program out-of-school youth, and to consider the directions which such a program might take. The Committee, therefore, has been conducting a survey of the youth activities which are currently being offered in Winchester by the Town, the churches, and civic organizations. It is also studying the youth activities programs of representative communities in the greater Boston area. The Committee will welcome the advice and suggestions of interested persons at the meeting next Wednesday.

If attendance at the hearing is impossible, communications may be made to F. Meredith Cooper, chairman, WInchester 6-2571-W; to Mrs. Herbert S. Mullen, WInchester 6-6181; or to John F. Kinton, WInchester 6-2026.

RETARDED CHILDREN'S DAY DECEMBER 2

December 2, is Retarded Children's Day in Massachusetts. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children, the day has been set aside for a house to house campaign to collect funds for the states 140,000 mentally retarded children.

Mental retardation is the largest single handicapping condition which afflicts our children. Give the innocent victims of this heart-rending condition the chance they deserve as human beings. Have your generous contribution ready this Sunday when your neighbor calls at your home on their behalf.

BOY RESCUED

Last Saturday afternoon, Fire Headquarters was notified that a four year-old boy had fallen into a cellar in process of construction on Polk road, and was unable to extricate himself.

The Department's rescue truck with a squad under Lt. Joe Shea made a quick run to the cellar and found George Merewether of 211 Forest street had fallen into the cellar and become wedged between the cement forms.

The firefighters had to pry the forms apart to release the youngster, who fortunately was not badly hurt by his experience.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU!

Miss Natalie Jewett, the Chapter's first chairman, and Mr. Royce H. Randlett, present chairman, join in cutting this handsome Red Cross birthday cake celebrating a dual birthday, the 75th Anniversary of the National Red Cross and the 35th Anniversary of the Winchester Chapter on Saturday afternoon. Ceremony took place at the insurance office of W. Allan Wilde and Son.

BIG WEEK FOR RED CROSS

The cutting of the Red Cross birthday cake last Saturday was the high point in the double celebration of the local Chapter's 35th and the National Red Cross 75th Anniversaries. The beautiful cake was, Saturday only, a part of a window display which has continued at Wilde's Insurance on Thompson street, this week. It was later most properly enjoyed at the Home, the Fire and Police Stations, and the Bedford Veterans' Hospital. One window contained attractive dolls in the display, each dressed to represent a Red Cross Service.

Miss Natalie Jewett's part in the ceremony represented those Winchester people who worked long and hard to organize the Chapter thirty-five years ago, many of whom, with her, are still active workers. It is interesting to note the names of a few of that original group, names which are listed along with Miss Jewett's in a "Temporary Committee on Organization," dated November 21, 1921, as follows: Miss Helen Hall, Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Ryan, Mrs. George H. Root, Mrs. Herbert E. Maynard, Mrs. James Nowell, and Mr. Joseph R. Tansey. Undoubtedly there are others whose names are not on this original record, who were instrumental in forming the Chapter, and to whom, also, the Winchester Chapter is greatly indebted.

Carrying on this tradition of active service this week the Chapter has shipped 25 Christmas gift boxes to service men from all states who will be on the high seas at Christmas. Thanks to the generous donations of several local organizations, the boxes will make a pleasant surprise Christmas for some man on his way to active duty and unable to receive gifts from his family and friends.

At Thanksgiving several Winchester families were remembered by the Red Cross Chapter with Thanksgiving baskets of food and "goodies" which were bought and distributed by the Chapter's Home Service Group. Another Thanksgiving project was the donation of attractive table favors made by the Winchester Junior Red Cross school groups and sent to Bedford Veterans' Hospital.

SILVER WEDDING

Wedding bells brought together "that Old Gang" when several couples gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Ross in honor of the 25th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Urmson of 86 Hillcrest Parkway, which takes place this week.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McNeilly and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McNeilly, owners of the Bacon Felt now located in Taunton, (Sam and Dot now hail from Bridgewater while Stan and Helen live in Taunton), Mrs. August Petri recently returned to Winchester from Rhode Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferriman of Melrose. Mr. and Mrs. William DeCamp of Wilton, N .H., and Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Senter of Chatham, Mass., were unable to attend.

So to "El and Bill", from all the gang, and from all their many friends in town, hearty congratulations on your 25th, and many more just as happy years!

GREENE — HOLMES

At a small family wedding at the home of her parents on Friday afternoon, November 23, Miss Sally Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jameson Holmes of 3 Lakeview road, was married to Charles Edward Greene, Jr., son of Mrs. Charles Edward Greene of 7 Lewis road, and the late Mr. Greene. The Rev. Stephen E. Greene, pastor of the Second Congregational Church of Bennington, Vt., and brother of the bridegroom, read the 4 o'clock service.

After a wedding journey to Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Greene will make their home in Woburn.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College in the class of 1952. Mr. Greene, who is associated with the Raytheon Manufacturing Company, received his A.B. degree from Harvard in 1950 and the M.B.A. degree from Northwestern University in 1955.

REPRESENTATIVE WARBURTON TO SPEAK

On December 5, at the home of Mrs. Gilman Wallace, 2 Dartmouth street, the League of Women Voters will hold its second general meeting of the year. The meeting will start at 2:30 and refreshments will be served at once so members may arrive as late as 3:00 if necessary without missing the excellent speaker.

Mr. Barclay Warburton, member of the House of Representatives from Ipswich, will speak on "Water and our Welfare." Mr. Warburton is the ideal speaker on this topic as he introduced the legislation this year which led to the creation of the present Water Resources Commission of Massachusetts.

The Commission will administer the federal Water Shed Act as it affects Massachusetts. This act is concerned with flood control. They will also study the overall problems of water resources and uses, and suggest legislation in this field. While Massachusetts is fortunate in having no critical water shortage at this time, the increase in the usage of water in our homes (automatic washing machines, garbage disposals, dishwashers, air conditioners), the ever rising population, especially in industrial states like Massachusetts, and the tremendous increase in water consumption for industrial purposes warn us that it is not too early to start making long range plans for our water usage.

Mr. Warburton is so well suited to help us tackle this national problem in all its implications for Massachusetts that the Winchester League has invited representatives from the Leagues of several neighboring towns to hear him also. Prospective new members are always welcome.

ESTABLISHES BOWDOIN SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Dr. Harry S. Parsons of 73 Bacon street, has established a $2,500 scholarship fund at Bowdoin College in memory of his brother, the late George W. Parsons of Medford, it was announced today by Dr. James S. Coles, President of Bowdoin.

Income from the fund, to be known as the George Winfield Parsons Scholarship Fund, is to be used "to help any student from Brunswick who needs a little financial help."

Both Dr. Parsons and his brother were born in Brunswick and were graduated from Brunswick High School. George Parsons went on to Bowdoin, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1887 and a master of arts degree in 1890. He taught school in Winthrop, for two years before going to Medford, where he taught and was a grammar school principal until 1933, when he retired. He died in 1946. Mrs. Parsons, the former Sarah Mountfort of Brunswick, still lives in Medford.

Dr. Parsons was born in Brunswick in 1867, four years after his brother. He was graduated from the Maine Medical School at Bowdoin in 1891 and the following year received a D.M.D. degree at Harvard Dental School. For about sixty years he was actively engaged in the practice of dentistry in Boston, retiring only recently. He was also for some years a member of the faculty at Harvard Dental School.

WORTHING — JURY

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Fay, announce the marriage of their daughter, Rosanna Jury, to Mr. Dinsmore Worthing on Wednesday evening, November 21, at 6 o'clock at her parents' home on Fells road.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Snook, Jr., of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church in the presence of both families. Mrs. H. B. Moore, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and Craig Worthing was best man for his father. A family dinner followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthing will make their home at 32 Ellis Farm Lane, Melrose.

MRS. NORA O'MELIA

Mrs. Nora O'Melia, widow of John F. O'Melia and a long time and widely known resident of the North End of Winchester, died Wednesday morning, November 28, at her home, 16 Loring avenue, after a short illness.

Mrs. O'Melia was born in Ireland, May 8, 1874, the daughter of the late Peter O'Toole. She came to Winchester 65 years ago, spending virtually all of her life here in the North End and living for the past 50 years in the house in which she died.

Actively identified with the civic, social and religious life of the community, Mrs. O'Melia was a member of the Immaculate Conception Sodality and a former member of the Sodality of St. Mary's Parish. She was also a member of the Catholic Daughters of America, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, the Auxiliaries of Aberjona Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Winchester Post, American Legion; Medford Chapter of World War Mothers and the Maryknoll Missionaries Auxiliary.

Her diversity of interests, friendliness and willingness to be of service endeared her to a wide circle of friends who learned of her passing with regret.

Mrs. O'Melia's husband died in 1906. She leaves three sons, Lt. John F. O'Melia and Firefighter Henry P. O'Melia of the Winchester Fire Department; and Thomas J. O'Melia of Woburn; also four daughters, Mary, Christine and Victoria, and Mrs. Charles F. Wilson, all of Winchester; 17 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass at the Immaculate Conception Church at 10. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Visiting hours at the funeral home today are 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m.

TO PLAY IN BOWL GAME

Big "Mike" Murphy, former Winchester High School football captain and star fullback, will play for St. Joseph's College of Indiana against Montana State College in the first annual Aluminum Bowl football game at Little Rock, Ark., December 22.

Murphy, a 200 pound sophomore at St. Joseph's, is still running from the fullback slot. He has been St. Joseph's bread-and-butter boy all season, the back who has picked up those vital three or four yards when needed.

Big "Mike" has already established a new conference record, by carrying 31 times against Valparaiso to eclipse the old mark of 24. Not once stopped for a loss in his 31 carries, he gained 117 yards for an average of 3.8 yards per carry.

Murphy made a great start for St. Joseph's this year. In the first four games he played, he was stopped for a loss only twice in 67 carries, picking up 262 yards for an average of 65.8 yards a game and just under four yards a carry.

"Mike" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Murphy of Allen road. He was an all around athlete at Winchester High, playing hockey as well as football and competing in track.

STRUCK BY CAR

Louise M. Taylor, 79, of 132 Washington street, a long time and widely known resident of Winchester, was painfully and possibly seriously injured Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock when she was struck by an automobile while crossing Main street at Lawson road, from the westerly to the easterly side of the street.

Miss Taylor had been visiting at the home of Miss Alice Joy on Lawson road, and was apparently on her way there when the accident occurred.

Police say the automobile, a Nash station-wagon, was driven by J. Vernon Augusta of 27 Grayson road, who was driving north. Miss Taylor was taken to the Winchester Hospital and treated there for a broken right hip, shoulder injuries and lacerations about the head and left hand. She was held at the hospital after treatment.

NOVEL CHRISTMAS FEATURE

A novel Christmas feature will be introduced by the Mystic Glee Club on its December 15 Winter Concert. Deporting from its usual type of Christmas program the Club will present a very entertaining and interesting musical feature on the order of the old Meistersingers.

The interest and keen enthusiasm now being displayed by the members of the Club will doubtless be reflected in the large audience of faithful sponsoring members at the concert.

In order to aid and abet the interest of High School students in music, the club wishes to announce that there will be student tickets on sale for the Winter Concert at 75 cents each. These can be obtained at Hevey's Pharmacy, McCormack's Apothecary, or from Wendell Withington and Mrs. Eleanor Thistlethwaite at the Winchester High School.

HIGH SCHOOL YEARBOOK WON PRESS AWARD

For the fourth successive year the Winchester High School Aberjona has won first place in its class in the 22nd annual yearbook contest conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University. This is considered a high honor since the competition includes yearbooks from every section of the United States. Congratulations are in order for the Aberjona's editorial chairman, Judy Fowler, and to her able staff. Mr. Richard O. Ulin, a member of the high school's English department, is the faculty advisor to the Aberjona.

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT

SOMERVILLE WOMAN CAUGHT IN BELMONT WANTED HERE

An attractive Somerville young woman appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning, charged with the theft of seven sweaters from Filene's Winchester store. She pleaded guilty and her case was continued until after Christmas. Police say she had been picked up in Filene's Belmont store for shop lifting and appeared in the Cambridge Court November 10.

When picked up by the Filene's store detective at the company's Belmont store on November 8, the suspect gave the name of Barbara Geswell. Police say when she was arrested she was wearing a handsome white leather coat with mink collar and cuffs.

At the Winchester store Miss Geswell had aroused the suspicion of the store detective during several visits, and when it was learned she had been picked up at the Belmont store, Sgt. Edward F. Bowler of the police department, with Officer Andrew Crawford and Filene's Winchester detective visited the young woman's home in Somerville. There they recovered seven sweaters identified as having come from Filene's Winchester store.

Miss Geswell appeared in Cambridge Court on the Belmont count November 10, being placed on probation for a year. After the completion of that case she was summoned to appear in Woburn Court to answer to the Winchester charge.

Police say Miss Geswell had opened an account at another Winchester store under an assumed name and a fictitious address. She also, according to police, made a purchase at Filene's here under an assumed name and address.

CUSTODIAN OVERCOME

Neal Wharf of 163 Highland avenue, a member of the custodian staff at the senior high school, was overcome Tuesday morning while putting out a fire in the incinerator room of the high school building.

This room, located in the basement adjacent to the power mechanics shop, contains an incinerator in which it is customary for the custodians to burn refuse. Mr. Whorf was engaged in burning papers when apparently a strong down draft caused the fire to back up and smoke badly.

Mr. Wharf quickly extinguished the fire with a fire extinguisher, but the combination of smoke, gas from the extinguisher and lack of oxygen in the small room overcame him.

Before losing consciousness he was able to push open the door of the incinerator room and fall into the Power Mechanics room. There his plight was discovered by Mr. Joseph Aversa, graphic arts teacher; Mr. Domenick Bennenati, power mechanics teacher and William Sullivan, 16, of Dunster lane, a pupil in the school. They carried him to the school lounge on the first floor of the building.

Just how the school fire alarm was sounded wasn't immediately known, though it is believed that the heat from the burning refuse in the incinerator room may have set it off.

A call was sent in to police headquarters and Chief Charles J. Harrold, an experienced first aid man, hastened to the high school with Officer James E. Farrell in the police ambulance.

The fire department found no fire upon their arrival, but there was quite a bit of smoke on the basement floor of the building, some of which was commencing to seep up to the first floor.

The school pupils were ordered into the assembly hall until the smoke was cleared with ejectors and the building aired.

Meanwhile police and firemen worked on Mr. Wharf with a resuscitator, after which he was taken to the hospital in the ambulance by Chief Harrold and Officer Clarence Dunbury. His condition was not found to be serious and he was released later in the day.

WINCHESTER vs WOBURN IN HOCKEY JAMBOREE

On Saturday evening, December 1, the Winchester High School Hockey Team will touch off their 1956 season in a Jamboree game at the Sports Center in Lynn.

Traditional rival Woburn was chosen as the Winchester opponent in this prelude to the opening of the season.

It will be remembered that Woburn was the first Massachusetts team to defeat Winchester's State Champions last year in league competition. This should be an added incentive for the Sachems to put out a winning effort. The game will be played as the co-feature with the Lynn English-Wakefield game.

The addition of Winchester and Woburn to the North Shore was a great boost to attendance at Lynn. Lynn rink officials estimated that there was an increase of 7000 fans over the previous year's attendance.

More than 50 boys reported to Coach Frank Finigan for the first hockey practice. Interest in high school hockey has grown tremendously in the past four years, and more and more fans are expected to support the team this year.

In all, it figures to be an interesting hockey season for Winchester, and the Jamboree will be a fitting kick-off on December 1.

WINCHESTER EDITOR CALLS FOOTBALL CRAZY GAME

Winchester's Jerry Nason, widely known sports editor of the Boston Globe, in a recent feature article in the Globe sports section, calls football a "crazy game," played on Saturday, alibied on Sunday, seen on Monday!

The, Monday business refers, of course to the motion pictures of the game which generally prove, according to Jerry, that nearly everybody who saw the game (especially the officials), was wrong in the first place.

In support of his statement Mr. Nason goes on to state that movies prove from Penn State should have beaten Syracuse, Pittsburgh should have beaten Minnesota and Lou Lovely of B. U. didn't tackle Bill Smithers of Holy Cross at B. U. field.

"Movies," says Mr. Nason, "are the bane of football existence. The postgame interview has become an epic of hemming and hawing. Coaches don't dare commit themselves to a statement based on observation—for fear their own game movies will make suckers of them.

" 'Game movies,' candidly confesses one coach, un-named, 'were originally intended for the purpose of correcting mistakes. Now they're a means of second-guessing officials, players and newspapermen.'

"The game movie has created more ulcers in the whistle-toting profession than anything since the advent of the 'Marietta Spread'."

The Nason article is much longer than this and mighty interesting reading. Much of it deals with wrong calls by officials during football games, calls that have on occasion given the game to the wrong team. The writer, while admitting the costly errors of officials, charitably adds that it is a wonder they do not make more. Modern football, he finds, is too fast and envelops too much territory for four men to properly supervise.

And how does all this affect Winchester? Well, if you saw the Wakefield game movies this year, you couldn't see any holding by Winchester's Art Stavaridis, the boy charged with this particular rule infraction late in the game.

The resulting penalty gave Wakefield fifteen yards and a first down on the one, instead of a second down and twenty on the Winchester 24. Wakefield scored its first touchdown as a result of this penalty, and to rub a bit more salt into the wound the same pictures show the Wakefield boy using his hands on Stavaridis, which is a 15 yard rule infraction for an offensive player.

Of course the classic miscall in Winchester's book will always remain that 1944 decision made in the Reading game which nullified a touchdown that would undoubtedly have won the game for Winchester.

The official ruled that "Chucker" Roche, who threw what could have been a game-winning pass, threw it outside the field of play. The pictures show he not only threw the ball, but also landed well inside the field of play after getting rid of the pigskin, caught for a T. D. by Jimmy Haggerty. In the same game a Winchester back in motion penalty nullified a Sam Tibaudo touchdown, yet the movies showed the back in question steady as a rock before the snap.

Still another call that cost Winchester the Woburn game in 1950 was a very tardy decision that Bob Johnson hadn't scored for Winchester on what turned out to be the last play of the game. The movies show two-thirds of the pile-up across the goal line and Johnson was well forward in the pile. He and the ball both were across the line when the players were untangled.

Some times the movies are no help in trying to decide a controversy, as the angle at which they are taken is of great importance. Often, too, as Mr. Nason states in his article, the movies show the officials and not the coach, players and fans, were right.

Football, like baseball, is a game of inches and decisions. Many times the calling of forward progress, or the lack of it, a quick whistle or a to-the-fan-in-the-stands inexplicable failure to see a patent rule infraction means the game one way or the other.

HAS ROLE IN TUFTS PLAY

"Blood Wedding," the famous Spanish drama by the leading playwright of that country, Garcia Lorca, will be presented by the Tufts Community Players in the Tufts Arena Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 30 and December 1, at 8:30 o'clock. The play will be given again on December 6, 7 and 8 in the Arena.

George E. Connor, 403 Main street, plays the role of the father in "Blood Wedding," with several Winchester people serving backstage and as ushers. This seldom-seen Spanish classic offers an excellent opportunity to theatre-minded townspeople to see an interesting "off Broadway type" play, given unusual theatre-in-the-round presentation. All seats are reserved. See the advertisement on the theatre page.

ORANGE PEELS

Rain the night before made the outlook for the big game a bit dim, but the high wind dried up the usually wet Woburn field, and the lack of frost in the ground kept the bright sun of the holiday forenoon from turning the going to mud. Coach Knowlton stated after the game that he thought the field was in the best condition he had ever seen it.

Though the sun was bright, that high wind that continued throughout the game was cold enough, and those at the game in anything but warm things were pretty chilly before the final whistle.

Unofficial estimates placed the size of the crowd between 7500 and 10,000. The Star would think it the biggest crowd to see a game at Woburn, but definitely not as big as last year's mob at Winchester.

Thirty-one police officers, including a lieutenant and squad from Winchester, were on duty at the game. How many more than that would have been necessary to keep the big crowd where it belonged we wouldn't know, but there were a lot of people in the stands who paid good money for a seat, and got there early enough to get one, who saw little but the backs of standees.

It really was tough around the Winchester bench with every one and his aunt crowding around the players, obstructing their view of the game and being a general nuisance. Twice Coach Knowlton couldn't find replacements to send into action when he wanted them because of the crowd, and it was virtually impossible for him to see what his team was doing in certain spots of the field.

DEAN OF FLETCHER SCHOOL

In a recent article reporting the sale of his summer home in Annisquam the Star referred to Dr. Robert B. Fletcher of Foxcroft road, as a member of the staff of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts College.

Of course Tufts is now a university and no longer a college. We also learn that Dr. Stewart is Dean of the Fletcher School. We are happy to make these corrections to keep the record straight.

"GO, MOE, GO!"

Paonessa blocks for Russo in Woburn game.

Russo's Kicks the Difference

Points-After Give Winchester 14-13 Victory At Woburn

The stout left foot of Captain "Moe" Russo place-kicked two points after touchdowns to give Winchester High a thin-edge 14-13 victory over Woburn High School in the annual Thanksgiving Day classic between these ancient rivals last week Thursday morning at the Connolly Memorial Stadium in Woburn.

If it was Russo's kicks that won the game, it was surely "Doug" Thomson's desperation tackle of Bob Lampher at the five-yard line at the very end of the first half that saved it. Had Lampher scored, the Tanners would have left the field at the half a touchdown in front, and that touchdown, as things turned out, would have been plenty to win.

Woburn had every right to lead at the half for it had completely outclassed the Indians over the first two periods, making seven first downs to two for Winchester, rushing for 215 yards to 81 for the locals. Winchester didn't attempt a pass the first half and neither of those tried by Woburn was completed. Woburn's two first half fumbles proved costly, the first leading directly to Winchester's first touchdown, and the second giving the outclassed Indians a chance to set up their other score.

A huge crowd, estimated as between 7500 to 10,000 jammed every available inch of space around the gridiron, and they had hardly settled themselves in their seats, (figuratively speaking), when Winchester had a six point lead.

Woburn, strangely enough, chose to receive against a sweeping wind that aided Russo to get off a booming kick into the Woburn end zone. Lampher ran the ball out and was hit hard by several Winchester linemen at the 10 yard line.

The ball squirted straight up out of his arms and was pounced upon by Jackie McCormack and Vinnie Murphy, with Murphy finally coming up with the leather on the Woburn nine for a big break for the Indians.

Russo was piled up with only a yard by the fighting Orange linemen. Thomson knifed through for three. Russo swept for four, and with the ball on the one little Cosimo Paonessa broke over inside his right tackle for the touchdown, leaping over a team-mate to do it.

Then came the all-important point-after, and with the gale at his back Russo booted the ball squarely between the uprights to give Winchester a 7-0 lead.

The advantage was short lived. Donahue ran the kickoff to the Woburn 33, and McGilvary picked up six yards to the Woburn 39 before taking the ball again on a sweep left.

With three men up ahead, the powerful Woburn runner got into the clear, his mates having easily boxed the too-close playing Winchester end. Paonessa made a great try to get McGilvary at the Winchester 35, but he committed himself too quickly and the Tanner fullback bounced off his tackle attempt to straighten out and go all the way along the sidelines into the end zone to send Woburn into transports of delight.

The Tanners didn't seem too cast down when Lampher failed to rush for the extra point. Woburn was offside on the play, but the penalty was naturally refused and Winchester led 7-6.

Winchester couldn't go after the kickoff and McGilvary made a good run back of Russo's punt to his own 40. The Tanners had a yard to go on fourth down and gambled on a rush.

It was a fatal gamble for the ball was bobbled and recovered by Bill Edgar for Winchester on the Winchester 49.

On the very next play Paonessa shot through a big hole in the left side of the Woburn line, cut sharply to the left and legged it 47 long yards to the Woburn two where he was brought down by McGilvary.

Russo broke over on the first play and also once again booted in the extra point, that as things turned out meant the ballgame.

McGilvary ran the kickoff back to his 15, and the Tanners ripped and drove to the Winchester 25, where a good gain was nullified by an offside penalty, a pass fell incomplete and Winchester held for downs at its 31.

The Indians were piled up three times by the Orange and Russo's kick into the screaming wind went only from his 31 to the 35 yard line.

This looked like it, as Lampher and McGilvary made first down at the 14. With third and six on the 10 Captain Russo went out with a bruised rib, but Thomson stopped McGilvary with only two and on fourth down Lampher failed to make it by a yard with Winchester taking over at its five.

Here Thomson and Paonessa made it first down at the 16, but here a bad pass from center was barely recovered by Longworth on the Indians two. Woburn was offside on the next play, but Winchester couldn't take advantage of the yardage and had to kick.

Joe Flaherty's kick into the wind went out to the Woburn 33, and this time the Tanners would not be denied.

McGilvary picked up seven and Lampher made first down at the 18. On first down, McGilvary from a fake handoff, rolled through a big hole in the Winchester line to dash 18 yards for the score. He was tackled down close but got the ball into the end zone for the important six points. They quickly became seven as Anderson easily outsprinted the two left side Winchester defenders on a sweep into pay dirt.

Winchester still led, 14-13, but the advantage looked pretty slim, and it bid fair to disappear altogether in the last seconds of the half.

Winchester had to kick after receiving the kickoff and Flaherty's boot was blocked and recovered by Woburn at the Winchester 25.

Lampher picked up good yardage, but Woburn was offside on the play and the ball went back to the 30. A long Carbone pass was broken up by Thomson, who narrowly missed intercepting the ball.

McGilvary broke through for five and McGhee for seven, to put the ball on the 18. With just time for one play, Lampher swept right, and looked good to go all the way.

"Dougie" Thomson, however, literally shot across to intercept him and tackled him on the Winchester five, Lampher's momentum carrying him approximately to between the one and two yard lines as the half time whistle blew.

He would have been a rash man who would have bet at half time that Winchester would win the football game, and he would have had little difficulty getting himself a wager, so completely had Woburn dominated play for the first two periods. On the Winchester side most fans were hoping the Indians would keep the score respectable while the Orange rooters could hardly wait for play to resume.

When it did they were in for a surprise, for Longworth ran the kickoff back to the Winchester 27, and from there the Indians rolled up three first downs in a drive that finally stalled on the Woburn 14.

Key play in this advance was a fourth down and seven situation when Winchester sent Flaherty back, ostensibly to punt, but instead sent Paonessa wide around his left flank.

Apparently trapped by two Woburn defenders, Cosimo cleverly ducked under the bigger boys, using his left hand to keep from going to his knee. Pulling free, he advanced to the Woburn 24 for a first down that made Winchester's chances look bright.

They continued bright as Bartlett drove to the 20 and Thomson added five to the 15. On third and one, however, Longworth was dropped back on the 19 before he could hand off the ball, and on fourth down Thomson missed the first down at the 14 by not more than two inches. Winchester never threatened again.

Woburn had a good scoring chance just before the end of the third quarter when Lampher got away for 23 yards and a first down at the Winchester 20. The Tanners had the ball on the 14, fourth and four as the teams changed goals, but Kerrigan got McGilvary at the 11 to end the drive.

Winchester had to kick, and Russo got off a corking boot with the wind from his own 13 to the Woburn 10, with McGilvary making a nice run back to the 35.

Woburn was caught clipping on the play, putting the ball back on the Orange 20, and from that point on until the final whistle Winchester was able to contain the Tanners' offense in Woburn territory, two Woburn fumbles aiding in so doing.

Winchester had a great chance when it recovered the first of these two Woburn fumbles on the Tanners 35, but on fourth down a seven yard buck by Bartlett was still short and Woburn took over.

Both teams fumbled in the next few minutes and though Woburn did chalk up a couple of first downs in the closing moments, one on the only completed pass of the game, a 12 yard heave from Carbone to Anderson, the Tanners were still ten yards inside their own territory when the game ended.

Woburn was pretty tired toward the end of the game, finding the going much harder the second half when Winchester's defenses were much more effective.

The Tanners still had a big edge statistic-wise, making six first downs the second half to three for Winchester and rushing for 123 yards to 82 for the Indians. Woburn lost 35 yards in penalties in the game while those assessed against the Indians were refused for downs. Woburn fumbled six times, recovering twice while Winchester recovered one of its three fumbles.

The Indians played most of the second period and all of the second half with out Captain Russo, who was injured in the opening minutes of the second period. He was available thereafter only to kick. McCormack, first string lineman, was also injured early in the game, and saw only limited service thereafter. The summary:

ORANGE PEELS

Besides the crowd, it was hard to cover the game because the rain of the night before had dimmed the yard lines on the field and they were not replaced before the game.

After a quarter of play it was a case of by guess and by gorry spotting the ball on the field.

At the half most any one on the Winchester side would gladly have settled for two more Woburn touchdowns, so completely had the Orange outplayed the Indians during the first two periods. The second half was a lot closer as Woburn tired noticeably and the Indians commenced to play the Woburn offense as they should.

This boy McGilvary is surely one of the best backs Winchester has faced this year. It is nice to know he won't be around another autumn, but at the same time it doesn't help too much to know Carbone, slick ball handling Tanner quarterback, has another year and Bobby Lampher, fast, hard-running halfback, is only a sophomore.

Ray Hayward, former Winchester High School faculty manager, was on the bench during the first half, and held a sort of old home week before the game and at the half. He turned up missing after the half, and probably went someplace where he could see the game!

The big crowd was orderly enough and the spirit was good on both sides. Woburn was naturally bitterly disappointed at the outcome, but they took the defeat well. The Winchester fans, while jubilant at the outcome, didn't do too much crowing. They couldn't!

Father Garrity, former St. Charles clergyman, and a red hot sports follower, summed it up rather well when a Winchester fan said to him, "Well, we beat you, Father!" "Yes, but not by much," said the smiling priest. Winchester will always remember the protection he accorded the Indians when a crowd of youths were snowballing the locals as they were trying to defend their goal line in a close game at Woburn. A real sportsman is Father Garrity.

Both the Winchester and Woburn Bands put on good half time shows, and the Winchester Sachemettes, the school's girl tumblers, gave their usual slick exhibition in front of the Winchester stands. The girls put on their special Indian dance before going into their tumbling act. The band sounded fine in their performance of the Thanksgiving hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come."

With the exception of our own Band, the Woburn tooters played the "Star Spangled Banner" the best we have heard it done this fall. They have come a long way in recent years. The Woburn Drum-majorettes, also, did a bit of somersaulting in their own right.

Why the tumblers, drum-majorettes, and cheer-leaders of both schools didn't freeze to death we will never know. They surely were far from "bundled against the cold."

Whoever figured one gate opening was large enough to let the crowd out of the field after the game erred badly. The press around the narrow opening at times approached dangerous proportions, and it is more by good luck than design that some one wasn't injured in the jam.

Winchester had bad luck in the injury department if not in other respects. Captain Russo went out with a rib injury in the opening minutes of the second period and was not available thereafter except for kicking. McCormack, regular guard was also injured early in the game and was taken to the Winchester Hospital for diagnostic X-rays. They proved negative and McCormack returned to action late in the game, but his services were missed long enough to handicap the Indians.

Russo has been the backbone of the Winchester offense all year. Without him, the Redskins were badly handicapped, nearly as badly perhaps as Woburn would have been without its meal ticket, McGilvary.

Carbone is one of the slickest ball handlers we saw all fall. Had Woburn lost him early in the season as Winchester lost its only offensive veteran, Johnny Chapin, its backfield very probably would not have functioned as smoothly on the holiday as it did with smooth-working "Sal" at the helm.

Winchester fans who were disgusted with their team's showing may well remember that the Indians played much of the game without Russo, McCormack and the boy on whom the coaches counted to makes its offense go, Johnny Chapin. It didn't help any to have McCormack's first-string replacement and his substitute among the seven squad members declared ineligible before the game.

Seems like the authorities might withold the marks until after the football season. The cross country runners, for instance, do not have to worry about marks because their season ends before the grades come out. We have often wondered how many other schools stand to lose players just before their big Thanksgiving day games.

Woburn was unhappy over that clipping penalty late in the game that drove the Orange deep in its own territory, but the pictures show the call was correct. The Winchester coaching staff claimed Woburn's deep man was often in motion illegally, but the officials turned deaf ears to their complaints.

Maybe the law of averages applied to the Woburn game as far as Winchester was concerned. The locals won one they looked good to lose, after losing one to Wakefield they looked like they would win.

Those who said the game would be won or lost on the rushline were all smiles at the half as the Woburn forwards were driving the Winchester linemen back into their own backfield much of the time. The second half the Woburn line had the edge, but the advantage was not so marked and at the end of the game the Indian forwards were playing the tired Tanners pretty nearly even.

Winchester's one sustained drive came right after the second half kickoff and was good for 59 yards, all on the ground. Had the locals got that first down that "Dougie" Thomson missed by two inches at the 14, who can tell? The Indians were looking like a ball team about then, ard with the lift that would have come from that first down might have made it. Of course they might not have scored, too. They certainly didn't come close thereafter.

The wind put the hooks to the only other scoring chance the Indians had in the second half. Kerrigan recovered a fumble on the Woburn 35, and Thomson hit off tackle for five. Bartlett was piled up for a yard loss on third down Longworth passed out in the left flat to "Vin" Murphy.

Murphy was in position to receive the pass unmolested and might have gone quite a way, certainly far enough for a first down, but the strong wind just blew the ball back and away from him, and that was it.

Coach Knowlton thought his two sophomores, Migliaccio, fullback, and Graham, tackle, did well when inserted in the lineup. He also paid tribute to "Dougie" Thomson, a third sophomore who accounted for most of Winchester's yardage off the tackles. Thomson's nose was knocked off plumb and he was badly battered but was in there swinging at the end and was the only Winchester boy to go all the way.

Paonessa was handicapped by a leg injury sustained in the Wakefield game and a rib injury he picked up early in the holiday game. Cosimo kept going in spite of everything and played a fine all around game.

Bartlett lacked the experience, size and speed to be effective offensively, but he and Flaherty were great on defense. They with Thomson and Paonessa saved the bacon time and again throughout the game, and especially in the first half when Woburn was running wild.

Well, we'll see you next year, and let's not have another like this. At our age we just can't take this sort of thing!

"Camping", as offered by Massachusetts Girl Scouts Inc., was the theme of the Annual meeting of the organization held, at Cedar Hill, Waltham, November 27, from 9:30 to 3:00 o'clock. In the morning the discussion centered around the questions "Shall the State offer in its five big camps a program of progressive camping which will mean fewer girls," or "Shall the stay of the individual girl be limited so that more girls may enjoy a camping experience?" The report of the various buzz groups on all phases of the question reported to the main assembly after the lunch period.

A feature of the day was the presentation of senior scouts and adult leaders who were Juliette Low exchanges last summer in Europe and in South America. They told of their experiences there and of how their scout training prepared them for their international visit.

VETERANS

LAPSED INSURANCE MAY BE REINSTATED

Lapsed GI term insurance may be reinstated before the end of the term period, Manager William J. Blake of the Veterans Administration Regional Office reported in answer to inquiries.

"Veterans Administration has found that many veterans believe they no longer are entitled to GI insurance when they miss several premium payments on five year term policies," Blake said.

He explained that if the five year term period has not expired, the policies may be reinstated with the payment of two monthly premiums.

A medical examination is required if the policies have been lapsed more than three months, but none is required if the policies have been lapsed less than three months and the policyholders are in as good health as they were on the date of lapse, Blake said.

Any Veterans Administration office will be glad to assist veterans in reinstating GI term insurance, he added.

Information and assistance regarding Veterans Administration benefits may be obtained from James J. Keefe, Contact Representative in Charge, Veterans Administration Office, Post Office Building, Union Square, Somerville.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Most women with heart trouble can bear children safely—but raising them without further damage is a real art.

Many women who have had no trouble with their hearts during pregnancy find that the long hours and plain hard work of caring for a new baby is more than they had bargained for.

For such women, the Massachusetts Heart Association has a word of advice: Motherhood goes on for many years. Do your best to save your strength.

In pregnancy the mother-to-be gets plenty of help from her husband. Afterward, the solicitude often ends simply because the father doesn't realize that the battle has just began after the birth.

The Association, in its program of aiding cardiac mothers and other women with heart disease, conducts regular "Heart of The Home" classes, in which shortcuts to housework and child care are taught. There are many things the cardiac mother can do to lighten her burden—for a complete, free course in this difficult art write the Association at 650 Beacon street, Boston—but here are a few tips:

1. Sit down and plan your work before you start it.
2. Approach each job with the idea of first things first—and what isn't done today can wait until tomorrow.
3. Organize your work into daily, weekly and occasional classifications, and let other members of the family help.
4. Plan your menus, list the baby's needs, and shop only once a week.
5. Use part-time maid service and a diaper service if possible.
6. Keep the baby downstairs in the daytime and keep his clothing handy. Avoid needless steps.
7. Use clothing that requires little or no ironing.
8. Bathe the baby in the kitchen sink or bathinette—it saves your back.
9. Make a game of eliminating as many steps and motions as possible.
10. When the baby naps, take one yourself.
11. Be sure to rest regularly and stop at the first sign of fatigue.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

This Sunday, and every Sunday until Christmas the Winchester Unitarian Choir will sing some of the world's great Christmas music for the quarter hour preceding the regular church service. Carols, anthems, and selections from The Messiah and other oratorios will be included.

The soloists are Dolores Baldyga, soprano; Ann Lakis, contralto; John Morabito, tenor; and Sidney Blanchard, Jr., bass. Director Mary Ranton Witham will be at the organ.

Those who have heard the Choir in its performances of previous years will welcome the opportunity to enjoy again its wide repertoire and splendid musicianship; and it is hoped that many others will join in attending this very pleasant observance of the Christmas season.

LAST MAILING DATE ON 1957 REGISTRATION APPLICATIONS

Monday, December 3, is the last day for the receipt by the Registry of Motor Vehicles of registration applications, "Through The Mail," on which delivery to the registrants of 1957 certificates of registration and number plates can be reasonably guaranteed for use on New Year's Day.

The Registry has provided 28 branch offices scattered throughout the Commonwealth from Hyannis to North Adams, and motorists are urged to make 'over-the-counter' applications at one of these branch offices in preference to mailing them to the Boston Office.

A WARNING FROM THE CHIEF

Motorists should never relax their efforts to drive safely, Police Chief Charles J. Harrold said yesterday, and they should make a special effort now to get their cars in shape for safe winter driving in the months ahead—for their own protection and for the safety of their families.

"It's surprising to see how many motorists are caught unprepared by snow and ice around this time of year," Chief Harrold observed. "It reminds me of the fellow who couldn't put storm windows on his home when it was cold but didn't put them on while the weather was mild because he didn't need them."

One of the chief goals of the coming "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign will be to urge motorists to winterize their cars before winter really sets in.

Chief Harrold emphasized that winterizing a car means more than changing oil and putting in anti-freeze. "Of great importance to safety of the motorist are the brakes, headlights, and other mechanical features of his car," he said.

"Live windshield wiper blades, defrosters in good working order, proper headlights, good tires and tire chains are all items the motorist can check now so they'll be ready when he needs them.

National Safety Council tests proved that a pair of good tire chains are the best possible source of traction on traffic packed snow and ice. "Two full chains on rear tires are better than wishful thinking when the snow and ice conditions get bad," the chief advised. "They will help eliminate traffic tie-ups as well as accidents."

GREATEST THRILLER

BELLINO AND DATTILO BEAT NAVY PLEBES

Twenty Winchester football fans, who made the long Washington trek last Saturday to watch Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo in action against the United States Naval Academy Plebes agreed unanimously as the contest ended that the 34-33 upset victory of Columbian Preparatory School over the Naval Freshman team represented the most thrilling football match that they had ever witnessed.

Prior to the game it was generally known to all that the powerful Navy squad, (sixty-two in number) which had lost only to rugged Penn State, considered this just another "warm-up." Possessed of a tremendous height and weight advantage and possessed of the knowledge that Columbian Preparatory School had never defeated a Plebe squad it was natural for the midshipmen to conclude that this would be an easy victory.

However, they failed to consider that Joe Bellino was about to deliver his greatest performance, showing some really scintillating running, passing and kicking. A feat, which prompted Admiral Smedberg, Commandant of the Naval Academy, to say to Dr. Barone, who was sitting beside him in the press box with his wife, Cynthia; son, Greg; and daughter, Debbie, "Bellino's performance stamps him as our greatest prospect."

The Washington Post on Sunday carried the following account: "Joe Bellino, a triple threat halfback, who is slated to enter the Naval Academy next fall, scored three touchdowns and generally terrorized the Navy Plebe defense today to lead Columbian School of Washington, D. C., to a 34-33 football victory."

"Navy never had the lead—and generally trailed by two touchdowns—after Columbian took a 7-0 first quarter advantage when Bellino climaxed a 56 yard drive with a lightning 12 yard scoring sweep of right end.

"He added two second-quarter touchdowns on dazzling breakaway runs of 85 and 32 yards."

Those who saw this game agree also that Acting Captain Frank Dattilo's performance in the line matched Bellino's work in the backfield. Time and time again Frank bore in and tackled the ball carrier for consistent losses. Repeatedly he succeeded in stopping the wide Navy sweeps and forcing Jim Maxfield, the Naval quarterback to take to the air. On two occasions Dattilo delivered devastating downfield blocks which cleared Bellino's path to the goal line.

This was a tension-packed football game with the issue in doubt all the way down to the final minute. With six minutes left to play Maxwell hit Paul Mankowich with a 40 yard aerial and the big end galloped the remaining 45 yards to score. During the last three minutes Maxwell completed successfully seven passes bringing the ball down to the Columbian 16-yard line. Another pass was knocked down by Bellino and on the next play, Joe went high in the air to intercept a flat pass in the shadow of his goal line to break away for a 35-yard run. Columbia thereafter retained possession of the ball as time ran out.

Among those attending were Mr. Michele Bellino, Sr.; Mike Bellino, Jr.; Sam Bellino, John Dattilo, Larry Dattilo, Dr. William Barone and family, Dominick Suppa, Jay Ciarcia, Bruce Burinot, Richard Tofuri, Sonny Tedesco, Sonny Riga, Richard Bucci, Joseph Tansey and family, Captain W. C. Hilgedick, formerly of Winchester and now attached to the Academy staff, spent most of the afternoon cheering vigorously for the underdogs and receiving able support from daughter Jane and Ann Tansey.

SACHEMS OPEN HOOP SEASON DECEMBER 7

The Winchester High School Basketball Team will open its 1956-57 season at the high school gymnasium Friday evening, December 7, against Arlington High School.

Coach Jim Phillips has a strong nucleus of seniors led by Captain Mike Callahan. Other veterans are Roger Symmes, Dave Bergquist, and Ronnie and Quentin Roberts. It is hoped that John Chapin's knee injury will heal in time for his aggressive backboard play to help the club during the latter part of the season.

There will be eleven home games with seven of them on Friday evenings. Home night games in December will be Arlington, December 7; Wellesley, December 21; and Wakefield, December 28. January will have only one Friday night game with Concord coming here on the 11.

There are three good attractions in February. Always dangerous Reading will be here on the first, and on February 15 the Red and Black will meet Belmont here in what may well be the key game of the Middlesex League Season. The Sachems will close their home season on Washington's Birthday against traditional rival Woburn.

Reserved seats for Friday evening home games may be secured as in the past. Seats for any home game or the season may be reserved by calling WInchester 6-4300.

Tickets will be held in the purchasers name at the box office and may be picked up there for any game or for the entire season as desired.

OLYMPIC JUMPER SON OF FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL

Few in town who have followed the meteoric high jumping career of Somerville's Phil Reavis, now in Australia with the United States Olympic Team, realize that this former holder of the schoolboy high jump record is the son of a Winchester girl and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Cromwell of 27 Irving street.

Mabel Cromwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell, and Edward Reavis were married in Cambridge 23 years ago. They have three sons, Edward, Philip and Richard. Edward, the oldest, is attending college in Germany, after completing service with the Army. He had completed two years at Northeastern before entering service.

Philip, the high jumper, is a junior at Villanova and is of course currently in Melbourne, Australia, where over the past week-end he placed sixth for Uncle Sam in the Olympic high jump. Richard, the youngest, is a schoolboy in Somerville.

Phil, while at Somerville High School, established a world's interscholastic indoor high jump record in a meet at the Weymouth Armory. He graduated from Somerville High in 1952 and entered Villanova, continuing his jumping success there.

Last year at the Philadelphia Enquirer meet he broke the meet record with a leap of 6 ft. 10 in. and he also tied for first place in the high jump at the B.A.A. Games in the Boston Garden. He also won the ICAAAA high jump, and rounded out a great year by qualifying in third place for the Olympic high jumping squad in tryouts held last summer in California.

At the Reavis home in Somerville Mrs. Reavis said that while the whole family is eagerly awaiting Phil's return from Melbourne, it might turn out that their pride and joy will go directly from Australia to Villanova in order to resume his interrupted scholastic work as soon as possible.

Robert Haggerty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haggerty of 27 Sylvester avenue, is playing varsity basketball at Bridgton Academy, North Brighton, Maine. Haggerty, a former football and baseball star at Winchester High, is a post-graduate at Bridgton.

Hi Single: Choppers Gangi 147
Hi Triple: Babe Tofuri 352

Here you have a complete and detailed report up to date.

Just a few words on the Winchester-Woburn game which from all standpoints we were lucky to win. Win we did regardless of any pros or cons. We of the S. O. I. extend our congratulations to Coach Henry Knowlton and his assistants and players for the fine season under such trying conditions that prevailed. May next year flower into a complete and unbeaten season.

Extra! Hokie Procopio released from hospital and is now resting at the Don Orione Home for Aged Italians until such time that he is called. Lest we forget let us all make an effort to occasionally stop in and pay him a visit.

See you next week.

Have you noticed how many more pedestrians are using the cross walks in the center these days?

Surprising as it may seem, it really looks as though we will have to be doing something about additional room at the new senior high school. Superintendent of Schools Gilson tells the Star that this year's 100-pupil jump in enrollment has the high school at capacity right now, and with another increase of like size anticipated next year there will be real need for additional classrooms next September.

Two factors have led to this situation, a continued high birth rate, and an unusual amount of building in Winchester, which promises to continue during the next two or three years.

The junior high school looks good to go along for a while, but the high school definitely cannot wait as long. This year rooms are being used as classrooms that were not designed for that purpose.

At the elementary level the spot where additional school facilities are likely to be needed is in the West Side hill section beyond the Parkhurst building, which is not going to be able to take care of increases caused by intensive building programs there.

The town has been growing population-wise and the impact of the growth is striking our schools, as it will other civic services in the future. It costs money to be a big town! Winchester is destined to find that out.

He has sung Mozart's Requiem in B Minor with the Boston University Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Allen C. Lannom, and has been soloist at the Isabella Gardner Museum. He was in the cast of Gertrude Stein's and Virgil Thomson's "Mother of Us All" given by the Adams House Music Society of the Harvard Music School.

On December 16, he will be the guest tenor soloist of the New Bedford Civic Choir, in their presentation of the Messiah.

M.S.P.C.A.

Probably our members who cannot come to our meetings would like to know more about our humane efforts. At our November meeting at the home of Mrs. William C. Kimball, 221 Cambridge road, Woburn, when Mr. Albert A. Pollard spoke to us, we voted to give fifty dollars toward the educational work that he directs, he travels to many places in New England, to speak to groups, teachers, schools, and clubs. Last spring he was invited by the Superintendent of Schools to talk in a large town in Kansas, where humane work is sorely needed.

It is the custom of the Winchester Auxiliary to give money toward the M.S.P.C.A. Horses' Christmas and this year we gave fifteen dollars. So you see our dues though small are very helpful.

While there are very few horses in Boston at the present time, it is best to continue to distribute, carrots, apples, oats and sometimes blankets to the horses that remain, in the more uncomfortable surroundings in Boston this year, thereby giving our agents a chance to help those in distress and likely to prevent thoughtless cruelty.

It is always most wise to prevent cruelty rather than to punish those who do wrong.

To punish a person, does not relieve pain in an animal!

No meeting will be held in the busy month of December.

We will look forward to a meeting in mid-winter. Our newer and younger members have some excellent ideas for enlarging our outreach in humane work; and you will all hear about it in time. Mrs. Noyes thanks all those who have brought cloth, cotton, linen or woolen for the Animal Hospital. Just leave it anytime at 3 Dix terrace corner Dix street.

The Winchester dog officer is doing well, the dogs go to a kennel in Woburn for six days, then to our hospital. From there, many are placed in selected new homes.

Who can tell but they did not like there former homes, so they were "lost dogs," hungry, sad and lonely.

AT FORT DIX

Two Winchester boys, Victor R. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Borge Carlson of 16 East street, and Robert D. Cliggott, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cliggott of 10 Winthrop street, have arrived at Fort Dix, N. J., for eight weeks of basic training.

Both Carlson and Cliggott have been assigned to P Company of the 2nd Training Battalion of the infantry. Cliggott, a graduate of Medford High School, was employed by the Boston Herald—Traveler before entering the service.

Carlson, who is married to the former Barbara Browne of East Weymouth, graduated from Winchester High School and entered service from the Davies—Thompson Corp., of West Newton.

Robert Maietta, Jr., son of Robert and Andrea (nee Erskine) Maietta, was the winner of a baby contest conducted in the Brighton area.

Eighty-five children were entered in the contest. Voters cast their ballots after viewing photographs of the contestants. Young Robert received for his prize a colored enlargement of his display photograph.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Erskine of 41 Lake street and Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Maietta of 408 Main street.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Richard Hayward Sanderson, 67 Cochituate road, Wayland, and Jennifer Anna Meigs, 11 Hancock street.

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY THEATRE

Norma Merenda and Marie Millican in the comings and goings of "Catherine." Mrs. Charles Merenda (Norma Merenda) has been devoted to the idea of Winchester Community Theatre since last spring, when she and others in the cast worked with Directors, Stone and Samoiloff, in the Theatre Workshop. She was cast and rehearsing for 4 weeks as Catherine in the coming play, "Great Catherine" at the Washington School Auditorium next Thursday and Friday nights, December 6 and 7.

Last Monday, Norma, strained her back, and in great pain under doctor's orders, was forced to go to the Winchester Hospital in traction for a week. This meant another Catherine must be found. Norma's concern and fine tribute to the idea of Winchester Community Theatre was for the play, and with only 8 days to learn the part, the threat of cancellation loomed its ugly head. But a rescue feat to the hard-pressed actors came in the generous acceptance by Marie Millican of the role of "Catherine" which 2 years ago she played at the Boston Center of Adult Education.

It is fun to see Marie Millican being such a good sport in helping the group of Winchester Community Theatre in a tight spot, and it is fun to see her luring out the Empress Catherine asleep for 2 years in her subconscious, in a delightful and amusing portrayal of Shaw's "Catherine."

We send our heartfelt sympathy to Norma Merenda and our thanks to Marie Millican.

Come see "Catherine" and "Androcles and the Lions."

A QUIET DAY FOR WOMEN

On Tuesday, December 4, a Quiet Day for the women of the Church will be held at the Epiphany Church. The day will begin with a Service of Holy Communion at 10 o'clock. Following this, meditations will be led by Miss Estelle Carver, an outstanding spiritual lay reader in the Episcopal Church. Miss Carver's book "Newness of Life" was published by the Methodist Church. This Quiet Day is a privilege Epiphany is sharing with women of other parishes and a large attendance is expected. For some of the Circles it will take the place of their December meetings.

The luncheon at 12:15 will also be quiet and Mr. Ellison, the rector, will read at that time. Miss Carver will resume the meditations at 1:15, closing at 2:30.

Those attending are asked to bring their own sandwiches for lunch. Coffee and dessert will be served.

We expect 150 Young People to attend the Rally, they will be coming from the following towns: Wakefield, Malden, Melrose, Woburn, Medford, Arlington, Somerville, Reading, Boston, Chelsea and Everett.

Refreshments will be served by our Youth Advisers; Mrs. W. Bosselman, Mrs. Stanley Mullen and Mrs. Charles Huckins.

before Christmas
When all through the house
Not a creature was stirring,
Not even a mouse.

Mom with her bobby pins,
"Ah my! Every night,

Dr. and Mrs. William D. Barone and children Debbie and Greg spent the long holiday week-end in Washington, D. C.

On Thanksgiving Day they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ordman (former Barbara Goodwin) at their home in Georgetown. Barbara Bolster, cousin of Mrs. Ordman, and also from Winchester, was a week-end guest of the Ordman's.

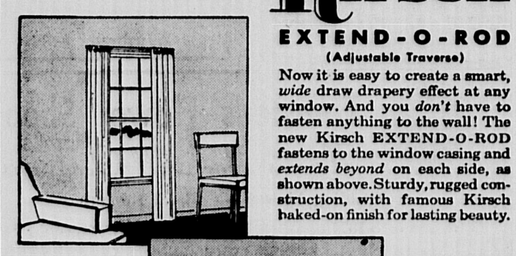
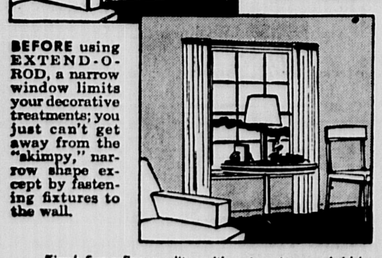
Make Windows Look W-I-D-E-R
(WITHOUT MARRING THE WALLS!)



Kirsch
EXTEND-O-ROD
(Adjustable Traverse)

Now it is easy to create a smart, wide draw drapery effect at any window. And you don't have to fasten anything to the wall! The new Kirsch EXTEND-O-ROD fastens to the window casing and extends beyond on each side, as shown above. Sturdy, rugged construction, with famous Kirsch baked-on finish for lasting beauty.



BEFORE using EXTEND-O-ROD, a narrow window limits your decorative treatments; you just can't get away from the "skimpy," narrow shape except by fastening fixtures to the wall.

AFTER you get EXTEND-O-ROD, the "difficult" window takes on the "wide" appearance of a picture window. You can have more light and more air, with luxurious draw draperies.

Kirsch Superfine quality, with extra-strong, rigid brackets for firm support. No twist! Each end provides an adjustable "return" for the sides of your drapery. Can be mounted directly to ceiling, if desired. Four adjustable length-sizes, to fit ALL windows.

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB CHRISTMAS GREENS SALE

It may seem strange to begin telling about a Christmas Greens Sale by first referring to two wonderful trips, one to Cape Cod and one to Maine. But that is the way material for this annual sale was collected and so began another year of a Christmas Greens Sale which has now so established itself as an affair that very little needs to be said further. And those of you who missed either of these trips should make sure that you get in on them another year!

The first trip was early in October to West Harwich, Cape Cod, to the summer home of Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl where pine cones were gathered to be wired, painted and arranged later into interestingly different combinations. The other trip was later in the month when Mrs. Norman Mitchell welcomed the Greens Sale workers to her lovely old home in Hollis, Maine, where baskets were filled to overflowing with all sorts of dried materials which are now being used most effectively in unusual home decorations. Delicious luncheons were enjoyed at both homes and everyone came away filled with enthusiasm to begin work at the Workshop at the home of Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, 91 Lawson road Ext. These workshop days are held on Mondays and Thursdays and all are still welcome!

This Christmas Greens Sale by the Winchester Home & Garden Club will take place Wednesday, December 12, at the Baptist Church from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. At 12:30 a luncheon, prepared by Mrs. Percy Bugbee and Mrs. William Holdich, will be served to those having bought tickets in advance. These tickets may be had from Mrs. Harry D. Locke and Mrs. Clifford H. Williams. None will be sold at the door.

Remember; for the unusual in decorated evergreen wreaths; for very special table decorations; indoor swags, wreaths and centerpieces; gay and original Christmas corsages; home cooked food; and all sorts of things that make for the comfort of our birds, come to the Winchester Home & Garden Christmas Greens Sale!

WOMEN'S LEAGUE CHRISTMAS TEA

The December meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church will be a Christmas Tea on Thursday, December 6, at 2:30 p. m. in the Social Hall.

Members of the women's organizations of the other Winchester churches are invited to be our guests. We hope they will come to our meeting and stay to enjoy a social hour at our tea table.

Mrs. Kenneth L. Garrison of Brookline, will speak on "The Treasures of Christmas." Mrs. Joseph M. Dunn will lead the devotions. Mrs. Blanche K. Hill and Mrs. Paul B. Hicks are co-chairmen of the Tea Committee.

Green school bags $1.50 at the Winchester Star Bldg.

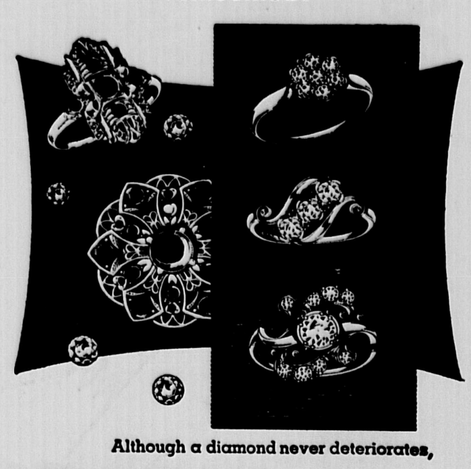
NEW BEAUTY
from your old diamonds—
remounted!



Although a diamond never deteriorates, it does lose much of its brilliance and charm in an out-moded setting. Jewelry styles change as definitely as frocks or millinery. And it isn't safe either; because an old setting may not be secure! Let us show you how beautifully and reasonably we can transform your old-fashioned jewelry into an exciting new ring.

The cost is surprisingly moderate. We will gladly submit prices and designs.

SOROKIN'S GARDEN WINS GOLD MEDAL

The Massachusetts Horticultural Society, at its meeting on October 11, awarded the Society's gold medal to Professor P. A. Sorokin's garden at 8 Cliff street. The citation accompanying the award reads:

"A flaming mass of azaleas and rhododendrons climbing a cliff crowned by a cascade of wisteria; the 22 years work of a sociologist who find in horticulture fulfillment of the spirit."

This garden, attracting thousands of visitors each season, has been increasingly featured by full page color photographs in such national magazines as Horticultural and House and Garden, and has become a distinct beauty spot in Winchester.

From November 10 to 21, Prof. Sorokin was giving all-university lectures and convocation addresses at Cornell and St. Louis Universities, as well as at several colleges, attended by audiences of from three to four thousand faculty members, students and distinguished honor guests. From February 10 to March 10 next year, he will lecture at the University of Florida.

Prof. Sorokin's latest book, Fads and Foibles in Modern Sociology and Related Sciences, published in May of 1956, has been already translated into Spanish, and, among the high commendation of eminent scientists and scholars, was most highly evaluated by the London Times' Literary Supplement of November 2, 1956.

A new volumn by Prof. Sorokin, American Sex Revolution: Manifestations and Consequences, will be published on January 7, 1957, by Extending Horizons Press of Boston.

The supremacy of spiritual law will be set forth at Christian Science Services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator."

Scriptural selections will include Paul's statement to the Galations (3:21): "Is the law then against the promises of God? God forbid: for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (273:21-24): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator."

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah (10:-10,12): "The Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king . . . He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion."

THE FORTNIGHTLY

On Monday evening, November 26, the Fortnightly held its Guest Night in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church. The president, Mrs. Paul H. Atwood, dispensed with any business so that the speaker of the occasion could begin at once. Mr. Saville R. Davis, noted columnist on the editorial staff of the Christian Science Monitor and recently returned from an extensive tour of the Far East discussed "The New World of Asia."

In an intimate manner he first amused his audience by describing some of his experiences with eastern food delicacies, but soon turned serious in explaining economic conditions and social reactions which he found in Burma, India, and other adjacent countries.

The ideas he had previously held (obtained mostly from newspaper reports) on the effect of Socialism and Communism in these places underwent considerable alteration under his own observations. With much skill and penetration he showed how these systems have worked out. In contacting people high and low he realized that the conclusions drawn by our distant judgments are often misconceptions or completely erroneous.

The figures of Nehru and Nasser with both of whom he conversed at some length were made more understandable. The whole talk was most enlightening. He urged that we keep a kindly attitude toward the Asians who need understanding quite as much as financial aid. Questions from the floor opened up further lines of interest which were doubtless pursued during the coffee hour which followed.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Francis C. Bowes and willing helpers. At the handsomely decorated tables the pourers were Mrs. Walter L. Bailey, Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard, and Mrs. Charles E. Potts.

DR. BAKER TO SPEAK AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

Mystic School parents look forward to a very special evening on Tuesday, December 4, at 8:30, when Dr. James G. Baker, a distinguished Mystic School father, will speak on the topic "Space and Telescopes."

Dr. Baker's field is astronomy, his special interest, optical physics. His knowledge is vast and his reputation international. He has been, for many years, research associate at the Harvard Lick Observatories and is a member of the Scientific Advisory Board to the United States Air Force. He is a designer of telescopes and satellite cameras.

A graduate of the University of Louisville, Dr. Baker received his master's and doctor's degrees from Harvard University. He holds membership in many professional societies. High honors have come to him and Mystic School is proud to have him as one of its parents.

This Mystic School evening is very much a family affair. Mrs. Richard A. Sawyer, vice-president and program chairman, has arranged dessert parties before the meeting, which will include all mothers and fathers and teachers in the Mystic School. Sixty hostesses have invited small groups of parents and teachers for dessert and coffee. Mrs. Sawyer has planned this in such a way that at each party there will be parents of children who are in the same class at school.

Astronomy in all its branches is of great interest in our modern world and Dr. Baker's topic, illustrated with slides, should prove a fascinating one to this audience.

KIWANIS ANNUAL CHRISTMAS GIFT PROGRAM

Last year at this time the Winchester Kiwanis Club members distributed gifts of games, toys, and wearing apparel to thirty-four needy boys and girls in town.

The members were aided immensely by the donations of generous merchants in Winchester. Complete Christmas dinners were also given to needy families.

The gifts were wrapped and tagged and delivered to the childrens' homes on Christmas Eve through arrangements with Santa Claus.

The opportunity to help this small number of children in our own town enjoy a happier holiday proved so satisfying to the club members that the program has become a yearly undertaking.

An excerpt from one of the many thank you letters received. "We wish to thank you for your kind remembrances at Christmas. We were all simply delighted with so many beautiful and useful toys, games and wearing apparel (which we would not have received otherwise). "May God bless you for helping to make others happy on His Birthday."

Names of children were obtained from the Welfare Department. However, if any reader knows of a deserving child or desires to contribute a gift, please contact any member of the club by December 21, or call WInchester 6-1882-W. No child will be overlooked if everyone helps. de7-2t

READING SYMPHONY

The Reading Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the season on Sunday afternoon, December 9, at 3:30, in the high school auditorium, Oakland road, Reading. Weston L. Brannen, conductor, is pleased to announce that the guest soloist will be Mr. Armando Ghitalla, trumpeter, who is a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Membership in the Reading Symphony Orchestra is open to any capable amateur. At present about half of the 65 players come from out-side of Reading, some from as far away as Framingham and Mattapan. If you are not yet acquainted with this fine musical organization, here is a fine opportunity to hear a concert of varied and interesting music.

PLAYING IN SINFONIETTA

Elisabeth Rowlingson, daughter of Mrs. Louise K. Rowlingson, 5 River street, Arlington, and Dr. D. T. Rowlingson of Brookline, N. H., appeared with the Allegheny Sinfonietta at the orchestra's ninth annual Christmas concert, Thursday evening, December 6, in Ford Memorial Chapel.

Miss Rowlingson, a first violinist in the 26-piece orchestra, is a freshman at Allegheny, and a graduate of Winchester High School.

STATE HOUSING BOARD REPORTS

Governor Herter today made public a report from Chairman Daniel Tyler, Jr., of the State Housing Board, reviewing his direction of the State's housing program during the past four years.

At the same time the Governor declared that Tyler's record of efficient and economical management is "an enviable and notable one."

The Governor observed that during the four-year period, Tyler has accomplished a saving of more than $1,000,000 in the administrative costs of operating the State Housing Board and approximately another $1,000,000 in subsidy costs.

Tyler pointed out to Governor Herter in his report that when he assumed the chairmanship of the State Housing Board on February 12, 1953, that board had requested a budget of about $619,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1953, and had 97 employees on its payroll aside from the board members themselves.

For the present fiscal year, Tyler reported, the State Housing Board has a budget of approximately $300,000, has 37 persons in its employ and three consultants, one of whom works on a part-time basis.

Under Chairman Tyler's management of the State housing program, the amount the State must pay in subsidies for the low-rent, State-aided veterans' housing projects throughout the Commonwealth has been reduced from $259.16 per unit in 1952 to $237.46 for the present fiscal year.

Tyler told the Governor that this reduction had been accomplished, notwithstanding the fact that the buildings which comprise the various housing developments are getting older and are in need of an increasing amount of maintenance and repair work.

Massachusetts' old age housing program, inaugurated by Governor Herter, was launched under Tyler's direction in 1954.

At the present time 268 dwelling units in Beverly, Malden, New Bedford, Waltham, Worcester and Chicopee are occupied by elderly persons.

Now under construction are 45 units in Brockton, 25 in Framingham, 20 in Ipswich, 42 in Holyoke, 32 in Lynn, 36 in Revere and 75 in Springfield.

Work will be started shortly on the erection of 29 dwelling units in Stoneham and 24 in Falmouth. Bids opened November 30 for the construction of 40 units in Everett and 34 in Peabody.

Contracts for financial assistance have been approved by the State Housing Board for 75 elderly housing units in Lowell, 45 in Fitchburg, 32 in Chelsea and 25 in Leominster.

Cities to which elderly housing units have been allocated are Boston, 200; Cambridge, 75; Gardner, 20; Gloucester, 20; Lawrence, 35; Pittsfield, 40; Quincy, 45; Salem, 30; Somerville, 75; and Woburn, 20.

Towns to which allocations have been made are Amesbury, 20; Clinton, 20; Easthampton, 20; Mansfield, 20; Methuen, 25; Milford, 30; and Millbury, 20.

The report submitted to Governor Herter revealed that Tyler took effective steps to check spiralling costs in the State Housing Board after his appointment by the Governor in February, 1953

As a result of economies and savings made by Tyler, the appropriation for the Housing Board for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, was cut from the proposed budget of $618,830 to $391,300.

Following his policy of achieving savings wherever possible, Tyler reduced his budget to $329,075 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956. The regular budget appropriation for the present fiscal year was $298,050.

Tyler stated in his report to the Governor that no appointments were made for political reasons and that where employees were dropped because there was no work for them to do, their positions were left unfilled.

"In your inaugural message of January 8, 1953, you stated that 'no conscientious employee doing a necessary job need be concerned about his future. Indeed he should have done," Tyler said in his report to the Governor.

"Not one of the positions which were eliminated in this office has been filled," Tyler informed the Governor. "Not one political appointment of any kind has been made. If this office had a necessary job and the person doing the job was conscientious, that person is still here.

"Our objective under your administration," Tyler declared, "was to give the taxpayers of Massachusetts a dollar value for every dollar expended."

Safety Tip: Overtaking another car on a two-lane highway represents one of the greatest single causes of serious accidents, according to the AAA. You're forced to drive on the wrong side of the road and run the risk of a head-on collision. Use extreme care in passing; be sure there's plenty of space ahead; never pass on hills or curves.

THE LADY AND THE BELL

—A STORY FOR CHRISTMAS—

"Twas the day after Christmas,
When all through the house,
Children were crying,
Where was Santa Claus?"

George Wilson knew that these lines running through his head were not the proper opening verses of that well-known poem.

Homeward bound, he trudged through the soft snow which penetrated his worn shoes. The cruel win tore at his coat as if to take it from him. Snowflakes scratched his eyes. His feet were numb.

Ahead he saw two youngsters gaze longingly at a window display of gaily-colored toys. One lad was on crutches. In their sad expressions which said the toys were not for them, George saw the look on his own children Christmas morn.

He had been having what gamblers call "a streak of bad luck." His wife was recovering from a serious illness and his youngest boy, Tommy, had broken his leg last week. The unpaid bills were piling up.

The other youngsters, Jack, Mary and Elly, were allright. George thought thankfully. "If I can only make it past Christmas, things will get better!"

He had hope, the stuff that makes dreams come true. But Christmas was a week away and George had little money left.

"A Merry Christmas indeed!" he muttered.

Suddenly he heard a bell ringing. A glance at the courthouse clock across the street showed only ten minutes before six. Who was ringing a bell?

The ringing got louder as he made his way through the violent storm.

Then he saw something he didn't believe at first. Standing on the sidewalk swinging a great bell was a lady. Beside her he made out what looked like-it was, a kettle!

The snow whirled about her, at times covering her with a white curtain. But there she stood, almost defying the storm to drive her from her station. She reminded George of a soldier on battle duty.

Here was a determined person. But why, why? George was puzzled.

A kettle, a bell, a lady, Christmas near-of course, "the Salvation Army!" he blurted out aloud.

George reached deeply into his overcoat pocket and fondled the small, smooth coin which lay there.

Hesitating an instant, he walked up to the kettle and deposited his coin. But he didn't walk away. As he looked at the uniformed lady bravely standing there, he felt a sudden compassion and a desire to cry.

The great bell stopped its pealing. A soft pleasant voice inquired, "May I help you?"

"Can you?" asked George.

"I'll try," the voice answered.

George spoke for what seemed a long, long time. It was. He became oblivious to the increasingly severe storm. The snow drifted against his feet.

When he stopped speaking the voice said, "Yes, I can help you."

As he resumed his trudge home, George repeated over and over again the address given him by this lady with the bell.

If what she said were true, he thought, I'll have a chance to get on my feet again, and the children would have another happy Christmas. They would never know how close they came to going hungry.

A few days after the holiday George was again walking home. His new overshoes left clear imprints in the snow.

He thought to himself:

"'Twas the day after Christmas,
When all through the house,
Children were shouting,
Hooray for Santa Claus!"
George Wilson smiled.

ROLAND A. NAULT

MT. PERO CHANGES DIRECTORS

Roly and Jayne Nault of 203 Washington street have sold Camp Mount Pero, a co-ed camp in the White Mountains at Plymouth, N. H. The new director-owners are Frank and Peg Favorat of 10 Wellington road, Winchester.

Mount Pero's history under the Naults goes back to 1948. It was started as a boys' camp and after four years added a second section to include a girls' camp. Mount Pero's spirit of camping saw always one of doing the most for each individual camper through individual sports and activities and thence to the more competitive group sports and activities. This was achieved through a small enrollment.

Roly is leaving juvenile camping after fifteen years in leadership roles. These years were spent in "Y" camps, Scout Camps, and private camps. He has been active in the New England Camping Association, having Mount Pero fully accredited. Mrs. Nault has been active in the camping field since 1948, being dietician and camp mother.

Perhaps Roly's pet interest has been the strong pioneering movement he established in winter camping with special emphasis on the skiing phase of winter sports. Mount Pero will always be remembered in this phase of camping. Roly has been for some ten years a ski-patrolman as well as a certified National Ski Association proficiency judge.

Of news to the friends of Mount Pero is the fact that the camp will continue both the Winter Camps and Summer sessions under the new directors with Roly and Jayne Nault conducting the ski school and the kitchen portion of the camp. They will also act as advisers during the coming summer camp. The Naults will be nearby, at their newly acquired summer cottage on Moultonborough Neck, Lake Winnipesaukee.

Of great importance will be the new rope tow for the ski slope, and a completely new and fine waterfront on Loon Lake. It is hoped that all the friends of Mount Pero will continue their association with the camp under the Favorats' ownership.

MICHAEL POWER PRESENTED PIANO RECITAL

The pupils and faculty at the high school were privileged to hear a piano recital by Mr. Michael Power last Thursday morning. This was the second time since his coming to Winchester High School as an English instructor that Mr. Power has shared his splendid talent as a pianist with the school.

In selecting the music for his recital, Mr Power chose compositions by Bach, Weber, and Chopin, once again demonstrating his exacting standards of musicianship. The warm applause with which his program was greeted was testimony to his fine competence as a pianist. It is good news for lovers of fine music that the Parent-Faculty Association will present Mr. Power in a public concert early in February.

Following is the program played by Mr. Power last Thursday:

Toccata in G	Bach
Gigue (Fifth French Suite)	Bach
Rondo "La Gaite"	Weber
Waltz in E flat	Chopin
Waltz in C sharp minor	Chopin
Waltz in G flat	Chopin
Nocturne in F sharp	Chopin
Fantaisie Impromptu	Chopin

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB CHRISTMAS GREENS SALE

Evergreen Wreaths artistically decorated by Home and Garden Club members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Theodore Atkinson, are more unusual than one can ordinarily buy anywhere, so come to the Winchester Home and Garden Club Greens Sale on Wednesday, December 12, at the First Baptist Church to get yours, but come early. They go very fast! Doors open at 10:00 a. m.

Also, under the leadership of Mrs. Herman Shane and Mrs. Burton Gove, ingeniously created indoor swags and wreaths, table, mantel, and fireplace decorations for your Christmas holidays can be had for the choosing. Colors include gold, silver, blue, pink, red, and white.

If, however, there may be some special type of home decoration which you can not seem to find at that table, you will be sure to find it at the so-called "Special" table which Mrs. Edward J. McDevitt and Mrs. Joseph J. Vaccaro have solicited from specially gifted members of the club.

Mrs. Richard Frazier, Mrs. George H. Lemay and Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick have assembled delicate and original Christmas corsages which will be a joy to own and wear.

Maybe you would like to buy your own "ingredients" for wreath and home decorations! Mrs. John Chipman and Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl have arranged for you many types of dried material, plain and gilded cones, seed pods, birds' nests, and assembled evergreen wreath decorations.

Not only do we, the Home and Garden Club members, plan for gay decorations for the home at Christmas Time, but we also remember our birds and their comfort. Mrs. James Newman and Miss Helen Monroe are ready with all sorts of food and feeders, even advice, as to the welfare of our birds during the winter.

And finally, as you leave the hall, Mrs. Frederick Churchill and Mrs. Edward Mansfield will tempt you with home made food which members of the club have donated for sale so as to help with dinner that night.

So, come to the Christmas Greens Sale of the Winchester Home and Garden Club, have lunch, prepared by Mrs. Percy Bugbee and Mrs. William Holdich, at 12:30, and leave with the most unusual and beautiful decorations for your home ever!

Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills and Mrs. Alexander P. Aitken are co-chairmen for this annual sale this year and Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl is responsible for the publicity.

CAN SEE MYSTERIES OF TV AT SCIENCE MUSEUM

A 21-inch color television set in a transparent case has just been placed on exhibit at Boston's Museum of Science.

The set, capable of receiving black and white as well as any color in the spectrum from pastels to heavy shades, allows Museum visitors to see all 28 tubes in operation.

Given to the Museum through the Radio Corporation of America in cooperation with Jordan Marsh Company, corporate member of the Museum, the TV employs compatible color, using a "dot sequential system."

By standing close to the screen, Museum visitors can spot these dots on the face of the picture tube. There are 900,000 of them and they produce the color in combinations of red, blue and green.

Comparable to commercial sets selling for just under $500., the Museum's TV has been set on the second floor of the East Wing in a rest area for more relaxed viewing. It will be tuned to receive afternoon color shows.

The Museum, overlooking the Charles River, is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sundays from 2 to 5 p. m. It is closed Mondays.

MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun said today that while the Post Office still has a tremendous job ahead of it, efforts are being re-doubled to deliver all mail on time and in good condition by Christmas Eve. He points out that by taking a little extra care with your Christmas mailings now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time.

He asks for your special cooperation to be sure that your return address and the recipients address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and it's a good idea to include an extra label inside your packages. Parcel Post size and weight limitations vary according to destination. Ask about them when you go to the Post Office to buy stamps.

Speaking about stamps, the Postmaster said, "Use three cent postage on all your Christmas cards. This way they will be delivered promptly, and forwarded or returned, if necessary, providing you include your name and address on your Christmas card envelopes." First-Class postage on your Christmas cards enables you to include handwritten messages, thus making your Christmas greetings more personal. By including your name and address on each Christmas card envelope, both you and your friends can keep your mailing lists up-to-date.

The Postmaster urges that you mail all of your out-of-town Christmas cards and packages immediately, and certainly not later than December 10. Christmas mail for local addresses should be started on its way at least a week before Christmas.

You can do both yourself and the Post Office a real favor by securing free labels at the Post Office which read "All For Out of Town Delivery" and "All For Local Delivery." Place these labels on bundles of cards for local addresses and on those for out-of-town destinations.

Try to mail your-out-of-town Christmas cards several days in advance of those for local delivery, and those for nearby points should all be mailed by at least a week before Christmas.

The cooperation of all business firms in postponing the mailing of circulars and catalogs until after December 25 is requested.

The Postmaster expressed his thanks for the excellent response to his "Mail Early" appeals to date, but warns, that only by stepping up all mailing of Christmas packages and cards immediately, can the record mail load be processed and delivered on time.

GLEE CLUB IN SEASONAL FEATURE

The Mystic Glee Club's Winter Concert to be presented Saturday evening, December 15, promises to be outstanding. The first half of the program will include selections that are pleasing and familiar to all.

The second half will inaugurate a feature that is new with the Club. Emphasis will be on the Christmas spirit, joviality and song. This will include a lighted Christmas tree on stage and the Club's singing of old and familiar Carols.

Tickets for others than season members will be on sale at Hevey's Pharmacy and McCormack's Apothecary. As the demand is increasing with the approach of December 15, it would be wise to purchase tickets soon.

LAUGHS AND LADIES AT UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Once a year the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church have one of their meetings as "Ladies' Night," and this year it is to be Wednesday evening, December 12, at the church.

Members will bring their wives, and in addition the evening will be a "Tribute To The Ladies" by having as special guests some of the ladies of the church who contribute much to the church activities yet who may not have husbands belonging to the club.

The group will sit down to a catered dinner with all the fixings, and the committee has pledged themselves not to ask any woman to help in any way.

Following the dinner there will be entertainment featuring "There's A Laugh In Your Attic," an unusual type of talk using many exhibits by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Whittemore, now of Rocks Village, but formerly of Hillside avenue in Winchester and former members of the church.

The Whittemores live in a Tavern built in 1670, and are also antique dealers. The talk is an informal recapture of the odd and interesting incidents in their own experiences with antiques, plus demonstrating some of the funny old-time clothing, the humorous household gadgets of yesteryear, etc.

It is neither serious nor educational, and has been enjoyed by men and women in such varied groups as community couples clubs, church fund-raising drives, and historical societies.

WINS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY MEDAL

The Massachusetts Horticultural Society, at its meeting on October 11, awarded the Society's bronze medal to Mrs. Mildred C. Whitcomb of 34 Ledyard road. The citation accompanying the award reads:

"A small oval garden with a pool enclosed with a wide picket fence with hemlock and Siebold viburnum as a background for lower shrubs and perennials."

This garden which has been featuhed n Horticultural Magazine was designed and planted by Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood.

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

THE TRAFFIC DEATH PROBLEM

Editor of the Star:

An A.P. dispatch to the Boston Herald from Hartford, Conn., on November 24 states, "a Governor's Highway Safety Committee gravely warned today that unless the mounting rate of traffic casualties is reversed, the 1956 - 1966 decade will see 500,000 persons killed and 16 million injured on American highways." "This is a national emergency that demands action on a nation-wide basis." Governors of eight different states served on the Governors' Highway Safety Committee with Governor Rubicoff of Connecticut. The committee said: "Education for Safety in an age of motors is a grave responsibility of all school systems. Programs must be improved and extended if traffic casualties are to decline."

Confirming the truth and wisdom of that statement the result of the training of pupils of the Winchester High School in automobile driving in cars furnished by Bonnell Motors is most significant and praiseworthy. They have a record of no accidents. The writer was told that Winchester was one of the first high schools in the country to institute automobile driver education. Beginning with twelve students the number has grown in the past seven years to one hundred seventy-three. Mr. William F. Branley is director of driver education in Winchester High School and has reason to be proud of his successful accomplishment. A child should have a certificate of fitness from a director of driver education before he is granted a license to drive.

The solution of the traffic death problem, as well as that of childhood delinquency, depends upon education in the schools and homes where parents understand and know children and do their duty by them. Adults who have had no home or school driving education and, as a result of the misfortune, become careless, reckless and often defiant, present a different and more difficult problem. There is a difference of opinion in how to solve it. In the state of Connecticut their licenses are taken away. That has lessened the traffic deaths there compared to states that have done nothing or used other means.

Near the writer's house there are two traffic signs. One for traffic to Winchester Centre, reads 20 miles an hour; the other for cars going towards Medford, reads 30 miles an hour. Automobilists drive 40 to 50 miles per hour, heedless of the signs. If nothing can be done by police for lack of sufficient force at present the signs should be removed at once. Laws that are repeatedly violated with impunity engender carelessness for all laws.

Clustered within a stone's throw of each other are the residences of three practicing physicians, the new high school with an attendance of one thousand pupils, the enlarged junior high with five hundred fourteen. Washington and Main streets, the town's two most congested thoroughfares, meet opposite the high school and are joined by Mt. Pleasant street, a thoroughfare for many automobiles coming down from the hillside. Three dead-end streets, Francis circuit, opposite the junior high, Fairview and Black Horse terrace nearby, add to the congestion at this place, the outstanding one in Winchester.

Thousands of automobiles, noisy freight and gravel trucks and vans rush through this crowded place daily at a speed of 40 to 60 miles an hour. Many violate the stop signs. The writer has been informed that some have lost their licenses and some have been taken to court. The reason more has not been done about it is for lack of police personnel.

Chief of Police Harrold told the writer that he is enthusiastically in favor of driver automobile training of pupils at the Winchester High School as conducted by Mr. William F. Branley, director of driver education—"it is just the thing," he said. Chief Harrold is working on a plan to cope more effectively with the traffic problem. He will soon present it to the authorities. The struggle must go on to a successful finish.

A TOAST TO MR. AND MRS. WINCHESTER

Dear Neighbor:

Once again, as you have never failed to do in the past, you have manifested that brotherly spirit with which you are so richly endowed. Thanks to you and to those 599 wonderful people who added their time and efforts to the beneficence of their pocketbooks we have again successfully concluded an annual campaign for our Community Chest and the 277 agencies of the United Community Services. You have underwritten for another year their continuing service in behalf of our community and our future citizens.

We are still receiving and counting late returns. The exact results will be published when the pledges are all in. It is certain, though, that we have exceeded our quota of $57,800 by a substantial amount.

Our staff is well aware that a few people have not yet been contacted, either because of failure to catch them at home on several attempts, or because the solicitor has been delayed by a busy personal schedule. You know, Winchester people are awfully busy working for many good causes!

Small wonder some of you have phoned and asked if we care. We certainly do care and we are grateful for your indulgence. Those of you whom have not yet been solicited can make your pledge without further delay by either mailing your check to the United Community Services, Inc., care of Mr. Frederick Rozelle, 19 Canterbury road, or by phoning the undersigned at WInchester 6-3537. We will be only too happy to call for it.

On behalf of the Winchester Community Chest, the 277 Red Feather agencies, including our six in Winchester, and the Campaign staff, I express heartfelt gratitude to all the people of Winchester, the business concerns and their employees, the town employees and to donors and workers alike, for your generous support. Our many thanks also the the Star for its fine assistance.

Sincerely,
Bertram H. Dube, Chairman
1957 Red Feather Campaign

HOCKEY SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

INDIANS VS. ST. JOHN'S AT LYNN

Fresh from a 4-0 win over Woburn last Saturday in the Jamboree, the Winchester Sachems open their official season Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock against St. John's Preparatory School of Danvers.

The St. John's team has been strengthened by the addition of John Hendrickson, the former Gloucester High coach, who feels that his team can whip Winchester this week.

St. John's will field a veteran team which at the end of last season was coming very strongly.

Winchester will probably go with the team that started in the Jamboree. There should be an interesting afternoon of hockey.

PLYMOUTH...

...AMERICA'S MOST WANTED CAR!

Most stared after, most longed for car in the country! And no wonder! If you're like everybody else, you'll find it hard to believe that this breath-taking new Plymouth is a low-priced car instead of a much more expensive make. And when you see and drive it you'll prove to yourself that this Plymouth is actually three full years ahead of anything in its field. For example, there's the unequaled comfort of Torsion-Aire Ride that tames any road . . . the surging power of the mightiest V-8 in the low-price 3—now up to 290 hp . . . the extra safety of Total-Contact Brakes. See this car today and you'll see the car of 1960—at your Plymouth dealer's.

Don't miss Plymouth's two great new TV programs: Lawrence Welk's "Top Tunes and New Talent" and "The Ray Anthony Show." See TV section for time and station.

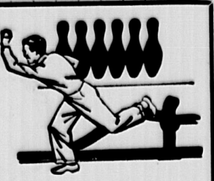
SONS OF ITALY Bowling News



S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

As the boys entered Strike Lane this evening they were treated to quite a surprise. Lo and behold, new pins and balls adorned the alleys! Thanking the management, the bowlers commenced their tenth bowling night, leaving only four nights to go to close the first half.

Team Standing:
All Stars	28-12
Blue Eyes	23-17
Jitterbugs	23-17
Bee Bops	22-18
Lindy Hop	21-19
Rock and Roll	19-21
High and Low	12-28
Hot Shots	12-28
Hi Single:
"Choppers" Gangi	147
Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri	352
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco	102.7
Richard Bucci	99.8
Dick Fiore	97.2
Babe Tofuri	96.7
Joe Berardi	96.4
Bob Fiore	95.9

The top team, All Stars, fell apart as they were only able to salvage one point by the skin of their teeth. Unusual, but true, their reliable captain, Tony Saraco, had the misfortune to have a bad night, the worst to my knowledge, as he was only able to bowl a mere 263.

Not only that, but not one bowler was able to climb to 300 or over, thus creating a situation never encountered twice in one season to anyones knowledge.

Maybe the new balls were too round and did not have any fingergrips worn into them, or the new pins were too heavily waxed. You could hear too many of these crazy excuses if you cared to listen to them for they were numerous.

With all this fuss, the Lindy Hop boys managed to end on top in the total pinfall department with 1353. Their captain "Kangaroo Kid" Jeff Gaudioso, who is now receiving psychotherapy treatments at B. C., did a fine job of steering his team to a three point victory. His actions are a show in itself.

His staunch team-mate, Larry Penta, added the needed punch to wrap it up. Other members are Sir Winston Frongillo, who of late is having a bad case of Podagra, or commonly known by us as the gout!; Dom Suppa, whose Sir Galahad tactics has put his back out of commissions; "Corrigor Fiore" of B. C. strike fame; and Phil Adagno, the little man behind the Shell pumps.

It was a rough night for the bowlers as the new balls and pins proved quite a disadvantage to them.

Here are some of the strange string totals for the evening: Suppa, 66; Pete Fiore, 64; M .D. Saraco, 67; Max LaCrubba, 75; Joe Ciarcia, 66; Tony Barsardino, 67; Dom Provinzano, 75; Bob Fiore, 79 and 80; Joe Berardi, 83; Tony Saraco, 83.

Sad but true it was either the new equipment or too much turkey. Friday two of our bowlers left for New York and from there Saturday left for the Army-Navy game. Who? Pete Fiore and Leroy Penta, whose annual award of the Sportsmanship trophy is well known by now throughout the town.

It was rumored that Leroy went along to make sure that Pete didn't get lost.

Each week an award of hair tonic is presented to the lucky bowler. Fate plays many funny tricks. About 8:30 p. m. an ambulance from the Angell Memorial Hospital drove up to the alleys and two men in white coats carried our friend Hokie into the bowling arena.

The bowlers were overwhelmed to see their lengendary friend among them. Being sports that they are, they all chipped in and bought him a ticket for the award. The price being 25 cents.

You guessed it. He won. His elation was so great that his eyes became misty and could speak not a word. But to his many friends his humility spoke louder than words. With this the bowling closed and he faded into the night like a fairy tale of old.

See you next week.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

On Thursday last, Mrs. Gertrude Murphy and Mrs. Anna Pitman entertained the members of the Winchester Garden Club at the Winchester Country Club. After a delicious dessert Mrs. Bugbee presided at a short business meeting. With pride and pleasure the 90th birthday of Miss Mary Alice Fitch, a former president was acknowledged and applauded.

Mrs. Patrick, program chairman then called on Mrs. Dora Hadley who had arranged and collected the color slides from club members. Mrs. Hadley first showed the slides from the collection of Mrs. Kirkwood, the lovely Scottish and English garden pictures which are always a delight and inspiration to garden enthusiasts.

Mrs. Hudson's pictures of the garden in its pastel coloring, the attractive garden house with its out-door grill, and the flowering trees made one wish that we were approaching spring instead of the winter season. The Hudson's pictures of Saginaw were full of the peaceful quiet untouched beauty of nature, that one finds only in the uninhabited places of the world.

Miss Mildred Stone's pictures captured some of the more humorous aspects of action at the auction in the Hadley Garden. She also showed a few slides of her garden where one always finds so much of the gracious hospitality of outdoor living.

The slides taken by the Hadleys of their garden were interesting for they showed the development of their extensive grounds, the brooks, the pool, the inviting walks into the hills, the bird life and also some amusing pictures of the Club Auction.

Mrs. Peggy Ghirardini's pictures of her interesting and colorful garden and the beautiful scenes in and about Winchester were delightful.

The pictures taken in the John Maddocks' gardens, by the Hadleys many years ago were interesting because they showed arrangements by Winchester Garden Club members when the art of flower arranging was at its infancy, they were rare pictures of rare arrangements.

Mrs. West's pictures showed pictures of her garden when it was young and also some arrangements of dried materials and driftwood. the pictures of Christmas wreaths and Christmas decor were shown, as a welcome to the approaching joyous holidays ahead.

Safety Tip: Stores in shopping centers are often open at night. That means you may have to walk where traffic is heavy. Give the cars plenty of room. You may be able to see the headlights, but the drivers may not be able to see you, especially if you're wearing dark clothing, advises the AAA.

Later, until poor health forced his retirement he was a salesman for a manufacturer of check-writers and other financial machines.

Mr. Bush made his home in Winchester for more than 10 years, living with his mother, Mrs. Helen Bush at 232 Washington street. He left town five years ago after the death of his mother and in recent years had spent much of his time in nursing homes before entering the hospital.

MISS. M. ALICE MASON

Miss M. Alice Mason of 288 Main street, a long time and prominent resident of Winchester for more than 65 years, died at her home Saturday, December 1.

She joined the Unitarian Church and the Ladies Friendly Society of that church, now the Women's Alliance, and was an active member of both, serving as President of the Ladies Friendly, a teacher in the Sunday School and a member of the church Dramatic Group.

When the Fortnightly Women's Club became active in dramatics and organized a dramatic committee Miss Mason joined the club and played leading roles in their productions. She was a charter member of the Winchester Florence Crittenton Circle and of the Winchester Art Association.

Miss Mason was on the building committee of the original Winchester Hospital and served the hospital for ten years as treasurer. She was also treasurer for many years, first the Pop Concert Committee, and later of the Winchester Horse Show Committee which furnished and maintained the operating suite of the hospital while raising an endowment of $10,000.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, the Rev. John W. Ellison, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

A HUNTING STORY!

"Nick-Fitz" (Fitzgerald to you), has long had the reputation of being a humane man, but according to "Al" Elliott, the Homespun Boy, you can carry this sympathy business too far!

It seems Nick has suddenly become fired with the desire to excel as a mighty hunter. Now that the overhead is a fait accompli he has had to look around for something to take up the slack, and as a consequence he has let fellers like Ernie Dade, Al Elliott, Charlie Koch and Ab Bradlee talk him into going hunting. As a matter of fact he has been hunting twice since the close of the football season, during which he was too busy spotting for the Editor of the Star to get out of Winchester, except to out-of-town games!

It was on his last hunting trip that the ex-Mayor proved that the "quality of mercy is not strained," as the late William Shakespeare wrote so many years ago.

"Nick" and "Ernie" Dade were doing a spot of hunting last week end up around Gilford, N. H., and in preparation for any eventuality that might eventuate the boys got in a bit of shootin' practice in advance of going into the woods. "Nick" was knocking over cans at 100 yards and generally comporting himself with his rifle in championship style.

Came the trip, and "Nick" and "Ernie" were engaged in tracking their prospective quarry when they got slightly separated in the woods. "Ernie" first noticed he had lost a playmate and started to backtrack through the underbrush in search of "Nick," bearing in mind the Fitzgerald lack of real experience in the woods. If he were missing Koch, or Elliott or Bradlee, old experienced woodsmen, he wouldn't have given the matter a second thought.

He had no difficulty in locating Mr. Fitzgerald. After all, the woods are not impenetrable up Gilford way.

What was hard to believe was that as he approached he saw "Nick" practically pushed out of the pathway he was treading by a pretty fair-sized buck, which brushed by the mighty hunter on his way to urgent business elsewhere.

The Fitzgerald gun remained silent, the marksman's eye so popped it couldn't squint through a sight. If he had a shillalah, he would have gotten the buck, but these firearms are dangerous. You might kill someone with them!

TB SEALS NEED YOUR HELP

"Buy your Christmas Seals now," the Winchester TB Committee urges, through its chairman, Sherman B. Russell. "Only through this annual sale of the famous double-barred Christmas Seals is the work of our Middlesex Health Association made possible."

Mr. Russell added that most residents have received seals in the mail, but may have delayed returning checks for them. If anyone has not received seals, please call WInchester 6-3257, or PR 6-3093, 9 to 4, Monday through Friday.

"Eventual elimination of this virulent disease can be accomplished—if we wage our health campaign toward this goal—and if we have the continued support of our Winchester friends," Mr. Russell said.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Chapman of Hillcrest Parkway announce the engagement of their daughter, Jacqueline Lucille to Mr. Robert Dean Moses, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Moses of Winner, South Dakota.

MOORE — BARINAS

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at St. Helena's Church in Bellefonte, Delaware, on Saturday morning, November 24, when Miss Georgene Catherine Barinas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Barinas of Corrine Court, Villa Monterey, Wilmington, Del., became the bride of Edward Patrick Moore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patrick Moore of 19 West street, Stoneham, formerly of Winchester. The Rev. Edward A. Dougherty, pastor of the church, officiated at the 11 o'clock marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Barinas was attended by her cousin, Miss Jacqueline Henrie of Mt. Carmel, Pa., as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Barinas, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Jo Abrachinsky, both of Shenandoah, Pa.; Miss Joan Butler and Miss Margaret Snyder, both of Wilmington, Del.

The bride wore a regency gown of imported hand-clipped French lace over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, having a square neckline of scalloped lace, long pointed lace sleeves and a bouffant skirt made of deep tiers of scalloped lace extending into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion was caught to a plateau of pleated tulle adorned with lace medallions and pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, Easter lily petals and English ivy combined with lace from her mother's bridal veil.

The honor maid wore an Arcady blue velveteen dress over a Dior hoop having a scoop neckline, short sleeves and an empire waist with a wide self band tied in a large bow at the back of the full skirt. Her head piece was a band of Arcady blue velveteen accented with a white mink flowerette and she carried a cascade bouquet of lavender Indianapolis chrysanthemums centered with Scotch heather on Baker fern.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses and head pieces like those of th ehonor maid. Their cascade bouquets combined lavender Indianapolis chrysanthemums with smaller mums on Baker fern.

John Moore of Woburn was his brother's best man, and ushering were Bernard G. Barinas of Atlanta, Ga., brother of the bride; James Dugan of Wilmington, Del., Bernard Mosebach of Loretto, Pa., and E. Paul Gaudette of Bedford, a college classmate of the bridegroom.

A reception was held after the marriage in the Dubarry room of the Hotel DuPont. Mrs. Barinas, mother of the bride, wore a gown of mauve nylon over orchid silk taffeta with a matching contour feather hat and a corsage of deep lavender carrleya orchids. Mrs. Moore, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in orchid iridescent silk, and wore a matching feather hat. Her corsage was also of carrleya orchids in a pale lavender shade.

After a wedding journey to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live in Alexandria, Va.

The bride is a graduate of St. Elizabeth's High School and of St. Francis School of Nursing. Mr. Moore graduated from Winchester High School and received his Bachelor of Science degree from Tufts University where he was a member of the honorary fraternity, Tau Beta Pi.

101st BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Catherine M. Cronin of 4 Pierrepont road, one of Winchester's oldest residents, observed her 101st birthday Sunday, December 2, receiving calls from friends and relatives and keenly enjoying her birthday cake, the flowers that were sent her and her numerous other gifts.

EDWARD W. PARK

Edward W. Park of 1 Chardon road, died Sunday, December 2, at his home. The end came suddenly but Mr. Park had not been in good health for some time and had recently been hospitalized, returning home only shortly before his death.

Mr. Park was the son of Theodore, and Julia A. (Woods) Park. He was born April 8, 1869, in Boston, and had lived for the past 28 years in Winchester. He was until his retirement a piano tuner at the Ivers & Pond piano factory. His only survivor is a cousin living in California.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the David Fudge & Son Funeral Home, 100 Highland avenue, Somerville. Rev. C. S. Milligan, pastor of the West Somerville Congregational Church, officiated. Burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING ASSURED

Richard Rogers, manager of Winchester's Woolworth Store and a member of the Yuletide Lighting Committee, told the Star yesterday that plans are complete for the more adequate lighting of the business center during the holiday season, and that the actual work of decoration will commence next week.

Already the lights, greenery and mounts are in town, and it is expected that the remaining fittings will arrive so that wiring can start Monday or soon afterward.

The plan for this year, admittedly on the modest side because of the time element, has been worked out to wrap all light poles in the square with laurel and lights, and to erect 16 foot poles on every other traffic meter in the center, the poles also to be decorated with greens and lights. The meters will still be usable so no parking spaces will be lost.

Roughly, this plan will be carried out along Main street from Filene's to the Socony Filling Station and Ungerman's above the square, along Mt. Vernon street as far as Christie McDonald's and along Church street as far west as Mouradian's. Thompson street will be decorated along its entire length.

The lighting plans will be carried out by a committee, including the presidents of the town's three service clubs, Charles Koch (Rotary), Richard Rogers (Lions), and James Violante (Kiwanis). Representing the Board of Selectmen on the Committee will be Joseph W. Butler; representing the Park Board, Dr. William L. Davis; and representing the town at large, Joseph C. Gray, an architect with experience in this particular field.

Mr. Rogers emphasized the fact that this committee will be permanent, and that next year it is planned to continue the present plans and enlarge them so they may be more nearly like those carried out in comparable cities and towns.

ALLIANCE GUEST DAY TEA

The Winchester Branch of the Unitarian Alliance will have its Guest Day Tea on Tuesday, December 11, at 2:00 p. m. in the church. The speaker will be the Reverend Margaret Henrichsen of North Sullivan, Maine, a noted speaker and author of a book, "Seven Steeples."

At the age of forty-two, Mrs. Henrichsen migrated from Belmont to the sparsely settled stretch of Maine Coast which borders on Frenchman's Bay. There she undertook not just a life, but a profession which was entirely new to her—that of minister to the Methodist Congregation of Sullivan. She soon had six additional pastorates in Prospect Harbor, Gouldsboro, Ashville, Franklin, Sorrento, and North Sullivan.

Mrs. Henrichsen was born in Plainfield, New Jersey, and was trained for kindergarten teaching, worked with Girl Scouts and recreational groups, and for several years shared with her husband the management of a home-school for girls who needed special care. When her husband died in 1943, she undertook theological training and entered the ministry. She has found her clerical life with the stalwart, independent Down Easters rich and satisfying.

Although invitations have been sent only to other Winchester churches, everyone is welcome to come and hear her Christmas message.

Alliance members are requested to bring any warm clothing and blankets to the church to be sent for the immediate relief of the Hungarians. The need is urgent.

TO DEDICATE SCOREBOARD

Winchester High School's new electric clock and scoreboard, purchased with funds raised by local basketball fans to perpetuate the memory of last year's great basketball team, will be dedicated tonight at the opening game of the 1956-57 season with Arlington High at the local gymnasium.

Park Commissioner Jim Coon, who was instrumental in launching the campaign to raise funds for the scoreboard, will make the presentation speech. Last year's Winchester basketball team won the Middlesex League Championship and was the first "B" team in the history of interscholastic basketball to petition to play in Class A of the Massachusetts State Tournament at the Boston Garden.

Starting time for tonight's second team game is 7 p. m. with ten varsity game to follow. It is expected that a good crowd will turn out to get a peek at this year's varsity with a view to seeing how it is going to shape up in comparison with last year's outstanding quintet.

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

A dessert Christmas party will highlight the next meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club at the home of Miss Hilda Hope, 37 Glen Green, on Tuesday, December 11, at 7:45 p. m.

Mrs. Alice Coldwell of Reading will be Toastmistress and the speakers will be Miss Orrie Grant of Winchester and Mrs. Bernice Lankhorst of Medford.

Completing the regular program will be Miss Mae McDonough of Dorchester as Topicmistress. The President, Mrs. Ann Pyne of Medford will give a discussion on Education and Mrs. Joyce Pompeo and Mrs. Beulah Thompson, both of Medford, will serve as Evaluators.

WINCHESTER SHUTS OUT WOBURN IN ICE JAMBOREE

Before a capacity crowd of 2500 fans at the Lynn Sports Center on Saturday night, the Winchester Sachems warmed up for their 1956 opening with a thrilling 4-0 shutout of a competent Woburn sextet in the feature game of the North Shore League hockey jamboree.

Winchester scored early when Joe Cussen controlled the faceoff to John Zirkel, who passed to Leo Callahan going into the Woburn zone. Callahan passed to Cussen in front of the net and Joe slammed it home just 25 seconds after the opening faceoff.

Woburn roared back but were kept at bay by the defensive work of the Sachems with Jim McElholm and John Kelleher handing out some hard checks and showing good stick work. George Denton came up with 11 saves in the 15 minute scrimmage.

Again with good team passing from Zirkel to Callahan to Cussen, Winchester had their second goal at 4:21.

Winchester's last two goals came from the stick of Captain Leo Callahan who was well supported by his teammates.

The second line of Sandberg, Weaver, and Davenport held their own with Woburn and it is felt that this outfit could be the key to Winchester success this year.

Summary:

WINCHESTER: g, Denton; r.d., Kelleher; l.d., McElholm; r.w., Zirkel; c, Cussen; l.w., Callahan. Spares: Sandberg, Weaver, Davenport, Sullivan, Mirak, Emerson, Gowdy, Murphy.

WOBURN: g, Moyer; r.d., F. Johnson; l.d., D. Johnson; r.w., J. Day; c, J. McGilvary; l.w., Callinan. Spares: Rogers, Gentile, DeMinico, Vater, Walsh, Farynaz, Haves.

Scoring, first period: Cussen (Zirkel, Callahan) 0:25; Cussen (Zirkel, Callahan) 4:21; Callahan (Zirkel, Cussen) 10:22; Callahan 14:18.

Penalties: Weaver (crosscheck) 2:51; McElholm (crosscheck) 4:51; Weaver (highstick) 6:32; Kelleher (slashing) 9:05; Callinan (interference) 12:14.

Ice Chips

Greeting the team on the ice were the Hockey Cheerleaders who certainly have added color to high school hockey. Captain Janet Chaffe, Cathy Tonan, Brenda Cowles, Carole McFarlane, Carole Poor, and Fran Bosselman have worked hard to perfect their cheering on skates.

Woburn's Joe McGilvary again gave proof of his fine all around ability with an excellent performance at center.

Every boy on the Winchester squad saw action in this game even though it was only a 15 minute affair.

Robert C. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis of 9 LaGrange street and Wayne A. Robinson, son of Mrs. Dorothy Robinson of 50 Dunster lane have left for Fort Dix, New Jersey, for further processing and assignment to a basic training center.

Private Lewis, a graduate of Winchester High School, was a member of the National Guard prior to his enlistment in the Regular Army.

Private Robinson also attended the Winchester Schools, prior to entry on active duty.

Under this program, the two new soldiers will remain together during the basic training of their Army enlistment.

Interested young men of military age may obtain full particulars on this unique assignment program by contacting Sergeant First Class William Bonnell at the local Recruiting Station, 49 High street, Medford Square. The Sergeant can be reached by telephone during the day at MYstic 6-5777; in the evening at MYstic 8-6856.

APPLICATIONS CLOSE FOR XMAS P. O. WORK

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The two meetings of the Board of Selectmen before Christmas and New Year's will be held respectively on Saturday morning, December 22, at 8:30, and on Friday evening, December 28, at 7:30. These new dates replace those for the meetings that would have been held Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

The Board has voted again this year to light the parking space behind the Town Hall for shoppers on those nights when the local stores are open during the evening from now until Christmas.

In connection with the proposed location of Route 3 from Route 128 through Winchester to Boston the Board of Selectmen and Planning Board are, and have been in close touch with this problem and are doing everything possible to guard Winchester's interests.

EDITORIALS

There isn't likely to be much enthusiasm locally for the bill that has been introduced in the Legislature seeking to turn the Boston Police Department over to the Metropolitan District Commission. Cities and towns which will have to pay a proportion of the cost of such a move will need a lot of convincing as to its merit.

Those pie-shaped wedges in Waterfield road at the intersection of Thompson street are a long way from being as effective as the old traffic circle that was once there. Cars coming out of Thompson street headed for the Parkway now make a sharp left turn, and if there isn't a collision there before Thompson street can be made a stop street it will be more by good fortune than design. A circle keeping all traffic going right would seem to a layman a much more effective way of controlling what is going to be pretty heavy traffic at peak times.

Whether making Thompson street a stop street will prove sufficient restriction for those peak times is a question. Many believe there will have to be a police officer on duty at or near the post office when traffic is heavy if pedestrians are ever to get across the road.

That was a nice party at the high school gym after the big holiday football game Thanksgiving Day. These Victory Dances have done much to promote a friendly feeling of good sportsmanship between Winchester and Woburn High Schools and have also indicated that teenagers can have a good time while behaving themselves in exemplary fashion. This year's dance attracted over 600 boys and girls, about equally divided between the two schools. The profits from the party go to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation which is another good reason for public approval of an increasingly popular annual event.

It is nice to learn that Winchester is to have Christmas lighting more nearly like that in many of its neighboring cities and towns. Congratulations to those whose enterprise set plans for the lighting in motion. We understand Harold Lipsett of Loralane's gave the plans their primary urge. And congratulations to those who worked them out.

It wasn't all easy. As far as the merchants were concerned there was nearly 100 percent support. Only six of the 107 contacted refused to pledge financial assistance to the plan. Incidentally those who are backing the decorations may expect a call for their contribution next week.

This year's lighting isn't what the service clubs and merchants had planned. The original plans had to be abandoned due to failure to get the necessary approval from the Selectmen.

Now a permanent committee has been formed in which the Selectmen, Park Department and town have representation. A start on attractive decorations for our business center during the holidays is to be made this year. Those in charge of arrangements believe people generally will like the new decorations enough to aid in supporting a more elaborate program next year.

Many have been quite outspoken in their criticism of what the town has done in the past. It is easy to criticize, and the merchants have commenced to improve the situation. They will need help another year. The Star believes it will be forthcoming.

ROBERT M. MULFORD

SENIOR FORUM

The Senior Forum will welcome to its chapel service again this Sunday at 9:30 a. m., Mr. Robert M. Mulford, Senior Deacon of the church, and General Secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mr. Mulford is a good friend of Forum, having two members of his family, Terry and Roberta, at present Forum members. Mrs. Mulford also assists the Service Projects Committee as advisor. Mr. Mulford will use as his subject "Youth Today and Tomorrow." He brings to his message not only his own experience in youth work in the United States but the wider view of youth in the world gained from his attendance last summer at an international conference on social work held in Munich, Germany.

Howie Bates will be chaplain, with Charles Petri assistant chaplain. Serving as deacon will be Bob Thompson and Henry Dietz. Roger French and Bill Niblock will be ushers.

The Forum Dramatic Committee is preparing its production of "Christmas in the Country" to be presented December 16 in Chidley Hall at 9:30 a. m. The cast will include Cathy Tonon, Dave Usher, Elizabeth Fisher, Phily Dreyer, Bob Cooper, Betsy Schaefer, Kathy Swisher, Jim McKindsey, and Don Lewis. The student chairman of the production is Janet Monro, with Mrs. George R. Stone, adult advisor. Parents and friends of Forum are invited to the service in which the play will be given.

The Service Projects Committee, Martha Fish, chairman, this week sent off a large box of new Christmas cards in stamped envelopes to be used by the inmates of the Women's Reformatory in Framingham. The committee is planning to give a Christmas party in one of the houses at the Framingham institution during the holidays.

Sally Kimball and Lin Morison are co-chairmen of the Social Committee in charge of the Mistletoe Dance to be held in Chidley Hall, Saturday, December 22.

POLIO VACCINE FOR ALL UNDER 30

The Board of Health was notified this week by Dr. Roy F. Feemster, Director of the Division of Communicable Diseases, that a large lot of Polio Vaccine is due to go out of date in the near future. In order to use it up the Department of Public Health is temporarily making vaccine available to those aged 20 through 29.

The following is taken from a newspaper release given by Dr. Feemster on December 3, 1956:

"All persons under thirty are eligible to receive Polio Vaccine from State supplies until vaccine on hand, which is nearing its expiration date, is exhausted. Thereafter State vaccine can be given only to those under twenty.

"The reason for the temporary inclusion of those aged twenty through twenty-nine is that the program came almost to a standstill during September and October and the vaccine which had been purchased for distribution this fall has stayed in the cold room. This is due partly to the small number of teenagers fifteen through nineteen who came forward for vaccine, but there are thousands of children under fifteen who have not yet been included in the program. In fact, 23% of those who have been eligible are still unimmunized.

"Those between nineteen and thirty may now go to their family physicians, who will obtain the vaccine from the local Board of Health. The only charge which the physician will make will be for the administration of the vaccine. This makes vaccine available to young parents, a group which is usually harder hit than other adults.

"Those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity must act at once. It is expected that the vaccine will be used up rapidly. Some of the vaccine goes out of date December 25 and the remainder January 19.

"This means that most college students, many teachers, nurses and internes will be able to receive State vaccine. Many calls have come in from these groups, but the vaccine has been denied to them up to this time because they were over nineteen."

Harry L. Benson, M.D.,
Chairman
Winchester Board of Health

"ANDROCLES" AND "CATHERINE" TONIGHT

The Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., opened its own 1956 and 57 theatrical season last night and if enthusiasm and dedication mean anything the initial effort and program promises to enhance the Town's reputation of the suburb with the mostest and the bestest. At the Washington School Auditorium, Highland avenue, the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., (a group of townsfolk who have an idea and want to share it with the whole community) presented George Bernard Shaw's "Great Catherine" and the prologue of GBS' "Androcles and the Lion" as an informal product of its Theatre Workshop.

The entire program will be repeated tonight at the Washington School Auditorium, opening curtain is 8:30 p. m., and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Come see Winchester High's Tom Morse as "Androcles" and Izzie Battino as the capering "Lion." Mrs. Carl Zimmerman plays the shrew wife of "Andy" with a keen sense of comedy. Marie Millican carries the title role in "Catherine" because Marie is not only a talented actress but a real trouper at heart and filled in for Norma (Mrs. Charles Merenda) who had been originally cast as "Catherine," but suffering a back injury landed in traction at the Winchester Hospital. The cast includes Peggy Pettingell, James Hintlian, Larry Smith, and others.

The sponsors of this theatrical movement of Community Theatre not only got away to a good start, but are well on their way toward a climax which will see Boris Goldovsky in a personal performance in Winchester with his New England Opera Theatre in March and a eagerly awaited performance of the Children's Theatre School in January of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

ROTARIANS HOSTS TO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS

Winchester Rotary had as guests at their luncheon meeting last Thursday the members of the Winchester High School championship cross country team and the football team.

President Charlie Koch presided and introduced Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, who is also football coach, and he in turn introduced Winchester's highly successful cross country coach, Tom Morse.

Mr. Morse introduced his runners individually and football manager Johnny Foster did the honors for the footall players. Movies of the recent Winchester-Woburn football game were shown by Coach Knowlton and wondered at by all present.

Both the football and cross country performers did full justice to the luncheon menu and joined enthusiastically in the group singing, led by Aram Mouradian with Jim McGrath at the piano.

CUBS VISIT STAR

Cub scouts from Den One of Pack Three visited the Star last Thursday to watch the paper being rolled off the press, folded, and prepared for delivery.

Included in the group were Peter Cunningham, Christopher Green, William Ulfelder, Robert Hudson, Patrick Garner, Bruce Cardin, Ned Sargent and Gus Bond. Accompanying the boys were den mothers Mrs. Frederick A. Cardin and Mrs. Ellis J. Green.

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

One suggestion for Christmas giving is brought to our attention this month. Those who consider giving a live pet animal to a child for Christmas should first find out for certain if it is agreeable to the parents, and if they wish to assume the care of another life, well or sick.

Do they think the companionship, devotion and love worth while? devotion and love worth. while? Pet animals are not toys to be discarded at a busy moment. They will be a benefit to a child if treated correctly.

Leaflets may be obtained free on the care of dogs, cats, birds, rabbits and others, from American Humane Education Society, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston.

In a Christian land, the moral principal involved should be the primary issue in any controversy.

Revenue for the mystery and inviolability of life and respect for the rights, and compassion for the lot of all sentient creatures is the foundation of the prevention of cruelty.

Vast amounts of needless cruelty are carried on in the United States and in Massachusetts, under misleading, inadequate description. If true facts were known such things would not be tolerated.

People of various faiths are thinking deeply, more than has been done along the lines of the teachings of the great Albert Switzer that all living creatures should not be subjected to torture of any kind.

As the Christmas season nears and people every where consider the teachings of the manger scene let us all remember that the animals were there first, and it was a donkey who carried the Mother.

Donkey—humble creatures that they are: have been generally abused the world over, through ignorance largely, and for the most part lack of realization that they too feel, thrist, pain and fatigue.

How fortunate now for horses, mules, donkies, camels and beasts of burden that the motor age will not need them.

Yet there are ways unseen these days in which some animals suffer torture worse than in centuries gone by.

Many deeds are veiled from public knowledge intentionally, when if the facts were really understood by all the people, much that goes on in our country and in our state would be changed.

The public is not stupid in the long run.

Most people are kind at heart. Truth finally emerges.

WYMAN SCHOOL TEAS

The last of the Wyman School teachers' teas is all over, and many mothers were glad to find that each and every teacher is just what her child need. Many new mothers at the close of this year are now acquainted with their new school and friends in Winchester.

In spite of the rain Mrs. Josiah Bacon opened her house on November 8, for Miss Dolan's morning kindergarten class, and had a record attendance. Her committee consisted of Mrs. William Rozette, Mrs. Richard Pettingell, Mrs. James Klorer and Mrs. John O'Grady.

On November 9, Mrs. Frederick Cardin and her very able committee stepped in for Mrs. DeVries and entertained Mrs. McPeake. Those working on the committee were: Mrs. Harold Alpaugh, Mrs. Charles Bond, Mrs. Philip Caide, Mrs. R. J. Clark, Mrs. Ellis Green, and Mrs. Fred Stockwell.

On November 14, a very enjoyable time was had by all at the home of Mrs. Arthur Johns. Mr. Hewitt was a delight to all mothers when he had something to say about the problems of each child and how to overcome them. Assisting Mrs. Johns were, Mrs. Arthur Cunningham, Mrs. Francis Foster, Mrs. Frank Iandoli, Mrs. Edward Little and Mrs. Malcolm McKay.

Miss Lowry was present at Mrs. Robert Stewart's tea for Miss Burleigh and Miss Simmonds on November 16. Each teacher is taking turns going to school and teaching in the fourth grade. The delicious sandwiches were brought by Mrs. Ralph Jope, Mrs. Charles Main, Mrs. William Barone, Mrs. Walter Watson, Mrs. Edward Little, Mrs. Arthur Sullivan, Mrs. Warren Haley and Mrs. Michael MacDonald.

Mrs. Donald Letty also entertained Miss Batchelder in the rain, on the 26 of November. Mrs. John Lynch and Mrs. Thomas Walsh brought the sandwiches, and Mrs. John Gorman and Mrs. James Wingate poured.

I liked November 29 best because I was there, and for once didn't have to do anything but enjoy myself. Mrs. Alfred Wolff had a very good attendance at her party for Mrs. Hatchell, who was very nice. It was also nice to see Mary Gill out and about again. The pretty sandwiches were brought by Mrs. William Rozette, Mrs. James Breton, Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, Mrs. William Kimball and Mrs. James Gustin.

The last party of the season was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Taylor for Mrs. Smith's first grade. The committee assisting Mrs. Taylor who also gave maid service on the telephone were: Mrs. Robert Nicol, Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth, Mrs. Robert Pritchard, Mrs. Albert Sandberg, and Mrs. John Sharp. My apologies both to Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Smith for not being able to get there, but being mothers they know that children come first.

The annual Holy Hour and Christmas Party of the Marycliff Guild will be held at the Academy on Tuesday, December 11, at 8:00 p. m. Heading the Committee in charge of the Holy Hour is Mrs. Paul Keleher with the Reverend Charles Anadore of St. Mary's Rectory as guest speaker.

Mrs. Alden Schneider is chairman of the Christmas Party, assisted by Mrs. W. Rogers Hamel, Mrs. Daniel Cotter, Mrs. Donald Lewis, Mrs. Vincent Bagnell, Mrs. Herbert Lord, Mrs. Charles Newton, Mrs. Leo Garvey, Mrs. Edward Harkins, Mrs. Frank Millyan, Mrs. Amos Guarente, Mrs. W. J. Bailey, Mrs. Paul Smith, and Mrs. James McDonough all of Winchester.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The December meeting of the Art Association was held in the Library Gallery Tuesday, December 4. The coffee hour preceeding the meeting was arranged by Mrs. T. E. Burleigh, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Richard C. Ashenden, Jr.

The Art Association was privileged to have as the speaker Mr. Richard McLanathan of the staff of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The subject "How to look at Art" was ably presented by Mr. McLanathan who brought interesting and beautiful slides to illustrate his remarks.

Reminding his audience of the enormous amount of riches inherited from the past and that each age views Art through thick glasses of the viewpoint of the age in which one lives yet one must realize that the artist is a pioneer and sees more than the thought of the age in which he lives.

The slides ranging from the beautiful Greek head of Aphrodite through countless examples from many countries to the present day made a comprehensive and informing background for the talk.

As this is the most experimental period of Art, of all time. Mr. McLanathan urged his audience to give up their prejudices and view Art with an open mind. It was an inspiring and richly rewarding evening.

The pictures on exhibit which will remain through December are loaned from the Boris Mirski, Margaret Brown, Swetzoff and Shore Galleries.

Continuing the course of study the January meeting will have the subject "What do you see in a Painting?"

SOCIAL AGENCIES GROUP HEARD HOUSING TALK

Mr. Charles C. O'Donnell, President and Legislative Director of the Senior Citizens and Associates of America, successors to the Massachusetts Society for Old Age Pensions, was the main speaker at the meeting of the Winchester Social Agencies Group on November 30, at the Winchester Public Library.

Mr. O'Donnell gave an informative talk on Housing for the Elderly in Massachusetts and the procedure for the aged in the local community. Winchester residents, interested in the problems of the aged, were invited guests.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. William P. Supple, Chairman of the Social Agencies Group. This organization was formed for the purpose of exchanging ideas and promoting understandings between the social and welfare agencies of the town. The Welfare Department will serve as host for the next meeting of the group on Monday, December 17, at the Winchester Town Hall.

TEACHERS ENJOYED CABARET

The auditorium of the Parkhurst School was gaily decorated for the second annual cabaret presented by members of the Winchester Teachers' Club on the evening of November 28. Club members, their wives or husbands, and invited guests, warmly applauded the variety program of music, skits, and novelty numbers in which each of the Winchester schools was represented.

The evening's entertainment was opened by Parkhurst School Principal Bert Sutula, who welcomed the guests to the school. Superintendent of Schools Harry V. Gilson was the able master of ceremonies throughout the program.

Fashions of 1956, presented by teachers from the Noonan School, proved to be a hilarious opening number. George Greer, the commentator, also modeled a striking pair of Bermuda shorts; other notable exhibits included Mary Mead's "live" (real live) fish-tail back dress and Mary McAuley's "high fashion" cocktail hat.

Cow gals from the Lincoln School gathered around a campfire to sing two songs of the West. Accompaniment was by Mary O'Connell at the autoharp and by Bob Nearine, playing the woodlocks.

The Rockettes of Radio City fame had nothing on the Georgettes, a spritely dance group from the Washington School. Roly Nault and Louise Matthews added to the merriment when they arrived in their Model T Ford.

To repeat their success of last year, when the Wymanettes set the place on fire with a hot Charleston, the girls turned to the familiar form of the American square dance. They were followed by Izzy Battino and Gale Montgomery who represented the Junior High School as a pair of acrobatic hoboes.

In an unheralded extra number host Bert Sutula demonstrated that he plays a mean "Devil's Fiddle," a foreign instrument which, Bert says, bids fair to replace Jack Benny's violin in popularity. With his wife assisting at the piano, Bert scored a hit as he turned to the classic (?) masters for his inspiration.

Looking like four refugees from a college outing club, Henry Fitts, Frank Weafer, Howard Niblock, and Fred Murray offered vocal entertainment as they sang "Tell Me Why" and "I Had a Dream Dear."

The only serious note of the evening was struck by the faculty of Mystic School who presented their own version of "Beat the Clock." Joe Forte was the resourceful MC, but the audience reserved most of its plaudits for Lillian Salice and Frances Dogherty whose realistic acting reduced some of their colleagues to tears—of helpless laughter.

Members of the Parkhurst staff brought the entertainment to a delightful close with their novel interpretation of "John Brown's Baby." The unusual setting was the work of Virginia French, Chub Phinney and Bert Sutula.

For the delicious refreshments and the gay decorations the Club is grateful to committee members Marjorie Locke, Phyllis Roberts, Fran Houghton, Lydia Whittemore, and Clare Corcoran, directed by Jeanne Loudon. Teachers' Club President Dick Ulin expressed the appreciation of all the guests to those who had made the evening possible.

ALISON HERSEY

WINCHESTER GIRL U.S. RESERVE

Last week brief mention was made of the selection of a Winchester girl, Alison Hersey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hersey of Woodside road as left inner on the United States Reserve Field Hockey Team, following the annual tryouts at Philadelphia.

Making the United States team in field hockey is comparable to making the original Walter Camp All American Football Team. Membership on the team means that in the opinion of competent judges the eleven girls selected are the best field hockey players in the country. Members of the Reserves by the same token are the nation's second best players.

So in being selected as left inner on the reserves young Alison Hersey is considered by those who should know to be the second best left inner playing top flight hockey in these United States. Quite an honor for any stick handler, and especially top-drawer for a college sophomore. Ordinarily undergraduates do not make the U. S. teams, membership through the years having been pretty much restricted to college graduates, many of whom are college or high school coaches.

Alison is the youngest player on this year's United States teams. She played in the tryouts at Philadelphia with the Northeast Team, second best in the tourney, and this year is the third year in a row she has made this Northeast honorary eleven.

She was first chosen in 1954 while at Northampton School, following her graduation from Winchester High. Last year she made the Northeast team as a freshman at Mt. Holyoke, and this year repeated as a sophomore. In addition to playing hockey at Mt. Holyoke, Alison plays regularly with the Hampshire Team, a club team that plays its hockey at Smith College.

Miss Hersey was an all around athlete at Winchester High School, playing field hockey, basketball and captaining the softball team. She capped a great career as a schoolgirl by winning the Wheeler Sportsmanship Cup, highest athletic award for girls at high school.

While at high school and Northampton School Alison did a lot of skiing, and became an outstanding performer in this sport, being selected after tests for training to compete as a member of the United States Olympic Women's Ski Team. A conflict with studies made it impossible for her to accept the offer, but she has competed in numerous ski competitions and has won several prizes and trophies for this increasingly popular winter sport.

At Mt. Holyoke Miss Hersey has not confined her efforts to field hockey. She plays basketball and tennis, rides and participates in other forms of athletics on a less intensive scale.

Being chosen on the United States Reserve Hockey team puts Alison on call for duty with the United States team anywhere in the country or abroad. Last year the U. S. team went to Australia and there is talk of sending a team to India in 1958.

Whether or not Alison Hersey makes this trip, if the plan goes through, she has had a great career in this wonderful fall game to here. Winchester is proud of her.

Incidentally Alison's younger sister, Stephie Hersey, played left inner this year on the Winchester High School field hockey team that went through its season undefeated, outscoring its opposition 22-1.

ST. MARY'S MR. & MRS. CLUB

There was no snow for glistening nor sleigh bells for listening, but the large group that attended the Holly Dance of the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club at St. Mary's Hall on Saturday, December 1, needed no further reminder that the festive holiday season was at hand. Dance Chairmen, Jean and Bill Burns did another one of those fine jobs which is becoming habitually expected of all our various chairmen. The scientillating music of Ken Reeves's orchestra, playing almost without interruption 'til that magic stroke of midnight, brought out the "Castle" and "Astaire" of many of the Mr. and Mrs. members.

Artistic is the word for that huge Christmas Tree, draped in sparkling, shimmering silver that reigned over the dancers from its place of prominence on the hall stage. It was no surprise to learn that such artistry was performed by she of the golden voice, Pat Brennan. So to Pat, upon whom we bestow the honorary title of "Chairman of the Christmas Tree;" the compliments of all for a truly beautiful job.

Refreshments, served during the one small musical intermission of the evening, were again, how would you sat it, devastating! The battle of the waistline was on, and it would seem the refreshment committee won with the scope and variety of sandwiches and pastry delicacies they served.

And so another happy holiday Holly Dance goes into the record, another evening of friendship, fun, and fellowship, another event that makes us proud and appreciative of the cooperative spirit and hard work of the Club's officers and especially, of the various chairmen and their committees who serve to make each meeting and each event a highlight. Nobody says "no." This spirit assures us of continued successful and enjoyable meetings.

At the Winchester Star you can buy, dictionaries, slide rules, pocket adding machines, brief cases, zipper notebooks. 3 Church street.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL LETTER PLAYERS, 1956

"Moe" Russo, John Chapin, Eddie Fitzgerald, Doug Thomson, Cosimo Paonessa, Larry Longworth, Fred Bartlett. Kneeling: Dave Bergquist, Joe Cussen, John McCormack, Dom Serratore, Tony Perritano, Art Stavaridis, Neil Kerrigan, Bill Edgar, John Kelleher, Vinnie Murphy.

WINCHESTER HAD GOOD GRID SEASON

Though Winchester failed to win the Middlesex League championship this fall the Indians still had a pretty good football season, losing only two out of nine games. To realize just how good a year it was you have to go back to the season opener with Concord.

Following that game there were few in town who figured the Indians to win more than half their games, let alone have a seven and two record and remain contenders for league honors right up to the last game of their league schedule.

Winchester looked pretty sad against Concord as most teams are likely to look in an opening engagement with the Patriots. Concord always seems to be further along than most other teams on opening day and this year the locals were outclassed all the way by the smooth working Megin boys.

Winchester didn't seem to have too much starting the season. Last year's great club was a senior team and losing a backfield of Bellino, Haggerty and John Murphy was bound to hurt badly.

The Indians had only one veteran offensive player and one veteran defensive player available to start the season and both were backs. Not a single really experienced player was available for duty on the rushline, where so many believe football games are won or lost.

Captain "Moe" Russo, a defensive fullback, and big John Chapin, a T-quarterback were the veterans available. Chapin had played little on defense and Russo was considered too slow for an offensive fullback.

This opinion continued over the first few games this year, with Chapin generally running from the fullback slot and Russo being relegated to defense as he was a year ago. Up front there wasn't any one capable of rallying a wavering rushline, due to lack of experience.

Winchester got by its second game with Stoneham fairly easily, posting an 18-0 score, and Cambridge Latin proved no especial problem, the Indians winning 32-13 with the visitors posting their second score against the scrubs.

The Cambridge game, however, proved a costly one, for in it John Chapin, Winchester's best offensive back, injured a knee and played no more all season.

This put it squarely up to Captain Russo, and sturdy "Moe" worked hard under Coach Knowlton, doing a lot of extra running and shedding some 16 pounds in so doing.

With loss of weight Russo's speed improved considerably, and while he never was a gazelle, he did show a lot more offensive class, commencing with the Lexington game. From then on Captain Russo was Winchester's meal ticket, the heavy duty back who went after the two or three yards the team had to get.

Winchester just barely got by Lexington, 14-7, but looked better against Melrose, winning, 27-6. Against Reading the Indians had a lot of luck in racking up a 19-6 victory. Winchester really rolled the second half against Belmont, turning back a team that bothered a lot of clubs this fall, 25-0.

Then came the Wakefield game, and the Indians played their best game of the year while losing this contest and the Middlesex League crown to Wakefield. Over most of the game Winchester outplayed the vaunted Scarlet, and had it not been for several penalties that hurt Winchester and presented scoring opportunities to Wakefield the result very probably would have been different.

For once Winchester's line did a creditable job against Wakefield and it was surely on the ironic side that the Indians lost that one.

Against Woburn on Thanksgiving just the reverse was true. The Tanners completely outclassed Winchester, but could only match the Indians in touchdowns and scored but one point-after to two for the locals, the game ending in Winchester's favor, 14-13.

If Russo was the heavy duty boy in the Winchester backfield, little Cosimo Paonessa, 125 pounds of dynamite, was the break-away boy, breaking up several games with stirring dashes through the line. Potentially the best of the local backs, "Doug" Thomson, a real swifty, gained a lot of ground off the tackles but never could use his great speed outside, due to ineffective blocking.

Longworth, who replaced Chapin at quarterback, did a great job for a junior on the small side with little of the physical equipment necessary for an effective T-quarterback.

At times Longworth passed and ran the ball very effectively, and called his plays well. His courage was unquestioned, but on handoffs and pivot plays he seemed less effective and often was nailed behind the line for big losses, though it must be admitted in this connection he got better protection from his line.

Up front Art Stavaridis at center was probably the best all around lineman Winchester had this season. McCormack and Vin Murphy also showed flashes of good play, but generally speaking, Winchester's line play was its weakness all season, despite the fact that only 82 points were scored against the team all year.

By and large Winchester did much better than even the most sanguine could hope for as the season opened. Henry Knowlton, veteran coach and athletic director, and his assistants, Frank Provinzano, Frank Finigan, Jim Phillips and Ed Burns deserve all sorts of accolades for the job they did with what has to be rated one of Winchester's poorer clubs of recent years.

Among those playing more or less regularly were Vin Murphy, Dave Bergquist, Joe Cussen and Ed Fitzgerald, ends; Bill Edgar, Dom Serratore, John McCormack and Frank Graham, tackles; Neil Kerrigan, Pucky Perritano and Pete Cullen, guards; and Art Stavaridis and Jim Wakefield, centers. Spelling Larry Longworth at quarterback were Joel Peckham and Dana Starkweather. Behind the first string backfield of Russo, Thomson and Paonessa were defensive standouts, Joe Flaherty and Freddie Bartlett and Steve Fisher and Joe Migliaccio. Johnny Foster and Todd Jesdale were managers.

Safety Tip: Be sure to signal when you make any change in direction or speed, advises the Triple-A. Changing lanes on the highway may be necessary, but be sure to let the driver behind you know. Good communication between drivers makes life easier for everyone.

LEAGUE PRESIDENT ACTS IN EMERGENCY

The national organization of the League of Women Voters has alerted state and local leagues to the need for action in the present emergency in the Middle East. However, events are happening so rapidly that it is difficult for individual citizens to keep up with them from day to day, much less for individuals and necessarily slow-moving organizations to express carefully thought-out opinions on our foreign policy. Two things can be done by the L. W. V., however. One is to stir up thinking in our communities, alerting the citizens of the seriousness of the situation, and encouraging discussion and expressions of opinion by individuals.

Mrs. John Lee, national president of the League, has, with the national board, taken the other possible course of action. She has sent a telegram to President Eisenhower expressing the League's position that the U. S. should rely on the U. N. in every possible way and that our action should be channeled through that agency. This step by Mrs. Lee is authorized by the fact that the L. W. V. platform calls for support and increased use of the U. N. Mrs. Lee suggested in a message to local and state leagues that individual members or any like-minded citizens could write similar letters or telegrams to their representatives, senators, or president.

Mrs. Lee's telegram reads:

"The League of Women Voters of the United States wishes to express its earnest support of the role of responsible leadership now being developed by the United States Government in the effort to solve through the United Nations the multiple world crisis. We believe a sustained policy of action through the United Nations is our only hope for meeting the immediate threat of war and for arriving at long-range solutions of the problems, political and economic, that produce recurrent crises. Recent events have strengthened our conviction that the United Nations can develop effective ways of dealing with these problems if its member states are sufficiently dedicated to the full and continuous use of its resources. We urge that all our foreign policies, whether economic or political, be consistent with these ends. We take to heart your reminder, in your speech of May 25, 1956, that 'the responsibility for carrying forward America's part in helping improve international cooperation cannot be met through paper work in a government bureau. But it can be met through a combined effort by all of us, in and out of Government, all trying to develop the necessary understanding that every international problem is in reality a human one.' We pledge our efforts anew to this tack, and look to you for the necessary leadership.

Mrs. John G. Lee
President

NEW TRAFFIC LIGHTS

BUS TERMINAL IN PLAN FOR NEW CENTER LAYOUT

New traffic lights have been installed on the westerly side of the center, which eventually will control traffic going southwesterly from Woburn around the corner at McCormack's Apothecary and traffic going easterly along Church street and northerly from Common street which is to be one-way with everything moving toward the center.

There is a pedestrian light control standard installed at McCormack's corner which will enable those on foot to get across traffic at that point. No lights are to be installed on the easterly side of the overhead, and it will be necessary to have a traffic officer there permanently.

Present plans for Common street from the turn at the station to the square call for metered angle parking on the westerly or Common side of the street and a 120 ft. bus terminal at the end of the street nearest the center adjacent to the Winchester Drug Company. If the present plans are approved all busses entering and leaving the square will stop at this terminal.

Commuters should find this central terminal a great improvement over the several bus stops of the past, and merchants who have complained of bus stops in front of their places of business should also find the proposed new arrangement desirable.

Mrs. Bessie Flewelling, formerly for many years a resident of Mystic avenue, has returned to town from New York and is making her home on Wedge Pond road.

Attractive 3-BR Cape Cod. Game Room. Low heating cost. Mystic School. Asking $24,900.

INFANT SAVIOUR GUILD

Members and friends of the Winchester Chapter look forward to a very special afternoon on Tuesday, December 18, at two o'clock, when Miss Betty Saunders, a distinguished monologist will entertain us.

Mrs. Henry Valcour is general chairman and she will introduce Miss Saunders, who is a prominent elocution teacher in North Andover, Mass. Miss Saunders has presented many enjoyable performances at the Ipswich Bay Yacht Club and at various Women's Clubs in the North Shore area. She is certain to amuse her audience with her humorous selections and likewise she will fascinate her hearers in her choice of more significant Christmas subjects.

This will be an excellent opportunity to come and rest-a-while at St. Mary's Hall. Take time away from the hustle and bustle of the holiday shoppers.

Following the monologue, a coffee social hour will be in charge of hospitality co-chairmen Mrs. Arthur Center and Mrs. Henry Center. They will be aided by a group of members acting as hostesses.

ARTHRITIS DRIVE LAGS

The local door-to-door drive which was conducted December 2 to December 8, in behalf of arthritis has met with generous response it was announced by Mr. Dudley Bradlee, II, Area Chairman, and Mrs. Charles Jellison, Residential Chairman of the Winchester Area Committee.

At the same time Mr. Bradlee urged those workers who were unable to complete full solicitation on their streets to reach these neighbors as soon as possible and get their kits on the way to their designated banks.

This request was made of workers by Mr. Bradlee in order to expedite the handling of the kits at the banks at a time when holiday business is reaching full peak.

"An army of workers in this community," Mrs. Jellison said, "pushed doorbells for a full week and told the arthritis story to their neighbors."

Mr. Bradlee said that the arthritis story has been told intelligently and forcefully in the Winchester area and that a civic-minded citizenry is becoming aware of the need to combat this crippler with understanding and dollars.

George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Johnson of 10 Rangeley ridge.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB, 1956

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB WINTER CONCERT SATURDAY

The Mystic Glee Club, under the direction of Allen Lannom and assisted at the piano by J. Gordon Dean, will present its 17th annual winter concert in the Junior High School auditorium this Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m.

It can be said with the utmost sincerity that a musical treat will be in store for the large audience that is composed of the club's faithful season members.

The club's music committee has really put a great deal of thought in the selections to be sung in order that the program will be very pleasing to all. There is no question but what this has been accomplished with more stress being laid upon the Christmas spirit.

As previously stated an inovation will be presented in this year's program.

The club's singing membership has been increased this season by the addition of several new local fresh young voices. This must be so for any successful sincere club to maintain its standing in the musical field and community.

A singing club is no stronger than its supporting season members and as past history has indicated the Mystic Glee Club has won a warm spot in the hearts of all Winchester music lovers. It is the earnest desire of the club that this year's season membership be the largest ever.

To repeat as heretofore announced High School student's tickets will be available at 75¢ per. at Hevey's Pharmacy, McCormack's Apothecary, or from Wendell Withington and Mrs. Eleanor Thistlethwaite at the Winchester High School.

Regular tickets are available at the foregoing drug stores and also can be had at the door on Saturday evening.

A TYPICAL LETTER

Dear Homefronters:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your most thoughtful and generous gift and to thank all the people of Winchester for remembering we who are in the service.

In an isolated spot like Thule, we see so little signs of civilization that a gift such as you have sent is a terrific morale booster. The thought behind such a gift is moving and gratifying. It lets us know that no matter how far away, in what remote area we are in, that our friends are with us in mind even if they can't be here in person.

I would like to extend to all the people of Winchester best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely yours,
Pvt. John M. Garvey

PETER R. McELHINNEY

GRADUATED FROM PRE-FLIGHT

Graduated from the Navy's Pre-Flight School at Pensacola, Fla., November 16, was Naval Aviation Cadet Peter R. McElhinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McElhinney of 18 Salem street.

McElhinney attended Wentworth Institute before entering the Naval Aviation Cadet Program through Naval Air Station, South Weymouth, Mass.

He is now assigned to the Saufley Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, also at Pensacola, for primary flight training.

While in Pre-Flight he was instructed in Aerology, Navigation, Principles of Flight and other technical subject to prepare for actual flight training.

MAKE ROOM IN YOUR HEART

Christmas is almost here. Prayers and carols, tinsel and parties, mingle to express our joy. And the golden threads in the tapestry of celebration are our efforts to help the needy, in our own community and in the larger community of the world.

But how do you measure the degrees of world need? How do you decide who can be helped, and who must be turned away? Because of widespread hunger, CARE launched its 1956 holiday season Food Crusade to distribute 5 million $1 packages of U.S. farm surplus, to help feed 20 million people in 19 countries. Then came the Hungarian crisis. Swiftly, CARE organized a $2,000,000 emergency drive for the victims in Hungary and refugees fleeing in Austria.

We believe, with CARE, that Americas heart is big enough to help both the Hungarian people and the victims of war, tyranny and poverty in other lands. Every $1 to the Food Crusade sends a 22-lb. package, in your name, to help feed four persons for one month. Recipients include refugees in South Korea, Vietnam, Hong Kong, West Berlin and Germany; needy families from Italy to Panama. For Hungarian relief, CARE delivers $10 standard food packages; $5 "Welcome Kits" of toilet articles; $4 blankets, and variously-priced clothing and other supplies purchased as needed.

Make room in your heart, right now. Mail your Christmas donation for the Food Crusade, or Hungarian relief (or both, if you can afford it) to CARE, 175 Tremont street, Boston.

IS "DOC" PSYCHIC! ROTARY CONVERSATION PRECEDES TRANSATLANTIC CALL

A curious coincidence took place at last Thursday's Rotary meeting just following the viewing of a film entitled, "Voices Beneath the Sea" which told of the remarkable achievement accomplished in laying the first telephone transatlantic cable from this continent to Scotland.

"Church" Hindes, while chatting with fellow Rotarian Jim Lowthers Telephone Business Office Manager, expressed his enjoyment of the film and told of his own use of transatlantic telephone service to keep in touch with his son, Captain James G. Hindes, stationed in Germany.

Dr. Hindes returned directly home and at that time, the telephone rang. Presto! Transatlantic Mental Telephone Telepathy had done it's work. The Captain in Germany was on the line waiting to say hello to his dad.

CRITICAL DAYS IN EDUCATION

One of the points of concern at the recent Merrimack Valley School Superintendents' meeting was the urgent need for Substitute Teachers. Teacherless classrooms have already existed due to this critical shortage. The need for teachers has been so acute, say the Superintendents that former teachers interested only in day to day substitute work have been pressed into service as regular teachers.

One cannot help but think that there are many college graduates, with decreasing family responsibilities, who would be willing to perform a genuine service for our community schools. The opportunity to assist in an area of critical need is really present, and the chance to brush up on the subjects of your specialty should be a pleasant challenge.

Former teachers, or college graduates without experiences, are urged to contact Superintendent of Schools Harry V. Gilson at Winchester School Headquarters on Washington street beside the Library, or the Superintendents of Schools in their own and neighboring communities, to notify them of their availability. This is more than a community service!

Students from Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, New Jersey, who will begin their Christmas recess on Wednesday, December 19, returning to the campus on Monday, January 7, are: Misses Ann V. Peter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Peter, 50 Hillcrest parkway; and Marcia L. Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Harris, 121 Church street.

WINCHESTER HOMEFRONTERS

The board of the Winchester Homefronters held a meeting at the home of the Executive Chairman, Mrs. Harold H. Given last Tuesday, to hear the reports of the various chairmen. The following were present: Mrs. Joseph H. Beck, Mrs. Harlan Wilbur, Mrs. Ross Cunningham, Mrs. Henry Murphy, Mrs. Leonard V. Griffith, Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch, Mrs. Henry A. Dellicker, Mrs. Carl E. Thomas, Mrs. Malcolm W. Burr and Mrs. Frank D. Hawkins.

Mrs. Malcolm W. Burr, Christmas Project Chairman reported that 225 Christmas boxes were packed and sent to our Winchester boys and girls serving their country in all parts of the world.

The majority of the money for both the Christmas project and the birthday cards sent is raised by a food sale in the spring and Tag Day in the Fall, on the day of the first football game in Winchester. But there are also many other contributions given by local organizations, banks, companies, stores and individuals who give generously of money, time, service and articles to make the boxes more attractive.

For this the Homefronters and the boys and girls themselves are most grateful. Here is a letter from Al Lindsey from Korea:

Dear Homefronters: Just a short note to thank you for the beautiful birthday card I received on my birthday. First I want to apologize for waiting so long to acknowledge this fine act, but my regiment has been out in the field for the past three months running tests. I am now attached to the Intelligence Section of Headquarters and am getting along fine. Please say hello to all my wonderful friends in Winchester and thanks again for that wonderful birthday card. I really appreciated it. Sincerely yours, Al Lindsey.

And from A/3c Deanna J. Mele (first letter received from boxes sent this year). Dear Homefronters: Just a short note to show my appreciation for the assortment box you sent me. You'll never know how much a person about two thousand miles away from home really appreciates the thoughts of others. Again my deepest thanks. Sincerely, A/3c Deanna J. Mele, (Barksdale AFB, Louisiana).

WOULD THANK YOU IF THEY COULD

We wish we had an animal that could say "Thanks" because if we did, it would be able to tell you straight from its heart how thankful all animals are for the help they get from the Animal Rescue League of Boston, and how much your support is needed this Christmas season.

Sick, injured, stray and unwanted animals, neglected horses on city streets and in riding stables, mistreated livestock, even wild animals and birds get a helping hand from the League whenever they need it. And the need is amply demonstrated. Hundreds of the homeless and friendless animals of our concrete jungles find refuge with us every month and week of the year. The doors of our shelter are ready at any time to open wide to receive them.

The dollars you give to this annual Christmas Appeal for Animals are used not only for dinners and blankets for horses, but also to purchase feed and medicines and for other animal-relief projects that extend all through the year.

And so, your Christmas contribution—large or small—works the year around to make life better for needy animals. It's a donation that every animal lover can make with full confidence that it goes to a wonderful cause. Please, then, fill out the enclosed form and return it with your check now before the rush of other givings make you forget.

We have a new line of gift wrappings and ribbons. Winchester Star. Star Building.

CHRISTMAS FAMILY PARTY AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday evening, December 16, at 5:30, the entire congregation of First Baptist Church, as well as friends, relatives and neighbors, will gather in the Social Hall for the annual all-family Christmas party. Mrs. Walter Bosselmann is chairman of this festive occasion and Mrs. Edward S. Winn has been busy for several weeks taking reservations. Others on the committee are: Mrs. Arvid Gustavson, Mrs. Charles Prescott, Mrs. Herbert Mullen, Mrs. Leonard Mortensen, Mrs. Harley Hart and Mrs. John W. Dawson, who is in charge of decorations.

After a buffet supper, this large church family will join in carol singing under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Dean. A play, "The Fight Before Christmas," will be presented by the Senior High Fellowship under the direction of Russell MacLeod. This play promises to be entertaining for everyone, from the youngest to the oldest guest. The cast includes: Frances Bosselmann, Michael Brink, Jean Dawson, John Foster, Irene Mullen, Edwin Tuller and Donald Turpin. Santa Claus will be present to delight the little ones. A Christmas worship service will bring the happy evening to a close.

The Boston YWCA's modern Berkeley Residence Club provides 200 attractive single rooms for young business girls and students.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

On Monday, December tenth, The Fortnightly met in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church. Colorful Christmas decorations gave a festive appearance, for which the Social and Platform Committees deserve praise and thanks.

The business meeting began at 2 p. m. with the president, Mrs. Paul H. Atwood, in the chair. Mrs. Fiske reported that twenty-five bags are filled, ready for distribution (besides many other useful articles) at the Chelsea Soldiers' Home where they will bring holiday cheer. Mrs. McCullough spoke of the community singing around the tree on the Common, customary for many years, on Christmas Eve at 7:30. It is expected that several high school students will play instruments. Let us spread the invitation to anyone who would like to join us.

Guest of Honor was Mrs. Norman R. Houghton of Stoneham, Eighth District Director, who spoke on Federation matters of interest. She wished that more members would subscribe for "Federation Topics" in order to bring up the quota she desires and urged even better attendance at Club Institute.

A charming program appropriate for the season was presented by the Evmarede Trio consisting of Evelyn Pearl, reader, Marian Haynes, contralto, and Edith Lawson, pianist. Selections from "The Birds' Christmas Carol" by Kate Douglas Wiggin were given by the talented Miss Pearl. (Many of the older members recalled reading this touching and amusing story in their childhood). At intervals Miss Haynes who has a rich, melodicus voice, rendered many pleasing old Yuletide songs. Miss Lawson's opening number was an interesting combination of themes from Christmas music. As an accompanist she showed much ability and sensitivity.

Mrs. Bowes and her committee had prepared a most attractive tea served at prettily decorated tables, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Rosander pouring. Christmas cards, wrappings, and juvenile books were on sale at a table nearby, a project of the Ways and Means Committee.

Among the Winchester members of the committee arranging for the big testimonial for former Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe of Everett avenue at the Hotel Statler January 13, are Leonardo Barbo, Ralph Bonnell, Joseph Cornoni, Al Lonigo and Dr. Angelo Maietta.

VETERANS

Five simple hints for veterans writing to the Veterans Administration concerning their claims were given by Manager William J. Blake of the Veterans Administration Regional Office. The hints are:

1. Don't write to Washington—write to your nearest Veterans Administration regional office.

2. Always give your full name and address. Make sure you notify the Veterans Administration of any change of address, and include your old and new address in the notification.

3. If the Veterans Administration has given you a "C" number for your claim, be sure to list it in your letter; otherwise, give your serial number.

4. If you are writing concerning your GI insurance, give your insurance policy number.

5. If you are attending an educational institution or enrolled in on-the-job training, give the name and address of the training establishment.

Manager Blake urged veterans to include this information in all mail sent to Veterans Administration offices. Blake said veterans who follow these hints would receive faster replies and service and would reduce the Government's cost of handling correspondence.

Information and asssistance regarding Veterans Administration benefits may be obtained from James J. Keefe, Contact Representative in Charge, of the Veterans Administration Office, located in the Post Office Building, in Union Square, Somerville.

Whether you spell it Santa Klaus, Kris Kringle, Pere Noel or Father Christmas, the spirit is the same and the present that fits every stocking is a U. S. Savings Bond.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FORMER WINCHESTER WOMAN

A beautiful and impressive memorial service for Winthrop and Mildred Lewis Travell, the later a former resident of Winchester, was held Sunday, December 2, at the West Side Presbyterian Church, Ridgewood, New Jersey.

It followed the regular Sunday morning service and was conducted by Dr. Arthur Hughes and Mr. George Knight, ministers of the Church, assisted by the choir. The church was filled to capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Travell were both lost at sea near the coast of Thailand when the coastal steamer on which they were passengers capsized and sank during a typhoon November 13, 1956.

Forty of the fifty-two passengers were saved, five are known to have drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Travell who were the only Americans aboard, are two of the seven persons missing. Mr. Travell is known to have been in the water and Mrs. Travell last seen clinging to an overturned lifeboat before being washed off by a huge wave.

They were on a vacation trip from Mr. Travell's government duties in Bangkok. Mr. Travell has been with the International Cooperative Administration since 1948 in the Far East and Mrs. Travell joined him in 1951. They returned home for Christmas in 1954 and were looking forward to being home again in March 1957.

Their daughter Joann who graduated from Wilson College in 1956 is now a student at the Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School in New York City. Their son John is a junior at Dartmouth College.

Mr. Travell was born in Plainfield, N. J., in 1902 and graduated from Dartmouth College in 1923. He was the son of the late Ira W. Travell, Superintendent of Schools in Ridgewood, N. J. His mother Mrs. Margaret Travell and sister Mrs. Robert M. Bennett live in Ridgewood.

Mrs. Travell was born in Woburn, Mass., in 1905. She resided in Winchester for many years attending schools here, later returning to Woburn. She graduated from Boston University in 1926.

Mrs. Travell was the daughter of Dr. Benjamin Lewis of Boston and Centerville, Cape Cod, and the late Mrs. Mabel Read Lewis of Woburn; and sister of Mrs. Carl A. Chaplin (Dorothy Lewis) of Westford, Mass.

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

The gift that grows with the years: U. S. Savings Bonds.

BRUINS AID TOY CAMPAIGN

Members of the Boston Bruins Hockey Club added their support today to the Christmas Toy Collection Campaign being conducted by the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Center with the corporation of the Shell Oil Company. Bruins Milton Schmidt, coach, and Johnny Peirson visited the Shell Service Station owned by Benjamin F. Touchstone, at 1099 Beacon street, Newton.

The Bruins contributed their share of toys to the fast growing pile of every conceivable type of plaything. Every Shell Service Station in this area reports that an excellent start has been made in this Campaign. They have received bicycles and tricycles, pull toys and noise makers, trains and doll houses, cowboy guns and footballs, a panda named Poobah, a doll named Penny, and even a rocking duck named Diligent (a budding genius owned this.—Ed).

The Toy Collection Campaign ends December 17. Until that date good toys for distribution to less fortunate children may be left at any Shell Service Station.

S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

One again with pen in hand we scratch up another column. Unbelieving as it may seem, time is passing by too fast to suit either you or me. With only three weeks left to go to close the first half of the bowling season, the All Stars, who have been on top for the past six or seven weeks, are starting to stumble.

Team Standings:

All Stars	30-14
Blue Eyes	26-18
Bee Bops	24-23
Lindy Hop	24-23
Jitterbugs	24-23
Rock and Roll	22-22
High and Low	13-31
Hot Shots	13-31
Hi Single:
Choppers Gangi	147
Hi Triple:
Babe Tofuri	352
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco	103
Richard Bucci	98.6
Dick Fiore	97.2
Babe Tofuri	96.4
Joe Berardi	96.3
Bob Fiore	96.3

There isn't much to say about the average department for our good friend Tony Saraco is making it a runaway this year. He also led the 300 circle this week as he has done many times in the past with a 317 and runners-up were Nich Molea, 312; and M. J. Saraco, 302.

There exists at the present time a three-way tie for third place which will undoubtedly be broken because the Lindy Hop boys captained by Jeff Gaudioso are fast closing coming down the stretch, and it wouldn't surprise me if they went all the way before the first half ends.

Spotlight for this evening goes to the Bee Bop boys who boasted a 1415 pinfall. Their capttain Bob Fiore, a new comer to our ranks this year is doing a wonderful job in keeping his team in the thick of the battle.

His crew includes such greats as M. J. Saraco, one of the main cogs in the wheel; Dick Tofuri, the rookie of the team; Leroy Penta, well known man around the town; Dan Gattineri, the little flower of Winchester; and M. D. Saraco, the only dead-head on the team.

We are happy to announce that Rocky DiTesso, after a tussle with a virus, is up and around and hopes to be able to bowl this week.

We try to bring the news as we see it unbiased and not camouflaged. We know there is a feeling of uneasiness each week without his presence, but we are young and we should be strong and carry on as he would have willed it so!

Hokie is all done, let us face it. Recently he is wearing dark glasses and is hiding the deep ravines that at one time held eyes of shining rubies.

Down we go for another week and the award this week going to a young and vibrant bowler Jake Ciarcia.

See you next week!

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME

On Sunday, December 9, at the 7:45 a. m. mass, St. Mary's Holy Name society received holy communion in a body. The mass was celebrated by Father Charles Anadore and in his sermon he praised our society and its purposes.

After mass, coffee and doughnuts were served by Frank Antonuccio and his young assistant, Al Thorne III. Al Thorne, Jr., opened the meeting and spiritual director Father Martin J. Dolphin led the group in the recitation of the Holy Name pledge.

President Thorne reported on the convention held in Boston. Secretary Gerry Freedman and treasurer Bill Lippman read their reports and vice president John Fitzgerald reported on the recent turkey bridge and whist party.

A check for $700 has been turned over to the church from the proceeds of this affair and much of the credit is due to co-chairmen Hugh Fay and Frank Muraco, Charlie Manoli and his mother Mrs. Marion Manoli for making the party so successful.

Sunday, January 13, will be the date for the annual family communion breakfast and tickets are now available. The guest speaker will be announced shortly.

A nocturnal adoration group from St. Mary's has been formed and will watch one hour a month before the Blessed Sacrament at St. Clement's Eucharistic Shrine, Boylston and Ipswich streets, Boston. The hour assigned to us is the third Friday of each month from 9 to 10 in the evening.

Bill O'Donnel of Arlington, the president of the Nocturnal Adoration Society of St. Clement's Archdiocesan Eucharistic Shrine addressed the group and told of the background and aims of the society. The purposes are adoration, atonement, and petition. The first group will go December 21. The members will meet in front of St. Mary's church and proceed by auto to St. Clement's.

Program Chairman Herb Cleary introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Richard E. Stiles, who is a member of St. Mary's Holy Name Society. Dr. Stiles's subject was alcoholism and he gave a very enlightening talk.

He said that alcoholism is a mental illness, aggravated by the tension of modern living. He discussed the reasons why men drink, the relation of alcohol to other diseases, the danger signals and means of combatting the disease.

Father Dolphin closed the meeting with a prayer.

NEW GUSTIN CORPORATION PLANT AT 95 CROSS STREET

BUILDING TRADE REPRESENTATIVES VISITED GUSTIN'S

Between two and three hundred representatives of the building trade visited the new Gustin Corporation plant at 95 Cross street at the corner of Forest street last Friday and Saturday for the dual purpose of inspecting the fine new building and to see displays of building materials by Macomber, Incorporated, of Canton, Ohio, of which well known firm the Gustins are New England representatives. On display were latest developments in light steel framing.

Visitors were at the plant all day on both Friday and Saturday with many enjoying the social hour and refreshments from 2 to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

In addition to seeing the Macomber displays those who visited the plant had the opportunity to meet a number of Macomber officials, headed by the President of the corporation, Robert Macomber, who flew east to Bedford Airport in his own plane.

Other Macomber officials included F. M. Daugherty, vice president in charge of sales; Edward MacDowell, president of Macomber, Detroit, Sales; George Van Maldeghem of Vanco Engineering of Pittsburgh; Andrew Stillwell of Stillwell Co., Macomber representatives in Buffalo; A. W. Rollins of the Macomber New York office, a vice president of the corporation; and Charles Coxeter of the McComber office in Washington.

For members of the Macomber Corporation and the Gustin staff, Friday ended with a dinner at the Ship's Haven in Lynnfield. During the day a telegram was received from Lester C. Gustin, president of the corporation, who is vacationing with Mrs. Gustin in St. Petersburg, Florida.

The new Gustin plant is a one-story building of modern, but not extreme design, constructed so that it can be altered in the future for any purpose. Built of masonry with Macomber steel trusses and a steel roof, it is 3300 square feet in size and completely air conditioned.

Inside the building are interior finishes of varied materials used with a view to permitting clients to see the finishes in actual use and thus get a better idea of which type of interior best suits their individual needs. Included are such features as cork floors, translucent ceilings, various types of wall panelling in fine furniture finishes, ceramic murals and plastic wall coverings.

The reception room, which includes facilities for the use of visiting clients has a tarazzo floor and combines ceramic tiles with fine pigskin on the walls.

The building contains, in addition to the Gustins' office, which is connected by inter-com with the other quarters, five administrative offices, two drafting rooms, and a conference room with facilities for showing still and motion pictures, this last room finished with cork floor and walls.

Featuring the drafting rooms, used by professional engineers to prepare plans and drawings for clients, are translucent ceilings with lighting above, which prevents shadows of any kind from forming on the drawing boards.

In the Gustin office, a large restful richly appointed room, your eyes are immediately attracted to a large portrait in oils of the Corporation President, Lester C. Gustin, done by Richard V. Ellery. On another wall is a candid photograph of Stanley Macomber, founder of Macomber Incorporated and the present chairman of the board.

The woodwork in the Gustin office is rich dark walnut panelling and the furnishings are walnut and leather, including a large davenport and lounge chair of a striking sand shade. The floor is cork and the ceiling of accoustic tile. Attractive aqua and gold drapes hide the windows at the rear, and above the windows is mounted a large carved and guilded wooden eagle of the sort you see in the old shops or over doors down Marblehead way.

Lester C. Gustin, present president of The Gustin Corporation who lives in the Winchester Arms, the group house he built at 233 Washington street, founded the firm of Lester C. Gustin in 1923 and was the first representative of Macomber Incorporated in New England, introducing steel joist construction to the area. He has been identified with the steel business since his graduation from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1913. Previous to founding his own firm he had been president of the Boston Structural Steel Company in Boston.

The firm remained Lester C. Gustin from 1923 to 1947, in which year Mr. Gustin was joined in business by his son, in a partnership to be known as Lester C. Gustin & Son, which firm is now The Gustin Corp.

Mr. Gustin's son, Lester C. Gustin, Jr., of 10 Hillcrest parkway, present treasurer of the Gustin Corporation, came to the firm after service in the European Theatre as a member of the Corps of Engineers in the third Army with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He is now a member of the United States Army Reserve. For several years the Gustin firm was located in Boston, and then for a short time in Stoneham before their present fine new plant was opened last August.

Sharing the Gustin building with The Gustin Corporation is Jerome Bailey Foster, widely known Winchester architect, who has an office and drafting room for general practice. Though not officially connected with the Gustin Corporation, Mr. Foster has worked closely with the Gustins in many projects and designed for the corporation its new business home. The Gustins were their own engineers.

As the Star reporter left the fine new Gustin plant, his attention was called to a large colored architect's drawing of the so-called Foster plan for securing adequate facilities for the town's secondary school by shutting off Main street at Washington street and joining the then junior high and senior high buildings with a new building extending across the abandoned section of Main street.

In mulling over the plan, proposed by Messrs. Gustin and Foster several years ago, and studying the picture, the reporter was struck with the many features of the Foster plan which have been adopted in spite of the strong opposition expressed to it by the school authorities at the time it was introduced.

ALL THE OTHERS SIMPLY PROVE...

The '57 Pontiac is America's Number (1) Road Car!

Months ago, Pontiac set its '57 sights on producing an engineering classic—the greatest road car in automotive history! How well did they succeed? One answer is pictured here, the all-new '57 Pontiac itself, a car so advanced in concept that other new cars merely emphasize its outstanding design, its brilliant array of first-time features! The other answer is the public's response to this road-ruling beauty. From every quarter of the nation has come wave after wave of confirming praise. Praise for Pontiac's styling—its crisp, colorful lines and flowing contours that accent beauty built in, not hung on! Praise for new Level-Line Ride—the advanced suspension system that cradles you in cloud-soft comfort. Praise for Pontiac's ease of handling! Praise for the brisk and eager response of its all-new Strato-Streak V-8 engine! And underlying this tremendous voice of approval is the confidence felt in a car which has undergone the greatest road test in history . . . Pontiac's grueling 100,000-Mile Marathon Run! Yes, this year it's Pontiac all the way! Come in and see it! Come take the wheel of America's No. 1 Road Car!

With the largest registration of motor vehicles this year in the history of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and with all signs pointing to an increased registration for 1957, motorists are urged to go to their nearest branch office as soon as possible in order to avoid a last-minute rush.

The Registry has provided 31 branch offices scattered throughout the Commonwealth and motorists are requested to make "over-the-counter" applications at the nearest convenient office. For Winchester motorists that would be Malden or the temporary office in Woburn.

NOW, HOLD STILL, THIS ISN'T GOING TO HURT A BIT!

High School Teacher Tom Morse, as Androcles, ministers to his associate in the physical education department, Isadore Battino, as the lion in the Prologue to Androcles and the Lion, given by the Community Theatre last week at the Washington School.

SCENE FROM GREAT CATHERINE BY COMMUNITY THEATRE AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL LAST WEEK

Esta Pena (Varinka), Arthur Twombly (Naryshkin), James Hintlian (Patiomkin), Charles Buchanan (First Guard), Dan Kelleher (Second Guard), Lawrence Smith (Sergeant), Patricia Hintlian (Lady-in-Waiting), Marie Millican (Empress Catherine), Peggy Pettingell (Princess Dashkoff), Eve Twombly (Lady-in-Waiting), Natalie Appleton (Claire), George Appleton (Captain Edstaston).

COMMUNITY THEATRE PRODUCED "GREAT CATHERINE"

The Winchester Community Theatre launched its performance of "Great Catherine" and prologue of "Androcles and the Lion," both by George Bernard Shaw last Thursday and Friday evenings at the Washington School Auditorium. This was presented unpretentiously as a Workshop Production.

There were many obstacles and handicaps, more than the usual quota, in the birth of this program, but the small audience as a whole were agreeably pleased with the colorful and amusing production of "Catherine" which came first.

Some of Shaw's subtlety was undoubtedly missing but the young (in acting experience) actors came off with a creditable performance and there were many in the half-filled hall who were most enthusiastic in their praise of this growing nucleus of a living local Community Theatre. Unfortunately space will not permit a detailed appraisal of the cast this week.

The second part of the program "Androcles and the Lion" brought unreserved applause from the delighted audience. The atmosphere of a wood near early Christian Rome was filled with the delightful performance of Tom Morse as the patient Androcles, his nagging shrew like wife, Magera, played by Madeline Zimmerman and the convincing and lovable limping lion done by Isadore Battino.

PUCKSTERS MEET REVERE

Winchester plays its second hockey game of the young season Saturday evening, at the Lynn Arena at 9 o'clock, when the Indians meet Revere in a North Shore Conference game commencing at 9 o'clock.

The Indians in their abbreviated Jamboree victory over Woburn and their relatively easy win over St. John's last Saturday will be favored to win tomorrow night.

Winchester's next game is December 20, a Thursday evening engagement with Peabody at the Lynn Arena at 6 o'clock. December 22, next Saturday, the Indians have an engagement with Amesbury at the Arena at 5 p. m.

MEDFORD SCOUT CABIN DESTROYED

The five-room cabin in the woods at the rear of the City Farm in Medford, was burned to the ground Wednesday afternoon while firefighters stood helplessly by, unable to put out the blaze for lack of water.

Booster pumps were of little avail and the flames had soon made so much headway it was impossible to save the building.

Box 264 on Winford way was sounded at 4:45 by someone who had seen the fire, and the entire Winchester department went to the assistance of the Medford Department which was already at the fire.

The Winchester crew, under Chief James E. Callahan, remained at the fire until nearly six o'clock, assisting in every possible way before returning to quarters.

CAMBRIDGE CENTER EXHIBITION

The Cambridge Center for Adult Education will hold an exhibition of faculty and student work from courses in the Arts and Crafts next Tuesday and Wednesday, December 18 and 19. Hours are from 10:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Exhibits will be open to the public without charge at the Center's headquarters in old Brattle House, 42 Brattle street.

Pencil sketches by Wilfred L. Ferguson, 122 Winchester avenue, and Mrs. Irving L. Symmes, 7 Sanborn street, will be included in the student displays.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Christmas if this holiday is to be a happy occasion in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

WINS HARVARD MEDICAL APPOINTMENT

More than 75 Massachusetts residents have been appointed to the staff of the Harvard Medical School.

The Medical School was established in 1782 as a branch of the University. It is now located in Boston near numerous medical and hospital facilities which have developed since that time. There are now more than a dozen hospitals and clinics which are associated with the Medical School, offering students a broad range of opportunities for clinical investigation and study.

Many of those who received appointments will be either Teaching Fellows, doing part-time teaching while continuing their studies, or Research Fellows, carrying on investigation in some branch of medical science in the Medical School or one of its associated hospitals.

Among those receiving appointments is Dr. George T. Watts of 4 Hillside avenue, appointed Research Fellow in surgery. He received the M.B. (1944) and the Ch.B (1944) from the University of Birmingham, England. He is a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. He will be affiliated with the Massachusetts General Hospital.

WINCHESTER AT WOBURN

Winchester makes its second start of the 1956 basketball all season tomorrow evening at Woburn, meeting the Tanners in a non-league engagement, first and second teams, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Winchester has played one game against Arlington while Woburn will be making its first start against the Indians. Winchester beat Arlington, 57-36, while Woburn boasts a scrimmage victory over the Menotomy towners, 40-28.

Woburn will be starting a team that lacks experience, but has shown promise in its practice sessions thus far. Winchester has another good first team, built around veterans, Mike Callahan, Dave Bergquist and Roger Symmes.

The local Jay Vees dropped their first game in six years last Friday to Arlington, and will be out to start another victory streak against the Tanners.

Next Tuesday afternoon, Winchester plays another non-league game with Marblehead at the local gym.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING

Work has begun earlier in the week on the new holiday lighting for the Centre and by the end of the week it is expected that the lights and decorations will be in place.

The plan is to decorate all light poles from Christie McDonald's on Mt. Vernon street to Mouradian's Oriental Rug Co., on Chruch street, and from Filene's on Main street to the Socony Filling Station and Ungerman.

In the same locations a pole is to be attached to every other parking meter, and these poles are to be decorated with greenery and lights.

Expense of the lighting is being borne by the town's merchants, with all but six of 107 solicited pledging to underwrite the plan. In charge of arrangements is a committee, the members of which are Joseph W. Butler, representing the Board of Selectmen, Dr. William L. Davis, representing the Park Commissioners; Joseph C. Gray, an architect with lighting experience, representing the town as a whole; and the three heads of the town's service clubs, Charlie Koch, Rotary; Dick Rogers, Lions; and Jimmy Violante, Kiwanis.

STEPHEN FRANCIS

Stephen Francis, who died November 29, in Hartford, Conn., was the brother of Mrs. Callahan, wife of Fire Chief James E. Callahan of Bonad road.

Aged 55, Mr. Francis was born in Jamaica Plain and had lived in Hartford for nearly 30 years, being associated with the Pratt & Whitney Airplane manufacturing firm.

Besides his sister in Winchester he leaves another sister, Mrs. Edward Dolan of Brighton; and three brothers, Henry of Brighton and Richard and John Francis of Jamaica Plain.

THREE-CAR CRASH

Icy streets were responsible for a three car accident at Main and Chestnut streets Tuesday morning. Carleton R. McLean of Kingston, N. H., had stopped his car, headed south, to make a left turn into Chestnut street when he was struck from behind by an auto driven by Harold Stuart of Reading.

Stuart in turn was hit in the rear by a car operated by Mary G. Skoglund of Wilmington.

FIFTY-FOUR YEARS A PRIEST

Right Reverend Thomas C. Garrahan, Chaplain at Marycliff Academy celebrates the 54th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood on Wednesday, December 19.

In congratulating Monsignor Garrahan on the 54 years he has spent in the service of God as a priest, it is well to recall the events through the years that have led to this day.

Monsignor Garrahan was born November 24, 1874, in Framingham, attended the Framingham Public Schools and was graduated from Boston College in 1898.

He entered St. John's Seminary in 1899, was ordained in 1902, and served first as curate at St. Mary's Brookline, later serving as curate at St. Stephen's Framingham, for 23 years.

Monsignor was made pastor of St. John's, Hopkinton, in 1926, was transferred to the Sacred Heart Church in East Boston in 1928 and assigned to Jeanne D'Arc Academy in 1938. He was named pastor of St. Andrew's Billerica, in 1939 and came to Marycliff Academy as chaplain in 1948. He was raised to the dignity of Domestic Prelate in 1955. Throughout his life Monsignor Garrahan has shown great interest in the welfare of prisoners, has always been vitally concerned in the work of the missions, has always been Maryknoll's "number one" vocation scout and has earned the respect and admiration of all those who know him.

The Star congratulates Monsignor Garrahan and wishes him many more happy years in this community.

Monsignor Garrahan recently celebrated his 82nd birthday, and the following poem was written in honor of the event.

"Monsignor's greeting warm and sincere,
"Has a note of gladness and good cheer.
"It's great to know that come what may
"He prays for this country every day . . ."

His many friends salute Monsignor Garrahan and gratefully remember his anniversary on the 19th of December.

Winchester Boards Favor Original Route

Rt. 3 Plans Being Closely Studied

The Star has been informed by the chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen that it was announced last week in the Arlington Advocate that the Board of Selectmen of Arlington has presented a new plan to the Department of Public Works for the extension of Route 3.

According to the description in the Advocate, this plan proposes the extension of Route 8 through the property of the Winchester Country Club near Arlington street in Winchester and through the facilities of the club near Mystic street.

The proposed route would then cross Mystic street by way of an overpass to the upper Mystic Lake. It would then pass over the upper Mystic Lake by way of a bridge 150 feet off shore to the Medford side and thence extend along the easterly shore of the lakes to an interchange circle at Medford street.

This plan would incorporate changes in two other similar proposals for extending the route through the areas of the Country Club and the Mystic Lakes.

It would substitute an interchange circle at Medford street for an interchange at the junction of Mystic street and Old Mystic street, and it would carry the road further offshore in the Mystic Lake.

The Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board of the Town of Winchester have been following closely the development of plans for the extension of Route 3.

They attended a joint meeting with the Boards of Arlington and Lexington at the Department of Public Works several weeks ago. At that time, Commissioner Carl Sheridan made it clear that it is necessary to extend Route 3 southerly from Route 128 and that traffic conditions prohibit any consideration of having Route 3 join Route 2.

The Commissioner invited suggestions and, since that time, the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board of Winchester have recorded themselves in favor of the route which was originally proposed two or three years ago.

This route would extend southerly through Winchester near the boundary line of Lexington to an area near the junction of Ridge street and Hutchinson road. It would then extend southerly in a direct line through a wooded area of Arlington, where there are relatively few houses, until it reached the area of Mystic street near the junction of Draper avenue. It would then continue to the southerly end of the lower Mystic Lake.

Before recording themselves in favor of the above-mentioned route, the Winchester officials studied carefully the advantages and disadvantages of all routes proposed.

It is clear to them that any proposal for the extension of Route 3 commands a sense of responsibility because of the difficult problems presented for decision. It is their considered opinion, however, that the route favored by them would cause the least amount of permanent damage to the natural assets of the communities of Winchester, Arlington, and Medford, and that the greater community of people would be least affected over the years.

Last Monday, Representative Harrison Chadwick, Mr. Franklin J. Lane and Mr. Ralph H. Bonnell of the Planning Board, and Mr. George B. Redding of the Board of Selectmen met with Commissioner Carl Sheridan of the Department of Public Works. It is reported that Commissioner Sheridan is giving careful consideration to all possible routes and that his decision may be expected soon. At that time there will be an opportunity for a public hearing.

In the meantime, the Winchester officials are doing everything that is reasonably possible to advance the best interests of the Town and the general community in a calm and dispassionate manner.

NEW YEAR'S DAY TONI TWINS TO GET $500 IN GIFTS

Twin girls born between midnight and noon New Year's Day will receive something better than the proverbial "silver spoon." As winners in the Ninth Annual Toni Twin Baby Derby, each qualifying twosome will be awarded $500 in gifts.

Lucky twin girls who beat the deadline will receive a year's supply of Gerber's baby food, Trundle Bundle infants' wear, a special selection of Love dresses, Storkline cribs, Kantwet mattresses and Tour-A-Beds, an assortment of Playskool educational toys, and a Hedstrom twin baby carriage.

The odds are surprisingly favorable in this race with the stork. If you, or someone you know, expects a New Year's Day arrival, the chances are one in 528 that it will turn out to be Derby-winning twins. In the last three baby derbies, however, the long-legged bird proved generous by delivering 132 winners, when only 102 were forecast.

Last year's winners were most numerous in Pennsylvania, where four sets qualified. Michigan had three, and others were scattered all over the nation.

Winners will be announced New Year's Day. Parents of eligible newcomers should send collect wires to the Toni Twin Baby Derby, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Illinois. Wires must reach Baby Derby headquarters by 2 p. m., CST, on January 1. Announcements must be received by January 15. No entries will be accepted after that date.

MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun said today that the mounting volume of Christmas mail makes it vitally important for everyone to help on his "Mail Early For Christmas" program.

He reports that the flow of Christmas cards is running about the same as last year, but mailing of gifts by Parcel Post is definitely behind schedule, and he urged that all out-of-state parcels be sent by Air Parcel Post from now on.

"Most people realize that the early arrival of a Christmas card or gift is always welcomed," the Postmaster pointed out. "But there are still some who have the mistaken idea that a gift or card arriving on Christmas Eve has a special significance. Actually, it is the thought behind the gift or card and not the time of arrival that is the most important consideration."

Every facility of the Post Office is being pressed into maximum service, extra trucks and personnel have been added with the goal of clearing all Christmas mail well before Christmas Day.

In summing up the present situation, the Postmaster said, "Try to bring your parcels and Christmas cards to the Postal windows before 10:00 a. m., or between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m., to avoid the peak hour rushes.

The Postmaster reminded us again that all gifts should be wrapped securely with heavy paper, or enclosed in sturdy corrugated cartons and tied with strong cord. Write legibly, or better yet, print the recipients full name, street address, zone number, city and state, on all Christmas cards and mailing labels. Send all cards by First-Class mail, and be sure to include your name and address on the Christmas card envelopes.

In conclusion, the Postmaster said, "We can make it a merrier Christmas for everybody if you will just follow these three simple rules: wrap your Christmas gifts securely—address your gifts and cards correctly, and mail them now!

Airman Callahan is a field maintenance clerk in charge of all outgoing correspondence regarding records of the shops.

Airman Callahan entered the service in 1954 at the end of his freshman year at Boston University. He had previously graduated from Winchester High School. He had his basic training at Sampson Air Force Base in New York and later served at Amarillo, Texas, and Eglin Air Force Base in Pensacola, from where he went to Thule in June of this year.

He has a year to do in Thule and then returns to this country for another year of service, after which he will be discharged.

Airman Callahan's parents had the pleasure Monday evening of entertaining at dinner the Air Force Base Chaplain, Father Avery, who is in New England meeting parents of the boys stationed in Alaska.

He came to the Callahan's home after a pleasant visit with his old friend, Monsignor Thomas Garrahan at Maryclift Academy and told Chief and Mrs. Callahan much that was of interest about their son and his life at Thule, this bleak northern post where temperatures are presently 25 below zero and gales reach velocity of 70 and 80 miles an hour as a regular thing.

HIGH SCHOOL UNBEATEN IN FIELD HOCKEY

Though less publicized than the boys' fall sports of football and cross country, the girls' field hockey team at Winchester High School, coached by Mildred Barnes of the Physical Education Department, also enjoyed a great season this year, being undefeated, while winning seven games and tying one. The local girls had a lopsided scoring record, tallying 22 goals to one for the opposition. Only Arlington, the team able to play Winchester even, succeeded in scoring on the Red and Black.

The Winchester Jay Vees, with a lineup of two juniors and nine sophomores, lost only one out of seven games, tying four and winning two.

The starting varsity eleven had in its lineup four seniors and seven juniors, making prospects for another successful season next year especially bright. With the entire Jay Vee team back next fall, holdovers from this year's varsity will have to hustle to be sure of their jobs in 1957.

Varsity players were Judy Dallin, lw; Stephanie Hersey, li; Capt. Stephanie Stone, cf; Betsey Snell, ri; Mary Dowling, rw; Charlotte Clark, lh; Ann Luitwieler, ch; Linda Branneman, rh; Sandra Lawson, lf; Judy Dalrymple and Carol Fisher, rf; and Carol Fisher, g. Also on the varsity squad were Anne Moriarty, Mary Devaney, Nancy Pizzano and Alice Fitzgerald, manager.

Jay Vee players included Elaine Goldem, lw; Sheryle NcNeill, li; Marcia Scott, cf; Donna Violante, ri; Rosemary Fonseca, rw; Ann Neville, lh; Ann Buros, ch; Marcia Smith, lh; Jean Dawson, lf; Deborah Jope, rf; and Donna Woodcock, g. Also on the Jay Vee squad were Susan Scott, Vivian Palazzo, Carolyn Kirk, Constance Marshall, and Managers Mary Moran and Ann Smith.

The varsity team participated in the annual schoolgirl sports day sponsored by the Boston Field Hockey Association and was matched with three private schools. Playing beautiful hockey, Winchester beat Beaver Country Day, 2-1, played a scoreless tie with Mary C. Wheeler School of Providence and lost to the strong Winsor School team, 3-0.

All these were abbreviated contests, but they provided a wonderful opportunity for the Winchester girls to meet and compete against schools from other areas, and to make new acquaintances.

HIGH SCHOOL HARRIERS HAD GREAT SEASON

With the close of the great 1955 Cross Country season, during which the Winchester High School Cross Country team made the almost unprecented grand slam of winning the Middlesex, State and New England Interscholastic Championships, it was hardly expected that the Indians would have anything more than an ordinary season this year.

This was especially so in view of the fact that last year's "big three," Osborne, Becker and Franson, had gone on to college. Winchester's veteran and capable coach, Tommy Morse of the high school faculty, was confident of another good season this fall, but hardly sanguine about equalling the record of last year's superlative team.

The call for candidates found the largest squad in history reporting, some 46 boys. Included among these were capable Captain Ken Brown and letter men Harry Ekstrom, Robin Carlson, Quent Roberts, and Bill Emerson. Dan O'Connell, Charlie O'Connor, and Billy Saurman were strong JV runners in 1955 and the return to the squad after a year's absence of Mike Callahan and Don Seaver added strength to the team.

The season opened early and with the squad in only fair condition they were still able to take the measure of a good Wakefield team over a rugged 2.7 mile course.

This opening win was followed by an easy victory over a weak Haverhill team running on the fine Haverhill course. Ken Brown won the race with the fast time of 12:28 to lead his team to a 19 to 44 triumph.

The next meet was the long awaited one against the strong Salem team. The victor here would probably win the Pilgrim Divisional title. The race was hotly contested and although Osgood of Salem won the top spot, breaking Lou Farrell's course record in the process, the Red and Black team piled in to take the meet 25 to 34. This was a remarkable victory when it is realized that two varsity runners, Quent Roberts and Mike Callahan both were forced to drop out.

Revere fell to the local runners easily as Brown, Ekstrom and Saurman finished 1, 2, 3. The last meet of the Pilgrim Division schedule was run against Reading on the home course. Captain Brown ran one of the finest races in the history of Winchester cross country as he shattered the course record established by Osgood of Salem. finishing in the sensational time of 16:20. Emerson, Ekstrom and Saurman finished behind him to give the Red and Black a 16 to 47 win.

The dual meet season came to a close with a non-league meet with Stoneham. The local runners took the first six places in their best team effort winning 15 to 49.

The Pilgrim Division Meet at Essex proved to be an all Winchester race as the Indians swept to a varsity and junior varsity win and Ken Brown took revenge on Osgood of Salem as he captured the individual crown beating his Salem rival by 150 yards. Robin Carlson completed the sweep by winning the JV number one spot by a couple of strides over his teammate Charlie Clifton.

The team groomed themselves for the MCCL meet realizing they were the underdogs to a powerful Newton Club. On October 26, the long victory streak of the harriers came to an end as Newton edged Winchester by a score of 50 to 66 to take the MCCL title.

Although the loss was a bitter blow the club determined to come back and come back they did with a decisive victory in the State Meet with Ken Brown a strong second to "Spike" Paranya who established an all class record for the course. This win also gave the team the opportunity to compete in the New Englands again as they had the third fastest club behind Scituate and Newton.

Then came the most gratifying performance of the season as the team travelled to Colby College at Waterville, Maine, and, on a long course in a bitterly cold wind, swept to their second successive New England title. This win represented a splendid team effort with Captain Brown leading the Red and Black runners to the tape in 9th position. the really remarkable thing about this race was the fact that all of the Winchester runners finished so well. The team placed six of its seven runners in the first 34 with the seventh man in 59th out of a field of 168. The Junior Varsity also had an outstanding season as they raced undefeated through seven dual meets, won the Pilgrim title and captured the MCCL JV crown for the third straight year. What is most unusual is the fact that every dual meet was won by a perfect score (shutout in cross country) of 15 to 50.

The team will say goodbye to several fine runners in June as Brown, Ekstrom, Callahan, and Quent Roberts graduate. However, the core of a good team remains with lettermen Carlson, Emerson, Seaver, O'Connell, O'Connor, Clifton, and Saurman ready to move into the top spots. Also strong JV runners like Van Ummerson with the fine Sophomore crop of Cooper, deRivera, Lewis, and Dreyer plus a good Freshman prospect in Nichols help to reduce a coach's worry.

The 1956 Cross Country team posted an outstanding record and their accomplishment places them high on the list of the many successful sports teams at Winchester High School. Every member of the squad showed the ability to work and the team spirit was excellent. Captain Ken Brown was a fine leader of a fine team. So, Hail to the New England Champions of 1956.

INDIANS DEFEATED ARLINGTON IN SEASON OPENER

Winchester High School opened its 1956-57 basketball season in impressive fashion at Winchester last Friday night, completely outclassing Arlington High, 57-36, with Captain Mike Callahan tallying 21 points.

It was the end of the road for the Indian J.V.'s, who dropped a close 40-37 verdict to the Arlington seconds in the preliminary games for their first loss in an almost unbelievable 126 games.

A crowd estimated at 800 persons jammed the gym for the game, and saw Arlington get away to a 3-0 lead on foul shots by Piggott and Morei.

Long set shots by Bergquist and Callahan, with some jumpers by Symmes wiped out the Menotomy towners' advantage and gave Winchester a tight 12-9 advantage at the quarter.

From there in it was all Winchester, the Indians having a 30-17 lead at the half and continuing their advantage with the resumption of play. Captain Callahan was especially effective with long set shots, some netted from 30 feet out.

In the second team game Winchester looked rather ineffective, but still had a good chance to keep their winning streak intact. With "Dougie" Thomson leading the scoring with 14 points the Indians put on a closing rally that still fell three points short at the final gun.

A time out just before the end of the game confused the big crowd, many believing the game was over at that point and crowding out onto the floor. It was several minutes before the mob was gotten off the playing surface so play could be resumed.

Before the second team game Park Commissioner James H. Coon presented to the school the fine new electric scoreboard and clock, funds for which were raised last spring by popular subscription to perpetuate the name of last year's great WHS hoop team, Middlesex League champions and the first State Class B team to play in the A Division of the Interscholastic Championships at the Boston Garden. The scoreboard and clock were accepted for the school by Athletic Association President John McCormack.

WINCHESTER SEXTET BEAT ST. JOHN'S

Winchester High proved its whitewashing of Woburn High in the Jamboree at the Lynn Arena the previous week-end was no fluke when the Indians outclassed St. John's High of Danvers, 6-1, at the arena last Saturday.

Captain Leo Callahan tallied four of his team's goals, getting three of them within 72 seconds in the second period. He beat the St. John's goalee with his final shot on his third straight unassisted effort midway through the final canto.

Winchester scored its first goal with the second line on the ice, Craig Davenport being set up by Bob Weaver 10 feet out with only little more than two minutes of the first period elapsed. Weaver skated in alone for the other Winchester goal later in the same period.

Denton had a shutout going until late in the second period when Jones rapped in a McCarthy rebound to spoil a perfect game. A big crowd from Winchester went down to Lynn to see the Indians make an impressive start toward what is hoped will be a Northeast Conference championship.

The summary:

WINCHESTER (6)—goal, Denton. Gowdy, Seaver; defense, Kelleher, McElholm, Mirak, Murphy, Graham; forwards, Callahan, Zirkel, Sandberg, Davenport, Sullivan, Harkins, Powers, Daulphenias, Curtis, Mitchell; center, Cussen, Weaver, Emerson, Carter.

For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thought than your thoughts. For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it."

MORRISON — SPROTT

In Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church on Friday evening, December 7, Miss Barbara Blythe Sprott of 29 Joy street, Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dinwiddie of New Orleans, La., and Berkeley, Calif., and the late Albert Sprott of Berkeley, Calif., became the bride of Robert H. Morrison of 80 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Morrison of 12 Glen road. The minister of the church, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, read the 8 o'clock candlelight service, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Miss Sprott wore a princess style, ballerina length gown of imported French ivory lace with a shoulder-length veil caught to a cap of matching lace. Her flowers were white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Glenn McClelland of Campbell, Calif., was her sister's honor attendant, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Stanley Phillips of Lexington and Miss Patricia Clark of Boston.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length dresses of Arabian peacock velveteen with headbands of velveteen leaves and carried nosegays of dark red roses.

Mrs. Dinwiddie, mother of the bride, wore a street-length gown of beige silk faille. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Morrison, wore blue peau de soie, her gown being also street length.

Edward Pearson of Litchfield, Conn., was Mr. Morrison's best man, and ushering were Howard A. Morrison, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, and A. Lane McGovern, both of Winchester.

After a wedding journey to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will live in Boston, where the bridegroom is in the advertising business.

The bride is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley with a Master's Degree in Social Work. She is presently a social worker at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Mr. Morrison is a graduate of Harvard.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS ATTENDED GLOUCESTER CONVENTION

Thirteen members of the student council at the Winchester High School and their advisors attended the fall convention of the Eastern Massachusetts Division of Student Councils at the Gloucester High School on Saturday, December 8. Forty-four schools from eastern Massachusetts cooperated in making this one of the most successful conventions of recent years.

Following the registration period and the opening assembly, the 450 delegates and advisors divided up into 10 discussion groups for the consideration of problems common to student councils everywhere. They included such questions as: "What can a student council contribute to school discipline?" "How can student councils best interpret youth to a critical public?" "How can student councils help to raise scholastic standards?" The problems of organization, the writing of constitutions, and money raising were also considered.

A delicious turkey dinner in the school cafeteria was followed by a second assembly at which the principal speaker was Mr. Salom Rizk author of "Syrian Yankee" and noted lecturer. Mr. Rizk's inpiring address was warmly applauded by the delegates.

Students from Winchester who attended the convention included: Carol Eaton, Ronald Roberts, Dorothy Smith, Mary Laird, Helga Hammerschmidt, Nancy Pizzano, Cathy Tonon, William Mason, Roger Symmes, Martha Dyer, Barbara Clark, Larry Capodilupo, and George Yore. They were accompanied by advisors Marion Balboni and F. Meredith Cooper.

PARENT-FACULTY BOARD MEETING

The executive board of the high school parent-faculty association held its regular meeting at the home of association president Evelyn Russell on Monday night. Those present included Mesdames Keane, Kelley, Low, Monro, Meade, Schumacher, Russell, and Woolley; and Messrs. Fitts, Niblock, Stevens, Mulford, Schaefer, Kelley, and Cooper.

Reports by Secretary Joy Woolley and Treasurer Henry Fitts were received. Mrs. Erskine Kelley reported on the sale of coca-cola at school basketball games, a project sponsored by the association.

Of special interest was the report of Mrs. F. William Schumacher, chairman of the committee which is planning the winter program of the association. The committee has arranged to present a piano recital by Mr. Michael Power, a distinguished concert pianist and a member of the high school faculty. Lovers of fine music are urged to reserve the date of February 4 for this event.

Following the business meeting, Principal W. Howard Niblock was invited to present his suggestions regarding ways in which the parent-faculty association might better fulfill its purposes.

JAMES HOUSTON HAZELTINE

Word has been received here of the death on December 4, in Alhambra, Calif., of James Houston Hazeltine, a former resident of Winchester.

Older residents of the town will remember the Hazeltine family who lived for some years at 7 Stratford road. James Hazeltine was born in Winchester, February 29, 1892, and spent his boyhood and young manhood here, attending the Winchester schools and Rindge Technical Training School. His parents, the late George H., and Ella M. (Houston) Hazeltine were well known residents of the west side of town, being prominent in the social life of the community. Their son, James, was also widely known among the town's young people, and was for many years a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons.

Mr. Hazeltine was married. He leaves his wife, and a brother, Dr. George H. Hazeltine, an osteopathic surgeon in San Francisco, Calif.

HUNT ON FOR WINNER OF RADIO AMATEUR AWARD

Massachusetts now has 7440 amateur radio operators and the search for an unsung hero among them is on, announced Brig. General John J. Maginnis, State Civil Defense Director who recently was appointed Massachusett's chairman for the Edison Radio Amateur Award for outstanding public service.

"A recent tabulation shows Massachusetts now has approximately 7440 of the nation's 149,000 licensed amateur radio stations," he said. "Amateur radio tradition is steeped in public service, and surely among our amateurs is at least one whose public service warrants his nomination as a candidate for the 1956 Edison Radio Amateur Award."

He explained that radio amateurs are licensed by the Federal government, and form the nucleous of emergency radio communications in Civil Defense and other emergency groups. He urged that anyone familiar with a significant public service performed by a radio amateur during 1956 report the facts to the Edison Radio Amateur Award Committee, General Electric Company—sponsor of the Award—at Schenectady, N. Y.

The principal award and several special citations are granted each year in recognition of sacrifice and ingenuity displayed by radio amateurs in performing a meritorious public service. Copies of the award rules and other information may be obtained either from the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency in Natick or directly from the committee at Schenectady, N. Y. The deadline for submitting nominations is January 3, 1957.

SKIDDING AUTO SMASHES WINDOWS

Two plate glass windows on the west side of the front of the Central Hardware Company on Mt. Vernon street were shattered Sunday afternoon when a car driven by James Mirisola of Woburn skidded into them.

Mirisola was coming towards the center on Mt. Vernon street when he was forced to swing sharply to the left to avoid a car which had pulled in front of him from the north side of the street. His car went into a skid on the ice and snow packed street, and careened over the sidewalk and into the windows, snapping off at its base a parking meter in front of the store.

The accident claimed one life, that of a dog belonging to Mrs. Gertrude Murray of 44 Mt. Vernon street, which was on the sidewalk in the path of the car.

The car was damaged extensively on the left side, but no personal injuries were reported. The windows were valued at approximately $200.

LITTLE LEAGUE HELD "DUTCH TREAT" DINNER

The directors, managers, coaches, and other officials of the Winchester Little League held a "dutch treat" dinner on Friday evening, December 7, at the Kernwood in Malden. The meeting was presided over by Warren Hichborn, president; and Charlie Koch was toastmaster. Over 50 people attended, including wives, and all enjoyed an extremely pleasant evening.

It was announced in next years plans that there will be two little leagues in Winchester. The old league will be the National, and the new one the American. The new managers and coaches for the American league were introduced along with the other people present. The new teams are:

It was also announced that with the addition of the new major league there will also be a new minor league. This will mean that in the years to come there will be 240 boys playing Little League Baseball in Winchester instead of 120 as in the past.

Some of the new men who are going to work in this endeavor are: Hal Lewis, Joe Ciarcia, Francis McClellan, George Ross, Charles Moore, Lee Foster, Austin Nanry, Archangelo Amico, Ed Little, George Ericson and Patrick Cosgrove.

Things are looking up to a bright and successful season, and we hope to see one of our leagues represent Winchester at Williamsport again next year.

ANTIQUES STUDY GROUP

The "Antiques Study Group," a newly formed group of men and women who are interested in learning more about antiques, their meaning and current value, will meet on Tuesday evening, December 18, at 7:45, in the Edgar Rich Room of the Winchester Library. Mrs. Clarence Blake is chairman of the group.

For the Christmas program, the group will hear an informal discussion, "Using Antiques for Christmas," with members bringing prized possessions to display and explain. In addition to the information shared by the members, the staff of the library has made available a splendid source of books for further study by the members, books covering every phase of antique collecting.

EDITORIALS

Judging by the calls the Star has received the no parking on the southerly side of Waterfield road at the post office isn't making much of a hit. One motorist who called last Friday was especially upset over getting tagged while transacting business in a federal building.

The motorist wasn't blaming the police, who he said were merely doing their job, but he was critical of the parking restrictions at the post office, and especially disgusted with the islands that have been constructed in Waterfield road to control traffic going to and from the parking lot south of the street.

In this connection another motorist came up with the provocative suggestion of keeping Thompson street one way but reversing traffic so that no one would come out of Thompson street onto Waterfield road. With traffic going the other way on Thompson street it would be possible to remove the wedge-shaped islands from Waterfield road and permit parking on that side, at least that was the view expressed to us.

We are no traffic experts, but we take a dim view of the present setup at Waterfield road. Perhaps the stop sign at Thompson street is the answer. That however is not going to help the people who want to park opposite the post office while transacting business there. Are they going to be permanently out of luck, or is more consideration going to be given to traffic conditions at the Waterfield road-Thompson street intersection? It is the Star's opinion that there should be.

Elsewhere in this issue is an article on the proposed extension of Route 3 from Route 128 through Winchester and Arlington to Boston. It will repay careful reading.

Briefly, the article deals with the proposal, said to have originated with the Arlington town authorities, to have the new road skirt Arlington street in Winchester and go right smack through the Winchester Country Club and across Mystic Lake at a point some 150 feet from the present shore line.

Both the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board have been in close touch with the locating of the new Route 3 as it affects Winchester and have gone on record as favoring the plan arrived at by State engineers some time ago, a plan which places the new highway further west, going through an area of Winchester west of Ridge street and going southerly to the west of Morningside.

Thus far in the discussion of the proposed new road Winchester has been generally less articulate than Arlington and much less vociferous. Its town officers have gone on record as supporting the plan State engineers believed to be best. The local authorities have felt that nothing would be gained by stirring up the community over an issue which may not develop at all.

The Commissioner of the Department of Public Works will decide where the road will go. He has assured both the Selectmen and Planning Board that after his decision has been made there will be an opportunity for all interested parties to be heard.

The Commissioner knows now, through a recorded statement of the town's elected officials, where Winchester stands in the matter of plans under consideration. If he should select the new route proposed by Arlington, that would take the Country Club and further cut down on the size of the Mystic Lakes, Winchester will undoubtedly make its opposition to such a plan both articulate and vociferous.

Both the Winchester Country Club and the Mystic Lakes are community assets, adding value to surrounding real estate in Arlington, Winchester and Medford. Once gone, or mutilated, they cannot be replaced; witness old Bacon's Pond, once a real beauty spot, now little better than a fishing ground and motorboat landing.

ASKS HELP FOR HUNGARIAN REFUGEES

Editor of the Star:

Seven years ago I emigrated from Hungary. Now I have information from the Austrian refugee camp where my mother-in-law is staying, that most of the refugees from 70 to 75 percent, are high school and college students.

I would very much like to help these young people, who fought for their liberty so courageously on the streets of Budapest. Most of them do not speak English and as a consequence are handicapped in making contacts here.

These students need homes for at least a year, so that they may learn English and put themselves in a position to continue their studies and work to support themselves.

I am wondering whether there are in Winchester homes where warm hearts would be willing to accept such a boy or girl for at least a year. If so, I would be happy to have them write to me, giving me their name and address, telling me whether they would prefer to have a boy or girl, and of what age.

I will then forward their names to the proper welfare agencies, from which this information will be sent on to Camp Kilmer, N. J. With their local contacts there will be a number of the refugees, at least, who will arrive in this country knowing there is a place for them and a chance to make a new start.

I would also like to make another suggestion. If we open our homes to some of these young refugees would it not be well to start a bank account for them so that they could receive help with their necessary expenses, or to assist them in getting started when their year here is at an end.

I am hoping my suggestions will find a way into the hearts of the people of Winchester. If through this letter and my efforts even one Hungarian student can find a temporary home in Winchester, my efforts will have paid off.

Very sincerely,
Mrs. Laszlo Varga

Ed. Note: Mrs. Varga's nephew, Gyorgy Karpathy, recent won his second Olympic Gold Medal at the Melbourne, Australia, games as a member of the Hungarian Water Polo team. He and his team-mates are coming from Australia to the United States and Gyorgy will undoubtedly visit the Vargas here while he is in the states.

COMPLETE BUSINESS CENSUS FIGURES TO BE MADE AVAILABLE

You will be interested to learn from the enclosed, that at a meeting of the special committee appointed by the National Newspaper Promotion Association and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, held with Dr. Burgess and other high officials of the Census Bureau, Tuesday, December 4, in Washington, it was finally determined that complete figures of the Census of Business for the years 1954, released in 1956, and those of 1958, to be released in 1960, will be made available in toti to all municipalities in the New England states with populations of 12,000 or more operating under the town form of government.

The special committee was assured by census officials that newspapers will be represented in the future by an advisory group to be composed of newspapermen on the managerial level to the end that our industry may have complete and needed information.

It should be understood that in New England, New York and Pennsylvania with their more prevalent adoption of the town form of government and their more densely populated areas, the problem is most acute and why we have needed to make the fight for proper recognition census-wise. Figures on the 1954 census, previously withheld, will be made available very soon and those to follow in 1960 on the state business in 1958 are now also assured as above outlined.

Winchester is among the Middlesex County, cities and towns of more than 12,000 population for which special retail tabulation is being prepared from 1954 Business Census returns.

FORMS BEING BUILT AT METHODIST CHURCH

Progress is moving rapidly in the building of the Educational Plant of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

The excavation work is finished and cement blocks were set, this past week. The forms are being set this week and general construction work will begin on the building itself, shortly.

The Building Committee is pleased with the progress and reports that, after the foundation is set, the builders will be able to continue work throughout the winter, without much loss of time.

The pastor, Rev. John Snook, Jr., continues to express his gratitude to the people who have been and are giving in a true spirit of sacrifice. He remarked, that, while this particular foundation is being set, it becomes a tool in the building of a strong foundation in the structure of the lives of our young people, who will become our leaders of tomorrow. In this big task there must be no reservation or equivocation on the part of the adults of the church.

The Crawford Memorial Methodist Church is pleased to be a part of a community where people are more and more growing church conscious and are visualizing what the church can do in the building of christian character, so necessary for a sane, sound and safe democracy.

The New Look in Curling

Winchester Country Club Host At "Friendly Bonspiel"

Winchester Country Club was host last week end, Saturday, December 8, and Sunday, December 9, to other New England curling clubs in the first "Friendly Bonspiel" to have been staged hereabouts, so far as is known.

The purpose of a "Friendly Bonspiel," or perhaps it should be said the special purpose of such matches, for all bonspiels are supposed to be friendly, is to bring together early in the curling season rinks from the various areas of New England to further the good friendship that continues to grow yearly among devotees of this increasingly popular sport.

The "Friendly Bonspiel" differs from most others in that the ultimate winning rink is the one that wins the most number of matches, with points added, instead of the rink that has been able to withstand longest competition on the elimination basis. In most regular bonspiels if a rink loses an early round, or indeed any other match, it is through with competition right then. Under the "Friendly" system the beaten rink continues in competition with the hope of better luck next time.

All those participating in the Friendly Bonspiel at Winchester were in agreement that the new type of competition is both fun and a great success. The bonspiel ended in a friendly spirit with the curlers gathering for a punch party, at which yarns were exchanged, new friendships made, curling badges exchanged and prizes were awarded.

Winchester's No. 1 team, skipped by "Geoff" Neiley, was the final winner of the bonspiel with a total of plus 23. Boston, skipped by Winchester's Joe Dolben, finished second with a plus 15.

LERPS AND MAGPIES CUT IN ON AUSTRALIAN TELEPHONE SERVICE

Telephone linemen have odd problems. But perhaps the strangest came up recently in southeast Australia, where magpies began ringing wrong numbers and lerps disconnected telephones.

Investigation disclosed that the magpies, building nests atop telephone poles, were picking small threads from the wires—thus passing electric current to switches that set off dial numbers. Engineers met the situation by providing the birds with hundreds of ready-made nests, so acceptable that the "wire-tapping" is reported virtually ended.

The lerps, on the other hand, have so far proved less amenable.

What is a lerp?

Worst Plague in Years

Lerps, explains the National Geographic Society, are small, winged insects of Australia and nearby regions. They belong to the Psyllidae family of jumping plant lice. This season, the island continent is experiencing its worst infestation in past quarter of a century.

The insects—of the common species Spondyliaspis eucalyptisecrete a honey-sweet substance of fine, whitish threads. These forms a woolly interior for a scaly cover that protects the young.

Masses of the substance have been blown lately from eucalyptus and other trees onto telephone equipment. Often dampened by dew or rain, the tangled skeins were found to be enmeshing wires and causing short circuits that cut off telephone service over large areas.

Australia's sugar lerps, however are not always a nuisance to man. Aborigines long have appreciated the insect as a source of highly desired sweet.

The natives sometimes suck the sugary scales directly from the leaves or twigs to which they cling. They also scrap off the scales and steep them in water to make a delicately flavored drink that is occasionally fermented.

Manna Foretells Drought

At times, quantities of the tiny lerp particles drop to the ground as "manna." An old Australian tradition says that the presence of such manna in unusually large amounts is a warning of approaching drought.

According to one tribal legend, the first manna to fall was sent long ago by the "All-Father" god, Byamee. It rained down from trees "like liquid honey" as a reward to the tribesmen who had refused to be tempted by bee honey set apart for Byamee's own use.

After its first appearance, the story goes, manna was always provided by Byamee to ease the hardships of drought.

METHODIST ACTIVITIES

Plans are in progress for a number of scheduled activities during this Christmas Season at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. A reception of new members and baptismal service will be conducted this Sunday along with the special Christmas service as announced elsewhere in the Star.

Children's Christmas parties are being planned for Friday, December 21. Mrs. Claude Callaham will be directing the Nursery through the 2nd Grade group at 3:30 p. m. and Mr. Corey Wynn will have charge of the 3rd through the 6th Grade groups. Mr. Walter Fish, Jr., has promised to have Santa Claus with us at each of the programs. A Christmas tree has been beautifully decorated for this and other Christmas gatherings.

The traditionally Christmas Eve Candle Lighting service has been acclaimed as one of the highlight services of the year. This Worship Service begins at 11 p. m. and at midnight, the Candle Lighting service, with everybody participating, takes place. As people stand around the church in a triple circle, with candles lighted, "Silent Night" is sung by all the congregation. The mood created prepares the minds and hearts of the people to welcome the first moment of Christmas morning in the proper spirit.

Open House is being planned for the young people returning from college and the service. It will be conducted by the Senior Youth Fellowship under the leadership of Mrs. Clarence Craft and Mrs. George Needham and will be held at the home of Mrs. Needham. This sort of reunion will also include young people who have been away from the Fellowship during the last four years.

All the Christmas services are open to the public and on behalf of the church, Rev. John Snook, Jr., extends a most sincere and cordial invitation.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Smelting a ton of aluminum requires enough electrical energy to supply the needs of an average American home for 10 years.

Desert pocket mice can live without drinking water. Feeding on dried seeds only, the little rodents flourish for months in arid sand. Their long acclimation to the desert enables them to produce sufficient water through chemical changes of starch in their digestive tracts.

Louisiana has some 4,000 miles of navigable inland waterways.

Ireland, having no forests or coal mines, gets its fuel from 3,000,000 boggy acres of peat, the National Geographic Society says. The deep, rich beds are made up of decaying grass, rush, and moss. A single digger, wielding a spadelike slane, can cut some 8,000 pounds of soggy turf a day. Dried, his harvest shrinks to 300 pounds.

America's misnamed Eastern hemlock, unlike the Old World hemlock whose juices killed Socrates, is poisonous to neither man or beast, says the National Geographic Society. Its feathery foliage, however, reminded early settlers of the hemlock plant they had known in England.

Paper made from papyrus stalks was invented some 4,000 years before the Christian era, says the National Geographic Society. It was partly superseded by vellum and parchment, which gave way in the 10th century to the type of paper used today.

A Michigan lumberman invented the modern spark plug; a Russian, the demountable rim automobile wheel; a Midwest engineer, the self-starter; and a New England Yankee, the anti-skid chain.

Leaves turn red and gold in autumn when roots of a plant or tree slow down the intake of water and minerals. Then green chlorophyll in the leaves ceases to be dominant, and the red, orange, and yellow pigments have their first chance to show, the National Geographic Society says.

San Francisco offers ships from all parts of the world, 18 miles of piers and berthings, some deep enough for the largest vessels afloat, the National Geographic Society says. Ships arrive and leave the sprawling San Francisco Bay at the rate of one an hour, passing beneath the harbor's great bridges.

Amid civil war, Abraham Lincoln in 1863 issued the proclamation that established Thanksgiving as a national religious festival. With his message, Thanksgiving became a legal holiday traditionally celebrated on the fourth Thursday of November.

"Dad, did you ever think you'd have a swell workshop like this?"

"Well, son, I always wanted the best, so I saved regularly to get it. You can, too."

FARM IMPROVEMENTS CUTTING BOBWHITE QUAIL POPULATION

Good farming, rather than good marksmanship, looms as the big foe of one of the farmers' best friends, the bobwhite quail.

The popular game bird thrives best in briar patches, weedy fields, fence rows, old orchards, and grassy stretches along the edges of forests, the National Geographic Society says. Cover is essential for the bobwhite is a ground-dweller that forages for weed seeds and insects. It does not like to fly.

Government wildlife experts say several trends in the southeastern United States, heart of the bobwhite's range, paradoxically are helping farmers but reducing the quail population. The practices include pasturing of more and more acres, farming larger blocks of land with modern machinery, turning poor soil to pure stands of timber, and, possibly, the use of insecticides.

Member of Pheasant Family

Thick and plump, handsomely decked out in reddish-brown speckled feathers, the bobwhite (Colinus virginianus) grows about a foot long. It is a member of the attractive pheasant family and one of six quail species native to North America. Its European relative, the migratory quail, figures in Old Testament history.

During their quest for the promised land, the Children of Israel twice were providentially provided with quail. Even today, during migrations to Africa, large numbers may fall of exhaustion.

Bobwhites, on the other hand, stay put. The species ranges from New England to Texas and from Iowa to Florida, but an individual seldom ventures far from the place where it was hatched.

Northern winters and southern droughts thus impose severe hardships on the bobwhite. Fortunately, the bird is prolific, for it has numerous natural enemies—foxes, skunks, weasels, hawks, and owls. It is estimated that 80 of every 100 birds alive in the fall will die or be killed in a year.

When spring comes, the male bobwhite chooses a suitable nesting spot, perhaps a tussock of grass. Then it finds a good vantage on a rock or fence post and starts loudly calling its own name. The bird is in love.

After mating, most males give up whistling. It is the surplus male that keeps calling "Bobwhite! Bobwhite!" through the summer.

Takes Interest in Family

Unlike most game birds, the bobwhite is a devoted mate and a good father. It not only helps build the nest, but takes turns sitting on the clutch of 15 or so creamy-white eggs. If the mother should be killed, the father bird incubates the eggs and brings up the chicks. The members of a family comprise a covey.

During the day the quail family hunts for food in fields and brush, walking quietly in cover and skittering across clearings. Old and young are skilled at freezing when alarmed. If real danger threatens, the covey takes wing like an explosion of feathers. Gentle gathering calls round up the scattered covey.

NATION'S SCENIC PARKS ENJOY IMPROVEMENTS, RECORD CROWDS

Nature's year-long "spectacular", the United States National Parks, has proved its enormous appeal once more.

Some 32,000,000 visitors viewed the magnificent displays in the 180 areas of the National Park Service during the first seven months of 1956. One month alone, July, set an all-time record with over 10,000,000 visitors, says the National Geographic Society. By October, attendance should reach 46,000,000, a milestone toward the 80,000,000 visitors expected in 1966, the golden anniversary of the Park Service.

Improvements in facilities are making the parks even more enjoyable. A midsummer ceremony at Yellowstone inaugurated a multi-million-dollar face lifting, to include a modern Canyon Village with cottage units, a lodge, and administration facilities. Completion of the project next year is a step toward eliminating the developed area on the rim of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone River.

Trailer Innovation

The first trailer area of its kind in a national park opened this season at Colter Bay in Grand Teton National Park, Wyoming. Trailer-minded visitors to the wooded area on Jackson Lake, mirroring the Teton Range, found 110 paved spaces in staggered arrangement, offering individual electrical and plumbing connections.

Renovations are planned at the Government-owned McKinley Park Hotel in Mount McKinley National Park, Alaska, dominated by the highest peak on the North American Continent (20,320 ft.). The area is favored for rugged views, invigorating air, and its wildlife, including caribou and white Alaska mountain sheep.

Meanwhile, two national monument areas, Verendrye in North Dakota and Fossil Cycad in South Dakota, have been abolished by Congress at request of the Park Service, which regards them as having less than national significance. It was earlier believed that Sieur de la Verendrye, first white man known to have entered North Dakota territory, had used a high point as an observation post, and had moved along to explore the Rocky Mountains. Subsequent research failed to substantiate the beliefs. Fossil Cycad Monument originally established in the Black Hills to preserve the remnants of prehistoric trees, but excavators found it impractical to remove the massive sandstone covering them.

Utah Parks Consolidated

Zion National Monument, a region of beautiful cliffs and canyons that Mormon pioneers called the "Land of Zion," has been consolidated into Zion National Park, resulting in a larger and more complete park area. The two areas, park officials explained, have supplemented each other in giving visitors a better understanding of the mobility of the earth's crust.

As summer waned, establishment of Pea Ridge National Military Park, Arkansas, and Horseshoe Bend National Military Park, Alabama, awaited donations of land to the Government. At Horseshoe Bend, on the Tallapoosa River, General Andrew Jackson's men defeated Creek warriors in 1814, paving the way for white settlement. A Civil War engagement at Pea Ridge in 1862 thwarted a Confederate attempt to take Missouri.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Julius Caesar imported the first giraffe to Europe in 46 B. C. The animal was exhibited in Rome.

The United States Military Academy at West Point is the oldest engineering school and the oldest permanent military post in the Nation, the National Geographic Society says.

Nearly half of all United States residents and some 60 percent of Canada's population live within 500 miles of Buffalo, New York, the National Geographic Society says.

FROM this bank we all wish you the deep happiness of the Christmas Season . . . and may it stay with you throughout the New Year.

NEW BOOK BY WHATMOUGH

Just released by the University of California Press is Joshua Whatmough's newest book on language, "Poetic, Scientific and Other Forms of Discourse." This is his second major publication in 1956, the third since 1954. It is based on a series of lectures which Professor Whatmough delivered during the spring term in 1955 at the University of California, Berkeley, where he was visiting Sather Professor of Classical Literature.

This latest work reveals Whatmough's amazing range in scholarship. As with his previous book, "Language," he deals with the modern and scientific approach to language; but classical authors, Latin and Greek grammatical constructions, recent discoveries in decoding which put the date of known ancient texts back hundreds of years, receive detailed and precise attention.

The beautiful format of the book deserves praise, as does the interesting jacket with its reproduction of an old manuscript copy of a passage from Livy, and its mathematical equations of solutions to language problems.

A passage from the publisher's synopsis on the jacket reads, "The volume is enlivened by recollections of a lifetime of learning and teaching, and by caustic comments on the depredations of editors, philologists and others." The book is, however, primarily a book for scholars—by a scholar.

CONFIRMATION AT EPIPHANY

Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., Bishop of the Diocese of Massachusetts, made his annual visit to the Church of the Epiphany last Sunday morning, confirming a class of 44 children and adults at the 9:30 service. The class was presented by the rector, Rev John W. Ellison, and the church was filled to capacity for the service despite the inclement weather.

Bishop Stokes preached the confirmation sermon, and was also the preacher at the 11 o'clock service. It being Bible Sunday he spoke of the importance of the bible, not only to the clergy but to the man in the pew.

Bishop Stokes likened the service of Confirmation to that of the Ordination of a Priest, which he had administered only the day before he came to the Epiphany, and to the Consecration of a Bishop which so many saw on TV a few weeks ago when Bishop Frederick Lawrence was consecrated at Trinity Church in Boston.

The chief visible difference in the three services said Bishop Stokes, was that in addition to the laying on of hands, common to all, a bible is presented the candidate in the ordination of a priest and the consecration of the bishop. In the service of Confirmation the bible is presented in spirit and not visibly.

Music for both services was rendered by the vested choir under the direction of organist and choirmaster, Enos Held.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes of Yale street have returned from Nassau, Bahama Islands, where they spent two weeks at the Fort Montague Beach Hotel. They flew direct to Nassau by a British Viscount and returned from Miami on the Golden Falcon.

L. W. V. GENERAL MEETING

On December 5 a large group of League of Women Voter members from Winchester and surrounding towns heard Mr. Barclay Warburton speak on "Water and Our Welfare." The meeting was held at the lovely home of Mrs. Gilman Wallace, 2 Dartmouth street. Refreshments were served at 2:30 and Mrs. Neil Borden called the business meeting to order at 3:00.

The members enthusiastically received the news that adult education will become a reality in Winchester and that classes will start in February. Mrs. Borden read the letter from Mrs. Lee, national League of Women Voters president, concerning the League's keen interest in the emergency in the Middle East, and the telegram Mrs. Lee sent to President Eisenhower, published in last week's Star.

Mr. Warburton, member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from Ipswich, then gave an informative talk on the background of the water conservation problem in Massachusetts. Spurred on by the excellent information which he supplied, the League feels confident to tackle a difficult and large assignment in its new study of water conservation.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

TO BE PRESENTED AT MARYCLIFF ACADEMY

On Sunday, December 16, at 3:30 p.m., the students of the eighth grade will present a series of tableaux depicting the Christmas Story. A group of sixty carolers from grades five, six, and seven will furnish the musical background of Christmas carols.

Included in the program are appropriate numbers by the pupils of the primary and intermediate grades. The kindergartners and first graders will entertain Santa Claus by singing in English and in French.

THE SENIOR FORUM

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church will this Sunday hold their Christmas service at 9:30 a. m. in Chidley Hall, where the dramatics committee will present a one-act play, "Christmas in the Country." Janet Monro is production chairman. Mrs. George R. Stone, Forum dramatics advisor, will direct the group, and members of the cast include Cathy Tonon, Dave Usher, Elizabeth Fisher, Phil Dreyer, Bob Cooper, Betsy Schaefer, Kathy Swisher, Jim McKindsey, Don Lewis and Fred Ashenden. Assisting with costumes are Janet Woodruff and Judy Murray. Sue Stockwell and Barbara Browne are in charge of properties. Peter Gowing will manage the staging and lighting. Parents and friends of Forum are cordially invited to this service.

The worship service will be led by Howard Bates, chaplain, and Richard Niles, assistant chaplain. The ushers will be Bill Burrows and Frank Inman.

Last week ten sophomore girls spent Saturday morning working at the Quaker Overseas Clothing Project in Cambridge. They were Sue Scott, Paula Colclough, Ann Neville, Sue Mallery, Roberta Sloane, Marcia Scott, Lynne Goodwin, Gail Lever, Carol Bond, and Sandra Mueller. For a Christmas service project Forumites have provided Christmas cards and stamps for use by inmates at the Women's Reformatory in Framingham.

Plans for a busy Christmas week end are going forward. The Mistletoe Dance is scheduled for Saturday, December 22. Forumites will attend church services on the 23rd. In the evening the annual alumni get-together will be held, arrangements for which are being made by Mary Jean Newton, alumni chairman. On Christmas eve, there will be carolling tours around town followed by the midnight service at which the Forum choir will sing.

Winchester Scouters serving on the Jamboree Committee include: James Denton, Harry Taylor, William Wickwire, Robinson Whitten, Dr. Donald McLean, and Seymour Bingham.

Fellsland Council, which includes Burlington, Medford, Stoneham, Winchester and Woburn, has been allocated a quota of 31 boys who may attend the National Jamboree. Seventeen applications have already been received including the following from Winchester:

Stephen Powers, Alfred Bonney, Troop 2; Thomas Hinton, David Taylor, Thomas Joslin, Troop 3; Russell Anderson, Troop 4; John Mitchell, Stephen Blair, Jonathan Hopkins, Troop 7: John Looney Post 12.

Additional applications will be accepted at the Scout office in Winchester until the Council quota is reached.

A 1500-acre tent city will rise next June at historic Valley Forge in Pennsylvania. It will house 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their leaders from every part of the nation, in addition to some Scouts from other lands. It will be the Fourth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America.

Here is high adventure for boys at its best. Jamboree campers will be Scouts from all walks of life, all races and creeds living together governed only by their Scout Oath and Law. Here the campers will exchange skills, swap home-town products and learn about the customs and traditions of many sections of the nation and the world.

It will be a self-sustaining venture. All 50,000 campers pay a fee covering the cost of food, use of equipment, and building the camp. It will have its own water supply, electricity, police and fire departments, telephone and telegraph facilities, in fact all essentials that will make for a safe adventure on this historic site.

It will be a democracy in action with all boys sharing in the daily camp chores, cooking their own meals, preparing their own camp and keeping it in good condition. Many Scouts who will participate are earning their own expenses through part-time jobs. In some instances Scouts are having part of their expenses defrayed by the groups that sponsor their unit in recognition of exceptional work in the Scout ranks.

Those who attend the Jamboree will be better Americans because of the greater appreciation of the country they will get through seeing America as they travel and camp together.

WINCHESTER SCHOOLS NEED SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS

The Winchester School Department has urgent need for more substitute teachers, according to an announcement made this week by Superintendent of Schools Harry V. Gilson. Experienced teachers at all levels are needed, though the shortage is particularly serious at the high school level.

In commenting on this problem, Dr. Gilson noted that many of the people who were formerly available as substitutes have been pressed into regular service by the schools of the greater Boston area. Recently, during the illness of two high school teachers, it was impossible to secure substitutes for their classes.

College graduates with teaching experience are urged to assist the School Department in providing properly staffed classes by registering with the Superintendent's office, WInchester 6-1780. Their occasional service as substitute teachers will be a valuable contribution toward the preservation of educational standards in Winchester.

FIRST REAL SNOW SUNDAY

Though Winchester had a touch of snow before the Thanksgiving football game at Woburn, that fall amounted to very little, and it was not until last Sunday that anything like a snow storm was encountered here.

Through Saturday evening it had rained off and on, and early Sunday morning it seemed still to be raining with everything well soaked. Before eight o'clock, however, the rain had changed to snow, big wet flakes, that gave promise of again turning to rain.

This change did not transpire and from early morning until night the snow continued to fall, precipating very little, but getting enough on the ground so that highway crews got out the plows and covered the town.

Toward the latter part of the afternoon the glass fell rapidly and the combination of snow and sleet was commencing to freeze, making, with the poor visibility, driving and walking conditions tricky, and resulting in one major and several minor accidents about town.

Monday morning things were frozen solid and until the sun got out to melt the icy roads traffic was moving slowly through town. During Monday night the glass rose rapidly and Tuesday morning, even before the sun got to any height things were softening up with travelled roads through town practically clear.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

In continuing the spirit of the Advent Season, a Christmas service will be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church this coming Sunday.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Professor Roland Nadeau of the New England Conservatory of Music, will present a choral arrangement of Christmas melodies by Fred Waring entitled, "The Song of Christmas." The narrator will be Rev. Charles Johnson, the Assistant Minister.

Most of us are aware of the unique ability of Fred Waring in the arrangement of sacred music and "The Song of Christmas" is no exception.

Friends of the community having no church ties are cordially invited to attend this special Christmas service.

MARYCLIFF STAGES CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The Academy girls of Marycliff will present a Christmas Cantata on Tuesday, December 18, at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium on High street.

The program is a combination of prophesies, tableaux and choral work. The glee club will sing "Prophecy and Annunciation" by Roy Ringwald, "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming" by Praetorius, "The Snow Lay on the Ground" which is a Fred Waring arrangement, a Polish Christmas Cradle Hymn, and several other traditional carols.

Certain numbers are sung by an octet of voices which include Marygrace McCullough, Peggy Sands, Mary Stanton, Elinor Capozzi, Cynthia Hoare, Nancy Rubino, Mary Baker and Barbara Bowman. Tickets may be bought at the academy.

WILTON VAUGH

WINCHESTER MAN GOVERNOR'S PRESS SECRETARY

Wilton Vaugh, political editor and columnist for the Boston Post, who was officially appointed yesterday by Governor-elect Foster Furcolo, to serve as his press secretary for the next two years, is well-known in Winchester.

His home is at 10 Fairview terrace, where he lives with his brother, John J. Vaugh, and his two sisters, Miss Mary E. Vaugh and Mrs. James H. Stewart. His youngest sister is Sister Mary Gertrude of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur. Their summer home is at Scituate.

As a reporter, he worked his way through Harvard. There he was president of the Harvard-Crimson, the college daily newspaper. He completed his post-graduate studies at the Sorbonne in 1922 and for two years in France he was a foreign correspondent of the Chicago Tribune and sports editor of its European Edition.

During the last 16 years with the Post he travelled with all the major candidates for President on their campaign trains, covered both the Democratic and the Republican National Conventions and the inaugurals of the winners at Washington. He was one of the few national experts in 1948 to pick President Truman over Governor Dewey.

He covered City Hall during the administrations of Boston Mayors Curley, Nichols and Mansfield and the State House during the terms of Governors Ely, Curley, Hurley, Saltonstall, Tobin, Bradford, Dever, and Herter.

Before being assigned to the political field, Vaugh was an all-round staff reporter. He was a member of the Post team of reporters who exposed the multi-million-dollar Ponzi swindle, helping his paper to win the coveted Pulitzer prize for public service.

The Governor's press secretary is well-liked among newsmen. He is past president of the Massachusetts State House Press Association and the Boston Post Editorial Association. He is a member of the American Newspaper Guild, Veteran Journalists, Boston Press Club, Harvard 1920 Class Association of Boston and the Maison des Journalistes of Paris.

Big John Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carroll of Bonad road, was one of two sophomores to be awarded football letters at Malden Catholic High School this past season.

GLASSES FOR INDIA

One of the charities in which the Lions Club is especially interested is glasses for those who are not able to secure them for themselves.

Presently the Winchester Club, under the direction of its president, Dick Rogers, is conducting a drive for glasses to be sent to India. All glasses that come to the club as the result of the drive will be tested to make sure of their suitability for those to whom they will be distributed.

Glasses for the club may be left at Station Cleansers, Neno's Market or the Star Office. Most families have about the house several pairs of unused glasses. Here is an opportunity to put them to good use.

WRITES OF WINCHESTER OVERHEAD

The December number of Railway Age devotes three pages to a description of the recently completed overhead railroad crossing in Winchester centre, with pictures and a rather detailed description of the various steps involved in the process.

Even though we at the Star are fairly well acquainted with the overhead we found the article interesting and express our thanks for the magazine to H. G. Randall of 43 Canterbury road, district manager of the Association of American Railroads in the car service division.

During the snowstorm late Sunday afternoon a car driven by David N. Dalton of 12 Richardson street skidded into the rear of an auto driven by William J. Minks of Somerville. The accident occurred near the Winchester Theatre.

ADULT EDUCATION COURSES SCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY

Winchester's Adult Education Program will begin early in February, according to present plans of the Adult Education Advisory Committee. Recent action by the School Department and the Finance Committee will enable Winchester to make a beginning in the direction of this long-desired type of education.

Course offerings for the first program, to last ten weeks, will be limited to a few of the most asked-for subjects in three general areas: practical arts, creative arts, and general education. If public response is satisfactory, it is anticipated that the program will be considerably expanded next fall.

In response to a question regarding fees, the Committee has indicated that charges for the course will be moderate. It state aid is secured for future courses, the fees will be further reduced next year. Final consideration and approval of the program recommended by the Advisory Committee will be made by the School Committee at a regular meeting in December.

WINCHESTER TAKES ON REVERE

The Winchester High hockey team meets a stubborn foe in Revere High, Saturday night at 9 o'clock at Lynn.

Even though defeated by Woburn in their first game, Revere gave promise of developing into a fast outfit. Under their new coach, Allan Parker, it is expected that Revere will offer stiff opposition to Winchester with the experience of the Woburn game under their belt.

Winchester worked well as a team in their game against St. John's Prep last Saturday with the second line of Weaver, Sandberg, and Davenport playing very good hockey. With additional experience, they will add support to the strong first line.

A SWEET AFTERNOON

Last Thursday afternoon the following cubs from Den 1, Pack 3, drove out to Fanny Farmer's Fairyland in Peabody: William Ulfelder, Ned Sargent, Chris Green, Peter Cunningham, Pat Garner, Gus Bond and Bruce Cardin.

The boys saw the big figures straight from Mother Goose, heard the well-known verses and later visited the delicious-smelling area where candy is mixed and cooled. A huge sheet of "chocolate bark" cooling on an enormous table took their eye.

Mothers Mrs. Ellis Green, Mrs. Charles Bond and Mrs. Fred Cardin chaperoned the boys.

J. Raymond Dade is a Winchester member of the committee in charge of arrangements for the big 1957 Automative Service Show to be held May 23 - 26, 1957, at the Commonwealth Armory, Boston. More than 300 manufacturers of automative equipment, parts and accessories will participate in the exhibit.

Watch for the grand opening of Ross-Hairstyling at 33 Thompson street, Winchester. He lectures on hairstyling and is a make-up artist.

The police or railroad authorities or both will have to start getting tough with youngsters who are still using the overhead for a playground. One night recently there was a group of what appeared to be teen-agers running around the super-structure, and it definitely is no place for kids to be running around. Even with trains running much less frequently there are still enough to provide plenty of danger for kids playing on the tracks or around the platforms. There is less playing on the overhead than there was, but even a little is too much. Just one youngster hit by a train on the overhead could undo a lot of the argument advanced for putting the rails overhead.

SALVATION ARMY

When is the unusual not unusual? At Christmas, according to Mrs. Major Edward Bailey, head of the Salvation Army Family Service Bureau in Boston.

The following are just a few of the many extraordinary requests made of Mrs. Bailey every Yuletide, as told in her own words.

Hearing-aid Battery

"One elderly lady, confined to her bed, wrote that one of her few pleasures was listening to the radio. But the battery in her hearing-aid had gone dead. Could we help?

"Indeed we could. We bought her the battery. This month she'll be hearing those delightful Christmas Carols as well as anyone.

The Easy Chair

"One man who was recovering from a severe heart attack was told by his doctor to spend a few hours each day sitting up in a chair. After many months in bed this news came as a blessing.

"Unfortunately he had no comfortable chair in which to sit. Could we find him an easy chair? We did, and I understand he'll be walking this Christmas Day.

False Teeth

"Another man who roomed alone was invited out for Christmas dinner. But he wouldn't dare accept this longed-for invitation until he had a set of new dentures, and he needed them fast.

"He recently called and said his false teeth arrived in plenty of time and they'll do just fine.

Most Cases Routine

"Of course, most cases referred to me are routine from my point of view. This Christmas well over 10,000 men, women and children will receive clothing, toys and dinners. This figure includes help for 750 needy families and a huge party for 4,000 youngsters."

Mrs. Major Bailey neglected to say that this aid for the needy is made possible by public support of the Salvation Army Annual Christmas Appeal.

IN CHRISTMAS SING

Miss Linda Sutherland Witham, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham of 75 Bacon street, and the late G. Lindrov Witham, is a member of the Katharine Gibbs School Christmas carolers who are singing tonight as a part of the holiday festivities at the school.

Miss Witham, who is taking the academic course at Katharine Gibbs, is the holder of a Winchester College Foundation scholarship. She was recently a hostess at the annual tea given for prospective students at the school.

Pfc. John Garvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Garvey of Hillside avenue, arrived home last Friday by plane from northern Greenland where he is on duty at a big Radar base. He will spend Christmas with his parents here, returning to duty December 29.

CAPT. JOHN A. ALBREE

ALBREE PROMOTED

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. G. Norman Albree of Stratford road, that their son, John A. Albree, has been promoted from 1st lieutenant to captain in the United States Army Armored Division.

Captain Albree is stationed in Germany on the Russian border and commands F Company of the 2nd Battalion of the 14th ACR. For the benefit of friends who may wish to contact him his APO is 800, C-o Postmaster New York, N. Y.

Captain Albree's service covers six years and includes service in the Marine Corps, from which he was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

From the Marines he entered Norwich, graduating in 1951 with a commission as 2nd lieutenant. He saw active service in the Korean Campaign, being wounded in action and hospitalized for a time at Pusan. From the hospital he returned to action and was assigned as aide to General Waters, son-in-law of General Patton.

After Korea he returned to the United States and spent some time at Fort Hood in Texas. He returned to Germany as a 1st lieutenant and has been in service there for about a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sherman and son, Alden, of Wilmington, Delaware, are spending Christmas with Mr. Sherman's mother, Mrs. Alden Sherman of Myrtle street, formerly of Yale street.

S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

The run to the wire is on with only two weeks to go to wrap up the first half. The All Stars are holding on for dear life to finish on top.

There is a lot of news this week to write about, so let us see how they stand at present.

Team Standings:

All Stars	32-16
Bee Bops	28-20
Blue Eyes	27-21
Lindy Hop	27-21
Jitterbugs	25-23
Rock and Roll	24-24
High and Low	16-32
Hot Shots	13-35

Hi Single:
"Choppers" Gangi 147

Hi Triple:
Richard Fiore 355

Top Six Bowlers:

Tony Saraco	102.5
Richard Fiore	99.9
Richard Bucci	99.2
Bob Fiore	97.9
Joe Berardi	96.8
Babe Tofuri	95.7

The lid blew off in many departments this fine evening. Let me start first with the hi triple which was broken wide open as one of this year's new bowlers, Richard Fiore bowled an impressive 355 to take this department over from Babe Tofuri who has held it since opening night with a 352.

Next the 300 circle came up with an abundant crop as nine bowlers went over the top. Richard Fiore with his superb 355 was pushed by his brother Bob who bowled a 344 also Roy Penta, 310; Peter Fiore, 308; Joe Berardi, 308; Joe Riga, 306; Richard Bucci, 306; Tony Chefalo, 302 and Dick Tofuri, 300.

Lights focused on a team named Bee Bops this evening. They not only broke the Strike Lanes high team single string for five men with a 562 pinfall, averaging 112.4 per man, but went on to establish a new high three string total for the season with a 1536 pinfall, averaging 102.4 per man. That's something to be proud of for I can't recollect any such feat in the years gone by.

This team captained by Bob Fiore really put on a show which held the entire audience spell bound box after box. Never has anyone witnessed such harmony and cooperation as the pins kept tumbling throughout the night.

Bob's teammates who share this glory are Richard Tofuri, Roy Penta, Dan Gattinieri, M. J. Saraco and don't let me forget that stalwart man of high finance M. D. Saraco.

The string that set the record was as follows: Bob Fiore, 128; Roy Penta, 118; Dan Gattinieri, 103; Richard Tofuri, 106; and M. J. Saraco, 107.

Many times the runner up in the pinfall department never receives any recognition but there is an exception this week. The gallant battle put up by the Hot Shots before they were subdued was a tremendous feat in itself.

They fought the Bee Bops tooth and nail down to the wire. Though they lost four points they receive the applause of many for with only three bowlers present and taking two dummy scores they bowled a 1403 pinfall to outclass all other teams with the exception of the team that defeated them.

Their captain Richard Fiore who set the new record with 355 and his brother Pete Fiore bowled a 308 and Sam Corby a 290.

It's a shame that absentees spoil the game for those who enjoy bowling. May some stringent laws be passed to eliminate this condition.

This weeks award goes to an individual who really gets things pushed around "Sir Winston" Frongillo.

CAPTURING THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

by Kathy Lancaster

What do you want for Christmas?

This is a common question we ask and answer frequently at this time of year.

A question much less frequently asked, though much more important, is what do you want to "give" for Christmas?

Because, as we all have experienced, the true spirit and joy of Christmas isn't felt half so much through receiving as it is through giving.

Recently, in a popular magazine, a reader described, in a letter to the Editors, the happiest Christmas she had ever spent. She told how her eye had caught the warning, "21 shopping days until Christmas" on the front page of the daily newspaper. "What a lot of things there are to do," she thought, "shopping for gifts, decorations, entertaining, cooking."

Then, suddenly, she stopped still, remembering that Christmas was the celebration of someone's birth. For once, she decided, she would live Christmas as she believed He would wish. The 21 shopping days would become "21 sharing days."

Hurriedly, she thought of those she knew who were lonely, hospitalized, unhappy, the shut-ins. Time was spent with each, suitable gifts were bestowed, errands were done for those who needed them. "I found it was impossible to give without receiving," she said. And her joy was over-flowing.

Experiences such as these make Christmas the most joyous time of year for most of us. Such unpleasant things as selfishness, greed, ambition, prejudice, seem to fade away in the light of brotherly love and the spirit of giving and good will that seems to permeate the personalities of almost everyone we meet.

And haven't all of us frequently expressed the wish that this wonderful spirit might be captured and spread throughout the year instead of being confined to one short, special season? Haven't we wondered if these precious gifts received from Bethlehem's Babe were not meant to be given away every hour, every day, for the good of all mankind?

Strangely enough, the Christmas spirit isn't as absent as we might imagine, for it can be found throughout the year in our Greater Boston communities.

As a matter of fact, it is plainly evident in 277 Red Feather health and social welfare agencies where staff members, volunteer workers ,and contributors to the Red Feather Campaign have, indeed, joined together in "365 days of sharing."

For the work of Red Feather is carried on daily through 27 hospitals, 31 visiting nurse associations, 25 family service agencies, 75 youth services, 22 neighborhood houses, services for the aging, the handicapped, special children's services, and others.

What more important gift could be given, than these gifts of service, performed daily for these, our brothers, by our Red Feather agencies?

In this way, those who contribute to and work for Red Feather, have resolved along with Dickens' Ebenezer Scrooge, to "Keep Christmas all the year."

Miss Mary Ann Morgan, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. John S. Morgar, Sr., 10 Francis circuit, is one of the Pine Manor Junior College, Wellesley, Mass., students to participate in the Candle-Lighting Service. This is one of Pine Manor's traditions since 1918 and will be held in the Oak Room at Bardwell on Sunday, December 16. Seniors taking part are chosen by the faculty for their integrity, loyalty, responsibility and spiritual character. There are seventeen students participating this year.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN

The Christmas season really got underway on December 12, when the Women's Republican Club of Winchester assembled in goodly number. Mrs. Don Greer made all welcome in her beautifully decorated home. Gay wreaths, a worthwhile program and delicious tea made all feel the spirit of the Yuletide.

The regular meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Theodore C. Browne, was made as brief as possible.

Then all settled back in their chairs to enjoy readings and songs by Marian Blake, who is well known to all. "The Juggler of Notre Dame" by Anatole France brought to all the understanding that it is not the large material gifts, but the gift from the heart which really counts.

Mrs. Ernest J. Wright, a club member, accompanied by Mrs. Siran Hovanian of Winchester, sang several Christmas carols. Her sweet voice and delightful appearance added a great deal to the pleasures of the afternoon.

All sang lustily another carol or two and moved in to the gaily decorated tea table where Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Whitman were pouring.

All went away with a heartfelt "thank you" to the program chairmen, Mrs. McCreery and Mrs. Greer, and to the social committee.

Please note. The January meeting is to be omitted.

FOR HUNGARIANS

The true meaning of Christmas, Christianity, and brotherly love brings forcibly to mind those who need our helping hand. The Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross is repeating its information about the special Hungarian Relief Emergency Campaign so that no resident will fail to know just how vital is this need. The Chapter wishes to extend its sincere thanks to the many who have already contributed, and to remind those who have not that a check to the American Red Cross, marked "for Hungarian Relief" and sent to your local Chapter, will make its way rapidly through National and International headquarters to the focal points of the problem.

The American Red Cross knows exactly what is most needed and exactly where this need is at any given day of the rapidly developing problem. In Hungary the International Committee of the Red Cross, a neutral group of Swiss citizens, are still the only international agency acceptable to the Hungarian Government. In Austria the Government has asked the League of Red Cross Societies to accept the responsibility for supervising and coordinating relief to the refugees who are in Austria. All outside relief, no matter its source, channels through these groups in these countries.

A refugee at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, said the other day that in Austria the Red Cross "took us in hand at the border and we got hand-to-hand treatment all the way. We can't find words good enough to thank the people who helped us through the Red Cross there. And now it is so here, too."

Statistics point up the magnitude of the story. We know that in Budapest alone there are 100,000 homeless, that the Red Cross was feeding 50,000 people daily as of ten days ago and that this number is expected to exceed 200,000 before the end of this month. At present Red Cross is operating more than 40 refugee camps in Austria. Add to this the tremendous amount of medical relief sent into Hungary, the transportation and communications for refugees going to other countries, and the large camp mushrooming down at Camp Kilmer, and it is easy to see that this is fast becoming the largest Red Cross relief project since World War II.

Recent notices from National Red Cross headquarters have said that the $5,000,000 requested of the American public is the absolute minimum needed to cope with the situation. The Winchester Red Cross will be happy to receive your check to help see these brave people through the difficult winter ahead. Christmas week let us send more than our thoughts to the Hungarians.

CHRISTMAS EVE LEGEND

The woods were still and the snow was deep,
But there was no creature who could sleep.
The fox and the vixen ran together.
Silently through the starry weather.
The buck and the doe and the fawn came drifting
Into the clearing. The rabbit, lifting
His ears, shook white from the twigs he brushed;
The chattering squirrel for once was hushed
As he sat with his paws against his breast,
And the bobcat crouched on the mountain crest.
Safe in the fold the silver sheep
Told the young lambs not to leap.
In the shadowy stable the horses stood
Hearing the quietness in the wood,
And the cattle sighed in the fragrant barn,
Waiting the instant of the morn.
The stars stood at midnight, and tame or wild,
All creatures knelt to worship the Child.

—Frances Frost

HOSPITAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas Party of the Winchester Hospital employees was held on Wednesday evening, December 19, at the Winchester Town Hall. The party, which is made possible each year by the generous contributions of the Medical Staff, was organized by a committee of employees under the chairmanship of Miss G. Verne McGilvreay. Mrs. Richard R. Pettingell supervised a committee from the Friends of the Winchester Hospital who served refreshments. Joining with over three hundred employees and their guests were members of the Medical Staff and the Board of Directors for a pleasant evening of dancing to the music of Felix Contino and his orchestra. In addition to celebrating the Christmas season, the party provides an opportunity for employees, doctors and directors to meet socially once a year and become better acquainted.

Patrons and Patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hennessey, Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford H. Moses, Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Quinn, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Marks, Miss Laura B. Rogers and Mr. Harlan L. Paine, Jr.

SAINT MARY'S ROLLER SKATING PARTY

Seventh and eighth graders may skate for hours on end—either end—at the Wal-Lex Rollerway, Friday morning, December 28. Saint Mary's has the spacious rink reserved for itself to furnish fun during the vacation for pupils of parochial, private, and public schools.

Busses will roll out of the parking space at 8:45 and roll in at noon.

CHRISTMAS AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. John Snook, Jr., Pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, announces the schedule of Christmas and New Year's Eve activities.

Today (Friday) the Sunday School has its Christmas parties. The Nursery through the second grade meet at 3:30 p. m., with Santa on hand. At 6:45 the third through the 6th grade will be entertained. There will be a singing of Christmas carols and Santa has a return engagement.

This coming Sunday there will be two morning services at 9:45 and 11:00 a. m. There will be no Sunday School at the 9:30 hour but the young people will meet together in the Social Hall downstairs and attend church as a group.

The pastor will preach on separate subjects at each service. The message at the first service is entitled, "Contrast at Christmas Time." At the second service the subject will be "Bikini versus Bethlehem."

Young people and adults may bring gifts wrapped in white paper to be placed on the altar for Morgan Memorial. The gifts should be in the form of toys and marked "boy" or "girl." Both services are open to the public.

Climaxing the eventful season will be the Christmas Eve Candle Lighting Service at 11:00 p. m. Comments reveal that it is one of the highlight services of the year. Everyone has an opportunity to participate in the candle lighting which takes place at midnight. A double or triple circle is made with each person holding a lighted candle symbolic of spiritual light, while the carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night" is sung, previous to the benediction. There is something wonderful about the spiritual effect of the service that prepares us properly for Christmas Day as we seek to commemorate the birth of Christ in true fashion.

Here again we welcome friends of the community who have no other ties.

A New Year's Eve "Watch Night" is being planned at 11:00 p. m. Perhaps there could be nothing better or wiser than to kneel at the altar of the church participating in Holy Communion and dedicating ourselves to new resolutions for the coming year befitting the high type of Christian living expected of us.

The altar of the church will be beautifully decorated and surrounded with Poinsettias. Evergreen and Holly decorate the windows and other parts of the sanctuary.

To miss any of the Christmas services is to leave a vacancy in the proper commemoration of Christmas. Take time to attend church and Christmas will be that much more blessed.

SOCIAL AGENCIES MET

The December meeting of the Social agencies Group was held last Monday at the Town Hall with members of the Welfare Department serving as hosts to the group.

Following a short business meeting, conducted by Chairman William Supple of the Welfare Department, Mr. Norton Demsey, Director, Pupil Personnel Services, Winchester Public Schools, spoke to the group concerning the functions of the new division of pupil personnel services.

Organized two years ago with Mr. Demsey as its first director, this new division coordinates the work of all individuals in the school system performing services for pupils outside of actual instruction.

In meeting the needs of Winchester youth, the repsonsibilities of the division are divided into nine areas: child accounting and attendance, pupil orientation, counseling services, clinical services, testing and measurement, health services, occupational and vocational informations, placement and follow-up services, and general pupil personnel services.

There was great interest by the group in the organization of this new central bureau and the cooperative relationship that is desirable between the Social Agencies and the public schools in matters of youth welfare

The next meeting is scheduled for January 21 with the High School serving as hosts at which time an account of the Winchester Adult Education Study will be presented.

FIDDLING AT THE HOME!

On Sunday, December 16, there was old-fashioned fiddling at the Home for the Aged. McLeod's Reel, Haste to the Wedding and the Irish Washerwoman were played in jig-style by Jean Caldwell, Achsa Clark, Debby Eddy, Regina Nutile, Jane O'Malley, Jim Reid and Carl Segerstrom, Jr., assisted by Mrs. W. J. O'Malley and Mrs. Carl E. Thomas, with Mrs. Carl Segerstrom playing a bass part or drone, on her cello.

Richard Niles, accompanied by Kirby Baker, played two cello solos, and joined the other players in a selection of Christmas Carols.

This program ended a short but vigorous session of fiddling British and American jigs and reels at the home of Mrs. Thomas. Dean Anderson, Beverley Bailey, Susan MacFeeley and Lloyd Stillman attended this session but were unable to play at the Sunday Concert.

Recently, a contest of solo fiddlers was held with Mrs. George Niles and Mr. Alfred Meurling presiding as judges. The first and second prize winners were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas to hear the world famous group of violinists. The Corelli Societa, in Jordan Hall.

SAINT MARY'S "CHRISTMAS CABARET DANCE"

Little boys and girls can't wait for Santa Claus but our high schoolers can't wait for the "Christmas Cabaret." The sensation of the vacation is being sponsored by Saint Mary's C.Y.O. Committees are planning a gay cabaret setting with tables to talk over and with cokes to joke over. A popular disc jockey will conduct the informal dance.

And we have a new sound tube. At great expense we have recently acquired a high-fidelity system that is as modern as this morning.

Plan to spend three wonderful hours at Saint Mary's Hall, Thursday evening, Decemer 27. The first dance of our season will linger long in your memory.

CAROL SINGING

For many years the Fortnightly has sponsored the singing of Christmas carols beside a lighted tree on the Common on Christmas eve. This year again the custom will be followed; the time 7:30. Several boys who are members of the High School Band will play and Mary Ranton Witham will direct.

I is a joyful experience, the singing together of the old familiar and very beautiful carols loved by all. Besides the inspiration that the music brings to us individually, singing in unison increases community spirit and friendliness. Encourage your neighbors to come, young and old, even if a few snowflakes fall. You will feel repaid.

EXTRA DRIVING CARE AT CHRISTMAS

Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Rudolph F. King, Chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, recently issued an urgent appeal to all highway users whether motorist or pedestrian to give highway safety greater attention during the dangerous month of December than ever before.

Holiday crowds, early darkness, and unusual weather conditions increase traffic hazards. "To back the attack on traffic accidents, I strongly urge all motorists and pedestrians to use extreme care and to be alert when driving or walking," cautioned the Registrar.

"Massachusetts enforcement officials will join forces in an effort to reduce traffic fatalities and mishaps, and unreasonable speed and driving under the influence will not be tolerated.

"If we are to eliminate a repetition of highway slaughter which last December resulted in the deaths of eighty-three persons, each and every citizen must cooperate and participate by practicing and obeying safe driving and walking rules," continued the Registrar.

"During the Christmas holiday period last year, seventeen persons were killed in highway traffic mishaps. If you must have a Christmas party and wine and dine your guests, provide safe transportation for them so that these happy celebrations will not end in tragedy," concluded Registrar King.

WINS HOOD SERVICE AWARD

A twenty-year gold service pin has been awarded by H. P. Hood and Sons to Walter Wingate of 26 Eaton street. Mr. Wingate joined the dairy company in December of 1936. He was one of twenty-three people with company service records of from twenty to forty years honored at a service awards presentation luncheon at the Hood milk plant in Charlestown.

Mr. Wingate is a route salesman at the Malden milk sales branch of the Hood company. He received his service pin from Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., vice president and treasurer of the company, and a resident of Everett avenue.

EARN ENSIGN RATING

Graduated December 14 from the Navy Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., with the rank of ensign, were Robert L. Johnson, son of Mrs. Doris M. Johnson of 6 Black Horse terrace, and John A. Goldthwait, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Goldthwait of 71 Swan road.

To earn a commission as ensign the new officers had to complete an 18-week course of study and indoctrination covering such subjects as navigation, engineering, seamanship, military justice and naval weapons.

Members of the graduating class have been assigned to ships, shore stations or to specialized training.

S. S. BENEFITS IN FAMILY CHECK

Some elderly couples will receive their social security benefits this month combined into a single family check, Mr. Gerald J. Murphy, district manager of the Cambridge social security office, which services the Winchester area, announced today. Wives of retired workers who filed their claims within the last month or so will have their benefit amounts combined with their husband's old-age and survivors insurance benefits based upon their own work records.

Up until now, Mr. Murphy said, retired workers and their wives have been paid their benefits each month in separate checks, although in many cases, one of them would take both of the checks to the store or to the bank to be cashed. Being paid their monthly social security benefits in a single check will make the cashing of checks simpler for many of these couples, and if they have been paying fees to have their checks cashed, they will now have to pay only one fee instead of two. Mr. Murphy emphasized that the combination of the husband's and the wife's benefits into one check in no way affects the rights of either individual to his or her benefit, nor the amount of that benefit. Both of them must sign their names on the back of the check before the check can be cashed.

The new method of payment, which is being instituted on a trail basis, is expected to cut the expenses of the Government in issuing and mailing checks and to relieve congestion in post offices around the first of each month when social security and other Government checks are mailed out.

Since 1951 the Social Security Administration has combined benefit payments to children living in the same household into a single check. This procedure, by reducing the number of checks, has resulted in considerable savings.

About a million and a quarter wives are entitled to benefits based upon their retired husbands' social security accounts. For the present, combined checks will be issued only as wives of retired workers file their claims for benefits and are put on the social security benefit rolls, or in cases where payments to a husband and wife have been stopped for some reason, and are being started again. However, no combination of the social security benefits payable to a husband and wife will be made where they are not living together or where part of the wife's benefit amount is an old-age insurance benefit based upon her own record of work under social security. Separate checks will also continue to be issued where either the husband or the wife has been determined to be incompetent to handle funds.

Any beneficiary who for any reason objects to having his or her benefit amount combined with that of a spouse will be paid by separate check, Mr. Murphy said. He or she need only notify the social security office. The new procedure of paying husbands and wives by combined check, he pointed out, will not be extended to all elderly couples on the social security rolls before September 1956, until it has proved successful and productive of the expected savings in administrative costs.

SINGING IN WELLESLEY VESPERS

Participating in traditional Christmas vesper services at Wellesley College Sunday evening, December 16, were Miss Mary Lucia Burton of 30 Oxford street, and Miss Gail Potter Collins of 3 Harrington road.

Vespers at the college chapel featured the 140-voice Wellesley College Choir and a chamber music ensemble presenting traditional English, Flemish and French carols as well as music by Bach, Handel and other classical composers.

Wellesley College's Christmas vesper service was transcribed by two radio stations in the Boston area for broadcast during the holiday season.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Burton, Miss Burton is a graduate of Winchester High and is a sophomore at Wellesley. She is a member of the ensemble which performed with the Choir.

Miss Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisk Collins, is also a graduate of Winchester High. She is a freshman at Wellesley and is a member of the second alto section of the Choir.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (482:19): "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter. Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing, and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age."

A crowd of 1200 Atlantic Gelatin youngsters and their parents were on hand to greet Big Brother Bob Emery and Santa Claus, hosts at the company's annual Christmas party at the Stoneham Town Hall last Saturday morning. Each youngster personally met Big Brother and was presented with candy and a gift from Santa.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

Mrs. Paul W. Atwood opened her beautifully decorated home on Arlington street for the Christmas meeting of the Florence Crittenton League on Friday, December 14.

Mrs. Vera I. McKenzie, the president, presided and Dr. Cart of the First Congregational Church opened the meeting with a very inspiring prayer. After the reports of the various committees, Mrs. Walter D. Abbott, program chairman, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Ava E. Burrows, Intake Interviewer of the Crittenton Hastings House. Mrs. Burrows has an impressive background as a social worker, teacher and was at Harvard for five years with the Glueck Study which deals with the comparison of delinquents with non-delinquents.

Mrs. Burrows with her long years of experience working with young people and their problems gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on handling of the serious social problem of the unwed mother. She stressed the point that there are no illegitimate children, just illegitimate parents.

She told of the attitude the public has had toward the unwed mother over the years and said that today the public, instead of treating the unfortunate girl with scorn, was now becoming educated to the point where they realized these young people needed help and understanding as to why they find themselves in this tragic situation.

Mrs. Burrows told her audience that it was very important for the public to understand that this approach to the problem did not condone the situation but aimed to get at the cause of the trouble. She told of the delicate handling of the distraught young women and their families when they sought help and said that they came from all kinds of social and economic backgrounds.

According to social workers after studying thousands of case histories, it is apparent that in many instances the unwed mother is a child of one dominating parent, more frequently the mother, who thinks she is a good parent. Mrs. Burrows stressed the importance of the parents co-operating in the upbringing of their children and said one vital answer to this problem is a happy chlid.

Mrs. Burrows made her audience feel that the work of the Florence Crittenton League is a challenging and rewarding job, one which is very important in our social structure and a group with which every member should be proud to serve.

After a question period, Mrs. Crosby B. Kelley and her committee served a delicious tea. Mrs. Frederick W. Aseltine and Mrs. George B. Field poured.

George Cromwell of the janitor staff at the First Congregational Church, who was taken to the Winchester Hospital with head injuries following a fall at the church last week, was released from the hospital later in the day of his admission and returned to his duties at the church this week.

REVERE SLOWS WINCHESTER

A fighting Revere team, on the strength of a fine performance by freshman goalie Dick Simonie, played the Sachem sextet to a defensive standstill for two out of the three periods last Saturday at Lynn. The Winchester icemen outclassed Revere, but countless forays were turned aside by a brilliant piece of goaltending on the part of Simonie. In all Winchester had 46 shots in the 30 minute game, but on only three occasions did the red light flash.

After a frustrating first period which saw Winchester continually in the Revere zone, John Kelleher, who is improvng each time on the ice, fed a leading pass to Joe Cussen at the Revere Blue line and Joe fired one home at 1:41 of the second period.

Still the Revere goalie kept his poise. While a man short, Winchester played their forechecking game and took the puck from Revvere. With a concerted effort from Callahan to Cussen back to Callahan, Leo scored at 4:06.

Revere still kept fighting but the persistence of Winchester paid off and on a pretty pass pattern from Sandberg to Weaver to Davenport, the second line scored at 9:23.

Revere came back again to score on a screen at 9:44 of the second period. From then on Winchester controlled the puck.

This game was won by a fine team effort on the part of a Winchester team that at first appeared to be taking Revere too lightly. The forechecking of the Sachems, especially Leo Callahan, gave Winchester many breakaways. It is this brand of aggressive hockey that has paid off for Winchester.

Following is the summary:
WINCHESTER—g, Denton; rd, Kelleher; ld, McElholm; rw, Emerson; c, Cussen; lw, Callahan.
REVERE—g, Simonie; rd, Groff; ld, Foster; rw, Rustaino; c, Allo; lw, Santasuasso.
Winchester spares: Davenport, Weaver, Sandberg. Revere spares: Collins, Retalic, Smith, Vigdor.
Scoring 2nd period: Cussen, (Kelleher) 1:41; Callahan (Cussen) 4:06; Davenport (Weaver, Sandberg) 9:23; Allo (Santasuasso) 9:44.

The Star, in reporting the recent Winchester - Arlington basketball game, listed Roger Symmes in its box score as failing to score for the Indians. This was apparently due to a typographical error, for Roger was Winchester's second high scorer, tallying 14 points on seven field goals. We had several call to correct the errror, and are happy to give credit where due.

HENRY T. KNOWLTON

SPRINGFIELD HONORS WINCHESTER ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

COLLEGE NOMINEE FOR ALL AMERICAN TEAM

Springfield College is one of 31 universities and colleges who have nominated candidates for Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary All-American football team which is to be announced in the December 24 issue of that magazine.

The nominee from Springfield College, a senior member of the 1931 football team, is Henry T. Knowlton, director of physical education and athletics at Winchester, Mass., who was captain and halfback on the team 25 years ago.

Also included among the nominees for the awards to be made to 25 senior lettermen of the year 1931, are two university presidents, Willis McD. Tate of Southern Methodist University, and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins of the University of Maryland.

According to the magazine's managing-editor, Sidney L. James, 22 of the candidates nominated by the 31 universities and colleges, have made their careers in the fields of education and athletics, 40 represent the business world, and seven are doctors.

Other professions represented by at least one candidate included the ministry, art, law, farming and ranching, military service, public service, and professional sports and publicity.

In speaking of the awards, James noted that "This time the honors will go, not to the dashing youngsters of 1956, but to a nationally chosen group of their football predecessors of 25 years ago who have most distinguished themselves in their chosen fields of life.

"We believe that our Silver Anniversary All-American will do much to emphasize the pursuit of the rounded human values in which athletics and education are joined," James added.

Selection of the team members will be made by a board of some of the nation's most prominent executives, and each of those honored will receive a trophy in the shape of silver goal posts.

Among others still working in the field of athletics who have been nominated are: Ray Eliot, football coach at the University of Illinois; Stuart K. Holcomb, director of athletics at Northwestern University; Jennings B. Whitworth, head football coach at the University of Alabama; Clarence L. "Biggie" Munn, athletic director at Michigan State University; and Robert L. Clarke, basketball coach at Oberlin College.

In the letter of nomination submitted by Springfield College for Mr. Knowlton, the principal of Winchester High School, W. Howard Niblock, was quoted:

"He is a very fine example of Springfield College. He is a very strong man in principle and is very highly thought of in his community. He doesn't seek popularity but attains it through being the type of individual that he is. The athletic program which we have here is of a very high caliber developed through the efforts of Mr. Knowlton."

Also noted in the nominating letter from Springfield College, is that "Mr. Knowlton has exemplified in his work with the youth of his community the very philosophy for which Springfield College is best noted, a philosophy developed and followed by both Alonzo Stagg, Mr. Football; and Dr. James Naismith, inventor of basketball, early Springfield College instructors, who aimed at the teaching of good sportsmanship and developing good character and high ideals through athletics."

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

The gift that grows with the years: U. S. Savings Bonds.

CRITICAL OF DECORATIONS

Editor of the Star:

For the first time in my life I can say I've seen Winchester take an attitude of indecision; a state of unpreparedness for the greatest holiday season of the year, Christmas.

The indecision is in relation to the so-called Christmas decorations. They are without a doubt the worst I've ever seen, or hope to see, in a town with the character and reputation such as ours. They show a complete lack of ingenuity, organization, coherence, and artistical imagination. In a town such as ours with its reputation and diversification of talent readily available, I would think a more complete and organized plan could have been conceived.

Realizing the need for Christmas decorations I would like to give credit to those who have at least attempted some form of ornamentation for the town. But a town as beautiful as ours warrants decorations that add to her beauty not a degradation of that beauty; this we must always be on the alert for.

The literal meaning of decoration is to adorn, not to cloak or cover. One covers a garbage pail but adorns himself with a new suit. The earth is adorned with snow, but covered with a veneer of dirt. So it should be with our decorations, they are a means whereby the town emphasizes the spirit of Christmas through the medium of Christmas decorations which add laurels to her beauty rather than abstain from it.

These decorations should show complexity of thought, yet simplicity of design. We definitely should not cheapen the town by being too gaudy, in overemphasizing.

The basic theme could be simple yet beautiful if enough planning and foresight are put into it. Any haphazard arrangement of decorations such as we have should certainly be avoided. From a small random survey of the center, I found not one Winchesterite who cared for them; those "things" that have adhered themselves to the parking meters called Christmas decorations!

There are many structures around the center that could be decorated, such as:

1. The half-islands in the center of the town.
2. The circle and supports under the overpass.
3. Having a main theme in the common itself.
4. The bridge by Filene's; this is the entrance to our shopping center which could bring an influx of more shoppers.
5. The little island where the ducks reside.
6. The Town Hall itself.

The above show the natural beauty of the Town of Winchester and should be decorated accordingly. I feel that there are many others that hold the same point of view.

The merchants want decorations; we all want decorations; and decorations there should be, but let's decorate, using some organization and imagination.

Maybe Winchester instead of setting an example for the other towns has begun to follow rather than lead. I realize it is not the fault of the selectmen. The tremendous pressure of the merchants and outside sources has brought the need for Christmas decorations, organized or not. But still, planning a million-dollar overpass or Christmas decorations should require the same amount of preparation, since both add to the laurels of the town. Whether this is an increase or a lowering in prestige is up to us.

In closing I would like you to consider a plan whereby the town fathers formulate a decoration committee with power to decorate town property for any occasion it deems necessary; the funds coming from the town itself or from yearly subscriptions of the merchants.

George M. Tansey
Chairman, Winter Carnival Decorations
University of N. H.

CHRISTMAS EVE

On Christmas Eve, Monday, at seven o'clock there will be held in the Church of the Epiphany the annual Parish Family Service built around the setting up of the Christmas Creche. The program consists of a series of Bible readings, the singing of carols and the placing of figures in the Creche by members of the seventh and eighth grades of the Church School.

The Midnight Choral Communion will begin with a program of music at eleven o'clock.

On Christmas morning, at ten o'clock, there will be Holy Communion with choir and sermon.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM GERMANY

Editor of the Star:

Please forgive me for sending you this letter and asking you at the same time for a big favor. Since I have spent such a wonderful and unforgetable year in Winchester as an exchange student, I sincerely want to express my warmest wishes for a merry Christmas and a happy and successful New Year to all the people in Winchester, especially to my dear friends and all those who made it possible for me to live one year in this great community.

I would have liked to send Christmas cards to my friends, but since I have to pass my final exams (this will end nine years of hign school; naturally the tests are terribly tough and it will last several weeks until I know if I passed in seven main subjects or not!) in about five weeks, I just cannot find the time to write all those cards. I hope that everybody will understand this. Because of my time-pressure I got the idea of writing to you. Perhaps you will be so kind as to publish my wishes in your newspaper.

Very often my memories wander back to those days when I was still together with all my friends from the class of '55, to whom I wish the best of everything and good luck. Back in my own country for over one year now, I realize how much I gained during my stay in America.

My understanding and knowledge about your great country and people deepened. But exactly this is a very important fact in our troubled world of today.

Only friendship and a lot of good will can overcome all the false judgements and opinions which exist in each nation about the other one. I found this friendship and true interest in your town, took it with me to my country and my people.

Here I try to show them that it is not up to only one of us to begin or do the first step, but to all of us in learning to live together peacefully, free and without any personal hatred.

At this occasion I want to tell everbody in Winchester: if anyone should happen to come to Germany and perhaps even to Freiburg, I would be only too delighted to welcome him in my home and try to make him feel as much at home as I did in Winchester.

Thank you ever so much for your kindness, Sir.

Sincerely,
Ingrid Brendel

Ed. Note: We have reproduced Ingrid's letter just as it came to us with real admiration, not only for the thought expressed by this friendly German youngster but for the admirable way in which she expresses herself in a foreign tongue.

Elizabeth Benson, '57, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Benson of 384 Highland avenue, and Nancy Bradley, '60, daughter of Mrs. Wilma C. Bradley of 15 Dunham street, were Winchester girls leaving Wells College in Aurora, N. Y., on December 15, for their 18-day Christmas vacation.

"BIG MIKE" MURPHY

PLAYING IN ALUMINUM BOWL

"Big Mike" Murphy, jolting fullback and captain of the Winchester High School football team of 1954, will be playing Saturday for St. Joseph's College of Missouri against University of Montana in the first annual Aluminum Bowl football game to be played at Little Rock, Ark., with the kickoff at 2 p. m.

The game will be broadcast by CBS over Channel 12, and as many of "Mike's" friends as possible will be glued to their sets to watch the big boy perform in what has been termed the "Little Rose Bowl Game" for the intercollegiate small college championship.

Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Murphy of Allen road, after a fine record on the high school gridiron at Winchester matriculated at St. Joe's in 1955. After playing freshman football he made the varsity team as a sophomore this fall, starting all the Pumas' games at fullback and rolling up an impressive offensive record, especially for a first-year man.

"Big Mike" broke the conference record for most carries in a single game, carrying 31 times for a total of 117 yards, without being thrown for a loss. The big Winchester boy led the Pumas in carries for the season with 100, netting 412 yards for an average carry of 4.12 yards. He finished in a three-way tie for high scoring honors for his team, scoring 48 points on eight touchdowns, and he was one of the vital reasons why St. Joseph's set a high scoring record for he season of 360.

On defense St. Joseph's limited its opponents to 32 points and 109 yards per game for the best defensive record turned in by a small college in the nation.

The Pumas, coached by Bob Jauron of Nashua, former B. C. Cotton and Sugar Bowl back under Frank Leahy, have an eight and one record for the season, blanking six of the seven opponents they defeated and losing only to a strong Xavier team by a 13-8 score in the last minute of play.

The St. Joseph's-Montana Aluminum Bowl Game is sponsored by the National Amateur Intercollegiate Association.

20th CHRISTMAS PARTY

Between 300 and 400 happy youngsters and their parents gathered last Sunday afternoon at Lincoln School hall for the 20th annual Children's Christmas Party of Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy in America. Regular attendants characterized this year's party as one of the best the lodge has ever held.

The program opened with the showing of movies and continued with the singing of Christmas Carols, led by the Fiore twins, Richard and Robert, with Rita Amico at the piano. Carol sheets were furnished by John Mercurio.

After the carols Santa made his entrance. It is said that Richard Fiore had something to do with St. Nick's appearance. At any rate Santa proved popular with all, young and old, distributing candy and presents to the eager youngsters and calling on the committee in charge of arrangements to serve ice cream to all!

William Fiore headed the committee in charge of arrangements for the party, the other members of which were Tony Saraco, Dom Provinzano, Dom Suppa, Phil Ardagno, Mike Colucci, Peter Fiore, Richard and Robert Fiore, Tony Meraragni, Nick Molea and Carmino Frongillo.

MRS. RAFFAELA FICOCELLO

Mrs. Raffaela (Maffeo) Ficocello, wife of John Ficocello of 129 Mishawum road, Woburn, a former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday night, December 18, at her home, following a long illness.

AN URGENT APPEAL!

EPIPHANY RECTOR CALLS MEETING FOR HUNGARIAN RELIEF

Editor of the Star:

I am enclosing a letter sent to me by Richard Ebens, a member of this parish, describing the situation of the Hungarian refugees at Camp Kilmer. I have discussed the situation with the senior Army chaplain in charge of Camp Kilmer's religious needs. On the basis of this conversation, it appears that the letter gave a substantially correct picture of a very disorganized and gruesome situation about two or three weeks ago. Procedures have been improved and errors have been corrected. Because of this, I have felt moved to omit portions of this letter which might be misinterpreted by the careless reader. The need is still tragic and desperate. Of this I have been informed by a telephone conversation with the Church World Service representative on the spot.

FIREFIGHTERS BUSY

Local firefighters have had a busy week, commencing with an alarm from Box 25 at 4:25 last Firday morning for a smokey motor in a hot water heating system at the Bates home, 26 Mt. Pleasant street. At 10:32 Friday afternoon there was trouble with an electric oil pump in the heating system of a house on Nelson street, which turned out to be due to lack of oil in the pump.

At 11:19 Friday night Box 62 was sounded for arcing wires on Highland avenue opposite Myrtle terrace, caused by icy tree limbs falling on the line.

Saturday morning at 2:06 an alarm from Box 33 called apparatus to Washington and Cross streets where an automobile accident caused a fire in the wiring of one of the cars involved, a machine driven by William McKinley of Medford.

At 1:17 Saturday afternoon the fire department was called by the police to an auto accident at the corner of Warren and Oxford streets, but their services were not needed. At 8:44 Saturday evening the men made a trip to the Scott home on Lagrange street to investigate a smell of smoke in the house.

Tuesday morning at 12:25 a. m. a still alarm called the firefighters to take care of a leaky oil burner at 14 Franklin road. At 4:47 the same morning Box 142 was put on when the home of Grace T. Wills at 5 Agawam road was discovered to be full of smoke. The men found the trouble to a smoking motor in a hot air circulating system and took care of the trouble with hand extinguishers, though booster lines were laid for any emergency. Smoke ejectors were used to clear the dwelling of smoke.

Later Tuesday the department was called to the Haggerty home at 14 Adams road, where a badly leaking oil tank caused a bad mess in the cellar of the dwelling.

At 8:06 Wednesday night Box 46 came in for a short circuit in an electric wall plug for a Frigidaire at 41 White street. The woodwork had started to scorch, but the firefighters arrived to prevent any actual fire.

ROTARY CHRISTMAS PARTY

Winchester Rotary had its annual Christmas party Thursday evening at Masonic Apartments, the party replacing the regular luncheon for that day.

Rotarians, with their sons and daughters, or the sons and daughters of neighbors filled the hall, it being necessary to be accompanied by a youngsters to gain admission to the party.

Lending a festive note was a gaily lighted and artistically decorated Christmas tree, and to get the party away to a good start a delicious dinner was served.

Rotary President Charlie Koch acted as master of ceremonies and announced the arrival of Santa Claus, convincingly played as usual by Ken Hall, who distributed gifts to all the youngsters at the party, who were introduced individually to St. Nick by their parents or the friends who accompanied them.

Preceding Santa's arrival everyone joined in singing familiar Christmas carols, led by Aram Mouradian, with Jim McGrath at the piano. "Al" Elliott, the Homespun Boy, gracefully declined to sing a solo when requested to do so by the M. C., and those who know "Al" best are not sure that he wasn't right about it.

So far as we could learn there was no venison at the party!

BACON STREET UNDERPASS TO BE OPEN MONDAY

At the local office of the C. J. Maney Construction Co., the Star was told yesterday that barring a big snow storm or some unforseen deterrent the Bacon street underpass will be open for traffic Monday, December 24, the day it was scheduled to be open.

This is just another instance of excellent maintainance of a timetable by the Maney Company which has either kept or exceeded the dates they have set for the completion of the overhead construction.

The closing of Bacon street has been one of more inconvenient aspects of the overhead job and has resulted in much heavier than normal traffic through the center. With its opening on Monday it will be interesting to see whether the traffic load through the square will taper off as expected.

STILL CHECKING

B. &. M. STILL CONSIDERING PARKING LOT EASEMENT

The Board of Selectmen has received a communication from the town counsel relative to the matter of granting of an easement by the Boston & Maine Railroad to the Town of Winchester for the purpose of a parking lot at the rear of the Waterfield Building.

The Boston & Maine has informed the town counsel that they have been holding this matter in abeyance pending more definite information on the new railroad station.

In a communication to the town counsel the Boston & Maine said "We will be glad to check with our engineers to determine if the station matter has now progressed to the point where we can resume negotiations in connection with the proposed grant of easement for driveway purposes to the proposed new town parking lot and we will write you again on this subject soon."

Ed. Note—The sum of $25,150 was appropriated at the 1955 Town Meeting for the purchase of the land for the parking lot. Totalling 15,800 feet, it is expected to provide parking for 50 cars.

COMMUNITY THEATER ENLARGES BOARD

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Winchester Community Theater was held on Tuesday last for the purpose of electing new members to the Board; to the Executive Committee; and to discuss plans for the next two productions, the mid-January Production of the Children's Theater, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and the exciting event of the Goldovsky Opera Program in March. Evaluation and report of the last program "Great Catherine" and "Androcles and the Lion" was also made.

The following members were voted to the Board of Directors: Mrs. Ronold W. P. King, public relations; Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge, business arrangements and executive; Mrs. Doris Stone, Adult Theater Workshop; Mrs. Richard R. Pettingell, chairman of tickets; Mrs. W. Rogers Hamel, chairman of membership, and Mr. Edward Drohan, publicity. These positions hold for the balance of this year and the Season for 1957 and 1958; to the Executive Committee were appointed Mrs. James Hintlian, chairman of tickets for "Snow White," Mr. James Hintlian, Mrs. Win E. Gordon, children's costumes; Mr. Abraham Korn, chairman of business and souvenir programs for the Boris Goldovsky Opera evening; Mrs. Charles Blanchard, Mrs. Hiram Smith, and Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie, secretary, treasurer and production chairman, respectively, for Children's Theater School.

It was found that luncheon was a more convenient time for people to attend a Director's meeting: those attending besides the above were the hostess and president Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, Mr. George Billman and Mr. Roland Carter, Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Butler, Executive Secretary, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, Chairman of Costumes.

The resignation of Mr. Jack Woodruff is regretfully accepted.

TOWN HALL PARTY

The second floor residents of the Town Hall sponsored a gala Christmas luncheon for all Town Hall employees Wednesday afternoon. The delicious fare of beef pie, mashed potatoes, vegetables and all the trimmings was prepared by Peg's Donut Shop.

The grab-bag gifts were distributed from a huge Christmas stocking by Police Chief Charles J. Harrold. There was some discussion as to the ownership of this large bit of apparel, but the possessor of large extremeties went unidentified.

GLEE CLUB ADDS TO SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Highlighting the first part of last Saturday's Winter Concert of the Mystic Valley Glee Club in the Junior High School auditorium was the presentation of a sizeable check to the Club's Scholarship Fund.

The presentation, made by Club President John H. Lyman, took place about midway through the forma part of the program. Richard H. Cunningham, newly elected chairman of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, accepted the check.

The Mystic Glee Club established the Mystic Glee Club Scholarship Fund at the annual meeting of 1955-56 on last May 21. In a letter to the Foundation the Club stated:

"It is the intention of the club that this fund be administered through the facilities of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation—(and) that any aid from the fund go to a student (of the Winchester High School) whose intention is to study music as a major endeavor in any accredited institution of higher learning and that it be his or her further intention to make a career of music as the result of such study."

SCREEN STAR JAN STERLING TO BE GUEST IN WINCHESTER

Jan Sterling, currently the star in "Small War on Murray Hill," with her husband, Paul Douglas, is a neighbor of Dudley Murphy, moving picture director and proprietor of Holiday House. Their daughter is a schoolmate of "Kit" Murphy who visited here with her aunt, Mrs. Samoiloff, last summer. Miss Sterling who is a devoted mother, insisting on having her 14-month-old son and his nurse with her on tour, is looking forward to a glimpse of Christmas in the studio home of The Samoiloffs.

"Small War on Murray Hill" is a most perfect production as to acting and detail of costume, scenery and lighting, and provides a most refreshing theater fare for the Holidays. Don't miss it!

FORTY YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Boyle of 24 Bonad road observed their fortieth wedding anniversary on December 4 with a dinner party in Billerica, for more than 30 guests arranged by the Boyles' daughters, Mrs. Edward DeVeau of Billerica, Mrs. James Rae and Mrs. Carl DeFilippo, both of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyle were the recipients of congratulations and best wishes of all present, and of many beautiful gifts, for which they graciously expressed their thanks. After dinner talented guests presented an entertainment and there was a pleasant social hour.

GLASSES FOR INDIA

One of the charities in which the Lions Club is especially interested is glasses for those who are not able to secure them for themselves.

Presently the Winchester Club under the direction of its president, Rick Rogers, is conducting a drive for glasses to be sent to India. All glasses that come to the club as the result of the drive will be tested to make sure of their suitability for those to whom they will be distributed.

Glasses for the club may be left at Station Cleansers, Neno's Market or the Star Office. Most families have about the house several pairs of unused glasses. Here is an opportunity to put them to good use.

PARISH PLAYERS PRESENT PAGEANT, "BETHLEHEM"

In the spirit of Christmas, the Parish Players are presenting to their church members, children of all ages, and fellow townspeople, the beautiful pageant "Bethlehem" by Lawrence Houseman on Sunday afternoon, December 23, at 4:30 o'clock in the First Congregational Church. Preceding the pageant there will be a program of Christmas carols and music by the vested choir, under the able direction of Mr. J. Albert Wilson.

The story of the Child in a manger, the frightened shepherds, and the wise men with their gifts is an old old story—but each year at Christmas it is retold with wonder and new beauty. In "Bethlehem" the story is simply given, with music in the background, to renew the feeling of awe and gratitude for Christmas.

Mr. Harlan F. Grant of the Boston Conservatory of Music, Drama Department, is directing the pageant, with Mrs. Philip Cabot at the organ; Mrs. John B. Wills, prompter; Dr. Robert Millican, stage setting; Mrs. George E. Connor, costumes, Mr. J. Albert Wilson, choir. The cast includes F. Milne Blanchard, Eugene M. Pollard, George H. Gowdy, Benjamin Stewart, Arthur Rogde, Mrs. William Symes, Rev. Wesley Mallery, George S. Hebb, Jr., Edwin Eccles, John Curtis, David Sturtevant, Geoffrey Russell, Margaret and Nancy Millican. The public is most cordially invited to this Christmas program of music and pageant on Sunday afternoon.

CALDWELL HEADS LOCAL HEART CAMPAIGN

Mr. Lindsay Caldwell of 16 Brooks street, will serve as 1957 Heart Fund general chairman for Winchester, Ernest Henderson of Boston, state chairman of the Massachusetts Heart Association's fund campaign, announced today.

Mr. Caldwell will organize this community's campaign to make possible a broadened attack upon diseases of the heart and circulation, the state's foremost health challenge.

The campaign's highlight will come on February 24—Heart Sunday—when, under the direction of Caldwell and other local leaders, every home will be visited for contributions.

More than half of all Massachusetts' deaths are directly caused by diseases of the heart and circulation. The Massachusetts Heart Association has channeled well over a million dollars directly to research in the state in the past few years.

"Tihs is our opportunity," said Caldwell, "to unite and strike a telling blow at diseases of the heart and circulation. I'm confident that this year will bring wholehearted support for the badly-needed expansion of heart research which means so much to our future."

Miss Norma Jean Hart, who is a junior at the MacDuffie School for Girls in Springfield, is spending the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley G. Hart of 64 Wedgemere avenue. At MacDuffie Miss Hart is a member of the glee club, Red Cross Service Club, and Vesper Service Club (a group of girls who plan chapel services at the school).

CALLAHAN'S 22 PACED SCORERS. INDIAN SECONDS WON

Winchester High made it two in a row last Saturday night at Woburn, downing the inexperienced Tanners, 71-47, in a non-league game.

Winchester completely outclassed Woburn over the first half, with Captain Mike Callahan, Roger Symmes and Dave Bergquist leading an attack that gave the Indians a 20-9 lead at the quarter and a 44-21 lead at half time.

An indication of the deadly accuracy with which Winchester was shooting in the second period may be obtained from the fact that Symmes and Bergquist at one time teamed with Callahan to sink 10 shots in eleven tries.

The second half, with Winchester making free use of its reserves was a lot more even as the Tanners commenced to get over their early game jitters and score a bit while holding Winchester more closely in check.

Over the second half the Indians only enjoyed a one point advantage, scoring 27 points to the Tanners 26.

Captain Callahan led both teams in scoring with 22, followed by Roger Symmes with 18. Captain Foley had 14 points for Woburn to edge his team mate Champlin for third honors by a single point. "Dave" Bergquist was the other to hit double figures with 12.

The Winchester seconds, with Billy Morton's 15 points leading the way won the preliminary game from the Woburn Jay Vees, 57-38.

Senior Notes

Don McGee continues to lead the seniors after two weeks of play with a 13.5 points per game averaage. Three way tie for first place among Lakers, Piston and Eagles! After Wednesday's games, one team will be knocked off the top!

The high flying Eagles (2-0) who lead the league in points scored will meet the Celtics (0-2) who with a few breaks could surprise the leaders.

The game which will decide who will suffer their first loss will see a very strong Laker team (2-0) which won their first game by forfeit, facing an equally strong Piston team boasting two of the top seven scorers

The other game deciding who will get their first win is the Hawks against the Royals.

Junior Notes

Hats off to Dick Puzzo, a lad who did not choke under pressure. With the score deadlocked 33-33, the young star of Holy Cross sank a foul shot after the final buzzer had sounded to give his team a 34-33 win over Harvard.

The high scoring Bert Stevens is emerging as not only the top scorer in the league but is outshining the other two-thirds of the famous Stevens triplets. Possible family rivalry shaping up? None are on the same team. Watch out Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

Dartmouth leads the league (6-2) and is closely followed by four other teams deadlocked for second place with 1-1 records.

Next week will shake up the standings considerably.

SACHEMS DOWN MARBLEHEAD 58-36

The Sachems notched their third straight victory this year as they rolled over Marblehead by the score of 58-36 Tuesday in a non-league game at Winchester.

The highlight of the game came when Conn of Marblehead scored on a three-quarter court set shot just as the buzzer sounded ending the third period. Mike Callahan put on quite a show himself with his long set shots and impossible lay-ups.

After an erratic first half the Sachems settled down and outscored Marblehead 27-18 in the last half to win the game going away. Winchester grabbed 70% of the rebounds and hit on 25 of 63 shots from the floor for a 40% average. They also made 40 errors which is a season high for them.

High scorers for Winchester were Roger Symmes and Mike Callahan, with 16 points each. The only other Winchester player to hit double figures was Dave Bergquist with 13 points. High scorer for Marblehead was Humphrey with 13 points.

The JV's made it a clean sweep as they downed the Marblehead JV's 41-29. This was their second win in a row after opening with a loss to Arlington.

High scorers for the Winchester JV's were Richie Roberts with 3 points and Hank Kiley with 6. High scorer for Marblehead was Noyes with 9 points.

THE SENIOR FORUM

A big crowd is expected for Forum's Mistletoe Dance, tomorrow night, from 8:00 to 11:30 in Chidley Hall. The Social Committee, headed by Sally Kimball and Lin Morison, has secured the Meltones for the dancing, and entertainment will be provided by the Jibers and the High School Octette. Very special decorations on the Winter Wonderland theme have been planned by Barbara Browne and her committee. Tickets can be obtained from Liz Fisher or the two Social Committee Chairmen. Chaperoning the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. W. McHenry Browne, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hartley Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gowing, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Gunther, and Mr. and Mrs. Erskine H. Kelley, Jr.

Sunday afternoon will be an excellent opportunity for past and present Forum members to renew acquaintances. The Forum Alumni Committee, under the chairmanship of Mary Jean Newton, has planned the Annual Alumni Get-together to follow the Church Christmas Pageant, which will be presented in the Church Sanctuary at 4:30. At 5:30 the Forum members and Alumni will gather in front of the fireplace in Chidley Hall for a social hour of refreshments and fellowship. The reunion will close with a worship service in Ripley Chapel conducted by Gail Stratton, Vice President of the Class of '54; Niles Nelson, President of the Class of '55; and Allan Osborne, President of the Class of '56.

Following a tradition of many years, Forum members will go caroling to the church shut-ins on Christmas Eve. They will meet at the church at 6:30 where buses will be ready to take them to the various homes. At 9:30, the carolers will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Gowdy, Forum Superintendents, for a warm up, refreshments and fun.

Eleven o'clock will find the Forumites back at the church for the Midnight Christmas Eve Service when the Forum Choir and Forum Motion Choir will participate. Forum Senior, Kirby Baker, will be the organist.

NORTON DEMSEY DESCRIBED TEACHING BY TELEPHONE

Norton E. Demsey, Jr., director of pupil personnel services in the Winchester School Department, is the author of an article entitled "They Go to School by Telephone" which appears in the December issue of The Massachusetts Teacher. Mr. Demsey describes Winchester's successful experience in bringing the classroom to two homebound children last year and he reports the findings of his statewide survey of this novel method of education.

In reporting on Winchester's experience with the "magic box," the name given to it by one of the child users, Mr. Demsey notes that one of the greatest values of this method lies in its almost miraculous effect of the morale and interest of the children involved.

Experience in teaching by telephone, says Mr. Demsey, has indicated that certain conditions must be observed if the best results are to be achieved. Children below the fourth grade lack the necessary educational experience to enable them to properly visualize classroom activities; and youngsters of less than normal intelligence are likewise unable to benefit measurably from the use of the telephone. Regular teacher visits to the homebound pupil are also a necessary part of the program. The cost of establishing and maintaining the service, according to Mr. Demsey, is "generally moderate, particularly in terms of its advantages."

The Star Extends to Every One its Very Best Wishes for Christmas!

EDITORIALS

Lights playing on colored balls and gleaming tinsel, the glow of ornaments highlighted against the deep rich green of evergreen branches . . .

Tall flickering candles casting their soft yellow light on colorful holly and the waxy green and white of mistletoe . . .

Intriguing packages in festive wrappings, happy faces, cheery greetings, the deep pleasure that comes with friendship and the love of kith and kin . . .

All this is Christmas! All this and more! For underneath the Christmas of the flesh, with its worldly joys and excitement, is the Christmas of the spirit, with its fuller, richer satisfaction that comes with doing for others, and the love of one's fellow man.

"Peace on earth, good will toward men!" The thought expressed in these words goes back through the centuries to the stable of Bethlehem and to Him, whose birthday we celebrate and whose influence has been the greatest in all history.

His message of self-sacrifice and love of one's fellow man has been through the ages the touchstone of all civilization. It is still the chief hope of the future.

The Star has had a number of requests for further objection to the traffic conditions on Waterfield road at the post office. We feel, however, that these are not usual times, trufficwise, and that after the holidays the authorities will give the matter of making some change there careful consideration. We haven't yet heard anyone say a good word for those pie-shaped islands in the roadway, and very few also who have liked the no-parking regulations for the southerly side of the road.

By all means read the letter from Ingrid Brendel appearing elsewhere in this issue. Ingrid is the German girl who spent last year in Winchester as an exchange student at Winchester High School.

If anyone has any doubts about the value of the program that sends our own youngsters to foreign lands to study and brings boys and girls from foreign lands to live and study in America, Ingrid's letter will go far to dispel them.

Her belief that "only friendship and a lot of good will can overcome all the false judgments and opinions which exist in each nation about the other one" is one we can all take to our hearts. Her advice "That it is not up to only one of us to begin to take the first step, but to all of us in learning to live together peacefully, free and without any personal hatred" is as sound as you could get from the most experienced veteran in the field of international relations.

If we could all catch the spirit of international good will as our delightful little German guest, Ingrid, has caught it, what a long start we would have made toward living together happily and at peace with one another. Make no mistake about it, this exchange program is helping to speed such a day.

There was no connection, of course, but we chanced to be opening our mail last Friday morning while business building owners and merchants trying to have some Christmas lighting in the center were squabbling over whether or not to permit the type of wiring suggested by the electrician charged with the actual installation.

In our mail we found a letter from the Rockport Board of Trade inviting any in Winchester interested to bring their kiddies to Rockport today at 2 o'clock for a giant Christmas party in the famous Rockport Front Beach Area, to which Santa Claus is going to fly in a helicopter.

The letter concludes with a brief description of the Rockport Christmas decorations, which consist of individual lighted Christmas trees on six-foot poles lining each side of the streets in front of the shops, and back drops throughout town by the community's famous artists depicting famous Christmas and fairy-tale scenes.

Just at the moment, when it looked like Winchester wasn't going to have any new Christmas lighting at all, the letter proved interesting reading.

So-o, you don't think much of the Christmas lighting. You think the merchants went off half-cocked, and you have been told the Selectmen wouldn't let them do anything they wanted to, anyhow! Of course you feel the lighting committee should have known about using private property without permission, and naturally the Chief wouldn't like masking some of the money slots on the parking meters with evergreen and lights. Anyone should have known, you'd say, that you can't use fire trucks without authorization, and for your money the whole lighting business is a mess!

Mistakes have been made, honest ones for the most part, and made by a group of businessmen and service club members trying to do what they thought would be a nice thing for the town. Criticise them, if you will. It is always easy to second guess, or tell what ought to be done if you do not have to do it.

What we should not forget is that at least somebody did try to do something about general Christmas lighting in the center, and that from this start it is quite possible, and even probable, that there will come a plan which will satisfy the town authorities and be something of which we can all be proud.

It may be that the discussions and arguments of this year will result in the town's Christmas lighting getting onto the floor of the next town meeting. Several have expressed the feeling that this is where any decision in the matter should be made.

If the town decides to take over the lighting in the center, then of course the town will decide what is proper, and . . . the town will pick up the tab! The way it has been this year those who wanted the lighting and decorations were willing to pay for them. We should not forget this!

It is too bad things didn't work out better all around, but let us not forget that at least somebody tried!

Letters this week are on Page 10

LOOK! THINK! AND KNOW!

"The test of a civilization is in the way it cares for its helpless members."—quoted from Pearl S. Buck.

In America we have a decided national dislike for making gold out of blood. Is it cheaper to be cruel?

Down through the ages the true voices have often been less heard because other voices are louder.

Why should some Americans be determinedly more cruel? Can anyone be sure that a cruel person will be truthful?

America was founded on fair and reasonable treatment for all live beings, and slavery and torture have persistently been discontinued. To save the enslaved and cruelly treated has been the effort of thousands of people through the years.

It is a well-known fact that in England they do not have surrender legislation. It is not tolerated.

It was Calvin Coolidge who wrote in the proclamation for Kindness Week "Whatever the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. has done for animals, it has done vastly more for humanity."

Are Christians to betray their animals to a fate worse than death, and do it this winter? Animals are the trusting friends or slaves of all humans, without regard to religion or political opinion.

Are the people now to deny the efforts of the thousands of people through the years, to help and give and leave money to societies for the prevention of cruelty and humane teaching?

Think; and find out the truth.

IMPORTANT SOCIAL SECURITY NOTICE

Gerald J. Murphy, district manager of the Cambridge Social Security office, wishes to announce that the regular Tuesday Contact Station at the Winchester Post Office will not be open on December 25, 1956, and January 1, 1957, because of the legal holidays falling on those two dates.

Mr. Murphy stated that the next visit of the Social Security field representative to the Winchester Post Office, front lobby entrance, downstairs, will be on Tuesday, January 8, 1957, at 10:30 a.m., when the regular Tuesday schedule shall be resumed.

HOME FROM BRADFORD

Miss Jane D. Godwin, a freshman at Bradford Junior College, and Miss Adele E. Mitchell, a member of the senior class, are at home for the Christmas holidays. Miss Godwin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Godwin of 7 Grassmere avenue, and Miss Mitchell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Jr., of 7 Gardner place.

Miss Mitchell was a member of the production committee for the Christmas program at the college, and a member of the Christian Union Association which sponsored a Christmas party for the local children. This year she is secretary of the Bradford house committee.

THE FACTS—A CHALLENGE TO OFFICIALS AND CITIZENS

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL RISING

As we approach the final month of the year, a new all-time traffic fatality record is in the making. Should the usually heavy monthly toll recur this December, it would skyrocket the nation's annual traffic death total above 41,000—the highest in history.

It is of small comfort that the population death rate has held steady and the mileage death rate and registration death rate have declined regularly each year. The staggering total of 41,000 traffic deaths, close to a million and a half non-fatal traffic injuries, the cost of over four and a half billion dollars and the untold misery brought to a million families each year compel us as a nation to take drastic action.

In view of increasing traffic fatalities despite stepped-up traffic safety activities, it is time for us to re-evaluate the problem and plan an all-out attack on the basic factors which appear to be the main causes of traffic accidents.

Beginning in December, generally the highest traffic accident month of the year, the attack should be intensified on all fronts.

Here Are The Facts

Last Christmas week end, a record 609 immediate traffic deaths were recorded from 6 p.m. Friday, December 23 to midnight Monday, December 26. A study made by the National Safety Council Statistics Division of 501 fatal accidents in which 564 persons died, pointed up the following facts:

Excessive speed and drinking drivers were the two greatest influences—having almost a three times normal effect—on the 1956 Christmas Holiday traffic toll.

Driving too fast for conditions or in excess of a stated speed limit was a factor in approximately 85 per cent of those fatal accidents where information on speed was given. The annual average is 35 per cent.

Drinking drivers were involved in nearly 55 per cent of the fatal accidents although normally they are involved in less than half of such cases.

More fatal accidents happened between 6 and 9 p. m. than during any other time of the day. The second highest period was from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Pedestrian deaths totaled 128 with 36 per cent of these deaths occurring between 4 p.m. and midnight Christmas Eve.

In one third of the pedestrian deaths, the pedestrian contributed to the accident by crossing between intersections, stepping from behind a parked car or walking on a roadway.

Public Action

I—Support your officials

Almost everyone is in favor of good traffic law enforcement, but officials seldom hear a word of praise for doing a conscientious job. A pat on the back and a promise of election-time support might work wonders in one's home precincts.

II—Participate in local safety activities

Whether safety is highly organized into a "council," "chapter," "association," or whether it is a side activity of the local club, get in!

III The personal "crackdown."

Both drivers and pedestrians should be impressed with the idea that the Christmas holiday season is not a time for a letdown in cautious behavior but a time for extra care. In the hustle and bustle of the season, the lesson of last Christmas should not be forgotten. Here are some of the rules that spell out a safe December and Christmas for driver and pedestrian:

For Drivers

1. Stay alert to extra dangers. Don't allow preoccupation with holiday concerns to divert your attenton.
2. Slow down in bad weather and adjust your driving to conditions at all times.
3. If you drive, don't drink—if you drink, don't drive!
4. Remember darkness doubles danger. Slow down at sundown.
5. Dim your lights on the highway even though an oncoming driver fails to dim his. Maintain control of your car by looking at the right shoulder of the highway.
6. Yield the right-of-way to pedestrians in crosswalks. Do not pass a car that has stopped to permit a pedestrian to cross.
7. Come to a complete stop at stop signs and observe stop-and-go signals.
8. Stay on your own side of the road at intersections, grade crossings, no passing zones, and on hills and curves where the view ahead is not clear.
9. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance. Allow at least one car length for every 10 miles of speed.

For Pedestrians

1. Obey traffic signals and signs.
2. Cross at intersections only!
3. Look left and right for traffic while crossing. Watch for turning cars and keep alert all the way across.
4. Never walk into the street from behind parked cars.
5. Wait on the sidewalk—not in the street—for the green light (or "Walk") or for gap in traffic if intersection has no traffic signal.
6. If there is no sidewalk and you must walk in the roadway, walk on the left facing traffic.
7. When walking at night, wear or carry something white or reflective to help drivers see you.
8. While crossing streets don't obscure your view with packages, an umbrella or a hat.

The wild boar, whose strength, speed, and ferocity made it a favorite game animal for European nobles, is hunted today in the southeastern United States. The species is descended from imported animals that escaped from a game preserve.

"Dad, did you ever think you'd have a swell workshop like this?"

"Well, son, I always wanted the best, so I saved regularly to get it. You can, too."

WASHINGTON ENTERTAINS RECORD NUMBER OF SEASONAL VISITORS

The Nation's home town is settling down to normal after a welcome stint: the care, feeding, and entertainment of 3,620,000 friends and relatives in the vacation season of 1956.

Never before have so many visitors trekked into Washington during a spring and summer. Some of them, according to the National Capital's newest guidebook, Dorothea Jones's briskly entertaining "Washington Is Wonderful," will never leave. For Washington is largely a city of assimilated outlanders, and every American citizen has a vested interest in these 61 square miles on the Potomac River.

Second Largest Industry

As evidenced by the 1956 visitation, Americans come in droves to look over their property. While a third of the employed among the Washington area's 1,872,000 residents work for the Federal Government, hosting some 5,000,000 visitors a year is the second largest industry, the National Geographic Society says. Chains of sight-seeing buses around public buildings and monuments are as much a part of the scene as the quadrennial rash of presidential aspirations.

Some 750 airplanes land and take off from National Airport every day. About 230 trains thunder in and out of Union Station. At rush hour, Washington drivers share the overwhelming impression that each resident and visitor is trying to get to the same place at the same time in a separate car.

Despite the bustle and a glittering cosmopolitan veneer, Washington at heart remains a small town that has never lost its country accents. Not too many years ago, only 1½ centuries in fact, the capital area was a rolling wilderness of individual holdings, among them Widow's Mite, Poor Tom's Last Shift, Beall's Levels, and Duddington Pasture.

The Nation's parade ground—Pennsylvania avenue, the broad, tree-lined link between the White House and Capitol—was a bit late in opening because farmer David Brunes had planted corn on the route. It is presumed that the corn was left to ripen, but city planner Pierre L'Enfant promptly tore down a house that a prominent banker was building on another proposed avenue. The City Commissioners reprimanded L'Enfant, noting that their opinions should have been solicited on a "subject so delicate and so interesting."

Before Cars, Cows and Pigs

As Mrs. Jones relates in her book, more livestock seem to roam Washington than any comparable metropolis. One Senator, who took a dim view of the carefree pigs uprooting his lawn, declared publicly and petulantly, "I am going to introduce a bill to have the Capitol removed!"

The Capitol rose so slowly that another member of Congress complained to the House Speaker in 1827: "It is a curious fact, sir, I occasionally meet, in my district, old men who worked upon this building in their youth, who are utterly astonished to learn that the Capitol is still unfinished."

Today's Washington is growing at an astonishing pace, but it remains an easy-going amalgam of all the people who came—and stayed. To the outlander, it is somehow reassuring to recall that Abigail Adams once strung out her wash in the White House's East Room—a present-day mecca of society and diplomacy.

Nigeria's ancient tribal ways are being reshaped by modern power lines, industries, hospitals, schools —and a new parliamentary government. The country, reaching deep into Africa from the underside of the great western hump, is one of the most complex in the entire continent, says the National Geographic Society. The reason: differing customs, politics, and religions are superimposed on varied terrain, language, and racial and tribal groupings.

HERMIT PINE OF WINDY CRAGS DATED AS OLDEST KNOWN TREE

Bristlecone pine, a scrubby hermit of the timberline, joins the plant kingdom roster of earth's oldest known living things.

Three California specimens have lived 40 centuries, having grown old before King Solomon ruled Israel. The gaunt, nearly barkless trees were dated by Dr. Edmund Schulman, of the University of Arizona Laboratory of Tree-Ring Research. The United States Forest Service located this important discovery in the White Mountains of Inyo National Forest.

The find puts the bristlecone pine (Pinus aristata) among nature's true wonders. Yet the gnarled conifer keeps to such harsh, stormy peaks that it is seldom seen by lowlanders. The tree takes its place belatedly among other beloved plant Methuselahs—giant sequois, cypress, olive, yew, and chestnut.

Titans of the Forest

Earlier, giant sequoias were regarded as the most ancient of living things, the National Geographic Society says. Several of the oldest, among them the General Sherman, span an estimated 3,500 years.

As such trees provide a living link with the distant past, they have always held man's great respect and affection. When lumbering threatened these irrreplaceable trees in California, the Society and individual members donated $100,000 to help preserve the finest in the Giant Forest of Sequoia National Park.

Unlike the titans of the forest, the bristlecone pine is a "wind timber," one of the tough species that flourish at the utmost frontier of trees. The tree's normal range is an elevation of 8,000 to 11,500 feet in the mountains of eastern California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, northern Arizona, and northern New Mexico.

Long prickles on the cone suggest the tree's common name. Wind blows the winged seeds across deep valleys. Relatively few seeds find a friendly place to germinate and, as a rule, the survivors appear in open stands on far-flung peaks, clawing their roots into rocky soil, growing slowly through bitter winters and summer droughts.

At extreme heights a bristlecone pine may grow no higher than a man in 900 years. Some remain twisted shrubs. Others, at lower elevations, may stretch 35 or 40 feet. Most stay within an average of 15 to 30 feet, with a short stocky trunk a foot to 30 inches in diameter. A few attain stem diameters of 8 feet or more. A season's growth of stout, dark-shining needles may cling to the twigs for 15 years.

First Specimen Picked in 1853

Scars are many. The burden of snow and ice bends the branches into grotesque, curiously beautiful shapes. Gale-driven sand sometimes rasps the reddish-brown bark from a tree's windward side.

The first specimen of bristlecone pine was collected in 1853 by a naturalist trekking through Colorado with a Pacific railway survey. He picked one coneless branch, probably meaning to get a better sample later.

Though an Indian attack cost this collector his life some weeks later, his pine branch eventually made its way to eastern herbariums.

Nearly a decade passed, however, before bristlecone seeds were picked on Pikes Peak, Colorado. Then the hermit conifer of mountain summits was finally given a name and place among American trees.

HIGH SCHOOL GROUPS

PRESENTED CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Along with a blustery northeast snowstorm, the Christmas spirit arrived in Winchester last Friday evening, as the pupils at the High School presented their annual Christmas program. The outstanding feature of the evening's entertainment was the Christmas play, "Bright Star," written by John F. McLaughlin, a member of the English department at the high school. Sharing honors with the play were musical selections by the school orchestra and singing groups.

Following a brief address of welcome by Peter Dee, president of Curtain and Cue, the program opened with a procession by the mixed chorus singing "O Come All Ye Faithful."

Mr. McLaughlin's beautiful play retold the story of the Nativity as seen through the eyes of the innkeeper. Well cast, carefully directed, and beautifully costumed, "Bright Star" was a memorable experience for those who braved the stormy night.

As the innkeeper's daughter, Blanch Cartier gave a performance that was notable for its diction, grace, and sincerity. In the opinion of this viewer, Mary Jean Newton and John Ghirardini were other standouts. Bringing the play to a moving and reverent conclusion was the lovely, traditional tableau.

Director of Music Wendell Withington led the Girls' Glee Club, the Boys' Glee Club and the Keynotes, the Octette, and the Combined Glee Club in the singing of a varied group of carols and Christmas songs. The school orchestra, with Mr. Withington on the podium, gave a spirited rendition of Leroy Anderson's "A Christmas Festival."

For a change of pace, Linda Baker offered Tazewell's "The Littlest Angel" to an appreciative audience. The evening's program concluded with the singing of "Silent Night" by the massed choral groups. The punils and faculty members responsible for the production are to be commended for another excellent Christmas entertainment.

The program follows:

GLEE CLUB ROLLICKS THROUGH WINTER CONCERT

Despite one of the grimmest nights, weatherwise, to be seen this season, the Mystic Glee Club found a good-sized house applauding as the curtains opened on their Winter Concert last Saturday night at the Junior High School. And those who braved the sleet and snow were rewarded by what many termed "the best concert those men have ever had!"

There were a host of changes evident from the opening note, and evidently all changes were to the good. The group was smaller, and perhaps, as a result, tighter in timing. Several new faces appeared in the line-up, adding some exceptionally good voices. The music was admirably suited to both the club's abilities and to the audience's taste. The Club established its own scholarship fund. And to top it all off, the men went "dramatic" in Part II—not enough to become nammy or drift from the purpose of the evening, but just enough to create a warm, relaxed rapport between both sides of the footlights.

Though the tenors need additional strength in numbers, the improvement in the bass section more than offset any shortcomings here. The group sounded in better balance than at any other time we can recall. Certainly the surroundings gave an assist on this score. For acoustically speaking, the Junior High Auditorium is still the town's best public hall. The new color scheme and decor give a commendable psychological lift, too—although one wonders who put Romberg's name in with Bach, Beethoven and the other old masters set in the Music Room floor titles.

Perhaps the most admirable point about the Mystic Glee Club is its attitude. Though it is incorporated in a small town and draws its talent from a small town, it considers itself anything but a small town glee club. You never hear a member apologize for a musical error via the excuse that this is only a group of businessmen singing for fun in their spare hours. The club constantly strives for perfection.

Saturday night was no exception. Starting off with Haydn's "Great and Glorious," a rousing bit of good programming and good music, the group commenced an evening worth remembering. "Great and Glorious" was well handled, especially the great contrasts in volume so typical of Haydn's work.

The lovely "Widerspruch" followed, a strange and beautiful number often sounding more like Debussy than Schubert when the harmony moves up a minor third in tonics. It includes a unison strain in minor—one of those spots where a sour note will out, if there's to be one. There wasn't.

Though Nile's folk song story "Go Way From My Window" seemed a bit shaky in the opening attack, the men gave it full measure, feeling the number's jazzy sevenths. The final number of the first set, the traditional Welsh "Men of Harlech" showed good balance and the spirit the number deserves.

Next came a bit of Gilbert and Sullivan, the Chorus of Peers from "Iolanthe." Unfortunately it was introduced as "just good fun"—which, though G and S is, doesn't mean it can be treated lightly. Although most anyone can sing a bit that sounds fine in the shower, it takes real practice and top tenors to keep "Chorus of Peers" above the level of the masses and lower middle classes. It would seem advisable, for the group to strive for better balance and transpose the arrangement down a fourth.

The men showed their full colors in the following two offerings, "Hob A Derry Danno," on a capella Welsh air, and Harris's "Hullabaloo Balay." "Hullabaloo's" timing seemed off at one point, but no one could notice, what with the magnificent bass solo of William Symes. Somehow Symes souunded—at least in the balcony—strangely reminiscent of Duncan in the role of Porgy. The club brought the chantey, and the second series of selections to a cracker-jack ending.

After club president John Lyman presented a sizeable check to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, to aid a Winchester High student major in music upon entering college, the club returned to offer a rich, haunting arrangement of "Autumn Leaves." The rendition showed off the bass section admirably, and the coda—where piano carried the melody over the voices—sounded as mellow as a Norman Luboff styling. Ending part one was "Soon Ah Will Be Done," one of those spirituals you can never hear too often. The club's conductor, the capable Allen Lannom, is one of those all-too-few men who knows how to handle spirituals such as this. Many of these numbers sing of death—or at least of troubles. And it seems the popular fashion to thus keep them in funereal tempo, to the point of becoming maudlin. Actually, they were often joyful, to be sung in happiness of the glory of ending life's toil and meeting the Lord. Lannom realizes this and "Soon Ah Will Be Done" literally bounced along, its dotted eighths getting all the emphasis the men could give without falling off the stands.

The promised innovation came after intermission. Drifting onto a dark stage singing "O Come, All Ye Faithful," the club took us right in with them for a Glee Club Christmas party. When the lights rose, there was a piano, Christmas tree, wassail bowl and the whole gang—in wool shirts, suspenders and Saturday pants. After some delightful banter, the gang swung into "Deck The Halls" and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." These were followed by "The Sleigh," done in proper spirit (and possibly helped by the Wassail bowl) plus a breathtaking, and audience-hypnotizing version of Kopylow's "Heavenly Light." Mixed with the dialogue and jokes came the roundish "The Holly and The Ivy," plus the entrancing "Lo, How A Rose E're Blooming." Both were capably handled.

When the men launched into "'Twas The Night Before Christmas," some of the audience must have held their collective breaths, realizing the arrangement was basically created for a mixed chorus. Surprisingly enough, the tenors did well, and the number—quite complex in tempo and key changes—came through in fine fashion. The evening came to a close with the glee club strolling off stage, singing "Silent Night."

It was an innovation—and well received as indicated by applause. The problem, when such a twist is tested, usually isn't in the twist itself, but rather in the amount. And in the case at hand, the Mystic Glee Club hit it right. Three minutes more of horseplay would have turned the evening into a program of a different kind. And a few minutes less would have turned the performance into a set of cues for introducing the next number. It was all in good taste—the dialogue stuck to Christmas, and added a bit of knowledge for most of us, especially as to derivation of Christmas customs and symbolisms. We suspect the club earned itself a host of new friends through its "hair down" second act approach, and through its intelligent approach to programming in general.

Who stood out in a stand out group? The conductor, as always. The accompanist, who not only was always there but also never allowed his instrument to "cut" the voices. The bass mentioned earlier, Tom Worthen and Fred Rozelle soloing in "Night Before Christmas" and—in the same number, a new and exceptional voice belonging to Harry Downes. But then, everything about the evening was exceptional. From the weather to the scholarship to the voices. Come the big thaw, they'll sing again. Go.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Monday, December 17, the 5th grade Girl Scouts at Parkhurst, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Howard Leary, visited the ladies at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street.

Visiting and entertaining the ladies is a special project which Troop 20 undertook when they became Brownies. Consequently after several visits annually they all are good friends. The girls brought a Christmas tree made of silver rings, through each of which a place card with a pair of red ceramic copper earrings was placed. These, the girls made at their meetings.

Under the direction of Mrs. Fred Schiffmacher and Mrs. Thornton Stearns, the girls sang carols and entertained the ladies. The girls were accompanied by Ginny Stearns on the violin and Mrs. Leary at the piano.

Mrs. Tufts, their very special friend, was most pleased to see the girls and in spite of her 100 years, kept perfect time with their singing.

Refreshments made by the girls were enjoyed by all—those who visited were: Patricia Thomas, Natalie Wernet, Ginny Stearns, Diane Schiffmacher, Claudine Rogers, Rosemary Leary, Carol Howland, Janet Forsberg, Judy Dionne, Mary Clair and Mary Louise Albiani.

AMESBURY NEXT FOR ICEMEN

A strong Amesbury team undefeated in two league games will be the Sachems strong opponent this Saturday at 5 o'clock at Lynn.

Amesbury defeated the potent Saugus six 4-3 last Saturday in a real battle. Winchesterites will recall that this same Amesbury team displayed a smooth passing attack last year and are back with the same club again.

The Sachems have started out well with victories over St. John's and Revere, but it is still too early to predict how good a club this is. Amesbury will probably go into the game a favorite.

GUCKERT — ERB

Large and small white chrysanthemums decorated the Second Congregational Church on Saturday evening, December 15, for the marriage of Miss Lois Marie Erb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Erb of 32 Grayson road to Alfred Leo Guckert, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alferd Leo Guckert of Williamstown, West Virginia. The Rev. Norman Smith, pastor of the church, officiated at the candlelight ceremony which took place at 7:30 and was followed by a reception in the church hall.

Miss Erb was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk shantung fashioned with a fitted bodice and cap sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and trimmings of Italian lace extending from the shoulders to the hemline of the full ballerina length skirt. With it she wore pointed mitts and a crown of pearls, orange blossoms and opaque laurel leaves, to which was caught a shoulder length veil of illusion. Her flowers were white camellias and sweet peas.

Miss Carol Richburg of Winchester was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Janet Cooper and Miss Gail Perkins, both of Winchester.

All the bridal attendants wore velvet dresses, the honor maid wearing red and the bridesmaids, green. All wore white fur headbands and corsages to match their gowns, and instead of bouquets, carried white fur muffs.

Mrs. Erb, mother of the bride, wore blue velvet with a hat and long gloves matching the white beading at the neckline of her gown. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Guckert, was gowned in black eyelet tissue taffeta and wore a black sequin hat. Both she and Mrs. Erb wore corsages of pink camellias and sweet peas.

Ronald S. Erb of Chelmsford, brother of the bride, was Mr. Guckert's best man, and another brother, Kenneth Erb of Winchester, ushered with Lauren Keene also of Winchester.

After a wedding trip through West Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Guckert will live for a year in New Mexico.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1953. Mr. Guckert, who is in the United States Air Force as an airman, first class, graduated in 1954 from Williamstown High School.

BENSON — ERICSON

At the Augustana Lutheran Church in Cambridge on Saturday evening, December 15, Miss Vivan Ragnhild Ericson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sixten G. Ericson of 149 Ridge street, became the bride of Eric Verner Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Benson of 186 Scituate street, Arlington. The pastor of the church, Rev. Martin L. Cornell, was assisted in performing the 3 o'clock ceremony by Rev. C. O. Granlund of Teaneck, N. J. White chrysanthemums and snapdragons with Christmas trees, holly and poinsettias made an attractive setting. Ragnar Carlson of Reading sang Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer, and Wedding Prayer.

Miss Ericson was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Skinner satin, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, a long pointed bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace adorned with seed pearls and sequins, and a bouffant skirt extending into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of pure silk French illusion was caught to a half-crown of sequins and seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Christina Ericson of Winchester was her sister's honor maid, and bridesmaids were Miss Ava Behr of Arlington, Mrs. Fred Biederman of Tewksbury and Mrs. Russell Bowie of Millis. Miss Lois Curran of Concord, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The honor maid wore a ballerina length dress of hummingbird green velveteen with a bouffant skirt and bustle back. Her headpiece was a matching pillbox type hat and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations with holly leaves.

The bridesmaids and junior bridesmaid wore identical dresses of jockey red velveteen fashioned like that of the honor maid. With them they wore open-crowned sailor hats to match and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with holly leaves.

Gordon Benson of Arlington was best man for his brother and ushering were Karl Tobiasson of Arlington, Edmund Kapust of Dorchester and Robert Carlson of Natick, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held after the marriage in the church social hall. Mrs. Ericson, mother of the bride, wore a gown of navy pure silk mist and Alencon lace with a matching hat and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Benson, mother of the bridegroom, also wore an orchid with her aqua silk mist sheath and aqua hat. Mrs. Hans Christensen of Brockton was in charge of the guest book.

After a wedding journey to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Benson will make their home at 54 Grove street in Arlington.

The bride, receptionist of Winchester High School, is a graduate of the school in the class of 1951. Mr. Benson, a graduate of Arlington High School, class of 1949, served four years in the United States Air Force and is now studying mechanical engineering at Wentworth Institute.

BAD STORM HIT WINCHESTER

Though the precipitation was not particularly great, the storm that hit Winchester last Friday and Saturday was much more unpleasant and dangerous than many in which considerably more snow fell.

The storm started early Friday morning with what had been rain during the night turning to big wet snowflakes about the time commuters were starting for work. Early weather broadcasts predicted that in a few hours the snow would change to rain, but still the snow continued, all day and through the evening into the night.

Saturday what had been snow with occasional wet sleet turned to a freezing rain that turned to ice almost immediately upon striking anything, covering streets and sidewalks, cars, and especially windshields with a slippery coating that made driving and walking hazardous and most unpleasant.

Highway crews were out all night Friday and kept at it Saturday, clearing snow and sanding. On the whole there was little complaint about highway conditions, and only one bad accident was reported to the police during the storm.

This accident took place shortly after 1 o'clock at the intersection of Warren and Oxford streets. Involved were a Studebaker sedan, driven by David L. Gowing of 4 Myrtle street, who was headed south on Oxford street, and a Pontiac sedan, driven west on Warren street by Englebert H. Garrison of 17 Norwood street. It was raining hard at the time.

A passenger in the Pontiac was Miss Elsie Locke of 143 Cambridge street, who complained of being shaken up. Both cars were disabled and had to be towed to Haggerty's Garage.

Robert A. Hall of 202A Hamilton street, Cambridge, escaped injury when the Chevrolet coupe he was driving south on Main street shortly after 1:45 Saturday morning, struck a mound of snow at Chardon road, getting out of control and crashing into an Edison Light pole on the southern corner of Chardon road. The car and pole were damaged

The third accident reported to the police took place at 2:10 Saturday morning when automobiles driven by William McKinley of 259 Fulton street, Medford, and John H. O'Donnell of 15 Myrtle street, were in collision at the intersection of Washington street and Cross street. The impact caused the wiring of McKinley's car to start burning, and a town employee engaged in snow removal nearby pulled an alarm from Fire Box 33. The apparatus responded and extinguished the fire with but little damage to the car.

Several limbs of trees were reported down during the storm, as well as wires, the latter being reported down on Highland avenue at Chestnut street, on Everett avenue near Sheffield West, on Ginn road and on Myrtle terrace.

AN URGENT APPEAL!

Most of the refugees are young families, parents from 27 to 40, with many single people from 15 to 30.

Everyone in Winchester interested in doing something to set up a program such as this letter describes is asked to meet in the Parish Hall of the Parish of the Epiphany on Sunday, December 23, at 3:00 p. m. The following things will be needed:

1. Rooms for temporary living with Winchester families pending permanent placement (probably two to four months)
2. Clothing
3. Financial contributions for transportation, food allowances while in homes of Winchester families
4. Money for transportation of interpreters from Boston and information about possible interpreters
5. Assistance in teaching basic English
6. Local transportation when needed
7. Houses and apartments for permanent living and furnishings for them
8. Secretarial help for processing, records, and permanent settlement

If you can supply any of these, please write (please DO NOT telephone!) to me. Until someone else is chosen, I will act as coordinator. Tax-deductible gifts can be sent by checks made out to "Rector's Discretionary Fund" and marked in the corner "for Hungarian relief."

Let it not be said there is no room in our inn!

For the sake of the Prince of Peace,

John W. Ellison, Rector
Parish of the Epiphany

Dear Mr. Ellison:

I take this opportunity to inform you of the urgent and immediate need of help for the Hungarian refugees

Well meaning people have tried to help but too little and often in the wrong ways. It has been officially confirmed that the threat of the Russian government to murder the families of those that flee across the border into Austria has been carried out in many cases. The UN has just issued a report affirming this. Thus whenever any little town receives a Hungarian family and pastes their pictures all over their papers and gives their names it takes only about 10 days for the machinery of Communistic barbarianism to carry out its threats.

Likewise the sickening speeches and parties that welcome these people and boast and tell them how lucky they are to be in America is just the wrong thing to do and to say. These people do not want parties and neither are they refugees to be pitied. Those that we have met are to a large degree professional people and students that fled because they could no longer bear to live without freedom. They are in many respects the cream of Hungarian vitality and resourcefulness. They did not come here to be pitied. Much less did they come here because of our great material wealth.

They came here only in the hope that someday they may return to a free Hungary. A Hungary that they love so much.

There is one parish in Connecticut, however that has set up the proper machinery to take care of these Hungarian patriots. At the present time there are 21 Hungarians at St. John's Parish, North Haven and as soon as they are ready to be released more will take their place. Their names or pictures are not publicized, nor are they lent out left or right to parties for spectators who are interested enough to come and see them as one comes to the Zoo but whose hearts are hardened when the prospect of sacrifice on their part enters in the picture.

All the information concerning the refugee's background, including names and all communication with them is channeled through the Rector for their protection. Students from Yale University and the Divinity Schools are teaching them basic English. Their classes run from 9:00 to 5:00, six days a week. The local school provides the noonday lunch. In working together and having recreation together they gradually gain confidence and the fear in their hearts soon melts in the fact of Christian love

It must be emphasized that this situation is no time for denominationalism. Those that are Roman Catholic are regularly taken by Father Haye of St. John's to the nearest Roman Church for Mass and all the way to Bridgeport for Hungarian Confession.

After they are somewhat relaxed from their horrible ordeal processing begins. Social workers with the aid of interpreters begin to compose a permanent record in the hopes that someday families may be re-united. At the end of the day of study they are welcomed to their temporary homes by the parishioners.

After two weeks of intensive training in English, when the Rector considers them to be ready, he allows them to be placed in positions sited to their talents. Those that have the potential are procurred a scholarship for study in college. Many colleges and universities have recognized the tremendous potential that is among the refugees and have responded with these scholarships.

It must be emphasized that these are some of the most desirous people that ever came to our shores, and for so many people to be continually calling in to take one of them as a domestic not only shows lack of understanding of the real situation but cruel irony.

The ideal situation is being worked out by St. John's but this is only a small parish and can only do a small part. We as a Christian nation must rectify, if possible, the wrongs already incurred and see to it that this situation is improved immediately. For those that are interested in further details, please address your inquiries to the Hungarian Relief Committee of Berkeley Divinity School, 38 Hillhouse avenue, New Haven 11, Conn.

Each and every parish, if not by itself, in cooperation with one or more other parishes must set up similar processing centers. The need is urgent and must be acted on immediately. Let us not treat all 21,000 of these valiant people in the same manner these first thousands have been treated.

The cardinal points to keep in mind are: Go slowly—gain the confidence of a people branded with marks of fear. Get proper clothing and good temporary homes for them. Set up study groups in English and as soon as possible form adequate records with the aid of interpreters.

Then when the time is ripe for each individual allow him to be interviewed for permanent or semi-permanent positions and find him proper housing with Godly people until he can stand completely on his own.

May each and every one who reads this letter being sent all over the nation pray and meditate on what can be done by each one of us and by our Parishes and please pass it along to someone else. God forbid that we should fail in this our hour of trial.

Sincerely,
Dick Ebens

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC TEAMS BUSY

Wellesley High School comes to Winchester tonight for a non-league game with the undefeated Indians in the High School gym, first and second teams, commencing at 7 o'clock. Wellesley always has good teams, and this fact, plus the interest that stems from the fact that Principal Samuel M. Graves of Wellesley, formerly was a faculty member and interim principal at Winchester High, will undoubtedly attract a good crowd to the game.

The Indians will be idle next week as far as games go, though practice sessions will be held in anticipation of the opening of the Middlesex League competition next Friday, December 28. On that evening Winchester will play host to Wakefield and with the recent football game in mind the Indians will be out to play their top-drawer basketball.

The hockey team meets Amesbury in a league game at the Lynn Arena December 22, at 5 o'clock and has a date with Gloucester December 27, at 8 o'clock at Lynn. December 29, the Indian puck chasers meet Swampscott at Lynn at 8.

THESE ARE YOURS, "ONGIE!"

CHRISTMAS AT THE LOCAL POST OFFICE

This year Winchester, in common with the other suburban towns and cities, had an increase in postal receipts over last year. This year it was 7%. Stamp cancellations of letter and Christmas card mail went from 692,000 to 707,000, or about a 2% increase.

The fact that people mailed early helped immensely in keeping things moving.

However, the big feature was the inauguration of a government truck route relaying mail between offices. The truck would leave Somerville with mail which would normally come through the North Station and would come direct to Winchester.

Winchester, in turn, would make up pouches for Woburn, Wakefield, Reading, Stoneham, Malden, Melrose, Medford, Lexington, Belmont, Arlington, Cambridge, Newtonville (all the Newtons), and Somerville.

Each office on the route would make up pouches for the other offices on the route and by this means, mail which would be collected up to 8 p.m. in the evening, would be dispatched, and received at the office of its destination the same evening if it were one of the offices on the route.

This eliminated the bottleneck of the mail all having to go to Boston before it could start on its way.

As the mail for other places went by train the usual way, Winchester was able to "clean up" by 10 o'clock in the morning on the day before Christmas.

YOUR CHRISTMAS SEAL REMINDER

Another Christmas Day has been torn off the calendar, but the spirit of Christmas will live on in many ways. The work of the Christmas Seal continues throughout the year in an endeavour to find cases of tuberculosis, and to teach people how to protect themselves from this disease.

In Massachusetts last year over 2000 new cases of tuberculosis were reported, this of course does not include the unknown cases who are always a potential hazard and whose detection is the aim of the many free X-rays and other case-finding procedures provided by the Seal Sale Dollars.

Mr. Sherman Russell, Chairman of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee announces that Winchester residents will soon be receiving reminders to answer their Seal Sale letters as he and the committee are deeply concerned over the fact that the Seal Sale response is far behind the same period for 1955. They make an urgent appeal for a prompt reply.

Members of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee who are active in this important health work are: Mr. Sherman Russell, Chairman, Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth, Treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Proffitt, Secretary, Mrs. Mary Carpenter, honorary member, Mr. George Billman, Mrs. Raymond F. Conard, Mrs. Philip Efromson, Mr. Warren Eldredge, Mrs. R. Darrell Harvey, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Walford Wiklund and Mrs. Anthony Zovickian.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of Contagious Diseases was reported for week ending December 26:

3 cases of Chicken Pox
1 case of Scarlet Fever
1 case of Psittacosis

C., on Saturday afternoon, December 22, Miss Jane Roak Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Dana Owen of 28 Franklin road, became the bride of Dr. Robert Warren Painter of Washington, son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis Fulkerson Painter of Morristown, Tenn. STANLEY DAY

WINCHESTER MAN ADVISOR TO BUENOS AIRES PUBLISHER

It has been announced by Dr. Roberto J. Noble, publisher and owner of the Buenos Aires morning paper "Clarin," that he has engaged Stanley Day of Winchester to be his personal advisor and consultant in the design and construction of a new plant for his newspaper.

It was Dr. Noble who purchased, at auction, the presses and other equipment belonging to the Boston Post which were in storage in Newton Upper Falls. The presses had been purchased originally from the New York Daily News for installation in the proposed plant of the Post on their property on Pearl street, Boston. These presses were purchased for $310,000, which was the highest bid at the auction conducted for the trustees of the suspended newspaper. The presses were manufactured by the Goss Printing Press Company.

Since its founding in 1945, "Clarin" has been published in the plant of the evening newspaper "Critica," but circulation and demand for a greater page capacity and better control of printing required that "Clarin" establish their own publishing plant. Since the auction Mr. Day has been in New York City reviewing with Dr. Noble the long list of equipment which will be required in the new plant. Some equipment and services have already been ordered.

Dr. Noble, and his assistant Charles Stehlin, will accompany Mr. Day on a tour of the most modern newspaper plants in the United States in order to determine just what features they will want to incorporate in their new building.

It is the intention of Dr. Noble and Mr. Stehlin to make "Clarin" the most attractive and finest paper in South America. It already has the greatest circulation of that continent. Its size varies from 24 to 48 pages under present newsprint allowances. "Clarin" has its principle competition from "La Prensa," which was restored to Dr. Gainza Paz last year after having been run by Dictator Peron's supporters for several years.

Dr. Noble has had a distinguished career as president of the Argentine Senate, Cabinet Minister and envoy extraordinary. He started in journalism after having graduated from the University of Buenos Aires in 1928, and working for "La Nacion and Libertad." He was also successful in law practice.

Once, though, he nearly lost "Clarin" altogether. That was when the State Department invited Dr. Noble to come to Washington for consultation on the breach in relations between the United States and Peron. "Peron didn't like it," Dr. Noble said.

A year ago Dr. Noble received a Maria Moors Cabot gold medal at Columbia University in recognition of his role in the advancement of friendship in the Americas.

The machinery which he is buying here is costing him from 37 to 40 pesos to the dollar as compared with 4 pesos to the dollar if he bought government imports.

Mr. Stehlin says that the new "Clarin" plant will be the first all-new publishing plant to be erected in the Argentine in many years. Mr. Stehlin, who is Dr. Noble's interpreter for the trip, is general manager for public relations for the paper. He wears the rosette of the French Legion of Honor, a tribute to his service in the French Air Force and Underground in the last World War.

Mr. Day was trained in architecture at Syracuse University. He is registered in New York and Pennsylvania and in the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards. He joined the Hearst Newspapers in New York in 1930 and was plant engineer for many of their building and expansion programs. He came to the Boston Post late in 1952 as mechanical superintendent.

It will be some months before the Days go to the Argentine because of the time required in obtaining new equipment and boxing it for marine shipment. Everything that is required in the new plant must be ordered before they leave this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Day live at 50 Jefferson road. They have two sons, William S., who is a sergeant in the United States Army in Germany, and John, who is a sophomore at the University of Maine.

PAL BASKETBALL

SENIOR STANDING

Team	G	W	L	PCT.
Lakers	3	3	0	1.000
Eagles	3	3	0	1.000
Pistons	3	2	1	.667
Royals	3	1	2	.333
Celtics	3	0	3	.000
Hawks	3	0	3	.000

Senior Notes

The Pistons were dropped from the ranks of the undefeated and into second place by the Lakers. Now only the Eagles and Lakers remain undefeated (3-0).

Sparking the Lakers' important 48-27 victory over the Pistons was Eddie Carter. Carter, who is coming along as one of the stars of the P.A.L. Dave Govostes (Hawks) and Jim Lindsey (Royals) are the only players who have been in the league since it was first organized back in 1954.

The Eagles soared to a 49-34 victory over the hapless Celtics who do not seem to get any breaks at all. The Celtics outscored the Eagles 21-18 in the second half, but had a miserable first period with only 2 points and the Eagles had a great second period with 24 points. Don McGee who still leads the league with 41 points, again topped the Eagles' scoring with 14.

In the other game, Royals vs. the Hawks, the Royals won by forfeit. On January 2, 1957, the Eagles will face the Lakers in what should be a whale of a game! Both are undefeated, both are tied for first place! Something has to give!

Junior Notes

Dartmouth remains the only unbeaten team in the junior league after seeking out a close 28-24 victory over Boston College. Bob McGee paced his team with 12 points. Joe Butare had 10 points for Boston College.

Jim Cogan's Harvard boys moved into sole possession of second place with a 47-29 victory over Yale. Bill Rogers played his best game of the year scoring 28 points to take over the scoring lead with 49 points. He is the first player in either league to go over the 20 point mark in a single game.

The biggest surprise of the night was Princeton's magnificent 33-6 victory over Holy Cross. Princeton previously had not won a game this year. They successfully bottled up Bert Stevens, the leader in total points, and Dick Puzzo who was fifth in the league in scoring.

Stevens was held to four points and Puzzo to two. These two boys were the only scorers for Holy Cross.

The P.A.L. wishes everybody a very happy New Year and thanks all the referees, coaches, scorers, and all who have helped financially and in any other way to make our league a success in the past year.

Special thanks go to Dick Beaton, Jack Elliot and Joe Quigley, who have spent a great deal of time organizing this league and to Bill Maggio and Leo Garvey, who have helped instruct the ex P.A.L. players in the correct techniques of officiating. We hope we have not left out anybody, but if we have, we thank you for your help.

We are happy to welcome Jack Garvey home from his vacation in Greenland. Jack is vacationing there as a guest of the United States Army.

He is a former referee. Wednesday night he attempted to team up with his younger brother Leo, but was rather confused by the rule changes, so he retired to the scorer's table for the rest of the night.

MRS. CATHERINE M. REGAN

Mrs. Cathérine M. Regan, widow of Jeremiah Regan and mother of Mrs. Manlino G. Moffett of 179 Washington street, died Thursday morning, December 27, at the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn. She had been in the hospital for two months but had been in failing health for more than a year.

Mrs. Regan had been living with her daughter in Winchester for the past two years. She was born December 15, 1871, in County Cork, Ireland, the daughter of Daniel and Mary (Holland) Donovan, growing up and being educated in Ireland.

At the age of 18 years she came to this country, settling in Woburn, where she was married and made her home for many years. She was a member of St. Charles Sodality, and an honorary member of Court Isabella, Catholic Daughters of America; and of the Auxiliary to the Woburn Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Mrs. Regan's husband died in 1926. Besides her daughter in Winchester, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Donahue of Woburn; five sons, William, of Winchester; Timothy, of Burlington; Daniel, John and Michael, all of Woburn; 19 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home at 8:15. Solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Charles Church, Woburn, at 9. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX INCREASE

The social security tax rate increase, effective January 1, 1957, has four significant features, according to Gerald J. Murphy, Manager of the Cambridge District Social Security Office, which services the Winchester area.

The new rate means that 2¼ percent will be deducted from the worker's pay and an equal 2¼ percent will be paid by his employer. The former rate was 2 percent for each.

The new rate for the self-employed on income earned after 1956 will be 3⅜ percent. This increase for the self-employed, however, will not affect the payment that they will be making in the next few months on their 1956 income. That remains at 3 percent.

The entire proceeds of the increase is earmarked solely for the new disability income provision of the law. The totally and permanently disabled employee or self-employed person who meets eligibility requirements can become entitled to monthly benefit payments on attaining age 50. The first benefits will be for the month of July 1957.

There is no change in the maximum income that can be credited to a social security account for any one year. This remains at $4200.00.

NOMINATED TO HARVARD CRIMSON

At the customary ritual that takes place each year at this time, the Harvard Crimson nominated Ted Elliott, Jr., to its official staff. In qualifying for this nomination, Ted sold more advertising than anyone in the last four years' experience of the present staff.

He also played halfback on his house football team and currently is out for hockey.

Although he spent two years in the Army, mostly in France, by extra courses, he plans to be a full senior next fall and will graduate only one year behind his class of 1957 as a three-year student.

SKATING INFORMATION

Desk Officer James E. Farrell at police headquarters yesterday morning told the Star that during the past two days he and his brother officers had answered more than 200 inquiries about skating in town.

How many of our townspeople have any idea of what it is like to answer 200 telephone calls. The Star does, because a great part of its business is done by phone, and we know just what a chore answering any great number of extra calls can be.

Now the point to all this is that it is the Park Department, and not the police to which we should appeal for information on skating locally. The phone to call is Winchester 6-0793. The Park Department maintains a skating bulletin on the common for the town's convenience, but apparently few pay much attention to it.

The police telephone is of too much importance to be cluttered with calls about skating, especially when it is not the police's job to give out such information. The suggestion has been made to the Star that the various town ponds be posted and that prospective skaters get their information right there. There seems to be some merit in this suggestion.

PLEASANT NEIGHBORHOOD CUSTOM

Residents of the Winslow road, Madison avenue West and Symmes road neighborhood continued this year their pleasant custom of decorating the big town evergreen in the little square at the intersection of Madison avenue West and Winslow road.

Prior to 1952 residents of the neighborhood had been discussing the possibility of lighting the tree, and in that year two residents, "Ken" Hall and "Johnny" Rutherford proposed to do something about it.

Canvassing the neighborhood, they easily got the funds necessary to light the tree and each year since 1952 they have continued the custom, the work being done by the local electrician, Harold Tarbox.

A year ago they added a big star to the top of the tree, and this year the general effect seemed especially pretty.

Christmas Eve some 75 neighbors and children of the neighborhood gathered at the tree, in spite of the bad weather, and sang Christmas carols, led by Ned Lord of Winslow road. After the first Christmas sing a big party was held, but this year, and each year since the first, the carolers have gathered, sang and gone their way home.

The whole thing is a pleasant neighborhood custom that everyone living near at hand enjoys immensely. No one misses it who is able to attend!

ALUMINUM GAME ENDED IN TIE

Neither St. Joseph's football team nor the eleven from Montana State University was able to score in the Aluminum Bowl football game at Little Rock, Ark., last Saturday, billed for the small college championship of the nation.

The result was a disappointment to local football fans, who were hoping for a St. Joseph victory because a former high school grid great, "Big Mike" Murphy, captain and star fullback of the 1954 team at Winchester High, was playing fullback for the Pumas. Every local sports enthusiast who could get Channel 12 on his TV set was watching Mike's every movement during the battle.

The game was played in a heavy rain-storm on a field ankle deep in mud and water. Anything like a flashy offense was out of the question under the weather conditions. Both St. Joseph's and Montana had stout defenses and neither team threatened to score.

St. Joseph's came the nearest and it was "Big Mike" who made the game's longest run, a 36 yard thriller that brought all the local TV viewers out of their chairs. "Mike" couldn't make it all the way, but he did contribute the offensive highlight of the afternoon and was the Pumas' offensive meal ticket throughout the game.

His parents, the Vincent J. Murphys of Allen road had a large group of friends in to see the game on TV, including Mike's former high school coach, Henry Knowlton, and his assistants, Frank Provinzano and Jim Phillips.

THANK YOU! THANK YOU!

The Star wishes to thank all those who have remembered us with calendars for 1957. The first we received was the artistic engagement calendar of the Winchester National Bank, illustrated with pencil sketches of Winchester by Ernest Dudley Chase. We also liked "Al" Elliott's calendar with its always popular seascapes, the large appointment type calendar of the Gustin Corp., and the always welcome desk size engagement type book of A. Miles Holbrook, veteran insurance broker. All have been welcome, and with them we have received several from out-of-town firms. Thank you, friends! Thank You!

Refugees Coming to Homes Here

Winchester Hungarian Settlement Committee Organized

Fifty people responded to a call to meet on the Sunday before Christmas at the Parish of the Epiphany to organize a town-wide committee to help settle some of the Hungarian refugees. The Rev. John W. Ellison, rector of the Parish of the Epiphany, took the initiative in calling the meeting by his letter which was printed in last week's Star and which was either distributed or announced in the various churches in town.

The Rev. Mr. Ellison spoke at the meeting of his telephone conversations with people in Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey who are in charge of various phases of the refugee program. The role of the Army is only to transport the refugees to Camp Kilmer and to feed and house them while there. The Red Cross cares for their medical needs and tries to trace families. The so-called cooperating agencies include the responsibility of locating jobs and homes for them. These agencies include the National Catholic Welfare Council, Church World Service, and similar groups.

Mr. Rowland Elliott, the person in charge of the Church World Service refugee program, told Mr. Ellison that the proposal outlined in the letter in last week's Star is nearly the ideal approach which they would like to see being used everywhere. However, the sudden arrival of the refugees has prevented arranging such things on a national level. He also said he would rather trust a local group to become acquainted with the individual refugees and then after a week or two to find the right job for them than he would trust himself to do it on a paper-work basis. He promised the complete cooperation of his staff in the efforts of the Winchester Committee.

Mr. Ellison also pointed out that Dr. and Mrs. Laszio, residents of Winchester, will be our own translators, and that Mrs. Anne Austill, the director of Christian Education in the Parish of the Epiphany, has a certificate in teaching basic English to foreign groups, which she has done extensively in Japan and Boston.

WINCHESTER BUILDING FIGURES

Building Commissioner William B. MacDonald has released the figures appearing below for building in Winchester during 1956. The figures were released December 26.

The total for new buildings this year is $1,702,350.00, less than those of 1955, when the total was $2,412,651.00. There were 106 new homes built here in 1955 to 94 this year.

Last year's alteration and renovation figures were substantially higher than this year's total, but practically all of that was due to the fact that the $500,000 spent to alter and renovate the high school was included in the '55 total.

This year's figures are:

94	New Dwellings	$1,393,100.00
5	New Garages and tool houses	3,250.00
11	New Business Bldgs.	306,000.00
	Total	$1,702,350.00
79	Alterations to Dwellings	$124,210.00
6	Alterations to Business Bldgs.	111,900.00
1	Alterations to Priv. Garage	225.00
1	Alterations to Church	110,000.00
	Total	$346,335.00

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING

There is some especially lavish Christmas lighting about town this year, and, generally speaking, the town had done rather more with lighting than in some past seasons.

Especially along Forest street and Highland avenue and on Everett avenue are some striking displays, though scattered about town you will find many others. In the center the Elks Home on Elmwood avenue has attracted a good deal of praise.

Many in town have adopted the flood lighting of the fronts of their houses or attractive doors, and these, though less lavish than others, are often very striking.

A ride around town will prove well worthwhile, as it would be impossible to even attempt to cover the many fine lighting effects obtained by householders everywhere.

SKIDS CAUSED TWO ACCIDENTS

Skids were blamed for two accidents that occurred Friday night and early Saturday morning, both at the intersection of Manomet and Agawam roads in the West Side hill section.

At 10:56 Friday night, a Mercury coupe driven east on Manomet road by Fred Moreland of 75 Brunswick road, Arlington, as it was passing Agawam road, skidded and crashed into an Edison light pole, splitting the pole in halves and completely wrecking the car. Sgt. Irving Reardon and Patrolman Archie O'Connell answered a call for assistance.

With Moreland in the car were Judith Newton, 16, of 94 Wildwood street, and Richard Troy, 17, of 39 Jason street, Arlington. The car is the property of Moreland's father.

Miss Newton was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the Fire Department's rescue truck by firefighters under Lt. Peter Galuffo. She was treated at the hospital for lascerations of the scalp by Dr. Harry L. Benson.

Troy and Moreland were taken to the Hospital in the police ambulance by Officers Douglass Martell and William Callahan. Troy was treated by Dr. Benson and Dr. Alexander T. Aitken for a concussion and a broken right thigh. Moreland complained of injuries to both knees.

An Edison emergency crew took care of the damaged light pole. The wrecked car was towed to Haggerty's Garage.

At 12:23 Saturday morning a Ford sedan, driven by Carl E. Johnson of 3 Nichols street, North Woburn, while headed east from High street and turning left on Manomet road, skidded when opposite Manomet road and struck a hydrant about 100 feet east of High street, moving the hydant slightly in the ground and wrecking the car.

Johnson was accompanied by his 10 months old son, Carl, Jr. Both were taken to the hospital by Sgt. Irving Reardon and Officer Archie O'Connell of the police department. The child was found to be uninjured. Johnson sustained a cut lip. The Water Department emergency crew under Jim Halwartz repaired the damage to the hydrant.

ON BOWDOIN FROSH TEAM

Bob Smith, towering forward and center on last year's championship basketball team at Winchester High School, is one of the high scorers on this year's freshman hoop team at Bowdoin College. The Bowdoin cubs, unbeaten in five games, play South Portland High January 3.

Smith, 6 ft. 6 in. performer, is the son of Mrs. Robert H. Smith of 45 Wildwood street. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and is enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit.

At Winchester, in addition to playing regularly on the hoop team that made basketball history in the Boston Garden, Bob played tennis and ran on the cross country team. A good student he was a member of the National Honor Society.

Wakefield, starting its second season under a new coach, Frank Charbeneau, has a two and one record coming into tonight's game, with one of its victories being over Methuen, generally considered to have a good team.

FRESHMEN PUCKSTERS DEFEAT STONEHAM

chester High Freshman Hockey

In a rousing contest, the Win-Team last Saturday rolled over their Stoneham rivals to the tune of 3-1. It was a fast game with plenty of action and thrills for all. Stoneham got the first tally in the opening minutes of the game on a shot that went between the legs of a Winchester player screening the puck from the view of the Winchester goalie, Teddy Marks.

A little later in the period, Billy Lamarche, Winchester's snappy center, whammed a high rebound into the opponent's cage the moment it struck the ice. Winchester clearly outskated Stoneham in the first period. In the next period, the pace slackened somewhat and the result remained at a 1-1 tie.

As the third period opened, both sides pressed to gain the necessary winning score. Shortly, Charlie Myer, a Red and Black left wing, who plays his position well, drove a beautiful shot into the Stoneham net. Moments later, Dana Keily scooped up a loose puck and fired at the Stoneham goal. The puck struck a Stoneham player's skate and ricocheted into the Stoneham cage for the third Winchester tally.

Although Stoneham put on a furious assault in the closing minutes, they were unable to beat young Marks who turned in a magnificent exhibition of goal tending. Two Winchester defensemen contributed outstandingly to the Winchester victory — Captain Robbie Eaton and John Hosmer.

Winchester plays Melrose tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. and Medford next Monday at 3:30 p. m., both games at the Boston Arena.

Saturday morning at 3 o'clock a Chevrolet sedan, being driven south on Cambridge street by Bernis E. Ebbs of 81 Sherman street, Cambridge, got out of control and struck a tree on the easterly side of the road opposite the home of Mr. Clarence S. Luitwieler, Jr., 89 Cambridge street. Ebbs sustained a cut lip and complained of chest injuries when he had been thrown against the steering wheel. He refused medical attention. The car was wrecked and had to be towed to Haggerty's Garage.

SONS OF ITALY Bowling News

S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE

The halfway mark has been reached as your eyes skip along the lines of this column.

The All Stars clinched first place last week as they finally stopped stumbling and came up with sufficient points to mathematically assure them of top honors.

The battle for second and third places is still to be decided as we go to press.

Team Standings

All Stars	35 - 17
Bee Bops	30 - 22
Blue Eyes	28 - 24
Lindy Hop	28 - 24
Rock & Roll	27 - 25
Jitterbugs	27 - 25
High & Low	17 - 35
Hot Shots	16 - 36

Hi Single—Choppers Gangi—147
Hi Triple — Dick Fiore—355
Top Six Bowlers

Tony Saraco	102.7
Dick Fiore	100.0
Richard Bucci	98.9
Bob Fiore	98.2
Joe Berardi	97.6
Babe Tofuri	95.7

There is quite a close race for second place as any team with the exception of the last two could end up in second place as first place is definitely decided.

The 300 bowlers weren't as abundant as last week, but five did manage to do it. In order of pinfall totals they are: Joe Berardi, 319; Tony Saraco, 316; Choppers Gangi, 315; Bob Fiore, 304; and Dick Fiore, 302.

Though they nursed their wounds in the cellar position, the Hot Shots showed that they are warming up for the second half as they hold the limelight in pinfalls this week with 1382. The week previous they gave the Bee Bops a terrific battle before they were subdued.

Their gallant leader, Dick Fiore, and anchor man of the team bowled 302 and was ably assisted by Sam Corby, an old fox at this game with a 294. The remaining warriors are Pete Fiore, Area Amico and, yes, back again bowling with us. Rocky Di Tesso, whose grand support carried them on to a three-point victory.

Last week we commented upon absentees being the cause of spoiling this great sport. This week it happened again but the tables were turned as the Rock & Roll team, with only three men, upset the apple cart by mowing down the Lindy Hop boys with three points.

This was an awful blow to the captain of Lindy Hops' team, who is Jeff Gaudioso, and who is still having nightmares from the incident. The three players who caused their downfall were Paul Lentine, bowling a 293, Jake Jacobellis, 292, and Al Di Minico a 281.

A request has come to my attention that anyone having a white cane or any Braille reading matter contact our clubhouse and we will be glad to pick it up. So as not to cause any embarrassment we are withholding the individual's name. The great warrior has sure come to a sad end.

We are happy to announce that one of our bowlers has recently been employed by the U. S. Government, holding a very important position. Meet Jeff Gaudioso, the local mailman!

What bowler has put on 25 pounds since bowling commenced, Yes—Sam Bellino has and where it shows the most.

May you all have had an enjoyable Christmas and may you all have a healthy and prosperous New Year.

We close again and this week's award went to the small man with the man-sized cigars whose jaunty walk and personality is well known, Dan Gattineri.

See you next week!

We have a new line of gift wrappings and ribbons. Winchester Star. Star Building.

WINCHESTER, 66; WELLESLEY, 42

Winchester High had no trouble defeating Wellesley 66-42 last Friday evening in the high school gymnasium with Captain Mike Callahan leading the scoring parade with 25 points.

Winchester led at the half, 38-24, though they were outscored in the second period by the visitors, 15-12. A tremendous drive toward the end of the first period permitted the Indians to coast a bit in the second chukkah.

Twice during the closing seconds of the first period Roger Symmes stole the ball from a Wellesley player and found the hoop, and it looked like he was in for a big night. However in the second period he hurt his leg and the injury seemed to hamper him throughout the remainder of the game.

Dave Bergquist and Quentin Roberts each hit for double figures, Bergquist getting 14 and Roberts, 12. Fleming, Wellesley center, led the visitors with 21 points.

In a rugged preliminary game the Winchester Jay Vees made it a perfect night by beating the Wellesley Jay Vees, 50-32. Bill Morton led the scoring with nine points, closely followed by Thomson and Rich Roberts, each of whom had eight. The summary:

HEADING B.C. FOOTBALL DRIVE

John J. Griffin of 41 Lincoln street, president of the Boston College Alumni Association, is playing a prominent part in the drive by B.C. graduates to raise $250,000 to provide facilities at the Heights to continue intercollegiate football. The facilities will include new permanent seats with dressing rooms and storage space under them, a new practice field for football and a new baseball diamond, this last made necessary by the erection of the permanent stands on what was the old diamond.

There was some talk of B.C. discontinuing football when it became known that Fenway Park would no longer be available for games. No football, however, didn't please the old "bald eagles" or the many independent fans who have enjoyed the type of football B.C. has played.

Last week Wednesday plans to provide the necessary facilities for continuing football and playing the game at University Heights took definite shape. They will now become a concerted drive for funds in which Mr. Griffin as alumni president will play a prominent part.

"Jack" Madden of McCormack's Apothecary had a birthday last week Thursday. A party was held to celebrate the events, but no details are available.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

During the month of December both Michael Brink and Ralph Thompson have given the 8-6 division reports on their separate trips to Florida. Mike showed that a prediction of bad weather could spoil the best of plans. Tommy followed his lecture with a fine series of colored slides, each of which had some unusual point of interest. So vivid was Tommy's talk with its pictures of warm green country that the class was shocked, when the blinds were raised, to see a howling snowstorm outside!

Christmas at Junior High

The first floor corridor of the Junior High School was decorated by the Art classes under the direction of Miss Edna M. Hatch and by the Home Economics classes under the direction of Mrs. David Coutts.

At the back of each display case was a large mural. One showed a group of angels heralding the birth of the Holy Child. Below the mural a group of dolls, dressed by the Seventh Grade girls, were arranged in the traditional creche scene. The second mural depicted a typical New England village on a starry December evening. The entrancing dolls here were dressed to represent a group of children singing Christmas carols. Meredith Reeves, Judith Donovan, Janet Donovan, Barbara Winsor, Susan Nanry, Muriel Mirak, Beverley Bailey, Pamela Bailey, Betsy Root, and Roxanne Hall were the artists in charge of the beautiful work in these displays.

The bulletin boards opposite the display cases carried out the Christmas motif through the use of silver holly leaves, tinsel and gay Christmas balls. On view here were paintings done by the Seventh Grade in their regular Art classes.

The place of honor in the Office was given to an especially fine painting of a Madonna by Sheila Donahue. A final festive touch was given by the glittering mobiles made by John Mallery, David Wright and Thomas Hoare.

A lively Christmas assembly was thoroughly enjoyed by the students on the morning of December 20. The program included orchestral selections under the able direction of Mr. Janner, carols sung by the well-disciplined girls' glee club lead by Mrs. Thistlethwaite, other carols played by a brass quartet, and a delightful play written by Miss LeClaire and performed, under her direction, by seventh and eighth grade students

Dianne Watson was announcer for the program. Mrs. Mary Anderson was guest harp soloist of the orchestra and a cello solo was played, with a background of strings, by Jeanne Wilson. Parker Gray, Bruce Graves, Andy Sjoholm, and Tommy Gardner comprised the brass quartet.

In the cast of the Christmas Play, "Space Bound for Christmas" were Wayne Baltzer, David Doane, Donald Nadeau, John Heaton, Carol Radocchia, Dennis Golden, John Swift, Bruce Graves, Lee Ellen Manzie, Edwina Simone, Roben Thompson, Leslie Sanger, Jeanne Chase, Donald Gross, Michael Lonigra, John Hopkins, Stephen Blair, Guild Nichols, Philip Mead, Ralph Thompson. Within the play Leslie Sanger and Roben Thompson performed a tap dance, Jeanne Chase a ballet toe dance, Michael Lonigro played an accordian solo, Dennis Golden and Ronnie Papile sang a duet.

Mrs. Judith Coutts was responsible for the costumes, Miss Edna Hatch for the mobiles. Miss Hatch was aided by John Mallory and David Wright. The decorations and set were done by Cynthia Randlett, BetteLou Brown, Deborah Nichols, Richard Nichols, Beverly Marasca, Janet Zammarchi, Gail Tonello, Grace Ardini, Gratia Lewis, Roger McNeill and Robert Hanley.

The stage managers were Janet Zammarchi and Carlene Hatchell. The stage crew was Herbert Thompson, Rodney Edwards, Robert Leander and Wayne Baltzer. To Mrs. William Davies goes our thanks for making the robot's costume and our gratitude to Mrs. Ralph Thompson for make-up.

WINCHESTER BEAT AMESBURY

Winchester High School's hockey team bounced back from its defeat at the hands of Peabody to down Amesbury last Saturday afternoon, 5-2, at the Lynn Arena. The victory kept the Indians in a three-way tie for first place in the Northeast Conference with Woburn and Swampscott.

The locals seemed really up for Amesbury and scored two quickies within the first 20 seconds of play. Cussen belted in the first, a five footer made on a Leo Callahan rebound. Zirkel tallied the second with assists by Callahan and Cussen.

Captain Leo Callahan actually figured in each of the Indians' five goals and scored the goal good enough to win at 3:35 of the second period. Skating away from the Amesbury defense he soloed up close to flip the puck past the outstretched leg of the opposing goaler.

Amesbury came to life after the Callahan score and really put the pressure on Denton with Cressy and Martin tallying to make the score 3-2 going into the final period.

The last period was all Winchester with Zirkel and Weaver scoring the goals that put the game on ice. The summary:

WINCHESTER (5) —goal Denton; defense, Kelleher, McElholm; forwards, Callahan, Zirkel; center, Cussen.

Spares—Sandberg, Weaver, Emerson, Davenport, Sullivan, Harkins.

Spares—Andrews, Cote, Mitchell, Watkins, Parents.

First Period: Scoring, Winchester—Cussen (Callahan) :06; Zirkel (Callahan, Cussen) :18. Penalties: Winchester—McElholm (tripping); Kelleher (interference). Amesbury—M. Martin (tripping).

Second Period: Scoring, Winchester—Callahan (Zirkel) 3:35. Amesbury—Cressy (Dupere, Andrews) 6:55; R. Martin (Cote) 9:30. Penalties: Amesbury—Mitchell (tripping); Winchester—Kelleher (tripping); Kelleher (tripping); Kelleher (interference).

Third Period: Scoring, Winchester—Zirkel (Callahan) 5:37; Weaver (Callahan) 8:45. Penalties: Winchester—Zirkel (interference); Kelleher (tripping and misconduct) served by Carter; Callahan (checking in offensive zone).

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOREST CREST FARM

The Animals' Christmas Party, held in conjunction with the M.S.P.C.A. on Friday, December 21, took place at Forest Crest Farm School.

The children sang songs and carols with simple dramatizations in a setting truly symbolic of Christmas. The Creche scene and the children were grouped beneath the stable roof with the little Shetland ponies watching curiously with heads thrust over the Dutch doors. In the Nativity tableau the parts were as follows: Mary, Thea Crooks; Joseph, John Barry; The Angel, Susan Gilpatrick; The Shepherd, Thomas Lord.

A short Christmas verse was recited by Tina Wiener.

This was followed by the Christmas Procession led by Santa Claus and Martha Livingstone, portraying the Christmas Princess, and riding Buster, the pony. All the children followed bearing gifts of apples and carrots for the Horses' Christmas, in Boston. Donations of blankets were also given for the Animal Hospital. The procession was brought up by Duke, the big, red pony, pulling a farm wagon with 400 lbs. of oats. All the gifts were presented to Mr. Pollard, director of education for the Mass. S.P.C.A. Among these, was a gift of oats from the Winchester branch which was represented by Mrs. Mildred Noyes attending the party.

The feeding of the animals around the Christmas tree was a happy occasion with all the five ponies, the Collie puppy and rabbits gathered around to be fed by the children and Santa Claus.

Mr. Pollard spoke briefly about the first Christmas and the animals that took part. Then the parents and children joined in Christmas carols and the program ended with Frosty Rivinius reciting the words of Tiny Tim, "God bless us everyone."

EDITORIALS

With the last chime of the clock at midnight next Monday night 1957 will take over, and the year, 1956, will be a thing of the past. What will the New Year hold for Winchester?

There are a number of things to think about in connection with the coming year in a purely parochial sense. Winchester, of course, shares in the concern over national and world events, but right at home there are things shaping that can have a material bearing on the town's future.

Chief among them is, perhaps, the proposed extension of Route 3 from 128 through Winchester to Boston. One of the plans under consideration proposes to extend the highway through one of the finest sections of Winchester and the Winchester Country Club. The effect upon the town of such a move is incalculable.

Another plan that will bear watching is the MDC proposal to take the town's reservoirs and watershed as a recreation spot in the Fells. The town will, and should, oppose this plan with every resource at its command.

The future of motorboating on Mystic Lakes is another matter in which Winchester rightly has a great interest. A move was made this past year toward curtailing the nuisance these boats have caused one of the finest residential sections of the town, but eternal vigilance will be necessary if any permanent relief is to be obtained.

Two important committees will be reporting in March, the fiscal committee and the town offices committee. The first, many believe, has the power to completely change the town's way of doing business, and the second undoubtedly will make suggestions for the housing of town offices and departments that will at the least prove controversial.

Then, what of the schools? We have already been told by those who should know that our high school is operating at pupil capacity right now, with increased enrollments expected at the result of increased building in the West Side hill district. What about the larger police force that is going to be necessary to handle the steady flow of traffic that seems to have increased instead of diminished since the construction of the overhead.

What about the traffic situation at the post office and on Common street and Waterfield road generally. How about parking, when the temporary measures that have obtained during the construction of the overhead are done away with? These are only some of the questions for which we will have to find answers during the year that lies ahead. There can be some $64,000 riddles in the lot!

It must have been heartening to Mr. Ellison to get such a gratifying response last Sunday to his call for aid for the Hungarian refugees in this country. The town can well be proud of the start that has been made, but it should be understood that it is only a start. Much remains to be done, but Winchester, with a reputation for seeing things through when there is a real need, can be depended upon to assume its obligation in this latest call. The character of the steering committee would seem to guarantee that. There are many ways in which a lot of people can help. In another column of this paper appear the names of the committee heading the relief effort here. Get in touch with any of them if you want to help.

WHY NOT HELP OUR OWN!

Editor of the Star:

I often wonder if anyone ever gives a thought to how our young fathers, whose take home pay averages 50 to 60 dollars weekly, and our aged on social security who average one hundred and thirty dollars monthly, get along and maintain any kind of a decent standard of living. How can a family of four, two children, father and mother, exist without worrying themselves sick, with rent, food, insurance, heat, light, gas and medical care?

They can't call a doctor as they have no money to pay with, and with medicine costing what it does it's hopeless!

There are hundreds of family men in this wage group. We are bringing folks over from other lands and helping them. Why not help our aged and our young fathers who are harassed by bills? I know because I see it all the time.

There are a few humane men in the medical profession, but some are putting their bills in an attorney's hands now. How can a man pay for medicine, etc., on such a small income?

You may say go to some charity. I challenge anyone to go to any charity and ask for help without them going into your family tree and finding out which relatives are working, and the old third degree! Who wants to ask their relatives for help?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Louise E. Chase
P.O. Box 17, Town

Arthur P. Stewart of 67 Dunster lane suffered a heart attack at his home Sunday. The police ambulance and the rescue truck from the fire station were called, and the resusitator was used until the doctor arrived.

RICH COMSTOCK LODE TO BE WORKED AGAIN

A multimillion-dollar hole in the ground is to be reopened.

This is the Comstock Lode in Nevada, producer of vast wealth in gold and silver during a lusty period of American history.

One of the richest mining areas ever developed, the Comstock helped finance the North in the Civil War, provided the basis for several American fortunes, rejuvenated San Francisco, and lifted California from a depression, the National Geographic Society says. As operations declined, the Comstock left on its doorstep one of the most famous of ghost towns, Virginia City.

Modern Methods To Try Again

The Consolidated Virginia Mining Co., one of the best-known names on the Comstock in its biggest boom period, the 1870's recently announced it will resume work, developing with modern methods low-grade ore deposits unprofitable in earlier days.

Discovered in 1859 by a group of placer miners, the lode lies between two rock faces in western Nevada. It was formed perhaps 60 million years ago, geologists believe, by the upwelling of subterranean fire and steam. These earth fires still burn beneath the lode. Water as hot as 170 degrees Fahrenheit, gushing into the shafts, stopped deep mining efforts at the 4,000-foot level.

The men who worked these deep mines, sometimes in niches so hot their bodies had to be sprayed with cold water, sought boisterous recreation on the surface.

Culture and Decorum

Although more decorous than many mining camps of the period, Virginia City had its moments of excitement. Memorable was the opening of the first opera house which, with its successors, was to provide a showcase for such stars as Modjeska, Joe Jefferson, Buffalo Bill, Lotta Crabtree, and Edwin Booth.

Two feuding mine superintendents attended the opening in tailcoats and Colt revolvers, which they soon put in use. Their friends joined in the fusillade across the orchestra, puncturing a few diamond-studded shirt fronts and the new curtain, embellished with a genuine handpainted representation of the Lakes of Killarney. Luckily, no one seemed to carry more than six shots when in evening dress. The battle subsided, and the show went on. No one was seriously hurt.

The history of the Comstock is laced through the stock deals of all kinds; battles under the earth between workers of adjoining mines; and such tactics as influencing the market by confining the miners underground to simulate a bonanza.

Gold and silver from the Comstock started many men toward wealth, among them George Hearst, father of the late publisher William Randolph Hearst. But the group that profited most consistently from the Comstock was the brokers who handled the stocks of the various mines. More than 50 of them acquired substantial fortunes.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The oldest known specimen of a flowering plant has recently been found in the San Juan Mountains of Colorado, the National Geographic Society reports. A palmlike growth that flourished 165 million years ago, it left the imprint of its leaves on Colorado's red rock. Fossil experts have discovered seven such imprints. The largest was 18 inches long. All predate by at least ten million years the fossil of a flowering plant from Normandy, previously believed to have been the oldest.

When gold was discovered on January 24, 1848, in California's South Fork American River northeast of present-day Sacramento, San Francisco was suddenly depopulated "as if by a plague." One report said that of a population of about 900, all but a dozen left for the diggings. Thousands of easterners soon swelled the city to far beyond its original size, however. By 1852 the population was 34,700, the National Geographic Society says.

Throughout Europe, coffee was first sold as a beverage by lemonade vendors.

DRY TORTUGAS, DROWSING IN TROPICS WERE PLANNED AS "GULF GIBRALTAR"

Ghosts of long past dramatic events haunt the Dry Tortugas which drowse under the tropical sun in the Gulf of Mexico.

The little group of seven coral keys, 68 miles west of Key West, Florida, has been set apart as a United States National Monument since 1935, says the National Geographic Society. Chief feature of the preserve is the impressive ruin of old Fort Jefferson, the Civil War prison over which President Eisenhower flew recently for a skyview inspection.

But the Dry Tortugas story goes back long before the War Between the States—to the romantic figure of Ponce de Leon, seeker of the Fountain of Youth. The Spanish explorer landed on the rocky islets in 1513, during his voyage of discovery along the east Florida coast.

Home of Big Turtles

Ponce de Leon gave his find a name that stuck: "Tortugas" for the giant turtles he and his men took there for meat, and "Dry" because the islands lacked not only a Fountain of Youth, but even drinking water.

Later, pirates used the Dry Tortugas as a hideout from which to swoop down on treasure-heavy galleons sailing to Europe from the New World. The pirate lairs were not completely cleaned out until the islands came into United States possession with the acquisition of Florida in 1821.

Under American control, the Tortugas sprang to life. In 1825, the first lighthouse was built on central Garden Key, to protect the young republic's increasing traffic with its rich Louisiana Purchase region.

Work began in 1846 on massive Fort Jefferson, planned as a "Gulf Gibraltar" overlooking the Atlantic passageway between Florida and Cuba.

A six-sided brick structure, the fortress was built to accommodate a garrison of 1,500 men and 450 guns. It covered most of 16-acre Garden Key. With walls 8 feet thick and 50 feet high, it was the largest of the United States 19th-century coastal defenses.

Obsolete but Useful

The fort also gained the dubious distinction of becoming obsolete before it was complete—the result of the invention of rifled cannon, which proved capable of making a shambles of such brick walls.

Obsolete or not, Fort Jefferson served Union forces throughout the Civil War. Though it saw no direct action, it bulwarked the blockade of southern ports, and was used during and after the war as a federal prison.

The fort's most famous inmate was Dr. Samuel Mudd, sent there in 1865 for giving medical aid to Lincoln's fleeing assassin, John Wilkes Booth. After two years in the dungeon, Dr. Mudd was brought out to fight a yellow-fever epidemic that had stricken the post surgeon and was sweeping the fort. Eventually, Dr. Mudd was pardoned for his heroic work in checking the disease.

In succeeding decades, the United States made several attempts to use the Dry Tortugas as a naval base. The ill-fated battleship Maine sailed for Cuba in 1898 from Tortugas harbor. In World War I, a seaplane base was established there, but later abandoned.

Today, because of lack of transportation facilities, the small custodian staff at Fort Jefferson Monument sees relatively few visitors (4,331 in 1955). The islands, specifically Bush Key, have been inherited by migrating birds, chiefly the sooty terns which flock there to nest each year by scores of thousands.

The Persian Gulf is less salty than other seas, the National Geographic Society says. Fresh waters from Iraq's Tigris and Euphrates Rivers pour into the Gulf, and its juncture with the Gulf of Oman, an arm of the Indian Ocean, is so narrow and crooked that little salt water enters.

UNDERSEA CAMERA WILL PROBE DEEPEST DEEPS

A camera designed to take the world's first photographs in the greatest deeps of the sea has been successfully tested for the National Geographic Society.

The inventor is Dr. Harold E. Edgerton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His new camera has withstood pressure of 17,000 pounds per square inch—more than the pressure of water at the greatest known ocean depth, the 35,640-foot Challenger Depth off Guam—Society president Dr. John Oliver LaGorce reported.

Trials at sea from the French oceanographic ship Calypso in the Mediterranean, Red Sea, and Indian Ocean are described in the current National Geographic Society-Calypso Expeditions.

Three-mile Thread

Dr. Edgerton first had to test a nylon line by which he hoped to lower his 100-pound camera and electronic lights. The braided cable, three miles long yet less than ¼-inch thick, seemed only a thread.

With a chunk of pig iron simulating the camera, the line went down 14,000 feet from a small boat off Cape Matapas, Greece. It reached bottom without mishap. Calypso left the boat untended, using it as a radar target for survey work several miles away.

When a Greek fishing trawler spotted the seeming derelict boat and tried to haul it aboard, the scientists watched with glee through glasses as the fishermen found the boat anchored in 14,000 feet of water.

Later, Dr. Edgerton's camera went down 14,000 feet to make the deepest photographs yet obtained in the Mediterranean. In the black abyss three miles down, it recorded shrimps, one small fish, and an old tin can.

So strong was the nylon line that once, when a towed dredge snagged on an obstruction 10,000 feet down, it stopped the 360-ton Calypso and dragged it backward.

"The success of the abyssal camera and the nylon line conjures up a picture," writes Captain Cousteau: "A ship—we trust it will be Calypso—rides anchored by much larger nylon cables over the deepest place in the sea while another of those miraculous weightless lines lets down the camera to reveal to man the uttermost depths."

From the Calypso's Mediterranean and Indian Ocean cruise came some of the most remarkable undersea color photographs ever taken. They were made by National Geographic Society writer and photographer Luis Marden, free-diving with an Aqualung, hand-held submarine cameras and lights.

During his work Mr. Marden dived as deep as 217 feet, along the face of a coral reef off Assumption Island, a small wind-whipped dot in the Indian Ocean 240 miles from the northern tip of Madagascar.

In this submarine Eden of clear blue water, jungles of coral glowed with color and flashed with life. A 60-pound grouper, as unlovely and ponderous as an ocean hippopotamus, decide the photographer was a fascinating visitor and for days followed him everywhere through the depths.

In four years of the Calypso expeditions, Captain Cousteau has revolutionized undersea photography and research by the use of free-diving equipment. Television has been taken to the depths. Ancient ships have been discovered and excavated, their secrets probed. Still a mystery is the so-called "deep scattering layer," but it has been studied by expedition scientists and much has been learned about it.

Some 8,000 Explorer Scouts encamp each summer at Philmont Scout Ranch—the largest such camp in the world and a boy's dream of the Wild West come true. Located in the Rockies near Cimarron, New Mexico, the ranch is traversed by the historic Santa Fe Trail, the National Geographic Society says. Buffalo, elk, and deer roam the plains. Mountain lions prowl lonely canyons, and trout abound in the ranch's streams.

NEW UNIT FOR HOSPITAL

The Winchester Hospital has just completed the installation of a new Cystoscopy Unit for the diagnosis and treatment of Genito-Urinary diseases.

A lead-lined room for this unit was created at the time of the 1955 expansion program, but due to lack of funds, equipping of the room was deferred. The recent grant from the Ford Foundation has made it possible to purchase and install the special equipment required. In addition to a special mechanical table necessary for these procedures, a separate x-ray unit was installed.

Besides the very expensive equipment acquired, the Hospital has obtained over two thousand dollars worth of special urological instruments. Winchester Hospital can now boast of one of the most modern cystoscopy units in the area.

Thomas W. McGann of 19 Sheridan circle, was among the employees of Monsanto Chemical Company recently awarded gold lapel pins symbollic of completing 15 years in the company's employ.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The annual Christmas meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, December 20, at the interesting and charming home of Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood on 7 Swan road.

As always this time of year the house was beautifully decorated for Christmas with an enormous Christmas tree reaching the ceiling gaily decorated with many imported tree ornaments and many Mrs. Kirkwood had made herself. The entire living room was decorated with such original and festive Christmas decorations and unusual arrangements that one felt they were in Fairy Land and that someone had waved a magic wand to transform the room into, "The Spirit of Christmas."

After a delicious Christmas dessert Mrs. Percy Bugbee, the president, welcomed the members and guests and opened the meeting. The president was very proud to announce that Mrs. Kirkwood had just been presented with two bronze medals from the Horticultural Society for her outstanding plantings around the Harvard Business School and her own grounds at 7 Swan road.

Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini introduced the various members who had brought to the meeting their own creations for us to see.

Mrs. Gretchen West opened the program by reading a most amusing poem, "T'was The Night Before Christmas," by Katharine Brush.

Mrs. Bugbee showed us her table arrangement for her own Christmas dinner which was stunning with a most interesting Christmas cloth.

Mrs. Ghirardini showed us how she had used some wooden figurines from Switzerland and transformed them into a lovely "Creche."

Mrs. Russell had made a formal floral arrangement for her mantle piece which resembled in appearance, a huge red Sun Burst which was most striking.

Mrs. Robinson displayed her Danish Wreath which she had made with silver star like clusters and colored Christmas balls, which was truly a work of art.

Mrs. Chandler Symmes showed us her sweet little white Christmas tree which she had decorated for her own house.

Mrs. Gretchen West had made a triangular Pleasant Door-Way Tree which was most artistic and different.

There were many other arrangements on display, all lovely and all showing much imagination and individuality.

The members all felt that this had been a never to be forgotten afternoon and were most grateful to Mrs. Kirkwood for having them at Christmas time.

M.S.P.C.A. AND CHILDREN

An unusual Christmas party took place Friday, December 21, at the Forest Farm Nursery School on Forest street.

Under the direction of Mrs. Howard Wittet, principal of the private school, the children sang carols and carried out the manger scene, with Mrs. Wittet's ponies for background, so friendly their presence added to the lovely live picture.

Then a large Santa Claus appeared and led a parade of children, a little horse-drawn cart filled with horse feed and oats, a sleigh filled with bags of carrots and apples, all these as gifts for the Horses' Christmas distribution which is carried out by the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals each year to work horses in Boston.

Up a hill they all went to surround a live evergreen tree gaily decorated with food for birds.

The Animal Ambulance was there to carry back the gifts, and Mr. Albert A. Pollard, director of the American Humane Education Society, spoke to the gathering in a most telling manner, thanked them for the gifts and reminded the parents and children that there are sick animals at Christmastime, too, and to give comfort to any of God's creatures at any time is to carry out the true spirit of Christmas, good will to all.

It is of great importance to teach kindness to all life, to little children, thereby instilling in them the real meaning of Christmas, selfless giving of mercy and kindness.

To associate with animals brings a clear realization to children's minds that all creatures are here in the world because of the Creator's will.

A truly kindhearted, merciful person is seldom cruel.

Christmas is a day of hope, the greatest hope there is, of peace and good will to all. Each and every one in his life may attempt to bring those conditions into being.

In another carol, the parents and guests joined the children, the Santa Claus unfastened his pack to distribute something to the children.

Mrs. Wittet's other animals were present also. Everyone felt gratitude for her successful efforts and those of her staff to make this Christmas party a happy one.

WINCHESTER HUNGARIAN SETTLEMENT COMMITTEE ORGANIZED

Those present were asked how many refugees they could take into their own homes, and enough space for 54 refugees was accounted for.

The majority of the refugees are young "unattached" men — either unmarried or men who for various reasons left their families behind. Many wives with small children did not want to wade through swamps and forests, but remained in the hopes that their husbands can send for them later. The next largest group includes married couples (mostly young) and then couples with children. Orphaned children are being kept in Austria until every means of finding relatives has been exhausted. A few teenagers and many in the 18-22 age bracket are among them, some of whom should be sent to college.

The local plan is to provide a temporary refuge in homes, so that these people can be taught something about the many gadgets, appliances, and plumbing in an American home. For the first few weeks, they will have classes in English from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. at the Parish of the Epiphany parish hall, including the showing of U. S. Army orientation movies. After a few days, they will be interviewed to find their educational and work experience. It is hoped that the professional social workers in Winchester will help with this phase. The local service clubs are being asked to undertake the task of finding jobs for them.

The meeting appointed a steering committee consisting of Dr. Norman Padelford, G. Y. Hills, Adm. William H. Buracker, the Rev. Dwight L. Cart, the Rev. John W. Ellison, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mr. W. E. Gordon, and that committee added Fr. Martin Dolphin to its membership. The Rev. Mr. Ellison was chosen as chairman.

The following day the steering committee met (at 5:00 p. m. on Christmas Eve!) to proceed with organization. Mr. G. Y. Hills was appointed as finance chairman and treasurer. Mrs. Lowry was appointed in charge of housing. Mr. George Redding, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, was present and agreed to investigate whether the Wadleigh School building could be used as headquarters. Mrs. Ross Cunningham was appointed to be in charge of transportation, including organizing auto caravans to go to Camp Kilmer to bring the refugees here. Dr. Edward Rendall will be in charge of medical services for them.

Although there has been no time to consult the various churches, the steering committee felt that every church in town would be willing to receive clothing in good, clean condition for these people. A large quantity of all kinds of men's clothing will be needed.

Many people can help by contributing financially. Although some people have offered to provide both housing and food, it was agreed by the committee that a food allowance should be available to each family taking one or more refugees into their homes.

In many instances, these people will be settled in a job and a permanent home within a few weeks. With some, it may take a few months. It is understood that for reasons which may arise later, they may be moved from one temporary home to another. Therefore, offers to house them for a month or more will be gladly received. It is advisable to place them in twos and threes, so that they will have someone to talk to while learning English. Experience has shown that in two weeks of intensive training, they can learn to say whatever they want to say.

Orientation sessions will be held for those who will house them. A small leaflet of a few necessary phrases in Hungarian and English will be prepared. These cannot be purchased yet, because the few available have been rapidly snatched up in stores.

Present plans call for the arrival of a group of about twenty refugees on January 2.

Contributions of cash or check may be made to the Winchester Hungarian Settlement Committee at any bank in Winchester. To be certain of taking advantage of income tax deductions, such checks can be made out to "Rector's Discretionary Fund" and marked "refugees" in the corner.

The next meeting of the steering committee will be on Sunday, December 30, at 4:00 p. m. at the Parish of the Epiphany. Any community organizations interested in participating in this program should send a representative to that meeting.

Mr. Haggerty was 66 years old and a native of Stoneham, the son of William, and Mary (Doherty) Haggerty. He had been an employee of the Highway Department for the past eight years. Previously he had worked for the John J. Riley Leather Company of Woburn. Quiet and unassuming, he was well liked by all who knew him.

Born September 15, 1873, in Baltimore, Md., he was an insurance underwriter. He lived for a time in Everett and later was for 30 years a resident of Malden, where he was chairman of the Planning Board and president of the former Deliberative Assembly, a civic organization prominent politically. He was an Odd Fellow, a member of the Shrine, and a life member of Palestine Lodge of Masons in Everett.

Mr. Wolsey, during his short residence here, lived at 75 Church street until the death of his wife, the former Carlotta MacAllister, in August of 1955. He leaves, besides his daughter, three granddaughters, Gretchen and Sandra Wolsey of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Richard Jebb of Nashua, N. H.; two great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Bradstreet of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. J. M. Willard of State College, Pennsylvania.

Masonic funeral services were held Wednesday evening at the Bennett Funeral Home, attended by officers and members of Palestine Lodge of Everett. Funeral services were held at the chapel Thursday forenoon with the Rev. Robert A. Storer, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. NEW YEAR'S EVE SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

This coming Monday night at 11:00 p.m., the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will conduct a New Year's Eve service.

At a time when the nations of the world are facing so many difficult problems and so many millions of people are seeking peace—peace on an international scale, and peace individually—it seems wise that we should take time to seek the means of bringing such a peace.

Being predominately a Christian Nation, we look to Christian sources for peace.

If God sent Christ into the world as a Peacemaker for mankind it seems that the Christian church has something to offer.

You are invited to spend the last hour of the old year and the first moments of the new year in the House of God as you partake of communion and seek God's guidance in the affairs of men.

You are welcome to attend this service to receive inspiration and to make such resolutions as will give you a peace of mind and heart which the world seemingly cannot give or take away.

Charles F. Riordan, who lived in Winchester at 34 Grove street for 25 years before moving to Melrose in 1954, passed away Saturday, December 22, at the Otis Hospital in Cambridge. Although he had been ill for some time his death was sudden and unexpected.

Born in Charlestown in 1903, Mr. Riordan attended the Charlestown schools and was graduated from Suffolk Law School. He passed the bar in 1933 and until his health failed he was a brilliant and successful lawyer.

In 1929 Mr. Riordan married Margaret Leahey of Winchester, who survives, with three sons, Paul E., of New York City, Charles F., of Melrose, and Cpl. John T. Riordan, former high school football captain, now stationed with the Marines in Japan, who flew home for the funeral.

The funeral was held Saturday morning with high mass of requiem celebrated at St. Mary's Church by Rev. Father Martin J. Dolphin. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

RED CROSS HUNGARIAN RELIEF APPEAL

RED CROSS FIRST AID COURSE MAY BE FOR YOU

The Winchester Red Cross will soon offer to the public one of its popular first aid training courses, jointly sponsored by the Winchester Civil Defense. Watch for an announcement of this in the Star, and meanwhile consider some of the following facts brought to your attention by your Red Cross first aid instructors. They may help you decide that a member of your family should be among those signing up for this senior course, offered to anyone 15 years and older.

Last year 28,000 people died in home accidents, and 4,200,000 suffered injuries. Over 6,000 persons drowned, fires took the lives of 1,200 children under 5 years of age, and motor vehicle accidents caused 38,200 deaths. Accidents don't just happen. They are caused by people.

Aroused by proof that many of these tragedies could have been prevented, Americans are adopting a more positive attitude toward accident prevention. Safety training is becoming more popular. People are learning the basic rules that guard against accidents and what to do and not to do when they occur. This is first aid.

"First aid training is something that every member of the family can and should have, and can make a life-and-death difference in a crisis." A medical director of a large manufacturing company said this. Think it over and call the Red Cross, WInchester 6-2300, or the Civil Defense, WInchester 6-3257, to sign up now for your course.

ST. MARY'S MR. & MRS. CLUB

There will be a January meeting of the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club on Wednesday evening, January 9, at St. Mary's Hall. Remember, Wednesday, January 9, the second Wednesday of the month, an exception made for this meeting to avoid its conflicting with the holidays.

And with the holidays behind us, what brighter oasis in the remaining dark, cold and inactive winter months could we hope for than the next few meetings. In the depths of January, in particular, numbed as we all are by the weather and the incoming bills for all those wonderful items which that old rascal Santa distributed with such gay abandon, is the one time we all could stand a pick-me-up.

From what hints we have gleaned, January's meeting promises to be quite different and unique and most interesting. Many of you recall those wonderful panel discussions of last year, one involving the medics among us and the second by our barristers. Well, the first part of the January meeting is to be a panel discussion. The subject? For an intriguing reason we cannot disclose it. But it is a topic of great import today, a subject of great civic and moral import. A subject that even today is of deep concern to our own legislators. To heighten the interest for this phase of the meeting we are going to be honored by the presence, as guests of both a noted jurist as well as a Doctor of Canon Law. Aiding and abetting these noted visitors will be a few of our own group, specialists in their own right in psychiatry, medicine and law. To prove you're wrong if you have already guessed the subject, we really don't know which of these authorities is going to be pro or con on the subject! So there!

Teaming with Dr. Jim McDonough, who seemingly with great practice is going to be instrumental in delivering this phase of the evening's program to us, will be John Lane who has planned wonderful things for us before sending us on our way. Something about that doesn't sound right, but we told you it would be an evening you won't forget!

Since the female members have been responsible for the wonderful refreshments of most past meetings, John Lane and a group of male stalwarts have decided to give the distaff side the night off. Refreshments at this meeting will have a decided male touch. Quite likely, "ladies fingers" and "petits fours" will give ground to "Submarines" and "Dagwoods," but don't worry girls, maybe John will serve you up your "Submarines" in dainty buns! Caution! Come to this meeting a little on the hungry side. Remember the date. Wednesday, January 9.

TROOP 1 NEWS

The Wednesday, December 12, meeting of Troop 1 at the Noonan School was featured by the visit of "Staff" Rogers, who was the scoutmaster of Troop 1 many years ago, and is now affectionately called the "Grandfather of Troop 1."

"Staff," after a warm welcome, spoke to the scouts on his favorite subject, "Scouting." He then reminisced about old times with some of the guests who were scouts in his troop, after which he was presented a gift by the boys who were members of his scout troop.

At the same time, Ken Hall, who is chairman of the board of review, was presented a gift by the newly-reorganized Troop 1.

At the December 19 meeting the boys had their Christmas party. Christmas carols were sung by the boys, with the music being supplied by Scout Mike Lonigro at the piano.

Grabs were distributed among the 30 scouts present, after which refreshments, consisting of cake, ice cream and tonic, were served.

This was the last meeting for Tom Treacy, who is patrol leader of the Flying Eagles. He is moving to Beverly, where he will continue to be active in scouting.

HOUSMAN'S BETHLEHEM

PARISH PLAYERS PRODUCE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

After a five year lapse the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church gave a most impressive performance of "Bethlehem," the Christmas pageant by Laurence Housman, in the church auditorium last Sunday afternoon. More than 300 braved the stormy weather to attend.

The vested Choir of the church sang before the pageant from the chancel stalls, presenting three Christmas carols, "Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabella," "There Dwelt in Old Judea," and "Shepherds, Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep." Mrs. Philip Cabot (Frances Randall) was the organist, and J. Albert Wilson directed the choir.

After the carols the choristers took up places in the balcony at the rear of the church, where they sang two responses, unaccompanied, "Glory to God" and the "Dresden Amen."

With the departure of the choir from the chancel, the players made their appearance on the specially prepared platform on which they performed. Parts were taken as follows:

Mary — Mrs. William F. Symes
Joseph — Rev. Wesley Mallery
Gabriel — Dr. Eugene Pollard

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR SERVICE PERSONNEL

M/Sgt. Alexander N. Raftopoulos, local Air Force Recruiter for this area announced today that anyone entering the Air Force after January 1, 1957 should have a social Social Security System effective January 1, 1957.

The Recruiter stated that Social Security is a major step forward in financial protection for Air Force families. Social Security will provide old age benefits for the servicemen at age 65, in addition to any retirement income he may have, and provide monthly survivor income for a service widow with children children alone, a widow at age 62, and dependent parents. The survivors are also paid a monthly compensation by the Veterans' Administration.

Under the provisions of this new coverage, Air Force and other military personnel will contribute two and one fourth per cent of their basic pay up to a maximum of $350 per month with the government paying part of the monthly credits towards Social Security protection. Monthly deductions will range from $1.56 to $7.00 per month. In this was, the serviceman obtains Social Security coverage based on actual earnings rather than under the old plan whereby they received credit for $160 monthly earnings Free.

security number at time of enlistment. This results from a new law passed by Congress earlier this year which places all airmen and other service personnel under the Application forms for obtaining a Social Security Card Number are available at any U.S. Postoffice or Social Security Office. It normally takes three to five days after mailing applications before the card is received by the applicant.

Sergeant Alexander N. Raftopoulos emphasized that those who plan an Air Force career are now assured of life-long protection for their dependents. Additional information on benefits available to Airmen and their dependents can be had by contacting him at MYstic 6-5109 or at his home after 5 p. m. WInchester 6-1764.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (55:15-21): "Truth's immortal idea is sweeping down the centuries, gathering beneath its wings the sick and sinning. My weary hope tries to realize that happy day, when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbor as himself,—when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of the divine Love in what it has done and is doing for mankind."

UNPRECEDENTED DRIVE

An unprecedented one-day drive for investment dollars for Israel, conducted in Winchester and fifty-two other neighboring communities last week, has brought the 1956 total of Israel Bond sales in Greater Boston to $2,035,200, it was announced this week by William Brown, and Julius Grood, Marshals for Winchester.

As a result of the tremendous response from this community as well as the fifty-two other localities that comprise the Greater Boston Committee, State of Israel Bonds, an overflow crowd of volunteer salesmen and Bond purchasers witnessed the third annual Chanukah Festival at Boston Garden last Sunday evening.

REMEMBER ROTARY WHEN MOVING

Are you moving, or thinking of moving, either in, or away from Winchester? Whichever way you move, if you move you will come across a lot of stuff you want to get rid of, and if you are like a great majority, you will wonder what to do with it!

Don't junk it! Winchester Rotary Club will be glad to come around and take your supernumenaries off your hands for probable sale at their annual Spring Charity Auction. You would be surprised to learn what prices people pay at these sales for those items you wonder why you kept at all, and certainly, so long!

And the Rotary will be at your door promptly after receipt of your invitation to call. As a matter of fact, don't go down town or to the PTA right after hoping either the "Homespun Boy", Al Elliott; or "Mr. Winning Farm", Charlie Murphy. A truck is liable to be grinding to a stop in front of your house before you get the phone back on the stand. These boys work fast!

Rotary does a whole lot of good with the money from its Spring Auctions. The Scouts, Police Athletic League, Winning Farm, Home for the Aged, Scholarship Foundation, High School, Little League and Babe Ruth League are only a partial list of organizations they have assisted.

So if you move, or if you don't, and have some stuff you want to be rid of, just call WInchester 6-2171 or WInchester 6-7090. You'll lose the stuff, pronto, and you can be really glad you did!

NICE WORK, "HI"!

The Star received many nice Christmas cards during the holiday season from friends and business associates, for which we wish to express our sincere thanks. Of all we received, that from "Hi" Moody of Moody Motor Sales, Cadillac and Pontiac dealers, was the most unusual. "Hi" sent out his Christmas message this year on an ordinary postcard, and donated to Hungarian Relief the difference in cost between the postcards and the much more expensive cards he ordinarily sends his friends It's the sort of thing everyone wishes he might have thought of!

"SNOW WHITE" COMING SOON

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be rollicking across the stage in person for two performances on Friday and Saturday afternoons, January 11 and 12, at the Winchester High School Auditorium. Those thousand children who packed the auditorium for "Peter Pan" last May will be eager to see "Snow White." This is the second production of the Children's Theatre School presented by the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., a non-profit, Theatre-Minded Organization launching its first season.

Again high spots of the scenery will be painted by the children and many ideas for the Dwarf houses, Witches' dens and forest trees have developed in the painting periods of the young actors who range in age from 4½ to 14 years.

The tickets are being dispersed by the Chairman, Mrs. James Hintlian, and her Committee Members who will be in charge of the sale of tickets at the various schools before hours on January 3 and 4.

Mrs. Donald Dalrymple, Mystic.
Mrs. Kezar Nichols, Washington.
Mrs. Hirman Smith, Lincoln.
Mrs. Charles Blanchard, Parkhurst.
Mrs. Samuel Scherban, Mrs. Daniel Gaynor, Noonan.
Mrs. Lawrence Quigley, Wyman.
Mrs. John D. Worcester, Junior High.
Mrs. W. Rogers Hamel, Marycliff, St. Mary's.
Mrs. Ronald King, out-of-town schools and sales.
Mrs. Richard Pettingell is general ticket chairman of Community Theatre.

Two thousand children are expected at these two Matinees to see the gay scenes in Snow White's Palace and the dance of the Maids of Honor;—the animal ballet of the enchanted forest;—and the industrious, the original, housekeeping of the "Seven Dwarfs."

Tickets will also be on sale at Hevey's and McCormack's Drug stores, and the Winchester Trust and Winchester Cooperative Banks.

CAROL SINGING

A group of townspeople and children assembled on the Common at 7:30 Christmas eve to sing the old carols. If the words were not too well remembered, Mrs. Frank McCullough, Music Chairman of the Fortnightly, had provided for that by passing around small songbooks.

Mr. Wendell Withington had arranged to have four boys from the High School band to play their instruments, George Chabot, Philip Dreyer, Thomas Hooper and Robert Needham. This was much appreciated and the strains of music must have carried far.

Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham directed and it was due to her efforts that the large May-pole of colored lights was improvised under which the crowd gathered.

The effect was a simulated tree and gave light and gaity to what would otherwise have been a dark, undecorated place in the heart of our town. Much credit is due her and grateful thanks.

For a final number "Jingle Bells" rang out on the night air with the little children shaking small bells. To all who left their firesides to come, "Happy New Year."

NATCHEZ TRACE PARKWAY FOLLOWS FRONTIER TRAIL OF HARDSHIPS

On Natchez Trace, where early frontiersmen stumbled in fear and darkness, American motorists speed today with an ease unimaginable 150 years ago.

The 450-mile Natchez Trace Parkway, which memorializes the wilderness path that once linked Nashville, Tennessee, with Natchez, Mississippi, is almost half finished. It follows as closely as possible the route of the original trail, much of it now almost obliterated.

Bison Built First

The original builders were Bison, says the National Geographic Society. Returning year after year to favorite feeding grounds and salt licks, they beat many paths with their hoofs. The Indians linked the paths and soon there was a trail, snaking like a slack thread around treacherous swamps and impenetrable clumps of forest.

In the early days people called the passageway Chickasaw Path for the Indians that trod it. It was also known as Notchey Trace for the "notched" trees that marked the route, as well as Natchez Trace—"trace" coming from the French word for track or line of footprints.

By 1800 Congress had established a post road over the route. Settlers used it, too, on their way west. But the principal users were the "Kentucks," the flatboatmen who floated cotton, sugar, and flour down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans.

Because they couldn't push their boats upstream, the rivermen sold them in New Orleans and walked 500 miles home—25 miles a day or three weeks in all—over Natchez Trace.

These Kentucks, with their unshaved faces and long, matted manes, were sturdy fellows. They could "wade the Mississippi," they boasted, "leap the Ohio," and "whip their weight in wildcats." They used to bet on beating the post rider to Nashville. "Walking" Johnson, known as the greatest pedestrian of his day, actually did beat the mail three times.

Horse Stuck in Mire

Notwithstanding, many of them never got home. They fell victim to rains, floods, hurricanes, and disease. Even those who could afford horses didn't have it easy. Horses swam across streams, while the riders made their way on improvised rafts and bridges. Many a horseman, crossing a swamp, had to leave his mount behind, its feet stuck in the bottom clay, pinned to certain death.

Until the Federal Government took a hand in improving the road after 1800, there were no inns along the way. And when the taverns did come, so did bandits. A man could sleep at one of these "stands" for 12½ cents a night, but he might be robbed of all the profits he had collected in New Orleans.

Many hardy Kentucks fell to the knives or guns of the "land pirates." Explorer Meriwether Lewis, of Lewis and Clark fame, died of bullet wounds at Grinders Stand in Tennessee three years after returning from the West.

Other famous men who rode or walked the Trace included John James Audubon, Henry Clay, Jefferson Davis, Aaron Burr, and Andrew Jackson. In the War of 1812, Jackson marched a brigade of Tennessee militia over the road. On that hard trip the men so admired Jackson's tough leadership they gave him a name that stuck through history. "Old Hickory" it was.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Giant sequoias, earth's largest living things, sprout from seeds so small that one ounce, in theory, could produce 6,700 trees, the National Geographic Society says. Full grown, the largest trees probably weigh 2,000 tons, the displacement of a small steamship.

Killer whales, among the fiercest of all sea creatures, actually are dolphins. They hunt in packs, swallowing small seals and porpoises whole. Although these bloodthirsty marauders grow to only 30 feet, they will attack and kill large whales, the National Geographic Society says.

Magnet for many visitors to Washington, D C, is the classic Thomas Jefferson Memorial on the Tidal Basin. The heroic statue of the standing Jefferson is clothed in a greatcoat—a likeness of the coat that was given to him by General Thaddeus Kosciusko, the Polish patriot of the American Revolution.

The first aircraft flight in the British Empire took place on the frozen waters of Baddeck Bay, Nova Scotia, February 23, 1909. The plane, the "Sliver Dart," was built by the Aerial Experiment Association pioneered by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. With an engine that sometimes delivered only eight horsepower, the plane flew that day for half a mile, the National Geographic Society says.

BANJO PLAYING MAKES AN AMERICAN COMEBACK

For millions of melody-minded Americans—particularly those with a nostalgic flair—banjos are strumming full tilt again.

The rythmic instrument's sudden popularity reverses a period of nearly three decades of eclipse. During the "jazz age" of the 1920's the banjo's energetic sound set the pace for popular music. Then, under a change of musical patterns, banjos gave way to the guitar, a quieter member of the same family.

Several influences may account for the banjo's resurgence, among them a growing interest in folk music and square dancing, the National Geographic Society says. Moreover, a liking for banjo music was brought home by many American soldiers from service in England, where the instrument's popularity has persisted.

Needed: More Music

Banjo playing's strong comeback is reflected in the number of skilled performances heard on television, radio, and juke boxes. Enthusiasm has outdistanced music scored especially for the banjo.

The South, where post-World War II New Orleans jazz helped to revive the banjo, remains the largest market for new instruments. Interest, however, is nationwide among both professionals and amateurs. Members of Yale University banjo clubs of the 1920's recently enlivened a music festival there with the songs of their college days.

Banjos vary widely in quality and price. Some designed for the stage flash with gold-plated parts, carved inlays and gleaming stones. But there is the essential sameness of a round body, long neck and drum-head to amplify the sound.

Crude forms of the early banjo were introduced into North America from West Africa, as adaptations of a guitarlike instrument played by the Arabs.

In the mid-19th century, a native of Banjoemas, Java, produced a new version of the instrument by covering a cheesebox with goatskin and attaching a handle and violin strings. The modern name comes from the first two syllables of his town, some say.

Early Americans delighted in the banjo's "folksy" sound and its versatility in rhythm and melody. The "clinks" and "whangs" resounded at picnics and barn dances and often raised frontiersmen's spirits.

Banjoist Joe Sweeney accompanied the singing Confederate cavalryman, Jeb Stuart. Sweeney is credited with making banjos from sugar gourds, cat hides and mule's tail hairs.

Minstrel Music Maker

Around the turn of the century the banjo came to typify scores of roving minstrel shows. "In a clever performer's hands the banjo seems capable of doing everything—bells chime, water ripple, birds sing," one enthusaist declared.

Regard for the banjo has never dampened in the mountains of Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas. Generations of fathers have taught sons to strum away, thus preserving treasured folk songs.

When the English explorer Sir Ernest Shackleton's ship was crushed in Antarctic ice during voyages begun in 1914, he rescued a banjo, calling it a "vital mental medicine." During banjo serenades, even penguins had seemed to enjoy spirituals, Irish jigs and the popular song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."
